Cleveland—"Cut out double features, two-for-one admissions, specialty nights and premiums, and start selling pictures," is the advice of J. J. Harwood, president of the

SYMPOSIUM ON 16 MM. FILM PLANNED AT S.M.P.E. MEET

An extensive symposium on the problems of 16 mm. sound films will be one of the features of the fall meeting of the S. M. P. E. to be held Oct. 5-8 at the New Ocean House, Swampscott, Mass. Among those to be represented by papers are: Glenn Griswold, J. L. Spence and J. F. Leventhal, Allan Cook, R. T. May and Schwartz and Tuttle. Papers on other subjects are scheduled by Dr. H. E. Ives, H. E. Edgerton, H. A. Frederick, Ben Schlinger and V. A. Schlenker, Dr. S. E. Sheppard and N. D. Golden.

Milt Gross to Make Series for M. J. Kandel

Milt Gross, cartoonist and humorist of the Hearst papers, has been signed by M. J. Kandel, of Ideal Pictures, for a series of 12 one-reelers to be known as "Gross Exaggerations." Tom Johnston will write the gags and stories. Dialogue will be composed by Frank Dollan.

Edwin Schwalbe will manage the Bijou, Riviera and Strand. William Freiss will handle the Majestic, and Harry E. Grampp will manage the Rivoli.

New S. W. Circuit May Start With House in San Antonio

Dallas—Reports that W. G. Underwood has been dickering for a big house in San Antonio, probably the Empire, recently acquired by Warners, is causing speculation here over the possibility that this theater would form the nucleus of the new circuit which H. H. Robb, Underwood and Dave Bernbaum, theater financier, are understood to be planning. Underwood enjoys close contact with Warners and a deal is believed logical in view of the fact that the producer-circuit has decided not to undertake further expansion in Texas.

Films Ordered Destroyed by Owners Are Seized in Bureau's Drive

Copyright Protection Bureau is waging a war on "bootleg exchanges" which are selling prints of pictures ordered destroyed by their rightful owners, major distributors, but which in various ways have escaped the junk pile. Working with United States marshals, a number of rolls of copyright film have been seized during the past few days. These conditions are reported as existing.

ATLANTA THEATER MEN KILL 2-OPERATOR BILL

Atlanta—Following a hearing before the Committee on Electrical Affairs, the ordinance sponsored by operators for two men in a booth was unanimously rejected. The committee also drafted a new bill legalizing motor-driven machines. J. B. Reb, Alpha Fowler, Love B. Harrell, Carter Barron and John Smith were among the theater men who appeared against the bill.

Unemployment Committee Holds Meeting Today

A meeting of the Unemployment Committee will be held in the Hays Office at 11 o'clock this morning, when proposals will be submitted for coordinating the work of the film industry with the general relief program. It is expected that at least 20 plans will be offered.

"Five Star Final" Tops Winter Garden Record

Friday's receipts on "Five Star Final" at the Winter Garden beat the record held by "The Dawn Patrol" by $300. The "take" was approximately $7,000. Manager Morton Levine was forced to keep the theater open until 3:30 A. M. Saturday.

Better Understandings Generally Is Aim of Continuing Committee

With a view to bringing about better understandings with producers generally and to better in every possible way the situation of the independent theater owner, the Continuing Committee named by the recent conference on M-G-M sales policy will keep functioning and will hold meetings from time to time, it is announced by Walter Vincent, chairman. Reporting the results of a conference with Felix Feist of M-G-M, Vincent says: "Feist very clearly stated the policy of his company; corrected what he thought were some false impressions of the company's said policy and reviewed in general the plans that led up to its adoption. He stated that if they were to alter same it would be necessary to immediately get in touch with Louis B. Mayer in Hollywood and inform him that on account of a revised sales policy it would be necessary to revise their program as the new sales policy was based upon same. "He informed the committee that his company felt they could not make pictures that would click at the box office unless they went forward with their ambitious plans. He stated that their Branch Sales Managers were not a lot of Wooden Indians and that they would consider each.

Playing up the Universal is abetting the Luxer's bid for originality. McNamee is the ace of talking screen reporters. That sincerity which rings out in his voice carries him through the highs and lows of description. When others in practically all of the reels that try the reporter angle do the McNamee imitation the same registers comparatively colorless. This kind of vocal announcing is injurious to any subject on the screen. That absence of feeling, or forced emotion, the obvious effort to copy the McNamee voice shadings and adjective splashes, wisecracking of the kind that is chiefly composed of stale bromides—those are a few of the things most of the other talking scribes should think over.

Chatter
— on a string

By JACK ALICOATE

This is TWENTIETH anniversary month for PARAMOUNT... A former OUTSTANDING theater architect is now DOOR MAN at a deluxe... Why this RAP at MGM when their product has kept MANY a picture house alive? Some of the SMART boys see a trend in the new three-frog POLICY of Earl Carroll... As long as they click at the BO outstanding stars will continue to draw down heavy money... With TEN productions on the MENU, Paramount, L. I. studio has no intention of folding... QUICK SUCCESS usually means QUICK oblivion in pictures... STREET SCENE is a lulu.

B.O. skinner, Ohio censor chief, will allow anything to be shown in newsreels that is printed by the daily press... FIVE STAR FINAL looks like plenty of money... JACK shapiro who built the new is a GREAT little guy... He's GOOD pictures PLENTY on the way... ARTIE stebbins has lost his putting touch... It's about TIME for a good screen musical to CRASH thru... WONDER what's happened to MONS. chaplin and a certain MR. lloyd.

Downtown PARKING problem being solved by theater operators taking over GARAGES. Probably charge an iron man for parking and throw in the SHOW free... Never saw WILL layas more GENUINELY enthusiastic about anything than the unemployment program... THE GUARDSMAN is a classy bit... The easiest of mental GYMNASTICS is destructive criticism... There should be a wailing WALL against which all BAD and SILLY little shorts would be shot at sunrise.

Managerial Efficiency Now at Highest Level

Efficiency of managers throughout the circuit is now higher, on an average, than ever before, says Jack Barry, director of personnel for Publix, on his return from an extensive field trip. Necessity of bringing operation in line with new conditions has been a factor in this development.

Cleveland—Instead of cutting its scale to meet the general reduction in admission prices, the KKO Palace is giving a bigger show. Maurice Spitalney has been signed as orchestra leader with an enlarged symphony orchestra, and Joe Vero is now offering special organ numbers in addition to the regular program of vaudeville and pictures.

Stage Co-Operative Show By and for Unemployed

"March of the Unemployed," a cooperative musical revue for the benefit of unemployed, with a big cast composed largely of heads of families who are out of work, is being given tonight and tomorrow night in addition to the regular show at the Tuxedo, Brighton Beach. Proceeds will go to the unemployed participants. Rugoff & Becker, owners of the theater, are responsible for the idea.
Praise The Good

...Why not a little constructive criticism? Why not official recognition upon the part of the churches of those who like Mr. George Arliss are proving day by day that the better way is the right way. Why not let the 'movies' which bear a wholesome taste in their wake... Why, instead of wholesale denunciation, could there not be a praise for the good, endorsement of the wholesome, and appreciation of the art of men who are helping to make the real ideals of the stage? Why in most everything else, wholesale criticism of the situation—applaud the noblest, whereas there is a real opportunity at hand, as in most everything else, to demonstrate support of the good...

Delaware, in connection with the recent national protest meeting. The contention that quality and high production costs is synonymous with high revenue is disproved by the numerous expensive pictures that failed to gross as much as many that cost comparatively little, the bulletin states, and in some instances the heavy outlays are due largely to directors trying to outdo each other in the size of budget they are able to obtain for "super productions." Regarding the producers' argument that stars are worth the fancy salaries they receive because they bring in the business at the box office—that answer is predicated on the theory that the producer is responsible for the gross, which is not true. Put a star in three consecutive inferior pictures and that star is definitely through as a drawing card. The star is but one of the contributing factors in the success of a production. The star, cast in a poor picture, will flop just as surely as the top-notch picture without any star will succeed and will help to make stars of the leading players appearing in that attraction. No matter how little known the star, a picture makes the star as frequently as the star makes the picture."

FREQUENTLY IT'S the actor, not the woman, who pays and pays and pays... in Chicago... For instance, take the case of Georgie Jessel sometime back... Georgie was playing a de luxe in that hamlet when a guy with a tough voice got him on the phone and asked him to do his entertaining staff at a food powwow that night in honor of Tim McCoy... the luminary politely vetoed the idea, alleging a previous engagement. But after the show three muggs, with pans as hard as Portland cement, crashed into his dressing room and Georgie decided to go along... although he had never heard of said Tim McCoy... En route in the expensive mechanical buggy he mustered up enough courage to ask who was this guy McCoy... "What's it to you?"... Which ended the Jessel inquisitiveness pronto.

ABOUT one thousand ginks and geezers, supplemented by their girl frens, were out to do honor to Mister McCoy... or mebbe to save their lives and hearthides.

And still Georgie had no idea who this Mugg McCoy was... Anyhow, he must have the rust eeup and gave a rave about Mister McCoy as being the greatest Man in the World... the eight who wrote Lincoln's Gettysburg speech... the bird who stopped the World War... And did he get applause... and not a pepper.

RENÉ CARROLL, the world's most popular hat check impresario, did a bit in a Vitaphone short at the Brooklyn project yesterday... Gave a perfect performance checking hats... Courtesy of Sam Sax... Add Things to Get Excited About: Peggy Shannon, Paramount discovery, has long red hair, see the Paramount press dept... Marion Marsh was milked last eve... Meaning she headlined for "The Radio Newspaper of Hollywood," reproducing her big moment of "Five Star Final," in which she makes the cheeks of the tabloid's staff red by telling them what Every Tabloid Editor Ought to Know.

IT'S A PLEASURE to publicize the product of Action Pictures—newest addition to the ranks of independent producers—along comes "The Sky Spider"—first of 24 features which Action Pictures will make this season—immediately the trade and newspaper critics relieve Action Pictures' press agent of the necessity for devising new ways of saying "Great" and "Marvelous"—shrewd picture judge Red Kann says "The 'Sky Spider' marks an auspicious start for the new company"—that's better than "Great" or "Marvelous"—Regina Crewe in the New York American states—"It Will Be Nicely Received"—thanks Regina —Phil M. Seeing Something less than a year ago Warner Bros. & It Thru Co. were counted right out of the picture by many grand stand managers as the result of a chronic attack of expansion indulgence. In the meantime, what this outfit has accomplished in readjustment and progress might well be the topic of an object lesson for not only industry idlers but business in general. With the past year a matter of history, it is rather apparent that Warner Brothers would not be licked.

Team Work

While others wavered in the face of an unprecedented depression, they fought on with splendid determination. While their pioneering of the musical field had cost plenty, they were not discouraged. They rolled up their sleeves and went back to work. Once more they occupy an industry key position. A team that won't be licked, can't be licked.

The Record Per

With plenty of white space to sell at so much per word, we are not going to jeopardize our position with the business department by giving away free advertising in this column. However, two thoughts are inescapable. Warner Bros. have staged the most spectacular about-face this industry has ever known, and any man's company leaving the toehill in early September with such a cargo, as Loew's Star, Final, "Bought," "The Star Witness," "Alexander Hamilton" and "Smart Money" will be there for a long session when they finally check out the 1931-32 box-office regatta.

63 Indie Producers Now Active on Coast

West Coast Bureau, THE FILM DAILY Hollywood—There are 63 independent companies now producing here, it is stated by Louise Parsons, who quotes a letter from Frank Donovan saying there are 21 indies making westerns, 12 making melodramas, 25 making shorts and five preparing expedition epics.

D. W. Griffith Denies New Film is Propaganda

Rumors that his new picture, "The Struggle," is a Soviet propaganda picture were squelched yesterday by D. W. Griffith. Although the title may have induced such conclusions, said the producer, the picture has nothing to do with the Soviet, the Five Year Plan, politics or anything of the kind, but is a story of everyday Americans. Premiere will probably take place next month.

West Coast Bureau, THE FILM DAILY Hollywood—Motion picture people have turned from stocks to real estate, with their property investments now totaling approximately $20,000,000. According to the Vine Street Development Ass'n, the association's survey shows that more homes have been bought by producers, actors, directors and studio employees in the last two years than during any five-year period in the city's history.

“THE UNHOLY GARDEN”

A red-blooded, action drama told against an Algerian background with Ronald Colman again portraying a romantic thief. Garnished with excellent comedy touches, this Samuel Goldwyn production for United Artists release is crammed full of excitement, plus considerable gunplay and injections of sex. It is enhanced by high-caliber direction and acting. Colman plays the rogue, dashing bank robber in engaging style. Audiences which demand action in particular will be enthusiastic over this entertainment.

Chicago Exhibitor Sues M-G-M for $500,000

Chicago — George Gehring, owner of the Rosewood, has filed suit for $500,000 in the Superior court against the M-G-M, the Essaness theaters and three officials of the latter concern. According to At- torney Charles Sobelke, who represents Gehring, the theater owner held a contract with the distributing company to furnish him first run films during the last year. Gehring charges that the distributors arranged with the circuit to furnish him only films which had already been shown in loop theaters.

Decker at Warner N. Y. Exchange

Harry Decker, formerly Brooklyn branch manager for Warner Bros., is now officiating in the same capacity at the New York branch. Gus Solomon has taken over the Brooklyn office. Nat Beier remains in charge of the New Jersey branch. The shifts are part of a series of changes made recently when J. C. Vergessich returned from Chicago to become metropolitan manager. George Balsdon, Jr., remains metropolitan sales manager.

Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne score screen triumph. Here's the perfect picture! What a film it is! What a triumph for Metro! If you don't see another picture—ever—you must see "The Guardsman"
REGINA CREWE—American

 "GUARDSMAN" sparkles four stars. A new triumph of the young cinema season. A foreseen success. Earns its four stars by magnificence of portrayal combined with subtlest and wit of the story which is Ferenc Molnar's. How could it be anything but perfect entertainment? Lunt and Fontanne, superb artists, take splendidly to the camera. He is handsome; she beautiful; both are fascinating and glamorous. "The Guardsman" is an enchanting evening of fun. We think you'll love it.
IRENE THIRER—Daily News

It is a wonderful relief to sit through such a production.
Through the discerning eye of the camera one has the opportunity of enjoying this Molnar work to its fullest extent. The audience applauded as though Mr. Lunt were present in person. Dozens of subtle, witty scenes in this film.

MORDAUNT HALL—Times

First Family of the Stage becomes practically the First Family of the Screen by the gayety, deftness and light hilarity of their incomparable portrayals. The Lunts are magnificent.
Admirable entertainment.

RICHARD WATTS, JR.—Herald-Tribune

Its picturization has given the current film year a notable film addition. One of the most charming and satisfying of the 1931 movies.

JULIA SHAWELL—Graphic

Superb entertainment. Brilliantly acted, sophisticated in theme and sparkling in dialogue. The result is one of the outstanding productions of the year.

ROSE PELSWICK—Evening Journal

Masterly work. Delightful, suave, mature, literate and humorous piece, of which not only Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, but the two principals, may well be proud. Altogether "The Guardsman" is an excellent picture.

WILLIAM BOEHNEL—World-Telegram

A wholly delightful talkie comedy. Gratifyingly close to perfection. The Astor, evidently, has a new long-lease tenant.

MARTIN DICKSTEIN—Bklyn. Eagle

Lunt and Fontanne have taken their Theatre Guild success "The Guardsman" and made of it a screen success of very much the same caliber.
It is delightful entertainment all the way through and ought to keep the ushers at the Astor busy for a long time.

THORNTON DELEHANTY—Evening Post

A coup for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Nothing quite like it has been attempted in the talkies.
Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne as brilliant as ever. The talkies are lucky to have them. I wouldn't overlook "The Guardsman" if I were you.

DONALD CRISP, who can Simon Legree or wield a megaphone with equal skill, digs this one up from the Past . . . Some years backwards he was preparing to direct "Don Q," starring an unknown named Fairbanks. Or perhaps this Guy Fairbanks wasn't so unknown at the time . . . And into his office crashed an Old Timer, an elderly gent who had heard that famous slogan, "Nothing today" over a wide period of years. He asked Don for work in his pitcher . . . And Don, being Big Hearted, gave him a job—a part of the keeper of the castle gate . . . The Old Timer then ups and sez: "How about my contract, Mister Crisp?"

Well, you could have knocked Don off his chair with the Empire State Building "Contract?" sez he, "whaddaya mean, contract? . . . You know we never give contracts for parts as small as this one."

"But I gotta have a contract, Mister Crisp," insisted Old Timer. "For my company's sake . . . Don registered disbelief in an Authentic Way . . . This mug never had a contract in his life, he knew . . . "Honesty, Mister Crisp," pleaded the Old Timer, "there's the gas company, the electric light company, the ice company and the milk company. If you're interested in knowing whether or not he got the Contract, kindly write to Donald Crisp, enclosing two cents for return postage. And maybe you'll find out . . .

Joe Santley, who bag-and-bagged into nuyork another day, is arranging production of a new play, "Malibu," which gives the low-down on what picture folks do at Malibu. It's the work of Adela Rogers St. John and her hubby, Dick Hyland, and Santley, . . . Eddie Robinson, screen gangster gambler, newspaper ed., . . . comes into the Palace next week . . . His program includes character bits from "Little Caesar," "Smart Money" and "Five Star Final." Jessie Gourlay, who heads the Warner-Fairley National art department, is exhibiting these days, exhibiting a handsome wrist watch he won at the medal handicap play at the Summit, N.J., Golf Club over the week-end Charlie Einfeld alleges that Gourlay's golfing hit a new high because he studied the Bobby Jones shots . . .

Floyd Gibbons just can't escape thrills. He collects 'em like other people collect antiques—or bills. On a recent vacation in Wyoming the star of the Floyd Gibbons' Supreme Thrills' series turned forest ranger to help battle forest fires. And the newest wrinkle in 'unemployment relief' work is the "Five Friends" club. At the suggestion of Harley Clarke, Fox employees are forming such units, each of which cares for some needy family. Idea is presented in form of an appeal rather than a requirement. Add things to Get Excited About: Out of 150 contract people at the Paramount studios, 21 claim New York as their birthplace or maybe this won't excite anybody . . .

A WOMAN can't have two ambitions and do justice to both," said speech at Tallulah Bankhead, referring to marriage, partly. Probably plenty of husbands, after seeing their spouses perform on the screen, agree that in the interests of justice, they ought to stick exclusively to marriage. Mrs. Tallulah Bankhead, author of that sage won, "Grand Hotel," is the latest typewriter-pounder to use Hollywood as material. Under title of "Falling Star," her new novel goes Hollywoodesque, e. of Emanuel Goodwin publications, is doing that thing called vacationing. Joe E. Brown's famed "Mozzey" story is something to rave about . . .

COMING & GOING

SIIHRREY R. KENT sails tomorrow for Europe. Mrs. Kent will accompany him. FRANCES MARION is en route to Paris. A. S. EVERETT, general manager of the motion picture department of Arme Film, Ltd., of Manila, Philippine Islands, is in New York to confer with Ambrose. The same old general manager of foreign export for Radio Pictures, on new product, LOWELL V. CALVER, manager of recording operations for RCA Photophone, leaves today for Los Angeles to confer with John Klenke, assistant manager of the recording department. He expects to be home about a month.

Short Shots from New York Studios

PRODUCTION on "Rip Van Winkle," feature picture based on the famous legend, has been started by Uniproj productions Co., productions which is using the Metropolitan studios in Fort Lee. Bud Pollard is directing his first film acting as chief cameraman.

Larry Williams, who has been associated with Paramount's New York studios for the past three years as a first cameraman, has been placed under contract by Fox and leaves for Hollywood on Saturday.

Frank Zucker, assisted by Buddy Harris, is acting as chief cameraman on "Le Porto del Distino," an all-Italian feature being made at the RKO-Pathe studios under the direction of Lewis Maisell.

Burnet Hershey is responsible for the adaptation and dialogue of "Wall Street Mystery," latest of the Van Dine series which Arthur Harlow is directing for Vitaphone.

The Annual Dinner Dance of the Kaplan Projection Society, in honor of its president, Sam Kaplan, will be held in the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel Commodore, on Saturday night, Oct. 31. From present indications it will be the biggest affair ever given by the Society.

Newark Indie House Opening Newark, N. J.—The new $400,000 Elwood will open Saturday with a straight picture policy under direction of J. D. Shepherd, who several years ago managed the Manhattan when it was owned by the Fabian interests. The house, seating 1,700, will be operated independently by the Broadway Carteret Corp., headed by Abe Levin.

Seattle House Reopened Seattle—The Beacon has been reopened by Farwest Theaters, operators of eight other suburban houses. L. O. Lukan is president of the circuit.

West Coast Bureau, THE FILM DAILY

No Distribution Report

Wash. Bureau of THE FILM DAILY

Washington—No public report can be made by Census Bureau in the Department of Commerce on the survey recently made covering distribution of motion pictures. The bureau's census covered all industries, with some of the findings being issued and others being withheld for different reasons. The motion picture industry, as classified by the Census Bureau, embraces 143 establishments engaged in studio and laboratory activities connected with the production of pictures and preparation of films for use. These establishments, because of the nature of the work, were examined by any questions regarding the sale of their output, the Bureau states. Exchanges also were embraced in the census, and if it is understood this data is withheld because of the advantage it would give competitive firms.

SMPE Invites Film Pioneers

A gathering of pioneer inventors of the film industry is being planned in connection with the fall meeting of the S. M. P. E. scheduled for Oct. 5-8 at Swampscott, Mass. Invitations to participate and speak are being extended to Thomas Edison, George Eastman, A. Lauste, Jean LeRoy and others.

'Take Crime Off Street, Not Screen,' Pettijohn Tells N. Y. Legislators

Albany—"It is more important to take crime off the streets than to take it off the screen—no gangsters have any business understanding with anybody in the picture business," C. C. Pettijohn of the Hays office declared yesterday before the joint committee of the House and Senate on criminal code at the hearing on the anti-gangster film measure now pending. The handling of crime stories on the screen was defended by Pettijohn, who said films had done perhaps more than any other agency to arouse public interest against gangsterism. At present the gang picture has lost its glamour (Continued on Page 6)

Pittsburgh Musicians To Strike

Pittsburgh—Fifty-five musicians employed in Loew's Penn and the Stanley will go on strike tonight owing to differences with the two units over a new contract. Warner Bros. and Loew are willing to continue the present wage scale, which provides $56 a week for the men in the pit and $28.50 more for stage work. The obstacle was the number of musicians to be used by the houses. With only 15 men needed, the theaters offered to use 18. Pittsburgh has the highest musicians' wage scale of any six-day situation in the country.

Wiring of English Theaters To Reach Saturation in 1932

London—Wiring of English theaters will reach the saturation point about the end of next year, at which time the 1,100 houses now remaining silent will either have been equipped for sound or closed, it is stated by T. Drew, sales chief of Western Electric. By the end of the present year only a little more than 600 silent theaters are expected to be open in this country, with probably half of these being worthless as talkie houses, says Drew. At the present rate of progress, equipping of all the country's active theaters will be completed by England considerably before the U. S. achieves that end, according to Drew. After that, replacements and servicing will become the chief activities of W. E.

Charge Exhibs Trying To Discredit Union—Seek Public Sympathy

Chicago—Charges that a faction of theater owners is responsible for bombing of six theaters here in the last two weeks, the motive is to bring the union into disrepute and prevent any wavering members of the exhib organization from making an effort to settle their differences. "Alexander Hamilton"

Another classic characterization is brought to the screen by George Arliss in this Warner Bros. production which had its premiere yesterday at the Hollywood. In addition to the star's suave and engaging performance as the Andrew Melon of Colonial days, the picture includes an engrossing human interest story revolving around the early-day political intrigues and a domestic scandal from which the country's first treasurer emerges eminently victorious. Because of its foundation on historical fact and the inclusion of George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, James Monroe and other most names of history in the cast, the story holds spell-binding interest, though its appeal is chiefly adult. Directed by John Adolph, first-class work by Doris Kenyon and the rest of the supporting cast and high standards in the technical departments are other merits of the picture.

By RALPH WILK

HOLLYWOOD

JANE MURFIN, playwright and scenarist under contract to RKO, has been associated with that company for over a year. "Liberty," a picture she wrote, was released last year under the supervision of David Selznick.

Soly Polito, veteran photographer of sea pictures, is first cameraman for "Suicide Fleet," RKO Pathé's special production starring Bill Boyd. One of Polito's latest films was the First National production, "Five Star Female." Among his nautical pictures were "The Last of the Lost Ships." * * *

Ann Dorval, "Hollywood" screen princess has been presented at court. It was the Los Angeles Superior Court, and little Miss Dorval, who was one of the cast of "Stage Door," was found by Howard Hughes with a long-term contract. Miss Dorval has been counselized for the settlement.

Malco Adds in Ft. Smith
Fort Smith, Ark.—Realizing that there are more headaches in the theater operation than the average operator has, the small townspeople, too, have been rewarded by Howard Hughes with a long-term contract. Miss Dorval has been counselized for the settlement.

Malco, a subsidiary of Malco Theaters, will add a third location to the firm's growing list of theaters. The new addition will be in the city of Ft. Smith.

Physical Culture Reel
How to Grow Thin," a new release, has been produced by A. T. Myers, president of Associated Physical Culture Reel, Inc., and is being released by the company.

"City Lights" in England
London—Charlie Chaplin's "City Lights" has been one of the outstanding pictures of the year. According to Murray Silverstone of United Artists, gross has passed $1,000,000, he stated, with many houses playing repeat.

Denzil A. Cutler, veteran sound recorder, is doing the recording on Bill Boyd's newest picture, "Suicide Fleet," at RKO Pathé.

RUDNICK publicity changes
Rudolph Rapport has been named publicity director for the RKO Proctor's New York Exchange, replacing Fred Silverman, who has moved to RKO's Columbia division. Rapport was formerly with the RKO exchange in Boston.

Larry Parks at New York
Larry Parks, who is currently appearing in "Dapper Dan," has been named star of the RKO exchange at New York. Parks will appear in "Dapper Dan" for the next few weeks.

its popularity with the public and such stories are taboo among the big producers, Pets, for example.

Others who appeared against the bill included Dr. Holmes of Columbia University, Prof. Rapport of Connecticut Agricultural College, and A. W. Frederick of the M. P. Dept. of the Y.M.C.A. Canon Chase headed the contingent in favor of the measure.

Denver Exhibs Reducing Number of Operators
Denver—In order to bring to a head negotiations that are pending, Harry Huffman, owner of five houses here, and Buz Briggs, manager of the State, have notified the operators' union that after Oct. 1 he will not employ operators for shifts instead of four, as at present. The notice has been filed with the state industrial commission and if the union should not agree the case will be heard by the board soon.

Stability of Films Cited by Schenck

Hollywood—Proof of the essential character of motion pictures is reflected by the industry's excellent showing in a period of general stress, says Joseph M. Schenck. "While some other industries have found little or no market for their products, there has been a continued demand for motion picture entertain-ment," says the United Artists head. "That films are an essential of life is abundantly indicated by the fact that they have retained their interest for audiences in such wise as to enable studios to proceed steadily and hopefully with production."

Magnificent Liars Contest
Drew Replies from 300

TOM KANE of the Sequoia, Redwood City, Calif., explicated "The Magnificent Lie" by a Magnificent Liars' Contest. His announcement read: "Most magnificent liar contest! The person telling the most magnificent lie will receive a week's pass for two to the Sequoia Theater. Fishing, golf and matrimonial lies are acceptable. Professionalism barred. Contest conducted under rules of S.P.C. A. Contest Closes Monday night at 12 p.m. Mail or bring your lies to Sequoia Theater. Contest is open to adults only. Lies will be judged by the manager of the Sequoia Theater, due to his ability in such matters." More than 300 entries were received, and the contest aroused a storm of mirthful comment.

NEW BOOKS

On the Art and Business of Motion Pictures

After reading the trenchant foreword by Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., this sketchy biography of Charlie Chaplin is not nearly so arresting as it might have been. It makes the reader wish that Fairbanks had written the whole volume; either Fairbanks or someone more intimately conversant with Chaplin and the film business and more anxious to turn out an informative biography than a mere or partial fan story. In spite of its shortcomings, however, it is a 154-page work to be enjoyed reading, especially for the public at large. It traces the famous comedian from his days as a movie to his appearance in London at the "City Lights" premiere, where George Bernard Shaw publicly congratulated him. Chaplin's early days as a performer in England, his coming to America and touring with the Fred Karno Comedy Company, his first motion picture comedies sponsored by A. Kessel of the New York Motion Picture Company, his association with Mack Sennett, who let Charlie get away from him in a dispute over salary and other incidents of his meteoric rise from a musical hall artist at less than $75 a week in 1913 to a film comedian at $10,000 weekly in the short space of two years, are recounted in interesting fashion. There is also a chapter on "Charlie Chaplin and Women," which seems to be something of a defense of his costly marital ventures and other love affaires. On the subject of Chaplin's films and in regard to his attitude toward talkers, the volume is very uninformative and incomplete. The same applies to a discussion of Chaplin's art as a comedian and producer, a vastly interesting subject for one who could do justice to it.

 back on the old basis. In his letter to employees, Laemmle said:

"After a careful study of the general business situation and Universal's financial position, I have decided to abolish our former salary reduction and to pay you, beginning with the next pay day, on the basis of your former salary. I know this will be joyous news to you and I assure you it takes a load off of my own mind. I was mighty unhappy to make any cuts at all, but I have made the wise thing to do. I thank you for the spirit in which you accepted the reductions and in which you carried on during the summer."

"I hardly feel it necessary to tell you that your utmost cooperation is needed in movie pictures, in order if we are to justify this return to the former salary basis. You must not relax for a moment in your determination to maintain all possible economies."

Presentations by Jack Harrer

Roxy

A four-part pageant on the seasons comprises the current presentation program at the Roxy. The first scene, "Spring," has Patricia Bowman in some delightful dancing with Val Guelar, also the singing ensemble. "Summer" is a gay number set in Coney Island with Betty Froos, Kelo Brothers, LeMar-Atlas and Betty, Belle Flower, Mischa Voljani, the Roxetteys, costumed as shooting gallery ducks, and the Bal-let Corps impersonating knee-jumping dolls. "Autumn," along with Russell Waters, Ralph Cook, Barney Grant and the Roxetteys, and a skating ensemble is the highlight of "Winter," which brings the show to a massive finale. Another enjoyable item in Ravel's "Bolero" by the Roxie Orchestra.

Paramount

The Paramount currently is offering one of the smartest, highest-grade shows in a week's production. Directed by Frank Cambria the unit of the bill is excellent stuff, with the old master himself, Ben Bernie, officiating as master-of-ceremonies. Sylvia Froos is a wow with her husky-sounding, sexy voice. Alben Fischer Girls click in a novel routine, the Five Sepian "Nephews" are hit with their music and Dillon Oner also looks through okay. Show is tagged "Kings of the Round Table." As a preliminary "I Pagliacci" is presented in tabloid form with Irving Talbot conducting the Paramount orchestra. The vocal work is being done by Edward Albano, Stella Power and Nicola Costantino.

Capitol

Dave Schooler makes a triumphant return to the Capitol this week in the stage presentation, "Making Hay." Besides leading the "Capitolians" in several popular numbers, Schooler gave a classical piano selection which met with much applause. The laugh number of the bill is presented by Walter 'Dare' Wahl and his partner, who had the house nearly in convulsions. Julia Curtis, the 12 Tappers and the Dancing Girls help make this breezy and happy entertainment.

Sunshine in the Day's News

Exhibitors report improvement in quality of new season's pictures.

Along the Rialto with Phil M. Daly

- WAYNE PIERSON and M. A. Lightman went down remember they taught in 1918 to recall when Wayne and his partner, Dan Martin, were in 10 by 13 Atlanta and M. A. had the Criterion Film Exchange in that burg. With "Eyes of the World" booked into the Criterion (managed at that time by Willard Patterson), Piers-son and Martin decided that they could boost the gross if they had a crystal-gazer to tie in with the theme of the picture. Out of some gutter they dug a 100 per cent bum, or hobo, if you insist upon being delicate, and converted him into a first-class crystal-gazer. The way the townsfolk and newspapers fell for this mug, who was tagged Waymar (a combination of Wayne and Martin) was Absolutely Criminal. His eyes were Soulful or Something . . . But finally Waymar was sent down and benned to the pen. Later, he was discovered happily occupied in an Unmentionable Place.

- UP IN LOWELL, Mass., even the cops are working on percentage deals . . . Interpreted, this means that they're helping sell ducats in connection with the showing of "Homicide Squad" and twenty-five per cent of the proceeds go to hizzoner's unemployment relief fund. . . Filmm celebs were included in the swank gathering which attended the showing of fall models at Hawes, Inc., Thursday night . . . which indicates that some screen pitchin' actresses will be additionally artsy in their wardrobes during the new season.

- RALPH STITT, Rivoli press expert, delivers this one whether you like it or not . . . Groucho Marx and a playwritein' friend were lunching in a ritz joint and when the check made its Personal Appearance they found they had been assessed $1.50 for a modest, unassuming chicken sandwich . . . "Isn't there anything in this cafe one can get for 15 cents," the playwright is alleged to have said dirily . . . "Yes," flashed our hero, i.e., Groucho, "a nickel." If you have a Good Sense of Humor (very) you'll appreciate that joke.

- A. P. WAXMAN, Alan Crosland, George Marshall, Richard Wallace and Al Karrman were all members of the same outfit during the big scrap . . . They went warring with the Photo Division of the Signal Corps . . . Cecil B. De Mille, the man who Made Books Be Boring, is due to arrive in New York on Oct. 15 from points European . . . While their chief, Charlie Rosenweig, is doing road work his aids, Jerry Safron and Cleve Adams, are carrying on nobly . . . Closing product deals and such . . . The RKO Colonial, formerly the Walter Hampden, goes sound with "Silence." It sounds cock-eyed but it's right.

- ADD: BELIEVE It or Don't: Jack Hess, Arnold Van Leer and Jay Blafox are all Hinghish . . . Mike O'Toole, M.P.T.O.A. sec, has written more political speeches than most politicians deliver in a lifetime . . . Jerry West of Erpi, with Revenge in His Heart, is looking for the gink who pur- chased his copy of "Whitey." Attractive Flore Sheffield, who appears in "Expensive Women," which you'll find on your Warner release chart, has bag and bagaged into this Great Big Town of Ours to do a show . . . Virginia Morris, plus her hubby and "the sweetest baby in all the world," again go Jackson Heights on Oct. 1 . . . F. Wayne-Jones' Ufa-Cosmo-politan theater rathskeller will serve beer at a dime a stein with a free lunch of salami and ham on rye.

- ALEX GOTTLIEB, who is pasing the Paramount, announces that the current "Mad Parade" is "a startling drama of women and their loves and reputations." Eric von Stroheim has plans for making extorsions in Nuyork for "Walk- ing Down Broadway." . . . If the von Stroheim tradition holds up it won't be a walk—it'll be a journey . . . Frances Wright, ex-Columbian, is rehearsing in a vaude act and ex- pects to go to work soon.

First Nat'l Spreads Itself On "Five Star" Press Sheet

THE press sheet put out for First National's production of "Five Star Final" is one of the most complete and comprehensible publications that has been issued from the Warner offices. The press sheet proper consists of 16 pages. In addition there are two inserts, one in pink being a tabloid newspaper which has been made available to exhibitors. The second insert contains the advertising campaign that was put over in New York preceding the showing of the picture at the Winter Garden. All of the ads used in the local papers are reproduced in this insert in the order in which they were printed. Added to all this are excerpts from the reviews of the New York critics on the picture. The type of insert should prove of great value to exhibitors handling the Edward G. Robinson picture as it presents tangible evidence of the things that counted in putting the picture over in New York. In the press sheet proper over 25 newspaper ads of various sizes are displayed and the issue is filled with material calculated to be of benefit to the exhibitor.

BIG 4 IS CONSIDERING COMEDIES AND SPECIALS

Although Big 4 has announced 12 Westerns and six Melodramas for the new season, plans are going forward for additional product and it is believed that this independent will number comedies and perhaps one or two feature-length specials on its program for 1931-1932. John R. Freuler, president of the organization, has expressed himself of the opinion that the real advantage of an independent is an ability to gauge market fluctuations as they occur and their peculiar adaptability for taking advantage of the existing situation at a moment's notice.

Two Directors on “Race Track” James Cruze, who is directing “Race Track” Tiffany production starring Leo Carrillo, is in charge of the dramatic sequences, while B. Reeves Eason, action specialist, has been assigned the direction of the racing scenes. Kay Hammond and Junior Coghlan appear in important roles with Carrillo.

Additions to “Blind Spot” Several additions have been made to the cast of “Blind Spot,” now in production at the Warner studios. James Cagney and Loretta Young, as previously announced, head the cast. Among the latest names in the lineup are George McFarland, Eddie Nugent, Matt McHugh, Otto Lederer, Polly Walters, Charles Middleton, Berton Churchill, Nat Pendleton and Russ Powell. The picture is being directed by Roy Del Ruth.

Edgar Rice Burroughs has been signed by Bennie Zeisunian to write a series of 15 episodes of the popular Tarzan. Zeisunian, who is working at Tc-Art Studios, recently announced plans for six features.

Production Staff for “Her Majesty”

Full staff in charge of production on Marilyn Miller’s third starring picture, “Miss Majesty, Love,” is announced as follows: Wilhelm Dietler, director; Al Alborn, assistant director; Bob Kurrie, first photographer; Jack Okey, art director, and Ralph Dawson, film editor. The adaptation from the German original has been made by Henry Blanke and Joseph Jackson.

New Bob Steele Western

Production will start within a few days on Tiffany’s “Riders of the West,” new outdoor western starring Bob Steele.

“Leftover Ladies” Completed

Sam Bischoff, in charge of production for Tiffany, announces the completion of “Leftover Ladies,” the fourth production in Tiffany’s Qualtrough series of 12. Cast is headed by Claudia Dell, Marjorie Rambow and Walter Byron. Eric Kenton directed.

Start “Husband’s Holiday”

“Husband’s Holiday,” talking picture version of the novel and play by Ernest Pascal, went into production this week at Paramount with a cast headed by Clive Brook, Vivienne Osborne, Juliette Compton, Adrienne Ames, Dorothy Tree and and Charles Ruggles. Robert Milton is directing. The film adaptation was written by Pascal and Viola Brothers Shore. Among those with important roles in the picture are Leni Stengel, Harry Bannister, Charles Winninger, Elizabeth Patterson, Marylin Knowles and Dickie Moore.

Schertzinger Advocates Reduction in Dialogue

A reduction in amount of dialogue is urged by Victor Schertzinger, Radio Pictures director, who is now preparing to film “Marcheta.” Too much dull and superfluous speech is handicapping many pictures now being turned out, in his opinion, advocates a general reduction in talk.

Sarecky Confers with Mexican Sec’y

Lou Sarecky, associate producer for Radio Pictures, left for Mexico City today to confer with Secretary of State Estrada on production plans for the filming of exterior scenes called for in “Marcheta,” romance of the Mexican bull ring which is to star Richard Dix with Irene Dunne, and “The Duke,” Willard Mack’s stage success of life on the Mexican border, wherein Dolores Del Rio is to be starred.

PATHE RECORD STAGE ENLARGED TO 125,000 FT.

Enlarging of the sound recording stage to 125,000 cubic feet, against 100,000 feet at present, is under way at the RKO Pathe Studios. Installation of several new developments in recording apparatus also will be made.

Arthur Lange, head of the Pathe music department, is supervising the enlarging of the large glass booth to which sound comes after going through the microphone. Henceforth he will use a new method of orchestral direction, standing behind the glass and away from the orchestra. In this position he can control the players and hear the music coming in over the sound horns which will give him a true idea of how the music will sound on the screen.

KEN MAYNARD is back at work on the Tiffany lot after an airplane trip to the National Air Meet. "Fighting Mad," the new Maynard vehicle, is being directed by Phil Rosen, with a supporting cast that includes Marceline Day, Charles King, Jack Rockwell, Lew Mehan, Richard Kramer, Bert Lindley and Arthur Millet. Story is an original by Scott Darling.

Harry Beaumont will direct "Skyscraper" for M-G-M. Madge Evans has the feminine lead, with Robert Young opposite her. Uta Merkel also is in it.

Lew Ayres and Lola Lane, married this week in Las Vegas, are on a month's honeymoon, visiting Wyoming, Canada, and "Minnesota, where Ayres was born. On their return, Ayres will start work in Universal's "Gallows" under the direction of Roland Brown, with Rose Hobart in the feminine lead.

Miriann Hopkins and Phillips Holmes will have the leading roles in Paramount's "Wayward," from the Hume-Wells play, "Mary Makes a Call."*

Enicine Chapin has been added to the writing staff at Columbia. She is the author of the novel, "Pick Up."*

George Amy, veteran film editor, has completed the direction of "Torchy Passes the Buck," the second in the series of "Torchy" comedies being produced by C. C. Burr.

Charles Schonbaum, ace cameraman, is in charge of the photography on "Race Track," which is being directed by James Cruze. He also did the camera job on "Hell Bound" and "Women Go On Forever."*

Berton Churchill, popular New York stage and screen player, has taken a suite at the Hollywood Plaza. He is playing opposite Irene Franklin in "Ada Beats the Drum" at the El Capitan.

SHORTS FROM EASTERN STUDIOS

By HARRY N. BLAIR

ATHUTING has been given a strong supporting cast for her fifth Vitaphone two-reeler, "Words and Music," now in production. Those playing featured roles include Ruby Keeler, Robert Armstrong, Ben Hecht, Scotty Mowry, Maurice Barrett, Blair Kent, Byron Russell, Frank McNeilis, Ralph Hertz and Harry Vokes, all from the New York stage. Fifty extras are being used in a scene that is an exact reproduction of a well-known Broadway restaurant.

Both Rudy Vallee and Ethel Merman, heading the cast in the current George White "Scandals," are set to make several shorts for Paramount under the supervision of Larry Kent. "Musical Justice," directed by Aubrey Scotto, will be Rudy's first, while the second, to have a collegiate background, will be handled by Casey Robinson. Merman's next bears the alluring title of "Garden of Eden." It is the property of Aubrey Scotto, who will also direct.

The next Smith and Dale short for Paramount will be made here next week. It is called "Bound in Marriage." Miss Vallee and Miss Scotto, who will also direct. Scotto will next put Burns and Allen through their paces in "The Book of the Month."*

Production on "Blind Cargo" and "The Cheat" are winding up in record time... both look "big"...

Talullah Bankhead showing work on "Nude" and "Spicy." Director is "The Cheat," everybody raving about that Spiro baby whose ability to take direction is uncanny. Garthold Viertel is reviewing principals for the feature he is planning to direct here.

Following the completion of her role in "The Man I Killed," Nancy Carroll will return East to make her debut on the stage.

Averill Harris of the New York stage is playing his third and best picture role in "Blind Cargo." His work in "Secrets of a Secretary" and "Wickedest" has made him one of the most sought after "heavies" appearing in pictures here.

Renee Carroll, famous hat check girl, favored from the comparative se-urity of Broadway to the wilds of Flatbush by Sam Sax, to lead atmo-sphere to the restaurant set in Ruth Etting's latest Vitaphone short, offered me slightly worn straw hat for sale. Believe It or Not, the kettle once belonged to Robert L. Zipes, a Vitaphone employee, to be it to be sell for a few cents to a friend of a tip, saying that it was cheaper to give the hat away than to keep on buying it back every time.

Marjorie Beebe plays a girl reporter in "Hot News Margie," her first Vitaphone short, which Alf Goulding is directing. Both director and star are graduates of the Sennett school of comedy.

Against such strong competition as Al St. John, "Darned Tootin'" will be the title of the short and Roy Mack will direct.

Next week's Vitaphone schedule includes the "Wall Street Mystery," second of the two-reel Van Dyke detec-tive series, which Arthur Hurley will direct, and the Thomas Quintet, famous radio singers.

Charlie Davis and his gang, popular Brooklyn Paramount stage orchestra, have been signed by Para-mount for a recording short, "Two-Headed Woman," to be made here. Their first, "The Jazz Reporter," will soon be released.

"Charley," a trained seal, prominent in the Paramount short, "All Sealed Up," starring Al St. John, can sing both bass and tenor. Beside this, he can dance, snore, sneeze, imitate the buzzing of a bee, the bleat of a lamb, the neigh of a horse and the cooing of a dove, in addition to the regular line of seal stunts such as juggling and bal-acing. His trainer, Ray Huling, claims that he is the first seal to broadcast over the radio.

The Norworths can't understand the English censors. While in London, they learned that their first Vitaphone short was banned because it contained a bedroom scene that had always proved popular here. Yet the same censor who banned the scene in the film permitted it to be enacted on the stage.

"To-day's Big Event" As Seen By The Press Agent

"In order to conserve the energy of Bob Carter's prize horse, a less valuable mount is substituted at rehearsals."—Big 4.
Acme 35 mm. portable projector and sound-film reproducer, designed primarily as portable units, but equipped with a complete professional optical system for use in moderately-sized auditoriums, and in ambiances in which a picture of the maximum size of 12 x 16 feet is desired, is being marketed by the International Projector Corp. of New York. Each assembly weighs about 100 pounds.

This new equipment, simple in operation yet sturdy in construction, consists of a portable motion picture projector and sound reproducing equipment of fundamentally new design.

The condensing system consists of the Bausch and Lomb Cinephor PM-15 and PM-25, and projection lens mounts are so constructed that any type of lens may be used. This means that the full-size, No. 2 or Series II lenses may be readily accommodated in any focal length. The sound reproducing equipment is said to have received equal consideration in its construction. The projector deep socket is rugged and the optical system is sturdy and rigidly mounted. No tension shoes or springs in the sound reproducing gate, are used at the sound take off aperture. However, the film after leaving the sound gate feed sprocket is passed over a roller and tension is applied at this point. The amplifier used with the acme portable equipment is the product of RCA Photophone, Inc., and is completely AC-operated. It is mounted in a carrying case and weighs approximately 40 pounds.

A system of change-over switches has also been developed for use in connection with two of these new Acme projectors so that a sound-on-film program may be projected with equal ease and with the same results as are obtained in a modern theater, the company declares.

This machine and sound unit complete will be distributed through the National Theater Supply Co. Delivery is expected to start Oct. 1.

Berliner Acoustics

Aid Big B'way House

Berliner's acoustic system in the recently opened Earl Carroll theater, the first house to be equipped with this invention while in the course of construction, is giving excellent results. The management reports after several weeks of performances. Patrons in all parts of the 3,000-seat house are able to hear the stage performance clearly, it is stated.

The Berliner system, the development of the late Emil Berlinger, inventor of the telephone transmitter and Victor talking machine, is a simple device. A section or unit of wall treated with this invention gives the appearance of a smooth nine-inch square tile of about a half inch in thickness. The underside reveals a circular depression eight inches in diameter and a quarter of an inch deep, lined with a galvanized wire netting. The substance of the "tile," or "acoustic cement cell," as it is described, consists of a special kind of porous cement mixture.

The acoustic cement cells massed together form what appears on the outside as a flat cement wall. The finished wall thus consists of a series of concealed diaphragms, endowed with an otherwise rigid wall with the same vibratory quality possessed by a wooden structure, and it is the requirement of this vibratory quality that is said to transform a reverberating "boomy" hall into a chamber where every sound spoken is clearly understood. The sounds on striking these diaphragms, it is declared, are not reflected back as beams, or shafts of sound, as would otherwise be the case, but are absorbed, and with amplification of volume.

Good Results Reported

With Air-Blast Lamp

West Coast Bureau, THE FILM DAILY—The new air-blast projection lamp, a product of the Aircraft Automatic Arc Corp. of this city, is reported giving very good results.

This new lamp is composed of four units: the enclosing housing, burner assembly, combination arc controller and blower unit, and the heat-resistant elliptical reflector.

A motor is used for driving the arc control and the carbon feeding mechanism, as well as a drum-type blower rotor mounted on the opposite end of the arc control driving the motor armature shaft. The action of this rotor, which is almost silent, is to drive a strong blast of air through the working parts of the main burner or element. This blast of air, after passing over all parts subjected to the effects of the radiated heat of the arc, passes out of the mechanism at an opening at the top of the enclosed burner housing, and is driven through the lamp house stack directly above the air exit in the burner, carrying with it heat and gases generated within the lamp house by the arc.

The air cooling arrangement, new contact assembly, and other features are in reality provided for the sole purpose of improving the mechanism so that it will withstand a much higher current density in the positive electrode than was formerly possible, the company declares.

New Book on Projection

Publication by McGraw-Hill Publishing Co., New York, of the book, "Projecting Sound Pictures," a work on standard projection room practice, by Aaron Nadell, a member of the Publix projection department, has met with a high reception among theater managers and projectionists. The volume is written in simple, technical language and does not pre-suppose any extensive knowledge of electricity and sound engineering on the part of the reader.

PHOTOPHONE TURNING OUT NEW PORTABLE SOUND UNIT

Large scale manufacture of an entirely new portable sound reproducing unit, designed primarily for the educational and industrial fields, has been started by RCA Photophone.

The entire outfit comprises a projection machine, an amplifier, a loud speaker and a carry-case for film which have an aggregate weight of slightly over 200 pounds. The equipment is AC-operated from an outlet of 100 to 125 volts, either 50 or 60 cycle, single phase power source.

The projector is designed to accommodate a 1,000-foot standard reel, a standard series 1 theater projection lens with limits of focal lengths of 2 to 3 feet, 6 inches, a one-thousand watt, 110 volt, pre-focused base projection lamp, a 10 volt, 7½ ampere exciter lamp and a UX 868 photo-electric cell.

Standard 35 mm. film is used and a picture about 8 x 10 feet in dimensions is obtained upon the screen from a throw of 75 feet, the company declares.

SALE OF VISITRONT CELLS

SHOW MARKED INCREASE

Chicago—Sales of Visitron Photo-electric Cells made through National Theater Supply branches have recently increased more than 50 per cent, according to G-M Laboratories, Inc. The increase is attributed to the fact that many exhibitors are now getting their projection equipment in proper order for the new season and to a general realization of the importance of the photoelectric cell as a necessity to better sound performance.

Although properly constructed cells have a very long life expectancy under average conditions of operation, they should nevertheless be inspected and tested periodically for output and operating efficiency, inasmuch as they are vital to correct talking picture presentation. The importance of making a thorough examination of sound equipment in preparation for the coming season cannot be over-emphasized, and of all parts of the sound equipment there is no more vital part than the photoelectric cell. G-M Laboratories are among the pioneers in development and production of photoelectric cells for moving picture sound reproduction.

Jointville Production Personnel
Paris—Robert T. Kane, general manager of European production at Paramount's Jointville studios, has named the following production cabinet, which he himself heads: Saint Granier, Alfred Savoir, Lajos Biro, Alexander Korda and Charles Petzold. The literary committee is composed of Pierre Benoit, Marcel Pagnol, Edward Boudet, Sacha Guitry, Saint Granier, Paul Morand and Paul Branch. A 200,000,000 franc program of multi-lingual production is scheduled.

W. E.'s Percentage Plan Pleases Small Exhibs

London—Recent offer of Western Electric to install sound reproducing equipment of a quality equal to that in large West End theaters in a certain number of small picture houses, with payment to be made weekly from a certain percentage of the receipts, has aroused interest among London exhibitors having small theaters. The exhibitor reaction has been very favorable. The offer was made by R. M. Hatfield, managing director of Western Electric Co., Ltd., and applies to all types of equipment 35-F and 40-F.

New South Wales Exhibs Plan Part-Time Policy

Sydney—New South Wales exhibitors are considering the proposal of W. A. McIntyre, president and secretary of the Exhibitors' Association of New South Wales, to close their theaters three or four nights a week as a means of decreasing losses. Exhibitors believe that theaters have already reduced their show nights and cut down expenses. It is believed by some exhibitors that the scheme, if put generally into practice, will decrease losses to a minimum.

PITTAUGA REORGANIZES; PLANNING TO CUT COST

Rome—The most interesting recent event in Italian film circles is the complete, unannounced reorganization of Cines Pittaluga. The objects, it is stated, are to extend its American renting activities and to decrease production costs. One of the firm's directors is Signor Angelo Besozzi, managing director of the studio and production activities, is also stated to have resigned, as well as others connected with the theatrical side of the company. The company is launching a fairly extensive production program, including among other features an aviation film in which 600 airplanes will take part. The Italian Air Ministry will cooperate in the making of this feature.

26 Features Censored By Germany in July

Berlin—Of the 26 feature films censored in Germany during July, 1931, seven were produced in Germany and 19 were of foreign make. Thirteen of these were American pictures. The total for June was 14 and for May 15. The total length of the films under review is estimated as well as talking features) during July was 104,807 meters as against 129,505 meters in June and 196,686 meters in May. For the first six months of 1931 a total of 142 films passed the German censorship as against 147 for the same period of 1930.

125 Theaters Closed In Philippine Islands

Manila, P. I.—The world-wide business depression has affected the motion picture theaters in the Philippine Islands. A year ago there were 300 picture houses, while today there are but 175 in operation. Seventy or more of these, from Manila district having 33 of them. Not even the first run theaters are now making money, according to the proprietors. The largest circuit of theaters in the islands is controlled by the Lyric Film Exchange, which has four houses and forty in the provinces. It also acts as agent for Paramount, Warner Bros.—First National, and United Artists.

"John Armstrong" a Polish Count

London—The recent wedding here of John Armstrong, director of advertising for important Paramount interests in London, to Betty van Geuns, a member of the staffs of several society newspapers, revealed that Armstrong is in reality Count Ostrorog, head of an old Polish family. He is rated as outstanding among promoters of film publicity here.

Church Recognizes Film's Value

Newcastle—Westmoreland Road Presbyterian Church, Newcastle, in token of its recognition of the educational and social value of the motion picture to the public, will be converted into a picture theater for a period of three days, from Sept. 29 to Oct. 1. Only the best of films will be shown. One clergyman here has predicted that the church itself will one day use motion pictures to stimulate the interest of its congregations in, for instance, its missionary enterprises.

The Mad Parade
Paramount
Time, 65 min.

Weak entertainment without a man in the cast. Drab and heavy drama of woman canteen workers in the war.

Apparently the idea back of this story was to do a female "Journey's End." It deals with women canteen workers, none of whom is really identifies with any one conditions and tension. Only one man figures in the yarn and he never shown. The story frequently becomes tiresome as continuity efforts are made to make the female heavy heavier. The constanticker among the woman principals with the help of an amorousy story. Then Evelyn gets herself wounded in returning to the Allied hospitals, which is a scene shot in the dugout in which the girls have taken refuge. Acting and direction is fine.

MURDER AT MIDNIGHT
with Hale Hamilton, Alice Pringle, Alice White Tiffany
Time, 60 min.

Good murder mystery filled with baffling situations. Fine cast.

With the finger of suspicion pointing at practically every character in the picture, this melodrama moves along at a fast pace and carries considerable interest. Robert Elliott in the role of a police inspector walks away with the lion's share of honors. He is great. The other players are excellent and give careful and convincing readings. The picture starts off with an "accidental" murder during a parlor charade, and subsequently three other killings occur, under most mysterious circumstances. Director Strayer has done a neat job in holding suspense and continually throws in twists and turns to another. Cleverly arranged lighting effects aid considerably in providing mystic atmosphere.

Direction, excellent. Photography, fine.

Ronald Colman in
"The Unholy Garden"
United Artists
Time, 75 min.

Action drama of Algeria with Colman in another excellent performance, especially for excitement-loving audiences.

Ronald Colman again does a Twentieth Century Robin Hood in this story and does it in suave and smooth manner. Ronald Colman, playing a bank robber, joins a crew which plans to rob an aged embezzler of his loot. His plan is thwarted by the embezzler's daughter and thus learn where the stock is cached. He falls in love with the girl and in the end shares the loot with the gang. This Samuel Goldwyn picture ought to appeal mainly to audience with Colman's plenty of gunplay and sex in it.

Cast: Ronald Colman, Fay Wray, Estelle Taylor, Tilly Marshall, Ula Hage, Henry Green, Lawrence Grantsen, Warren Hymer, George O'Brien, Donald Meek, John Hall. Director, George Fitzmaurice; Authors, Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur; Actors same; Dialoguers, same; Editor, not credited; Cameraman, George Barnes; Victor Tolen; Recording Engineer, not credited.

Direction, Grade A; Photography, excellent.

Squaw Man with Warner Baxter, Lupe Velez, Roland Young
M-G-M
Time, 105 min.

Fine adaptation of Edwil Milton Royce's play, strong cast and direction.

Director Cecil B. DeMille has turned out a gripping and interesting piece of entertainment that should draw heavily on woman censorship boards. It is a well turned-out picture and the cast is filled with excellent talent. Lupe Velez, although in a comparatively small part, stands out smoothly. The burden of the piece is carried by Warner Baxter, who, first as an English gentleman and later as a squaw man, handles some difficult scenes and situations convincingly. Baxter takes another's blame for the theft of a large sum of money. He becomes an American ranch owner and carries an Indian girl who had saved his life. Plenty of action.

Director, Cecil B. DeMille; Author, Edwil Milton Royce; Actors, same; Dialoguer, same; Editor, not credited; Cameraman, Harold Rosson; Recording Engineer, Douglas She- rer.

Direction, Excellent. Photography, Fine.

Hoot Gibson in
"The Hard Hombre"
M. H. Hofman, Jr.
Time, 65 min.

Regulation western with Gibson nicely supported by Lina Basquette.

This western has the regular ingredients: the outlaws, the heroes, the damsels in distress, the singing, the horsewhips and the regular western villains. His trick in getting the money causes Hoot to be taken for a notorious killer, "the hound" and "the man with the devil's identity" is carried through various complications to the climax where Gibson runs into the famous bandit, gives chase, and finally wins the contest and tumble fight, and wins the chis.

MILDLY ENTERTAINING
ADAPTATION OF FAIRY TALE
GOOD ONLY FOR KIDS AND NON-THEATRICAL TRADE.

Little has been done in either di-ologue or direction to make this light story acceptable to adult patrons, even as passing-fair entertainment. Characters move well in make-up costumes with those illustrated in the book, "Alice's Adventures in Wonderland," but continuity of thought and action is poor and even the kiddies may be considerably bored due to lack of action or interesting talk. Alice,
White Rabbit, the Duchess, the Queen, King, Knave of Hearts, and many others of Lewis Carroll's famous characters come to life.

The best of the lot is White Rabbit, played by Ralph Hertz, who gives a nice reading and whose makeup is very cleverly constructed.

Scenery is commodious and sound recording uneven.

HEAVY CROOK DRAMA LOADED

AND DOOMED BY TITLE.

There is plenty of plot background in this Ralph M. Locke production, but it is ineffectively handled almost all around, chiefly by poor casting and the unimaginative title against it.

Story is about a crooked young husband and his innocent wife being convicted together for a job pulled by the man himself. The wife dies from the shock. Later her brother, a newspaper reporter, and the husband, who has obtained his release through a clever lawyer, go

ENTERTAINING COMEDY-DRAMA INTERSPERSED WITH WELL-SUNG COLLEGE TUNES.

Scenes of Heidelberg form the opening act of this interesting German-dialogue production which swings along at a good pace. Betty Bird, Willy Forst and Karl Koenig form a group of juveniles who deliver their lines snappily. A beautiful love-ballad, "Ich Liebe Du Liebste, Er Liebe," is sung by Betty and Willy, and the theme is carried throughout the piece. The story concerns Betty, who while at Heidelberg is loved by the two boys, but who loves Willy.
The boys have a misunderstanding and challenge each other to a duel.
Betty visits Willy at his apartments the night before the lads are to cross swords, in an effort to stop the order. Unfortunately there is then Willy's seconds claim to take him to the scene of the proposed duel.

Betty is so disappointed that compromise is not possible.
Willy does not admit his seconds and fails to face Hans. The arrival of Betty's father starts the duel.

"Playing With Fire"

with Jack Hazen

Vitaphone 1188
Time, 12 mins.

Okay

Comedy about firemen. Almora has been scarce for some time, so the boys have taken to staging a show. Two of them are checker boys. There is still a certain middle of the show, an uproarious affair in which the husky firemen impersonate ballerinas, there comes an advantage still at their game when some collapsed boards are pushed aside.
A satisfactory laugh number for any house.

Vitaphone 1207-8
Time, 16 mins.

Good Comedy

Losing his job, Joe Penner treks to the West, marries, and he comes a cowboy, having been left a ranch by an uncle. The property is situated on a boundary line, with the house being directly in the line of gunfire between two clans engaged in a feud. Through conniving, Joe gets both families into the house, each in a different room without knowledge of the other, following which he sells the place for a good sum and the two warring factions kill each other off in a good comedy climax. Well done all the way and generously loaded with laughs.

"Pompei"

Time, 9 mins.

Interesting

Very interesting story of the city of Pompeii which was destroyed by a volcano in ancient times. The city is being excavated and restored and this short shows some of the wonderers being unearthed. Shots of buildings, paintings, carbonized coats of bread and unbroken eggs which have been buried all these years, will make this go over in any house. The dialogue by Frank D. Orsston is particularly good.

"Speaking Out of Turn"

Vitaphone 1218
Time, 8 mins.

Pleasing

A timely satire on talking pictures somewhat in the spirit of "Once in a Life Time." Sequence in which dialogue gets out of step and four-year-old child talks like a hard-boiled racketeer, and reverse is especially laugh provoking. Written by A. D. Otvos. Directed by Al Ray.

Ruth Etting in "Old Lace"

Vitaphone 1238-9
Time, 19 mins.

Pleasing

Opens with Ruth Etting turning down her young suitor in favor of a richer man. Her dressing-room attendant overhears the conversation and tells Miss Etting the sim-lar story of her life. This is done by the "Hollywood" sequence in which there is a story told. The attendant, also played by Ruth Etting, is shown as one of the leads in a show current at that time. Ruth Etting, with the help of a boy in favor of a richer man and marries him. Five years later, she is shown with her parents and her son, who continues his flirtations with other women. There are shots of a beer garden and a singing waiters' quartet. The pictures then return to the modern sequence and Miss Etting finally ditches the old bird for the younger man. Miss Etting sings several numbers in her usual good style.
NEARER
AND NEARER

... comes the day when ultra-speed motion picture negative will eliminate slower emulsions. The latest impetus is supplied by the new gray backing on Eastman Super-sensitive. This advance is of particular interest to the exhibitor and the producer. Definitely improving photographic quality, it means more artistic, more pleasing, more satisfying pictures. And these factors, needless to say, have a very definite box-office value. Eastman Kodak Company, Rochester, New York. (J. E. Brulatour, Inc., Distributors, New York, Chicago, Hollywood.)

Settlement Is Reached In Teamsters' Strike

A strike which would have affected New York metropolitan houses using stage shows and vaudeville was avoided Friday afternoon, when truckmen and teamsters signed a new contract. Negotiations had been under way for several weeks with officials of Loew's, including Col. E. A. Schiller and Charles Moskowitz, working to bring about an agreement.

12 CANADIAN SHORTS PLANNED BY LOCKWOOD

"Canadian Indian Legends," 12 two-reelers, made in the Canadian Rockies in natural color, is to be produced by Earl Lockwood, who leaves Oct. 1 for the Northwest. Lockwood will take a portable sound recording unit, while Wood, interpreter of Indian dances and author of the shorts, will be featured in them. The series will be released in Canada by Twilight Pictures of Toronto. United States release has not yet been arranged.

Harry Storin Entering Advertising Business

Harry Storin, manager of the RKO Albee, Providence, for nearly two years and one of the most widely-known operators in the country, has resigned to enter the advertising business in Providence. During the past few years Storin has won three prizes in national managers' contests. He is now in New York.

Laemmle Gets Plaudits From Home Office Staff

Carl Laemmle departed Saturday on the Century for the west to the tune of hearty plaudits from his home office staff, who on Friday called upon the Universal chief in a body to thank him for restoring their salaries to the former basis. It was one of the most happy incidents of Laemmle's career. On his way to the coast, the U president will stop off in Chicago, where a print of "The Spirit of Notre Dame," now on its way east, will be intercepted and screened for him.

Fully 300,000 projectors or motion picture machines of the 16 mm. class have been sold in the U. S., exclusive of another 100,000 of smaller type machines that are termed toys and also use shorter lengths of 16 mm. films, according to A. D. V. Story, executive secretary of the 16 MM. Motion Picture Board of Trade, which is holding its first national convention all this week at the Hotel Victoria. Pictures are now offered on the 16 mm. market by leading producers, including Paramount, Universal, Pathé, Columbia, FitzPatrick and others, says Storey. There are at present more than 1,000 productions in silent 16 mm. film for use on the home or non-theatrical

The records for appearances in the last two or three years, leaving the big majors to continue, still in the Wampas fold. These include Helen Ferguson, Lila Lee, Jacqueline Logan, Louise Loraine, Bebe Love, Katherine McGaugh, Patsy Ruth Miller, Mary Philbin, Pauline Starke and Lois Wilson.

The year 1929 was the most successful, producing four outstanding stars—the largest number of any year—and seven featured players, the end of feature pictures. Those selections that year included Joan Crawford, Janet Gaynor, Dolores Del Rio, Dolores Costello, Fay Wray, Mary Astor, Mary Brian, Joyce Compton, Marceline Day, Sally Long, Edna Marion, Sally O'Neil, Vera Reynolds.

The years 1935 and 1937, which incidentally suffered the biggest casualties—seven each. Of the 1925 list, Olive Borden, Ann Correll, Natalie Joyce, June Marlow, Evelyn Pierre and Dorothy Revier have continued active up to the last two seasons at least, while Betty Hara, Vyola Avon, Ena Gregory, Madeline Hurlock, Joan Meredyth, Duane Thompson and Lola Todd have not been heard from lately.

Those dropping out in the 1927 list are Patricia Avery, Rita Caraw, Helene Costello, Sally Phillips, Sally Rand, Tris Stuart and Adamee Vaughn, leaving Barbara Kent, Nathalie Kingston, Gwen Lee, Mary McAllister, Gladys McConnell and Martha Sleeper.

In 1923 the selections included Ethel McAlister, Kathleen Key, Margaret Leary, Helen Lynen and Delores Perdue, all of whom have dropped out, while Eleanor Boardman, Evelyn Brent, Dorothy Devore, Virna Brown Fairie, Betty Francisc, Pauline Garon, Laura La Plante and Jobyna Ralston remain active.

Lucille Rickson, Margaret Morris, Hazel Keener, Gloria Grey and Elmer Fair are the present absentees from the list of 1924, leaving Clara Bow, Carmelitta Geraghty, Ruth Hilt, Julianne Johnston, Doris Hattie, Blanche Methaffey, Marion Nixon and Alberta Vaughn.

The 1928 lineup included Lina Basquete, Flora Bramley, Sue Carol, Ann Chryse, June Colley, Sally Elles, Alice Day, Judy Ferris, Dorothy Gulliver, Glen Lee, Molly O'Day, Lupe Velez and Ruth Taylor, with Miss Taylor the only one to drop out.

Doris Dawson is the only baby star now missing from the 1929 selections, which also included Jean Arthur, Betty Boyd, Ethlyn Clair, Sally Bane, Josephine Dunn, Helen Foster, Doris Hill, Caryl Lincoln, Anita Page, Mona Rico, Helen Twelvetrees and Loretta Young.

No selections were made in 1930. The 1931 list is: Joan Blondell, Constance Cummings, Frances Dade, Sddy Fox, Roxelle Hudson, Aran Louise, Joan Marsh, Karen Morley, Marion Shilling, Barbara Weeks, Judith Wood, Frances Dee, and Marion Marsch.

Always the Leader

PARAMOUNT
J. GRUBB ALEXANDER is at work on the screen version of "The Honorable Mr. Wong," the play by Achmed Abdullah and David Belasco, in which Edward G. Robinson is to appear next. Alfred E. Green will direct.

Universal has bought "The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari," by Frank King, from 'Detective Story Magazine,' as one of the Shadow Detective series.

"Extra! Extra!" one of the 'Newspaperman' series of RKO Pathé comedies starring Frank McHugh, has gone into production at the Culver City studio under the direction of Harry Sweet. Mae Busch and Ralph Ince head the supporting cast.

The combination of William K. Howard as director and James Wong Howe as cameraman on "City Lights" is responsible for the most amazing photography that Fox has given us in quite a while. Photography alone is not working together on "Surrender" and Howe promises new camera angles. Walter Baxter and Lola Haynes have the leading roles.

Eddie Buzell has completed a new "Redtime Story for Grown Ups" at Columbia. This one is called "The Call of the North" and deals with the "Northeast Fursummer Police."

"The Gentleman from San Francisco," William Powell's first starring picture for Warner Bros., will go into production at the Burbank lot, according to information from the West Coast.

Short Shots from New York Studios

By HARRY N. BLAIR

JACK HALEY'S very successful short, "Success," was directed by Alf Goulding for Warner Vitaphone.

The remarkable photography of George Folyse which is a feature of "My Smell" will be topped, if possible, when "The Cheat" is shown. Both are Bankhead vehicles with George Abbott directing. Looks like the combination of Folyse and these two has resulted in a most successful trio.

Little Billy Hayes, who plays Pendrod in the Booth Tarkington-Vitaphone kid shorts, had to overcome a cockney accent before he could get into the movies. Although born here, his parents are both English and it was natural for him to acquire their manner of speaking.

Dick Willis, Vitaphone's make-up chief, did such an artistic job painting a black eye on Mrs. Jack Nor- worth that the stage crew hung around after the picture was over to see if it actually was a real shiner.

Fox dividend meeting, scheduled to take place yesterday, was postponed until later in the week due to lack of a quorum.

Combination Production Planned by James Cruze

West Coast Bureau, THE FILM DAILY

Hollywood—James Cruze is reported planning a production which, in addition to a complete picture version, can be presented partly on the screen and partly on the stage, the idea being to take it on tour. Betty Compson will be in it.

Moss' Broadway Sells Out in 30 Minutes

Thirty minutes after opening yesterday morning, B. S. Moss' Broadway was sold at capacity. House has been doing business since it opened Friday with its new policy including Columbia's "Pagan Lady" on the screen and the Moss "Varieties" on the stage. Management expects the biggest week's business on Broadway, topping the record house gross held by Harold Lloyd.

Big Names for Minor Roles Advocated by M. A. Lightman

Frequent use of important players in minor parts, with the object of increasing audience interest and building up a picture, is urged by President M. A. Lightman of the M.P.T.O.A. Not only would productions show a general improvement in acting through more painstaking casting, he points out, but this policy would aid in building names of players being groomed as big personalities. Holding out for one, two or three pictures a year is a fallacy, Lightman believes.

"My theory is that the day should come when a company will cast pictures from all its performers as if it were one big stock company," said the M.P.T.O.A. president in part. "If two or three of the biggest names on the roster happened to fit into a picture, they should be available rather than held out for individual pictures. The right person in the right part means everything to the picture, even if it is a big name in only a few scenes. If anything will increase a star's popularity, proper casting will do it."

Sanoff Sees Home Theater in Year

A "theater of the home" created by television will be an established fact in a year, said David Sanoff last night in his address at the opening of the Radio-Electrical World's Fair at Madison Square Garden. "Just as the shackles of silence were struck from the screen, so will the veil be lifted from broadcasting" he declared. Television demonstrations are part of the exposition program.

State Labor Dept. Enforcing Sunday Rest Law in Theaters

In the preliminary report of a checkup being made by 28 inspectors under the direction of James L. Gaynor of the State Labor Department, approximately 1,000 theaters in New York state, including the Manhattan area, have been found not observing the "day of rest law," which went into effect Jan. 1, giving operators one day off each week. Notices are being sent to all houses not conforming with the law.

Joseph K. Plunkett, vice-president and general manager of RKO theaters, leaves today for a tour of the circuit's western houses. He will first inspect the Northwest Division, then go to the Pacific Coast and confer with Cliff Work, divisional manager.

Amusement Stocks Are Hit In London Crisis Reaction

Amusement stocks and bonds on the New York exchange took a beating yesterday. Angery F. Reynolds, general manager of the London money situation. Bonds suffered most severely. Most of the stocks dropped by 7 points, and in London, Pathe, Warners and Kert, Loew, Paramount, RKO, Columbia and Consolidated also were losers among common stocks, while Eastman Kodak dropped and then rallied for a gain of 4% on the day.

Concerned Over Money Situation

Major American distributors were apprehensive yesterday over the situation in Great Britain due to the suspending of the gold standard. Picture-financial men are also concerned with conditions in the Argentine and Mexico. The situation in England will not affect Canada, says B. F. Lyon, Canadian sales manager for Warner-First National, who is just back from the Dominion. Canada is no longer dependent upon England financially.

Trans-Lux Type Policy Gaining Indie Sentiment

Sentiment in favor of operation policies similar to the Trans-Lux setup was reported yesterday as fast developing among independent exhibitors. Costs can be materially reduced through elimination of 16 mm. projection, as planned by two national circuit projects now being formulated, it was pointed out. High operation costs assessed against the average present-day theater, owing in a large measure to union labor requirements, have a tendency to develop this trend.

Special Player Contract

Put in Effect by Academy

West Coast Bureau, THE FILM DAILY Hollywood—Academy of M. P. Arts and Sciences has placed in effect its recently adopted contract form to be used when players are engaged for roles on the basis of a stipulated sum and time guarantee. This contract supplements the standard minimum agreement for artists in which special form of payment is not covered. One of the stipulations is that if a role extends beyond a specified period, a prearranged weekly salary shall be paid to the artists or pro-rated on the basis of one-sixth of the weekly rate. If the additional time is less than a week.

Krazy Kat Cartoon Picked for Television

One of Columbia's Krazy Kat cartoons, "The Stock Market," made by Charles Mintz, has been picked for television broad-cast in the Sanabria demonstration at the Radio-Electric Fair in Madison Square Gar-ten. Only about 5 per cent of the screen's story requirements are now being filled by the Broadway stage, a checkup by THE FILM DAILY shows. An additional 6 or 7 per cent has been contributed by the revival of old legit properties, but the possibilities in this field are fast dwindling to the zero level. SEPTEMBER 22 -
Looked in at the Astor Theatre today. Very nice! Lunt & Fontanne are swell. My Standees for "The Guardsman" at $2. very new ideas, new faces. I think I'm right. Just picked up copies of Hollywood picture dailies and saw the rave notices on "New Adventures of Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford" - the reviewers say it's the best Bill Haines show since "Slide Kelly Slide." And they say Jimmy Durante, the Broadway comic is a screamer. Listen Diary, you'll hear plenty about that Durante guy! He's going to pull walk of New York. When I saw the notices from the Coast I figured it couldn't be true. Then I saw it in the projection room. It's great! I'm so pleased to see that good. Two fine weeks at the Capitol, N.Y. An Joan Crawford's "This Modern Age" going over so well. Two fine weeks at the Capitol, N.Y. An exhibitor writes me to say that if it hadn't been for M.G.M. in past months he'd be out of business today. I think that's true of plenty of other theatres!

RUTH ETTING, besides being a popular singer, is also a song writer. She composed "I'm Falling in Love," which she sings in "Words and Music," her latest Vitaphone short.

"Dancing Sweethearts" is the title of the fourth Thelma White-Fanny Watson two-reel comedy, which Stanley Roush and Glen Lambert have just completed for Vitaphone.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Norworth's next comedy for Vitaphone will be "The Naggars at the Opera," by Herman Ruby and A. Dorian Otvos.

"Bells, Baby and Button" is the go signal on the "Blind Cargo" set.

Claudette Colbert, who returned to the Paramount studio on Monday to resume work in "Blind Cargo," after having been ill for a week, suffered a relapse while before the cameras and had to be taken home. She will rest for several days more before going back to work.

Novel Musical Series Planned by H. Wisby

"1912 Overture," the process, known in the trade as the Wisby Plan, makes it possible to present in dramatized form the absolute music of the number in question without the use of actors or technical staff, the screen presentation being in the nature of descriptive drawings.

In addition to its application in 'rhapsomising musical compositions to the screen, Wisby's process makes it possible to picket the music of the number in question without the use of actors or technical staff, the screen presentation being in the nature of descriptive drawings.

Offer Giannini Big Post

Dropping of Dr. A. H. Giannini from the Board of Directors, as reported in yesterday’s dailies, was somewhat misleading. The facts are that, with Transamerica’s decision to divorce control of banks from the holding company, the interlocking of directorates had to be dispensed with, hence it was necessary for Dr. Giannini to resign from the Transamerica board in order to continue with the Bank of America. While Dr. Giannini could not be reached yesterday, it is understood on the best authority that he will remain with the Bank of America and that those now in control of the billion-dollar Transamerica unit have offered him, under flattering terms, the executive directorship of all Bank of America activities in Los Angeles and Southern California, involving some 300 banks.

“Palmy Days”

A comedy bombshell, garnished with catchy music, snappy girls and the most versatile performance yet given by Eddie Cantor, was exploded by United Artists at the Rivoli last night when this Sam-uel Goldwyn production directed by Edward Sutherland, and starring Cantor, plays five different characters, from com-edy roles and blackface to a French mystic and a feminine part, and he’s at his best in all of them. While Cantor, with Charlotte Greenwood as his main foil, the main work in this lively fun fest, the production also includes about the swellest bevy of chorus girls ever as- sembled, performing routines that make any Broadway musical sit up and take notice. There is no color in the picture, but it has plenty of sure-fire hokum, a cleverly sustained story, best in camera work and recording, and it’s clean enjoyment for young and old every-where. Coming at a time when the country needs laughs, here is an enter- tainment feast for fans that will mean plenty of palmy days for exhibitors.

Diamond’s trip will take him to St. Louis, New Orleans, several Texas and Arizona cities, California, Washington, Oregon and Minnesota.

Rialto Staff Changes

The Rialto, which reopened last night as the first run with Eddie Conior in “Palmy Days,” has made some shifting changes in staff: Martin Rosen, former assistant manager, is now manager. Dave Weissler remains as treasurer. Leo Flynn, former assistant manager at the Criterion, now holds the same position at the Rialto. Arthur Lake, who previously managed the Rialto, has been transferred to the Riviera Scranton, Pa. The full staff of the Rialto has been reinstated.

Craven Acquires Foreign Plays

“The Harlequin King,” Duquesne’s version of “Konig Harlekin,” written and copyrighted in U. S. in 1904, has been bought by Major Frederick de Trafford Craven for production in America. The play was prohibited in practically all the royalist countries prior to the war.

“The Yankee Amazon,” an original by Duquesne which was produced in Europe under the title of ‘Mam’zelle Cocoran,” has also been acquired by Major Craven.

NEWS of the DAY

Northampton, Pa.—A Pennsylvania charter of incorporation has been obtained by the Harlem Theater Co., with headquarters here. Company is capitalized at $25,000. Julius E. Lentz, of Laury's, Pa., is treasurer and one of the incorporators. Other incorporators are Harry E. Hartman and Paul E. Lentz.

Howard, Kan.—George Gotobed has bought the Crooks from the stockholders.

Reading, Pa.—Jack Flynn, who succeeded George Rich at the Astor, is now district manager for Warners in Reading.

Ionia, Mich.—Gene Yarnell, former manager of the Hillsdale, Hillsdale, here, has been transferred to the new Ionia to succeed George Shaffner, who will go to the Hillsdale.

York, Pa.—Lester Stallman, formerly a Warner executive in Atlantic City and Wilmington, has been appointed Warner district manager here, succeeding William Haynes, who was transferred to the management of Warner's Philadelphia district.

Charlotte, N.C.—The Publix house, formerly operating as the Alhambra, has been temporarily closed for installation of the new equipment throughout and is to be reopened Sept. 22 as the State. M. N. Hillips will serve as manager.

Seymour, Ind.—The Princess has been purchased from W. O. Zuber by F. O. Whitmer, proprietor of Whitmer's Gift Store, and the Seymour Business College. The house was immediately closed for extensive repairs and remodeling. W. L. Ball, who now owns theaters in Brownstown and Crothersville, Ind., is associated in the project with Whitmer, and will have active charge of the operation of the house.

Mattoon, Ill.—Fox West Coast Theaters Corp. is planning to open the Grand. Extensive improvements are being made.

Toronto—Tom Brady, RKO Pathé's general Canadian representative, reports a deal with the F. G. Spencer Circuit for the new season's complete Rooster product.

FANNY WATSON, of the famous Watson Sisters, was robbed of considerable money and jewelry while vacationing at her summer home in Crescent Beach, Ont., between pictures. Miss Watson has already completed three of the series which she is making for Warner Bros. Here and will resume work on the balance of the series next week. So far, her property has not been recovered.

Seems like it just isn't possible to make a Bankhead film without at least one big courtroom scene. In "My Sin" Tallulah is called upon to fight for her life in the court of law, with the same situation recurring in "Pirates Against Woman." She is acquitted in all cases.

Two Long Island football teams have been secured by the Vitaphone casting office, in order to stage the game being covered by "11th News Margie," first of two Vitaphone comedies for which the popular comedienne, Marjorie Beebe, has been signed by Sam Sax. Both will be released as part of the "Pepper Pot" series.

The oft-repeated statement that in New York no one knows his next door neighbor is borne out in the case of Claudette Colbert and Rudy Vallee who have lived in the same apartment house on Central Park West for the past year, without ever seeing each other. These two celebrities met on the set the other day at the Paramount studio where Claudette was completing "His Woman" and Rudy was making "Musical Justice," a short subject.

PERCENTAGE MAIN ISSUE
AT M. P. T. O. CONVENTION

WALTER VINCENT was hailed as a new exhibitor leader offering to his members the way to beauty of theatermen since the protest meeting held in New York last Sept. 1. Jay Emanuel expressed the idea and the meeting thoroughly okayed it.

Walter Stein, prexy of United T. J. Hess, took a bow at the suggestion of Pete Woodhall, recently named vice-president and general sales manager of his outfit.

E. J. O’Connell, another of the Manhattan contingent, remained old acquaintances.

Dezel Buys Out Goetz

In Road Show Pictures Chicago—Albert Dezel has bought the complete interest of L. E. Goetz in Road Show Pictures. Goetz expects to go to Hollywood to produce picture picture. Dezel will continue to road show “Ten Nights”, and in addition to his regular territory he has acquired the Southern Illinois and Eastern Michigan rights on “Ten Nights”.

Winnie De Lorenzo of Celebrated Players, Milwaukee, will continue to act as the Road Show Pictures agent in Wisconsin, and Greiver of Greiver Productions, Chicago, will continue to act as sales agent in Northern Illinois and Indiana.

Dezel has just returned from New York where he has completed a deal with Sherman Kreelberg to handle the distribution of “Should a Doctor Tell” in the Middlewest. This picture opens soon at the Cinema.

Seven Daily at Paramount

“An American Tragedy” will be shown an additional daily at the New York and Brooklyn Paramount starting today. It will probably run for two weeks.

ALONG THE RIALTO WITH PHIL M. DAILY

- - SLIP A NEW leaf in your directory of studio terms Write in “space shot”, which Emerson Genetics is using in “24 Hours,” Paramount pix. Simple means “panning” or turning away of the camera from the players at the end of each scene and then showing a panorama or traveling with the characters from one spot to another before picking up the next location. This treatment permits continuous action minus fade-ins and fade-outs. Helen Klump, who is known to Viewpoint readers as Karen Hollis, is living with Ann Rork. Usta be on the Morning Telly handling pitcher stuff. Irene Thier seems to be the most-quoted of Gotham newspaper reviewers. Her system of evaluating screen fare gives publicity departments meaty stuff for their ads.

- - PRELIMINARY PLANS are being set for the dinner, dance and entertainment which the M. P. Club will toss Feb. 20 at the new Waldorf-Astoria. Rudy Wiedoeft, who handles a Maxi Saxophone when it comes to contagious melody, is being ably handled by Horace Yorke, who is his business associate in Radio Transcriptions. “Let’s Play Marx,” sez an Unauthenticated Report, is Hollywood’s latest retort of course you couldn’t surmise it’s a plug for “Monkey Business,” which Paramount is anxious to tell you opens at the Rivoli on Oct. 1. Vivian Moses very frankly announces that final scenes have been shot in D. W. Griffith’s “The Struggle,” produced at Joe Coffin’s Anson Cinema Studio.

- - JIMMY SMITH has made many a star from becoming just a face of the Robert F. Smith. He edited the first picture Mary Pickford ever made and has on his list of credits the scissors-work on “The Birth of a Nation.” Which Al Grey will tell you is still box-office lure. Add to Broken Hearts on Broadway that columnist contest is completed and the original author of this column, alack, alack, only came second. Al Fineman is Anticipating but he won’t tell what.

- - PHIL REISMAN opines that anyone wanting to improve his film industry background should attend some of those Warner-British arbiters and read that one of the questions asked by an Erpi lawyer was, “What is the difference between a motion picture and a feature?” Morning musicals, which cost the customers no extra tariff, are now part of the policy of the Europe, where the new film is “The Inn at the Rhine.” Latest pop German melodies will be played daily from 11:30 to 12 o’clock, sez Martin Lewis. “The Fugitive” is still shelved, it appears, is going out a exploit campaign in connection with the Seth Parker pix which RKO will offer to exhibs. Every time Primo Carnera walks into Sarlot’s the luncheons center their attention on his highly-publicized feet. Grad Sears, who is going West with Charlie Einfeld, has a route which takes him to Portland, Seattle, San Francisco and other hamlets where pictures are sold.

- - FERENC, NOTED continental photographer who was recently signed by Jack Warner while in Europe has arrived on the Coast to make camera studies of Warner and First National stars. Two ex-Theater Guild plays are doing nicely thank you, in talker garb in Broadway houses. Meaning “The Guardsman” and “The Brothers Karamazov.” Joe Well is showing a powerful one-sheet on “Homicide Squad” for use as this Universal celluloid plays here and there. It urges the public to help “Drive Em Out,” referring to gangsters. Joe Leo is more concerned with golf these autumns than days at theater deals. Nothing new in his plans since his deal with Fox was called off.

- - BOND BLDG. elevator boys are going up in the world. One is being groomed by RKO to work at its Porto Rico exchange into a song writer. And a third expects to Get Somewhere by sing- ing to his customers. When he hits the 16th floor, like a present store elevator director, he will say “Are the Children?” which is a plug for a certain price of RKO product.

Horne Mann, Scudder, Fieldson, Dickinson, Scudder, Cassel, Cohan and Scudder, all at the University High School, were shown a group of pictures including “Little Caesar,” “Excitement Streets” and “Quick Millions,” and there were asked their reactions.

None admitted that he or she had been harmed in any way by any of the films. Answering a question regarding the possible effect of these films upon the members of their families most of them agreed that they would not want their eight year old brother or sister to see them. A few would allow the films to be shown to their fourteen year old brother or sister. A large percentage thought it would be safe for an eighteen year old brother or sister to see them—an equal number thought it would be equally safe for their mothers. Adult brothers and sisters, and fathers, were unanimously immune.

A question was put forth that there was any particular significance in children’s liking to play games about gangsters and racketeers, any more than playing Indian, 80 per cent replied in the negative, while the affirmative qualified their answers most unanimously on the fact that children do not hear so much of Indians now and the gangster just happens to be the type of ‘bad man’ they hear most about.

Garbo-Novarro in Mata Hari Story

Hollywood—Greta Garbo and Ram Novarro will appear together in a story based on the exploits of the European spy, Mata Hari, according to announcement by M-G-M. The picture is now being prepared for early production.

Philly House Drops Colored Acts

Philadelphia—Fay’s has abandoned its policy of colored vaude acts and pictures in favor of white vaude acts and films, effective today. The other policy ran for three days. Nixon’s Grand inaugurates a vaude and picture policy in October.

Fox Theater Assignments Bring Many N. Y. Changes

Monte Salamon has been appointed manager of the Park Plaza, Bronx, replacing Chris Eagan, who has been transferred to the management of the Valentine. Richard Dixon is now assisting Jacques Benjamin, manager of the Nemo. Fred J. Cuneo has been appointed manager of the Fox-Poli, Meriden, Conn., with Bert Gleason as assistant. Walter Melvin, formerly of the Valentine, is now managing the Corona and the Granada, Long Island. R. Wernick, who has been managing the Granada, is now assistant manager and treasurer of the Corona. S. Abrams, formerly assistant manager of the Corona, is now assistant manager and treasurer of the Granada. H. Doran, formerly assistant at the Granada, has been made assistant manager and treasurer of the Roosevelt.

New Talkie Apparatus in Australia

Melbourne—Phillips Lamps, Ltd., recently announced its entry into the Australian talkie equipment field with a unit selling at around $2,000. The apparatus manufactured in either England or the Netherlands, is reported to be very compact. It is sound-on-film only.

Auto Parking Site for Kutinsky

Morriss Kutinsky, former theater owner, has purchased an automobile parking site on the line of the old Belmont Hotel, opposite Grand Central Terminal, it was originally intended to build a theater on the plot, which extends to 41st St.

Thieves Take Equipment

St. Louis—Fred Wehrenberg, owner of the Melba, has reported to police that projection equipment valued at about $1,000 has been stolen from his house. The robbery took place after midnight.

Atlantic Mutual Service of Chicago opens an office here at 709 Glenn Building on Oct. 1.

Coming & Going

Richard A. Rowland leaves Monday for the coast.

Frances Agnew has finished her scenario assignment at the Paramount coast studios and returned to New York.

P. J. Wousson, author of "Bed of Dust," leaves today by auto for the coast to sign a contract as a writer for Universal.

William Haines, who has just signed a new contract with M-G-M, is due in the East next week for a visit.

A Little from "Lotts" By Ralph Wilk

Hollywood

Monroe Owsley, who scored in "Holiday," "Honor Among Lovers," "This Mod Squad," and other films, is temporarily absent from the screen while recovering from nervous exhaustion. Owsley, who recently severed his connection with Richard Kane as agent, has been approached directly by several producers for the parts for which he is under consideration in the role of Whitey in "Quare People."

Wallace Smith, author and scenario expert, claims he has revised a photoplay that will be completed with staff of four people including actors, mechanics and executive staff. He is holding his idea in reserve for the day when rehunchment in Hollywood reaches its limits.

Mack Sennett has finished a new Brevity with the aid of his old-time entertainment for youngsters. It was originally called "The Lyn' Hunter," but renamed "Who's Who in the Zoo," and has been released in Sennett Color. Billy Bevan has the leading role. In the supporting parts are Speo O'Donnell, Rosemary Theby and little Billyarty.

Radio Pictures has cast Norman Foster and Stanley Fields in "The Dove," under the direction of Charles White. Knighty Kelly and John Howard for their first talkie in the form story in which Mary Astor and Ricardo Cortez are featured. Zelma O'Neil, Cora Witherspoon and Sam Lee are also in the cast.

William Goodrich, who hardly takes a break between assignments, has started a new Educational-Marmaid comedy with Jack Shatta, Emerson Treacy and Frances Dean, the latter a striking blonde borrowed from Samuel Goldwyn.

Universal has added Harry Carey, Jr., Edward Brooks, Alexander, Harry Woods, Alphonse Ethier, Walter Brennan, Donald MacDonald, Melville McDowell and D'Arcy Corrigan to "Law and Order," which Edward Cahn is directing.

Sidney Fox and Frances Dee are in "Ner Women," which Edw. H. Knopf adapted and will direct. Slim Summerville is working in "The Phone" from a story by Harry Gribbon, Daphne Pollard, Iseh Sebury and Lena Malena, directed by Harry Edwards.

Fox has bought "Dance Team" first novel by Sarah Addington, for James Dunn.

RKO Pathe has assigned Robert Armstrong to "The Second Shot," with Helen Tenacken for his first assignment. Ralph Ince will be in the picture after Eddie Hall has not as yet united.

Harold Lewis, Paramount sound engineer, has completed work on "Onoe a Lady." His next assignment will be "Wingding Girls."

Will Rogers, with two Fox pictures finished ahead of schedule, is taking a vacation trip to Mexico City.

Warner Bros. has signed Dickie Moore, kid actor, for five years. Regis Toomey has been signed by Samuel Marx under "Under Eighteen." new title of the picture formerly known as "Pretty Little Girl."...

Charles A. Logan, whose "Drake Murders Case," and other mystery thrillers of an original nature have made this type of film something of a specialty with him, has completed his second Columbia assignment. He is credited with the adaptation of "Unwanted," Jack Cunningham collaborated with him on the dialogue. Edgar Wallace's "The Franchise of Serpent" will reach the screen via Logue treatment and Galindo.

M. M. Paggi, veteran sound man, is in a recordign and "Dr. Jekyll and Mr Hyde" at Paramount.

It seems to be safe to predict that "The Spirit of Notre Dame," will be one of the most rewarding of the year. The writer was a member of a hard-boiled audience of men and women who raved regarding the pictures. That it is a studio picture has been screened to date by George Meyer.

Not so many years ago, Jacqueline Logan was a supporting actress in a little newspaper in Nebraska. Now she is directing her own story, "Strictly Business," for British Intercontinental. Montreal Sweet is appearing in an Edgar Wallace play in London.

An actor who became a cameraman, is being graduated to the rank of actor will be associated with George Archainbaud in his forthcoming production of "Pickup" for RKO. One of them is Harrison Fillmore, who abandoned his ambition to be an actor when he became interested in photography. The other is Ward Dunn, who has only recently given up the mechanical department to try his luck as a producer.

James Kirkwood and Beatrice Prowers were married this week in Las Vegas. Nev.

Conrad Nagel, Frank Capra, M. C. Easter, Max B. Bajohr and Glazer have been nominated for the board of directors of the Academy of M. F., Arts and Sciences.

When Doris Lloyd came to Hollywood several years ago it was with no thought of a motion picture career. Concluding to take her sister to Mrs. George R. Arthur, wife of the popular actor, Miss Lloyd offered to meet her new friend and work persuaded her to lengthen the visit and eventually to remain as one of the screen's most popular character actresses. Miss Lloyd will shortly be seen with Ann Harding in the latter's, RKO Pathe starring picture, "De-

Nick Schenck Favors Stars Over Wide Film and Color

Both wide film and color will not be included in M-G-M's revised production plans for 1931-32, according to present intentions, said President Nicholas M. Schenck in an interview with THE FILM DAILY Friday. Wide film experiments have been suspended by the company. M-G-M schedule calls for two features with music, these being "Flying High" and "The Cuban," Schenck stated, and said that he is firmly convinced that star names are vital to productions.

Martin L. Petry Joins Castle Films as Exec.

Martin L. Petry, publicity manager during the last five and a half years for the United States Lines, has resigned, effective Oct. 1, to become associated in an executive capacity with Eugene W. Castle, head of Castle Films, industrial and merchandising film producers. As publicity director for U. S. Lines, Petry booked all films for exhibitors aboard vessels of this fleet.

Protesters Concentrate on Score Charge Fight

The exhibitor protest committee which developed out of the New York meeting Sept. 1 will now concentrate its efforts on the removal of score charges. Chairman Walter Vincent has been continually in contact with sales managers of major companies on the matter. Another session of the committee will be held this week, on a day to be selected by Vincent.

Lowry's Bodies Found; Funeral in Cincinnati

Cleveland—Bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Lowry, who were recently drowned while sailing on Lake Erie, have been washed ashore. Funeral services will be held in Cincinnati Sunday. Both Mr. and Mrs. Lowry were connected with the film industry.

Rating Films by Stars Discarded in Dallas

Dallas—Rating pictures by the use of stars has been discarded by the "News" here as a result of efforts on the part of John J. Friedi, Publicist of the division manager. Friedi's argument was that, although two-stars is supposed to mean that a picture is "good," the public this is thrown in a faint praise, and unless a picture gets at least three-stars most folks stay away from it.
Eddie Cantor Launches Dunker Drive

Police officers had to be called out Friday afternoon to manage the mob that gathered to watch Eddie Cantor do a doughnut dunking stunt in the glass-front doughnut shop at Broadway and 45th St. The stunt, for which Lewis has been doing at the Paramount to promote their Slew, is scheduled to start Aug. 6. While Cantor wears the baking suit which is designed to hold him in place if he falls into the doughnut spread, he is to do three doughnut stunts daily. The stunt will be repeated until Aug. 20.

City, Kan., and Kansas City, Mo., were among the cities that must close their motion picture theaters on Aug. 25 in order to comply with the order issued by the Kansas State Board of Health. The city's health officer ordered that all motion picture theaters in Kansas City, Kan., be closed on Aug. 25 as a result of a violation of the health laws by the city's health department last month. The health department has been working to improve the health conditions in the city.

For more pictures of the wholesome variety to be shown in the coming months, the Screen tabulation for the past month showed that, of 63 films among the 30 new releases, 15 were rated as suitable for family use by the Children's Film Council as good for adults. Fox's "Merely Mary Ann" also gets a very good rating for all classes, while complimentary remarks were given to Paramount's "Newly Rich", Fox's "Young As You Feel" and "Black Camel", RKO "Public Defender" and "Marry Cooks", and MGM's "Sporting Blood".

Newman Shorts Tied Up With Tour

E. M. Newman, having mapped out his travel lecture tour for the season, the Vitaphone shorts sales department is perfecting plans to have his "World Travel Talks" shown in all of the cities on his itinerary. At the time of his visit, the talks on the Newman tour are Detroit, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Milwaukee, Boston, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Washington and New York.

Charles Yates Wins in RKO Golf

Special Herald for Women on "Bought"

THE manager of the Warner theater in Elkhart, Ind., is to be credited with having gotten out a rather unique herald in announcing the run of Constance Bennett in "Bought!" Instead of issuing the usual flat herald, one was designed with a three-inch fold. On the front was this announcement in clear type: "An Actual Experience of Interest to Every Woman." Opening the herald one finds this: "Just as you unfold this—just so does the unusual story of Stephanie Dale unfold to the world. In fact, the whole spread was decorated with three reproductions of scenes in "Bought!" The captions for the scenes are the words of dialogue from the picture. The last page contained the theater announcement.

Birthday Congrats and Pint of Ice Cream for Louisville Fans

Lee G. Goldberg, manager of Warner Bros. theater chain in the Kentucky district, has elaborated on his previous mailings by putting out birthday congratulation letters to the fans in Louisville. As a good-will builder Goldberg has found the personal letters a great help, many of those receiving them acknowledging their receipt and giving thanks for the sentiments expressed. Now Goldberg has made arrangements through one of his localUUIDs to mail out birthday letters to the good people in Louisville to present pint of ice cream to all those receiving one of the Warner theater chain's birthday letters of congratulation.

"Natural" Colors Too Garish for Films

What is meant by "natural" colors as applied to motion pictures? Clearly the colors of nature and creation as seen by the eyes of the normally constituted individual. Now, suppose we had a perfect method of reproducing nature and creation as they appear to the vision of mankind (and woman-kind) should we be satisfied with what we get? No! Nature and creation are often ugly, garish, crude, inharmonious—stuffy. For instance, we had a battle scene just as eye witnesses have seen it exactly reproduced in a motion picture. It would repel, revolt, repulse, nauseate, sicken us. Or a still scene; a poor interior; a group of down and outs. They would repel us by their very fidelity to nature. Or the fabrics of women's dresses; or men's clothes; or household interiors; or crowded functions, festivals, mob scenes. Nature is very rarely artistic; she overdoes things in respect of shape, color, size, drawing. Now, here is where the "art" of the film producer steps in; he judiciously tints, tones, stains, his pictures, and the movie audiences are easily satisfied to waive any claim to know the process, "natural" color or artificial, by which their aesthetic susceptibilities are unaffected. They don't want to be "shouted at" by bright scarlet, or green, or blue, however scientifically correct they may be. In other words, art beats science first, last, and all the time.

3 WESTERNs UNDER WAY AT MONOGRAM STUDIOS

Monogram Studios will release three classic Western action pictures in production within the next fortnight, according to an announcement today by W. Ray Johnston, Monogram head. The release includes the two Tom Tyler features and one of the popular Bill Cody-Andy Shuford series. "Two-Fisted Justice" leads the Tom Tyler list. It is being directed by G. A. DurIan from his original story, Lloyd Nolan, who made the last TomTyler, "The Man from Death Valley," will direct another, as yet untitled.

Harry Puzer, who wrote and directed the last two of the Cody series, will start shooting Tuesday on "Land of Wanted Men," his latest western under the direction of "The Bill and Andy" series.

Three Big 4 Units at Work

Three units are at work on the new Big 4 schedule. Camera work is progressing rapidly on the Buzz Barton western, "Cyclone Kid," starring Francis X. Bushman, John C. Proctor, Caryl Lincoln and Ted Adams. J. P. MacGregor is directing.

HOLLYWOOD

GERTRUDE ORE, who wrote "The Mad Parade" in collaboration with Doris Malloy, is writing the screen play and dialogue for "Thirty Days," which will be directed by Alan Crossland. Claire Carvalho is writing the added dialogue. Miss ORE and Dorothy Aragon have written the untitled stage play, Miss Cairns co-authored "Sin Takes a Holiday," with Robert Milton.

Wes Root, Oliver H. P. Garrett, Ted 0.34. Jack Kelly and Artie Goetz, were among the members of the film colony who participated in a pre-season Pacific Southwest tennis tournament.

Frances Agnew, who recently completed her scenario assignment at Paramount and has returned to New York, has written a picture which will be presented on Broadway this season.

Through Al Rosen, Arthur Pearson has been signed on a long-term contract by Paramount. Rosen discovered Pearson in the stock company at Elitch's Garden, Denver.

Georgie O'Brien has returned from Spokane, where he assisted in the opening of the new Fox theater, and will participate in production of Zane Grey's "The Rainbow Trail."

Douglas MacLean will supervise "Ladies of the Jury" at Radio. He has already supervised six productions under Radio contract.

Albert J. Cohen has been appointed exclusive west coast representative of David B. Hampton, New York, authors representative. Among the writers represented are Harold Bell Wright, Nina Wilcox Putnam, Lee Sage and Medina Nicholson.

George Stevens has completed the direction of "The Kick-Off," a Pathe-Roths comedy. It is one of the subjects in "The Boy Friends" series and its cast includes David Rollins, Grady "Alabam" Sutton and Mickey Daniels. Tom L. Post, former coach football team, acted as technical advisor.

Gayne Whitman, popular stage and screen player, acted as the narrator of the Van Beuren short subject, "Under the Southern Cross," now playing the Carthay Circle, Los Angeles. Because of his ability to paint word pictures, Whitman was assigned by Elymer Clifton to act as the narrator on "Ghost Towns," another short subject.

Kosak Mamoulian refused an assignment to direct Alfred Lust and Lynn Fontanne's next Theatre Guild production in New York in order to direct Paramount's filming of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." He staged "Porgy," "Wings Over Europe" and "Mar's Mill" for the Theatre Guild.

Louis King is busy directing "Unwanted," a story of stage life, at Columbia. His cast includes Ian Keith, Dorothy Sebastian, Lloyd Hughes, Natalie Moorhead, Richard Tucker and others. Prior to his present assignment, King had directed Buck Jones in several westerns.

Anna Chandler, former vaudeville headliner, who has played over the Keith and RKO circuits for several years and who has appeared in London and Paris, has left the film colony. Her most recent stage work was in "Imported from Paris." She also played in "Mendel, Inc." for two years.

Frank Gayne warns his friends to beware of phantom paupers.

Gwen Wakeling, RKO Pathe costume designer who designed the gowns for the actresses in "Devotion," "The Common Law" and other important RKO Pathe productions, will keep her department busy for the forthcoming Ann Harding and Constance Bennett pictures.

Eight features are currently in preparation at the Radio Pictures studios. They include: "The Dove," "Pickup," "Peach O'Reno," "Marcheta," "Penthouse," "Ladies of the Jury," "The Lost Squadron" and "Glamour." Seven of the new pictures have been completed and are awaiting release.

Chatterton's Two Leads

Ruth Chatterton is to have two leading men in her next Paramount picture, "Tomorrow and Tommorrow." Robert Ames has just been signed, while Paul Lukas already had been assigned the other leading part. Harold MInjir has also been added to the cast. The play is being adapted by Josephine Lovett. Richard Wallace will direct.

Burnett Doing Original for M-G-M

W. R. Burnett, author of "Little Caesar" and "Iron Man," has been signed to do an original for M-G-M.

Brock Signs George Marshall for M-G-M

Louis Brock, producer of Radio Pictures comedy shorts, announces that his directorial staff has been completed with the signing of George Marshall. Others are Mark Sandrich, Lloyd A. French and Harold Schwartz.

Goulding to Direct "Grand Hotel"

Edmund Goulding has been picked by M-G-M to direct "Grand Hotel," based on the Broadway stage hit.

NOVEL PROGRAM LIGHT MARKETED BY KLEIGL

A novel device known as the "program light" for installation on the back of theater seats is being marketed by Kliegl Bros., manufacturers of theatrical stage lighting.

This "program light" was developed by Kliegl in collaboration with Earl Carroll, for use in his theater and is a neat compact arrangement which is fitted into the back of the chair without projections of any kind to catch the clothes or bother the patrons in passing in and out of their seats. Individual battery service is used for the lamps, eliminating the necessity of expensive wiring. A light guard shields the light so that it only illuminates the program held directly below it, with just a sufficient amount of light to enable one to easily read the program and cause no interference with black-out scenes or annoyance to patrons in adjoining seats, the company claims.

Novel Kiddie Deal

Sebring, O. — A new and novel kiddie deal for theaters covering 11 weeks and consisting of 10 clay miniature statues of the Hal Roach "Our Gang" kiddies, stage, complete assorted paints for coloring, brushes and instructions, is being offered by the Gem Clay Forming Co. of this city.

NEW THEATERS

Bremen, Ga. — Work has been started on the theater being erected here by L. G. Hobgood.

Marblehead, Mass.—Boston interests have obtained an option on land here on which it is planned to erect a 1,000-seat theater at an estimated cost of $75,000. Construction is to start at once and completion of the house is expected in February.

Eau Claire, Wis. — W. L. Krause of La Crosse is reported to have obtained an offer on a site here for the erection of a theater.

Smyrna, Del. — Conversion of the three-story town hall into a modern sound-equipped theater is being planned by the town council. John C. Mannering, chairman of the committee, has charge of negotiations.

Farmington, Minn. — The 300-seat theater being erected here by George Warner will be known as the Lyric and is expected to be opened within the next two weeks.

Oval Tubing and Cable Added by General Elec.

Schenectady, N. Y. — Oval tubing and oval BX cable have been added to the facilities of wiring material, according to an announcement made by General Electric.

Oval tubing is a thin-walled, rigid metal raceway designed for underplaster extension installations in walls and ceilings.

Oval BX cable incorporates all the features of BX cable plus one important feature, its oval shape, a factor which makes it particularly adaptable for all exposed or surface wiring. Neat installations are assured because the oval cable nests into the plaster without the need for cutting away the walls and ceilings, and fits snugly around corners and projections, the company declares.

Tobis Cuts Prices in France

Paris — The French Tobis company announces new prices on sound equipment. In future, the Tobis apparatus will cost $3,350 instead of $1,755 while projectors for small theaters will be sold at $2,855.

English Talkie Set for $1,300

London — A. E. Morrison & Sons, Ltd., of Leicester, announce a new model talking picture set to sell for $1,300, cash, or $15 a week. It is for theaters seating up to 500. No batteries are used. Installations will begin on Oct. 1.

Four Marx Brothers in "MONKEY BUSINESS"

Parameter

Time, 77 mins.

MARATHON OF LAUGHS THAT OUGHT TO CLICK WITH ANY AUDIENCE, FABULOUS AND INSANE SLAPSTICK

Paramount rings up a genuine hit in this Marx Brothers' vehicle. It is crammed all the way, and laugh and there's never a dead spot. Like the two previous Marx pictures, this is a simly a flimsy structure on which the gags and broad comedy pieces are strung. It opens with the four comedians stowing away on a trans-ocean liner. They meet up with a wealthy racketeer and Zeppo falls in love with his daughter. An opposition racketeer tries to force the girl's father into a battle and the Marx brothers rescue her in the final hilarious sequence. All the way through the show is a goofy circuit, in which only the Marxmen count; none of their co-stars take part in this entertainment, adults and youngsters alike.

Cast: Four Marx Bros., Harry Woolf, Stanley Fields, Miss 61, Harry Lotz.

Director, Norman McLeod; Authors, S. J. Perelman, Elia Kazan; Director, Arthur Sheekman; Editor, Hosea Brown; Composer, Harry Regional Engineer, Vivian West.

GOOD DRAMA CARRYING STRONG SUSPENSE AND WITH A BIG ACTION FINISH.

An engrossing story about a chap, played by Bill Boyd, who is tired of living and wants to do a suicide after insuring himself so that he can get the life insurance money. Warner Oland is a class racketeer and makes a deal to insure Bill for $10,000 a year—the length of time that must pass before his death would be honored by the insurance company. So that Oland's part is arranged, a secret can be kept a secret, he forces Bill to marry a girl, Dorothy Seeger's, who is her co-conspirator, and, of course, this is at Oland's mercy on account of some trouble. She is to collect the money in due time and turn it over to the racketeer. But the newby's fall in love and Bill wants to live, which does work against the plans of the master racketeer and his mob. James Gleason, as a private dick, and ZaSu Pitts, in a housemaid role, inject some comedy into the action. The first time this story is put on, certainly can be a success, and I would advise any one interested in the stock exchange to see it. Bill Boyd, in the role of the racketeer, is a real favorite; ZaSu Pitts, in a housemaid role, is a real favorite. The acting throughout is topnotch. And the star of the show is Chester Morris, the young Jeff. Young Jeff certainly is a gay, star in this one.

FAIR WESTERN WITH KEN MAYNARD NICELY SUPPORTED BY LINA BASQUETTE AND MICHAEL VISAROFF.

This one will please the western fans. Although Ken Maynard and Lina Basquette are good and Michael Visaroff is well cast. Ken's partner has been killed by a gangster and Ken chases them from Arizona when they ambush and wound him. Lina finds him on the desert and brings him to her home. That night the same bandits kill the girl's father and frame Ken so he is blamed. He escapes and while being chased by the sheriff meets the local outlaw, played by Visaroff, who tries to make an outlaw out of Ken, but fails. They become friends anyway. The leader of the bandits, in the meantime is posing as a live stock tramp, trying to rob the girl. Ken finally frames his man, but realizes that he is shot by his own gang. In the same fracas, the outlaw is killed saving the life of the girl. The sheriff is convinced of Ken's innocence and she offers him a job as manager of her ranch.

THEM MADMOMENT

with Dorothy Mackaill, Warner Baxter, Oland.

Time, 55 mins.

WEAK STORY THAT DOESNT GIVE THE PRINCIPALS MUCH CHANCE, MAY GET BY ALL THE SAME.

Based on the novel, "Basperger," by Eleanor Merced, this production at no time arouses much interest or sympathize because of its artificiality. The locale of the novel is the Basque country, where a girl in poor financial circumstances is driven by her stepmother into an engagement with a rich English nobleman. The girl loves another, who is supposed to be poor, and she pretends that the girl who marries would have to spend her life in toil with his country relations. The girl shies at this, but just before her marriage to the rich lord is about to take place she goes for a stroll and runs into her real lover, who has a yacht waiting and carries her off to England. Dorothy Mackaill and Warner Baxter work hard to put life into their characters, but their story fails to move along fast and Lene Janey is very ingratiating in the principal role.

PAGAN LADY

with Evelyn Brent, Conrad Nagel, and Charles Bickford.

Time, 75 mins.

ACTIONFUL SEX DRAMA BASED ON WIDELY STAGE HIT, HIGHLIGHTED BY BICKFORDS ROBUST PERFORMANCE.

Although Evelyn Brent plays the central role, it is Charles Bickford who is given the lion's share of the action in this adaptation of the popular Broadway play. Bickford enacts a tough luck runner who is forcing an enticing bar girl from a Havana cafe after nearly wrecking the joint and its supposed high gang. They team up and go to Florida, and one day while he is away on business the girl gets into an affair with a rabid reformer's son, who is also after the same girl, who wants to marry her regardless of her past. But at the last minute she convinces him that their marriage would turn out to a bad mistake, so he returns to his missionary career and she is taken back by the Reformer. In the end, she makes her the Mrs. legally and go straight by becoming a cop. Lots of action has been put into the picture, which is directed excellently by Roland Young.

FAMILY LIFE OF THE QIDS, AMUSING AND AMUSING FOR GROWNUP AS WELL. ACTUALLY CHIEFLY IN BROAD COMEDY VEIN.

Although the juvenile trade ought to eat this up and adults likewise will find plenty of entertainment in this family comedy. It is a comic smash, Mary Pickford and Adolph photography, Booth Tarkington. The trouble seems to be that they tried to jam everything into the picture, from a schoolroom scene that is rank burlesque of the vaudeville "school days" act variety, to the pathos over a dog that is killed and the parents of the boy who "didn't understand." Then there is a sissy character that is grossly overdone, and this together with such expressions as "nervous" and "pansy"—certainly not Tarkington words—won't help the picture in quartets, but it receive boosting. But in spite of the fact that the epistolary action is largely of the two-reel comedy style, the picture moves along fast and Leon Janney is very ingratiating in the principal role.

MODERATELY AMUSING BRITISH-MADE COMEDY ROMANCE, BEST SUITED FOR DOUBLE FEATURE PROGRAMS.

Conway Tearle's typically tranquil and dispassionate performance and Betty Stockfield's clever and intelligent reading of the leading female role, are the outstanding attractions in this mild light comedy of English society life. Tearle portrays a famous author who, in trying to get away from admirers, boards a friend's yacht for a few weeks of solitude. A young society matron and her maid accidentally board the same yacht, and it puts out to sea. Tearle and the girl meet, which results in the girl chiding Tearle on his attitude toward women. In his books, Tearle resents her remarks and tricks her into a complete retreat after several more or less remote situations. Supposedly the cast is good and scenery, especially aboard the yacht, is colorful.

Cameraman: Donald Macpherson; Director, Conway Tearle; Author, Edgar Middleton; Adaptation, same; Dialogue, same; Editor, Stewart B. Moss; Cameraman, James Rogers.

Time, 57 mins.

SLOW-MOVING COMEDY WITH ONLY A FEW SCATTERING LAUGHS. ROBERT ARMSTRONG POORLY CAST.

Taken from "The Whole Town's Talking," by Anita Loos and John Emerson, this adaptation is rather slow. Robert Armstrong's partner makes the town believe that Armstrong, who is a bashful fellow, has had an affair with a movie star. The object is to break up an affair between his daughter, Jean Arthur, and an out of town man. The plan is working nicely, when the star arrives in town. She gets wind of the local gossip and comes to make a sap out of Armstrong and at the same time to make her own man jealous. This is done by kissing Armstrong publicly. Jean breaks her engagement to Armstrong, the star's love picks a fight with him. Finally everything is straightened out and the lovers are reunited.

Cast: Robert Armstrong, Jean Arthur, Lola Lane, Kay Hammond, George DeWitt, Dorothy Black.

Director, John Gould; Author, Edgar Middleton; Adaptation, same; Dialogue, same; Editor, Stewart B. Moss; Cameraman, James Rogers.

PICTORIALLY INTERESTING SOVIET PROPAGANDA FILM WITH WEAK STORY, RATES LOW AS ENTERTAINMENT.

In this silent production from the Soviet film camps the taint of propaganda again is plainly evident. This story is about an English seaman who gets into trouble on his ship while in the tropics and is kicked off the crew. So he eventually joins a Soviet vessel carrying an English passenger who happens to be the representative of a lumber company and who offers him a job in the Soviet camps. The seaman accepts and is taken to the Russian mills, where he is supposed to find everything conducted in an orderly and efficient manner making for contemptible labor. It develops that the English lumberman is not on the level, and is trying to put the mill on the rocks. This is a showdown and it all winds up with the disillusioned seaman pulling stakes again.

About the best thing to the picture is the photography, and apparently the producers themselves were fully conscious of this because a good deal of footage is consumed in camera exposition. The acting also is commendable. But taken in its entirety the picture leaves much satisfaction as entertainment.

Cast: G. Samoilov, A. Rassinov, others all minor characters.

Director, Vladimir Weinstahl; Author, A. Wold; Cameraman, Arkadi Kalenitsy.

Direction, okay. Photography, very good.

ENJOYABLE GERMAN OPERETTA WITH VERY AGREABLE MUSIC, PLENTY OF COMEDY AND EXCELLENT ACTING.

Though it doesn't measure up to its record-making predecessor, "Two Hearts in Waits Time," this newest tenant of the Europe is quite a delightful musical that should enjoy generous popularity. It is a Fellner and Somlo production and the story concerns the love affairs of a university town, and chiefly the romance of a charming feminine innkeeper and the town's most desirable bachelor. Fine performances by a big cast, together with the appropriately spotted song numbers and the lively farce-comedy activities, combine to give the production as a whole plenty of entertainment qualities. Action is sustained at a good pace all the way, and the well-designed sets, music and romantic ingredients keeps the interest of the audience on an even keel. While German audiences will get the most pleasure out of it, the picture has the ability to satisfy non-German speaking audiences.

Time, 102 mins.

GRIPPING GERMAN TALKER VERSION OF FAMOUS STORY, EXCELLENTLY PRODUCED WITH FINE ACTING AND DIRECTION.

An outstanding German talking picture has been made by the Terra company from the Dostoyevsky novel, "The Brothers Karamazov." Except for the fact that it is perhaps a trifle lengthy, this production ranks with the very best foreign output shown here to date. Acting, direction and scenic atmosphere are exceptionally good, while the story itself has plenty of grip and thrills, particularly for those understanding the foreign dialogue, although the plot is not difficult to follow. Accompanying music also is an asset. The story is a heavy and complicated affair involving strife over a woman, who is desired by a father and his son, with the latter killing his dad after he has taken the woman. For this crime he is sentenced to 10 years in Siberia and the girl accompanies him there. Fritz Kortner gives an arresting performance in the chief role, and the girl is attractively played by Ann Sten.

“Wrestling Swordfish” Educational Time, 8 mins. A Thriller

Here is a short that will possibly be classed as the most thrilling of the year. Taken under the supervision of the Marine Corps, it shows five men in a small rowboat hooking and landing a giant swordfish. After the monster is caught, it dashes and leaps through the water struggling to get free. It is gradually brought to the side of the boat and there a hand-to-hand struggle ensues that will make audiences hold tight to their seats. In the midst of the battle the man is drawn into the water but returns to safety to finally conquer the big fellow. A few scenes of other deep sea fish precede the swordfish episode but are forgotten after the first 100 feet.

“Adventures in Africa” No. 9—Dangerous Trails Vitaphone 516 1/2 mins, Time 17 mins. Fair

Latest of these African two-reelers depicts a trip through some waters filled with hippos and crocodiles, followed by a forest fire scene, making just a mildly interesting subject. Length and heavy lecture particularly are against it.

“Inside Baseball” Educational Time, 9 mins. (Sports Review) Good

Bill Cunningham, sports writer, is first shown sitting in the press stand at a big league game between the Boston Braves and the St. Louis Cardinals. Cunningham describes the game in detail, while scenes of the plays are flashed. Some inside dope about signals to players and also some slow motion shots taken behind the plate, add considerably to the interest. A good sports reel.

Giogian Martinelli in “Gypsy Caravan” Vitaphone 1245 Time, 9 mins. Fine for Music Lovers

Music lovers will like this one. Martinelli’s voice will please them and the settings are good. Opens and closes with the opera star singing while driving anappy wagon. There is also a sequence showing a gypsy camp, which includes a dance scene and a violin solo.

Bobby Jones in “How I Play Golf” No. 11—Practice Shots Vitaphone 524 Time, 10 mins. Okay

Smith and Dale in “La Schnapps, Inc.” Paramount Good Comedy Time, 10 mins.

A real laugh number directed by Mort Blumenstock with Vera Alexander, Jack Goff, Mabel Paige, Hy Ziegler and Henry Hall among the cast surrounding the popular comedians, Smith and Dale. The yarn has to do with a couple of cloak-and-suiters, one of whom rises to riches and comes around to patronize his former partner. The fortunate guy boasts on the class and the other in business tries to sell him gowns and incidentally makes an effort to arouse the moneymen’s interest in his comic nieces. The short is well packed with action and sure-fire comedy bits.

Daphne Pollard in “Fast and Furious” Universal Time, 19 mins. Rank Slapstick

Custard pie throwing and other forms of low comedy carelessly crammed into two reels make this release fit only for the non-class house. The comedy is indeed many years ago as were all the so-called gags and mugging. The picture starts with Miss Pollard doing an ungraceful flop on the sidewalk and never lets up in similar forms of comedy, or worse. Nothing funny about this one.

“Manhattan Mariners” (Grantland Rice Sportlight) RKO Pathé Time, 9 mins. Fine and Snappy

A cruise around Manhattan Island aboard a sleek and speedy motor launch, results in a very enjoyable short subject. After taking several pretty girls aboard the passengers, the pilot starts the craft from 80th St. and Hudson River. The speedy cruise takes a course down the river, around the battery, up the East and Harlem Rivers, through Spuyten Duyvil Creek and down the Hudson to its moorings. All buildings and places of interest are described and there’s a thrill when the speedy launch races the “Twentieth Century Limited.”

“Strange As It Seems” (No. 13) Universal Time, 9 mins. Unusual Story

This John Hix novelty holds to the average quality of the series. Six curious facts are shown in natural color, all concocted and meticulously described. An 80-year-old man who has never slept, facts about the Capitol at Washington and the Statue of Liberty that are not generally known, an artificial eye maker, the great Salt Lake, and the world champion horse-shoe thrower, provide a few minutes of very interesting entertainment.

Bing Crosby in “I Surrender Dear” Crooning Comedy Educational Time, 21 mins. Mack Sennett has scored Bing Crosby with a semi-funny vehicle, bordering on the slapstick, that is bright at times and at other times dull. The story is so constructed as to give Crosby opportunity to croon several numbers and to be rushed by a host of girls in not too good looking leading lady. Unless you are a Crosby fan, it is just fair entertainment.

“Kentucky Belle” (Orvald Cartoon) Universal Time, 6 mins. Good Gags

It all takes place at the race course and the popular and pretty local belle promises a kiss to the winner. Oswald on his trusty steed is out to win but discovers that it is more of an obstacle race. He wins, however, and both he and the horse receive a prize. Animation and synchronization are fine and the gags have been cleverly arranged and planted. A good filler.

“The Wonder Trail” (Lyman Howe Hodge-Podge) Educational “Nice Scene” Time, 9 mins.

There isn’t any hodge-podge about this one. It is a beautiful scenic, possibly taken at a dude-ranch in the vicinity of Yellowstone or Yosemite. Water-falls, huge mountains and cliffs, geyzers and nicely framed trails, poetically described, class this as a graceful and peaceful filler.

“Pigskin Progress” (Grantland Rice Sportlight) RKO Pathé Time, 9 mins. Interesting

Grantland Rice delivers the descriptive matter for this release. The first intercollegiate football battle in 1869, between Rutgers and Princeton, is re-enacted by Rutgers students. Then a football tussle of 17 years ago between Yale and Harvard is shown in actual scenes. With these are close-ups of the late Walter Camp and Frank Hickey. The reel ends with some shots of last year’s games. Material has been well selected and cleverly edited.

Howard Jones in “Football for the Fan” (The Forward Pass) Educational Time, 10 mins. Interesting

Football fans will like this one. Howard Jones, coach of the University of California, the “Trojans,” outlines the evolution for the forward pass from the old days to the present time. Gridiron coaches from various parts of the country show the methods used by their teams in forward-passing.

“Away” with Andy Clyde, Marjorie Beebe, Alberta Vaughn Educational Time, 21 mins. Okay

Andy Clyde, Marjorie Beebe, Alberta Vaughn and Frank Eastman are featured in this Mack Sennett comedy. Picture is all in Senetett-Color. Miss Beebe and Miss Vaughn race likewise won’t be made the same man, the first one there to be the bride. Alberta is a moving picture star and starts by plane, while Marjorie goes in her Uncle’s flier. Andy Clyde is the uncle. Best part of the picture is the scenes where Marjorie and Andy are chased by Indians and bees, while marooned in a stream, and finally see their car blown up. They are picked up by the plane and get to New York, where Alberta marries the boy by getting to his apartment first. Some airplane scenic shots are well done.

Louis John Bartells in “Beach Pajamas” RKO Pathé Time, 18 mins. Just Fair

The story is set out on a Pullman, where Bartells as a traveling minstrel with a pretty young lady across the aisle and continues at the playhouse down the street. Suddenly the young lady is shown not to be a minstrel but a first class beauty. The picture is quite cleverly “mugs” his plot, and the girls in the piece are both good looking and real comic players. Story is ordinary.

William J. Burns in “The Starbrite Diamond” Educational Time, 11 mins. Okay

A group of crooks pose as a butler and private detectives and attempt to steal the Starbrite Diamond. A real detective, one of the house guests, turns the tables on them and has them arrested. Good for audiences who like this type of picture.

“Bauly Daze” Simple Simon Time, 17 mins.

This two-reeler doesn’t let down for a minute starting with high links in a fast-moving pullman car. Louis Simon and Harry Tigue impersonate a famous admiral and his valet, at a smart yacht club. Incidental humor involves a flock of midges and a hypodermic to process a turn to a high class society dame (Gertrude Mudge) into the life of the party. This one is by every means good fun. Directed by Edward Manson. Photography by Frank Zucker.

REVIEWS OF SOUND SHORTS

Red Grange in

The Galloping Ghost

Mascot Pictures 12 Episode Serial.

Action Staff

This Nat Levine picture starring Red Grange, features action and stunts instead of football. The story starts out in a college, where Ralph Jr., are the main cogs in the football team. Red is wrongfully accused of trying to throw a game for money, and the whole series of episodes deals with his attempts to clear his name. The thrill stuff inculcates a bit from a parachute to the wing of plane, speed boat chases, etc. First episode runs three reels, the rest two each. Mascot has also produced an advance trailer with shots of various chase scenes.

The Clyde Mystery

With Donald Meek, John Hamilton

Vitaphone 6201

Time, 20 mins.

Fairly Engrossing

First of the S. V. Van Dine detective mystery shorts is entertaining enough to folks who are especially interesting in trying to figure out its three murder mysteries, but for general appeal it is too talky and based too much on a trick foundation that anybody could concoct. Opens with Rich found dead in his parlor chair, and the rest of the time is consumed in questioning various members of the household, with John Hamilton as the inspector who is positive he knows who killed the man and why, while Donald Meek is the “psychological” and “homicidal” mixed with comedy, and ends by proving that the man committed suicide. All characters except Meek is in a true natural manner, which helps to kill any sincerity in the mystery.

Istanbul to Bagdad

(Magic Carpet of Movietone)

Fox

Time, 10 mins.

Swell

This is one of the nearest little shorts of its kind to come along in a good while. Notwithstanding the wide ground it covers, in comparison to its length, the material has been so well assembled that it holds strong interest from start to finish. The highlights of the short are the humorous camera work, which shows a specialty with comedy and, by setting off the temples of the Far East, is definitely suitable for schools and is decidedly entertaining.

Betty, Boop and Bimbo

Paramount

Time, 6 mins.

Good Cartoon

Measures up well to the best in the animated cartoons line. Many of the antics are new ideas and the comedy, as well as the art work and musical accompaniment, are of fine quality.

Ray Coe in

“Torchy”

Educational

Time, 21 mins.

Good Laugh Number

First of the new “Torchy” series produced by C. C. Buie. Ray Coe is good as the smart-cracking Torchy and the action and dialogue give him plenty of chances. The picture moves along with never a let-down in speed. Story tells how Torchy, fired from his office boy job, goes about getting a new job. He is hired by a phony gold mine promoter and, after the government of the office, Torchy finally wise-cracks himself into a job with another concern. Here he meets Dorothy Dix, the boss’ daughter. If the rest of the series is up to this one, it will go over big. Franklin Pangborn, Edmund Breese and Harry Meyers are all in the cast.

“Air Attack”

(Football Thrills)

Columbia

Time, 9 mins.

This is the first in this new series directed by Clyde Elliott, and edited by Leonard Mitchell. Both have done a good job. The reel is devoid of technical questions and resembles the radio announcer’s description of several football games which are thrown on the screen mostly in slow motion. Georgia vs. Florida, Syracuse vs. Columbia, and Nebraska vs. Missouri are some of the 1930 contests shown. Ford Bond handles the announcing in true radio style, adding considerably to the excitement by his brevity. This series should stimulate interest in football to a great degree.

“Fly Hi”

(Aesop’s Fable Cartoon)

RKO Pathe

Time, 8 mins.

Mild

There is an abundance of clever animation and careful synchronization and too little comedy in this cartoon. It is practically devoid of gags. The picture starts out with a pup playing on the piano and singing to his sweetheart over the telephone. She replies in song. Then there are more songs and finally a long piano solo played by a bald spider. Fingerin on the piano keys closely matches the notes sung and played, but fun and gags have been sacrificed for technique.

“Honeymoon Trio” with Walter Catlett

Time, 10 mins.

Fair

Walter Catlett includes himself on Dorothy Granger’s and Al St. John’s honeymoon. The left-behind grooms rides in the rumble seat. After a series of time-muddled situations the bridegroom gets rid of Catlett by rolling the car down a hill, and his wife knocks him down as a result.

“Military Tactics”

(Football Thrills)

Columbia

Time, 9 mins.

The Army–Navy game of 1930 with all the preliminary marches and formations by cadets, is thrill– packed by Ford Bond. Most of the most interesting plays of the game are shown in slow-motion and in normal speed. Lateral passes, forwards, line plays and many others are presented in a manner that will prove interesting to all, whether or not they understand the game or not. It’s a dandy release.

“Adventures in Africa”

No. 10—Man Eaters

Vitaphone 5110

Time, 15 mins.

Okay

Highlight of this number in the African adventure series is the shooting of one of the biggest lions ever bagged. He is brought down while in the act of killing cattle. Rest of the picture is in several routine stuff of the familiar variety, including some young jungle animals that have become pets.

“Hot Feet”

(Oswald Cartoon)

Universal

Time, 6 mins.

Oswald opens this release as a lemonade vendor and sings a number reminiscent of the “Peasant Vendor.” The pup meets with some success. Finally at the “headman’s” house Oswald rescues a beautiful girl from the clutches of the gangster. The cartoon runs along smoothly but is short on really funny gags.

“Screen Souvenirs”

Paramount

Time, 10 mins.

Humorous

Amusing collection of old time movie shots, going back to 1905 or thereabouts, with humorous offstage comment on the scenes, which includes themselves. James Jeffries in training, an early “gangster” sequence in which Lillian Gish and Harry Carey appear, a heavy triangle play and other bits. Good for lots of laughs.

“The Big House Party”

Vitaphone 1252

Time, 10 mins.

Corking Novelty

There is a novel idea back of this short that will make it click strong anywhere. At first it looks as though the action is concerned with convicts in the cell house, where they disport themselves in several forms of comedy, including a traversed football game and a hand number. But the audience is handed a surprise when the scene is enlarged to show that the doings were just part of a floor show at a cabaret. Smoothly music combines with the comedy and the surprise element to make this a very enjoyable number.

Joe Penner in

“Rough Sailing”

Vitaphone 1252

Time, 18 mins.

Good Slapstick

Another Joe Penner comedy well loaded with laughs. In this two–reeler Joe starts out as a clothing store dummy wearing a seagoing uniform. A girl, taking him for a sea captain, accompanies him to a joint where mariners and liquor runners are congregating. Joe is inducted into service handling a ship, and when it is discovered he knows nothing about it he is thrown into the galley and put to work as a cook. Again he is found to be no good at the job, so after considerable knockabout stuff there is a lively chase scene around the boat, which is traveling in rough water, winding up with Joe being rescued by the arrival of a coast guard cutter. A good action comedy that ought to give heaves of satisfaction anywhere.

“Laughing With John P. Medbury in Turkey”

Wiseacre Staff

Columbia

Time, 10 mins.

Turkey with its harems, barbers, pig vendors, etc., constitutes the setting of this J. P. Medbury wisecracking tour. The scenes shots are interesting and Medbury’s quips are generally amusing.

“Little Annie Rooney”

(Fleischer Song Cartoon)

Paramount

Time, 6 mins.

Neat

Among the best of the Fleischer song novelties based on popular old songs, with the audience invited to join in the choruses. Good art work and synchronization, along with the comedy, make it a neat filler.

DOES A “WILD LIFE” PAY?

James Dunn—discovered in "Bad Girl"—in another human interest drama!

Sob Sister

James Dunn

Linda Watkins

Molly O’Day • Minna Gombell

Howard Phillips

From novel by Mabel Gilman

Directed by Alfred Santell

James Dunn, who flashed into popularity in "Bad Girl," is again electric in his role in "Sob Sister."

As a newspaper reporter, competing with the "sob sister" on another paper, believing her woman's heart hardened by her job—while she writes of love but doesn't believe in it.

When these rivals by day become sweethearts by night, each finding the other human under the crust of their careers, watch for emotional dynamite!
Inter-Participation Urged As Foreign Solution

Going After Football Season With 40 Gridiron Films

Tieups Advocated as Best Means of Meeting Fall Competition

This fall will see the industry's biggest effort so far to buck the annual football season competition and try to turn it into benefits for the theater. The drive will be conducted on two fronts. The first, as advocated by Arthur L. Mayer, Public advertising director, is to tie in with distribution. The other, offering special possibilities for tieups, is through the medium of the unprecedented number of football shorts and series being released. No less than 40 such pictures already are completed or on the way.

CLEVELAND NEIGHBORHOODS EXPLOITING OVER THE AIR

Cleveland—A contract has been made by the Cleveland M. P. Exhibitors' Ass'n whereby a series of daily two-minute talks on why the public should patronize its neighborhood theaters will be broadcast daily from WHK. G. W. Erdman, business manager of the association, is preparing the talks.

Edgar Wallace Signed to Write RKO Originals

Edgar Wallace, most prolific of British playwrights and novelists, has been signed by Radio Pictures to write originals. He is due in Hollywood sometime in November.

Solution of Foreign Problem Seen in Inter-Participation

By KARL WOLFFSOHN

Berlin (Special to Film Daily)—Growing popularity and increased distribution of German pictures in the U. S. has come as a boon to the film industry over here, but it has not done much to solve the foreign problem in general. Nor has sufficient progress been made in the efforts of German producers to pro-

Lee Marcus Sees Film Industry Holding Its Own This Winter

The film industry's problem this winter is not how much more business it can do in comparison with the previous year, but rather to keep on an even keel and hold its own until the general industrial picture gets sufficiently brighter to provide the opportunities for expansion of movie trade, Lee Marcus told THE FILM DAILY on Saturday.

Union Status Throughout Country May Be Affected by Chi. Outcome

Theater operators, and big circuits in particular, are understood to be keenly watching the Chicago projectionists' situation in which the great majority of independent houses are running without union men. Ultimate outcome of this dispute, which has been in progress for several weeks, is likely to exercise great influence over attitude of other theaters toward union labor.

Directors Will Meet in Mt. Clemens Oct. 6 to Adopt Program

Washington—Board of directors of Allied States Ass'n will meet Oct. 6 in Mt. Clemens, Mich., in connection with the annual convention of the Allied Theaters of Michigan, to formulate and adopt a program to oppose the extension of the zoning and protection system into Allied territory; it is announced byAbram F. Myers. They will also give further consideration to percentage contracts and checking, and will map out a campaign for legislation against the music tax and copyright protection bureau in the coming ses-duce English language versions of their most important pictures in order to establish an international combination.

As far as the future is concerned, it is of the most importance that a closer collaboration be reached between the American and German film producers. The best method would be for American producers to instruct the German producers to make their well-cast German-language versions of films suitable for the American market, and vice versa, that German producers instruct American producers to make their films suitable for the German market. In such a way the German firm would participate in the business of the American firm and the American firm in the business of the German firm.

Canadian Buying Co-op Expects to Have 250 Houses

Associated Theaters, Ltd., Canadian buying co-op, expects eventually to have 250 houses, said Oscar Hanson, its general manager, in New York on Saturday.

Speechless Banquet Closes Philly Golf Meet

Philadelphia—Films circles on Saturday were abuzz with comments on "The Exhibitor" golf tournament which entertained a plenty-big crowd at the Lo Lu Country Club on Friday. Winduping the event was a banquet at which speech-making by members of United Theatres Circuit did the toastmastering job. Paul Burger of United Artists received considerable kidding as to his winning of the Jimmy Granger punch bowl prize. And Harvey Day, who won his first golf tourney award, was the recipient of numerous congratulations. Telegrams were read from Sam E. Morris, Frank C. Walsh, John M. Greenhalgh, Charles McKean, and many others.

IT'S A UNIVERSAL SERIAL OF COURSE!

BY RALPH WILK

HOLLYWOOD

A FORTHCOMING issue of "Screen Snapshots" will include actual shots of the screen fight that resulted in two broken ribs for Buck Jones. Jones was previously in a battle in a scene of Columbia's "Headin' for Love," in which he was hanging from a heavy chair at Jones, who did not duck in time. Jones has recovered now and is back at work.

Marjorie Gateson will have an important role in Paramount's "Husband's Holiday," in which the cast will be headed by Clive Brook, Vivienne Osborne, Charlie Ruggles and Juliette Comer.

Howard Estabrook has completed his first draft of "Frontier" which will serve as another starring vehicle for Richard Dix after the completion of the movie he is now in production at the Radio Pictures studio.

"Taxi, Please" is the new title of the picture formerly known as "Blind Spot," now in production at the Warner studios. James Cagney and Loretta Young have the two leading roles.

Charles Lang, who has photographed several Paramount pictures, will do the camera work on "Tomorrow and Tomorrow," her final picture for Paramount. Lang recently completed work on "Once a Lady."

Tim McCoy's second outdoor special on the new Columbia schedule, which was tentatively called "Gamblers' Guns," has the working title of "The Amazing Tree. East Hill" plays opposite McCoy. Other members of the cast include Polly Ann Young, Carl Miller, Robert Homans and Al Ferguson. Ray Taylor is directing.

Manny Nathan of the "Strange As It Seems" unit, has discovered that bees seem to want honey at all times. While photographing a honey bee, he found the bees would not pose for material and some of the members of the unit covered their arms and hands with honey.

Low Brock is searching the California countryside for possible locations to be used in a forthcoming RKO's "Atv" vehicle, "Never the Twins Shall Meet." Monty Collins, Jr., Billy Gilbert, Betty Farrowing and Isabel Lanal have been signed for this feature. Atkes double for himself in the story. Rehearsals are scheduled for this week with Harold Schwartz directing the story from Tom Leonard.

COMING & GOING

HELEN HAYES, who has been working on the "MGM Lot," is on her way to New York to join her husband, Charles MacArthur.

NANCY CARROLL leaves Hollywood soon for the east to make "Wild Beauty," in which Paulette Goddard also may appear.

MRS. B. P. SCHULZER is coming east this week to embark for Russia with Mr. Bertram Viertel.

CLAUDIA REX, eastern sales chief of Warner Bros., is back from a series of district conferences.

ALONG THE RIALTO, WITH PHIL DALEY

• • • ALF GOULDING, who swings a Mean Megaphone for Warner Bros., at his Flatbush shop, has one in his memory book about an English vaudeville team which had never passed the Hieroglyphic test. "Like Brown and Sharpe, we'll call 'em for the sake of this Expose..." One day Brown went to the manager of the music hall he was to play and Ranted and Raved at his book. He was demanded, pointing to the theater's ad in a London newspaper, "Wotta you mean giving my partner publicity in this 'ere ad and not mentioning my name?"

The Astonished Manager focused on said copy, indicated by Jones' digit and said: "The performance will begin in 8 o'clock sharp."

• • • BILLIE GOULD, who is charming and uses write pieces for fan magazines, will tell you one about a stuttering musician who was trying to promote a job from a looking agent: "If you p-p-p-please and m-m-m-m one answer, it's m-m-m-m naught," said him.

Sago Datlov and Manyson again gone Greenwich Village, having discarded the village of Brooklyn. Huh?....Kass, who diligently and expertly heads the Columbia Foreign Department, is very keen about Prince Charles... Prince Charles being a wire-haired terrier of congenial disposition and generally Good Habits. Jimmy "Schmooze" Durante will do his stuff on the Capitol screen next week, as "New Adventures of Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford."

• • • MARTHA WILCHINSKI, formerly p. a. of the Roxy, has entered the free-lance publicity biz.... And is she getting accounts.... Gordon Kahn, pen and penning in "New York Amusements," informs about a picture aspirant who worked a new gag in order to get The Big Break... She threw up her handles, blood-curdled a yell and did a first-class imitation of a faint... Joe von Sternberg, who happened to be promenading by, shouted for water.... But a Highly Sophisticated and Experienced actor suggested "somebody get a fountain pen and a contract and see how quickly she comes to..."

• • • LORETTA YOUNG, who got her star in this picture in Salt Lake City, is planning to inspect Manhattan for the first time, following completion of her role in "Taxi, Please"... Mrs. George Arliss will accompany her distinguished actor-husband when he arrives in New York on Oct. 7 from England, en route to the Coast to work in "A Successful Calamity"... Wonder why so many pitchers show the North River back-ground moving in the wrong direction when a ship is supposed to be coming up the harbor?... Arthur Lee is cheering over "The Happy Ending," which is the tentative title of a Gaumont talker he has just brought into town... Millard Webb directed it for Gaumont... Harry Enfieldin of Craft Film Lab. has invented "film salve"... He has exclusive rights to the definition... Louis Meyer's injured finger isn't so injured now..."

• • • ALTHOUGH CHARLIE TAYLOR captured the RKO golf tourney at the Westminster Country Club, Roy Webb gave him some hot competition.... James H. Turner, proxy of the club, presided at the dinner which followed the dueling.... Maurice Chevalier, "the Charm Vendor," as Adela Rogers St. John dubbs him, was the recipient for a dinner given by RKO at the First National Pictures club, where execs were plentiful around the board.... Frank Condon's yarn, "Kansas City Platinum," which was printed by the "Saturday Evening Post," ballyhooed Jean Harlow, who didn't tell a lie.... Mort Blumenstock avers that "Five Star Final" has set up a new opening week's biz record and the biggest second week record for the Winter Garden....

• • • LOOKING OVER Your Shoulder, do you remember when at Selig he was an ace reporter on the "New York Journal." Jim Loughborough was a crack re-write man for the same rag... Mark Luescher was a leading Broadway producer of stage shows.... And Walter Futter was a film cutter...

NEWS of the DAY

Winfield, Ia.—Pratt's theater here, which had been closed for lack of patronage, has opened on a full week's schedule at reduced prices.

Bentonville, Ark.—R. L. Moreland is operating the Plaza, which he purchased from Harry Taylor and A. F. Simmons. Taylor is now district manager for Columbia in Kansas City. Moreland is new in the show business, having formerly been in the drug field.

Spirit Lake, Ia.—C. Lindblod of Minneapolis has been named manager of the new Royal theater here, a part of the Finkelstein group.

Birmingham — Loew's Temple is being run on a straight picture policy by John Calman as manager for the Masonic fraternity which is operating the house. It is showing first-run pictures at 18 cents matinees and 25 cents top nights, with children admitted at 10 cents at all times. Calman was recently a manager for A. C. Bromberg attractions.

Milwaukee—Frank Trotman, former manager of the Gem, has taken over the South Side Palace which he has renamed the Ace.

Chicago—Jerry Drell is now operating the Empire on West Madison, having acquired the theater from Mrs. Florence Paley, widow of Joseph Paley. Drell has spent $15,000 remodeling and installing Western Electric sound apparatus. Mrs. Paley is devoting all of her attention to the Imperial, 43rd St.

Nashville, Ill.—The State has been purchased by H. R. Hisey, a former National salesman.

Cardington, O.—The Dreamland has been leased by the Cardington Business Men's Ass'n. After recreation the house will be opened.

Chicago—Fred Mindlin is now the Chicago representative of Foreign Talking Pictures Corp., with offices at 804 South Wabash Ave. He covers eight states.

BOOTLEGGED FILMS ILLEGAL, COURT RULES

Minimum Admission and Other Contract Points Upheld

No Restraint of Trade is Found by Pennsylvania Court

Pittsburgh—Five important points, some of them previously ruled upon similarly by other courts, are covered in a court decision just handed down dealing with the old standard contract and involving Sono Art Worldline vs. William Lando of the Lando theater here. The defendants contended that the contracts at issue were illegal and void and furthermore violated the public policy and were in restraint of the freedom of contracts. Salient points (Continued on Page 2)

M.P.T.O. of Neb.-Iowa Meet in Omaha Oct. 13-14

Omaha—Annual convention of the M.P.T.O. of Nebraska and Western Iowa takes place here Oct. 13-14. President M. A. Lightman of the M.P.T.O. has accepted an invitation to attend.

Asserting that music publishers are losing $15,000,000 annually through song-sheet racketeers, Dan Michalove, general manager of Warner Bros. theaters, is calling upon the circuit personnel to help wipe out this practice. In his message, Michalove points out that "three Warner music subsidiaries bear a major portion of this loss because (Continued on Page 4) of the decision by Judge Soffel of the County Court, Allegheny County, and

"The contract is divisible; not withstanding clause 18, the balance of the contract is legal and enforceable.

"The theory that the contract, providing as it does for a minimum admission price, is void as against public policy, is without merit; the contract is not in restraint of trade.

"The paragraph relating to the method of selection of play dates is not unreasonable.

"The question of plaintiff's duty to minimize damages is a matter of defense.

"That a statutory demurrer limits the defendant to facts as they appear in the statement of claim, and defendant cannot rely on facts outside the record."

A statutory demurrer of the defendant was overruled and the exhibitor given 15 days to file an answer. In the meantime, the statement of claim that Martin Silverman is attorney for the plaintiffs. It is believed the ruling can be used in any cases on the foregoing question and probably if taken to the highest court of Pennsylvania, will be good authority.

Minneapolis Pantages Becomes United Artists

Minneapolis—United Artists has taken over the Pantages, loop house that has been vacant for some time, and will reopen it with a series of "Two Happy Days" either Oct. 3 or Oct. 10, depending upon completion of repairs. House will be called the United Artists and W. H. Endolph of New York is manager. Austin McGough, division exploitation manager, aided in the deal.

Arthur Housman Joins Columbia Pictures

Arthur Housman has joined Columbia as national director of advertising under Al Selig. He recently resigned from Warner Bros. after handing publicity, advertising and exploitation for their Broadway houses.

A. J. Cooper in Hospital

Cleveland—A. J. Cooper, prominent Ashatabula exhibitor, is at the Cleveland Clinic for treatment following an automobile accident.

Claudette Colbert Resumes Work

Claudette Colbert, recovered from her illness, rejoined the cast of "Bitter Sweet" today, with Gary Cooper in "His Woman" at the Paramount New York studio. Edward Sloman is directing.

Lloyd Hamilton Injured

"Woman of the Year," wired, "THE FILM DAILY" Hollywood—Lloyd Hamilton is in the hospital being treated for a broken leg and other injuries as the result of an auto accident.

this decision in its national campaign against similar infringements.

"The petitioners, in their action, declared that they have been selling old films to Emile Snyder, Inc., smelter and refiner, to destroy them and acquire the nitrate. They alleged, however, that this company was selling pictures and named 65 reels which had recently been seized. Louis Ogust, attorney for the defendants, argued that his client had a right to sell these films. Attorney Eubie Glazer, representing Pathé and RKO, claimed that the purchaser's rights do not include exhibition and that the sale of all films for distribution did not constitute a transfer of their copyright. After the case had been argued for four hours, Judge Mack granted the injunction. Minutes later, a demand to Judge Clarke, Federal District Court, in New Jersey, who has a similar action.

Another action of Pathé and RKO, seeking damages from Apollo, will soon be tried. In the injunction case, three exhibitions, Edward Amusement Corp., Moses Silverman and Louis B. Fordan, defended.

Warner Houses Reopening Ezell Expresses Optimism

Gradual reopening of many Warner houses that have been closed during the past months is now under way. Among the latest to be reopen is "The Last Flight," at New Haven, Dec. 14, and "The End," at some theaters. It is expected to reopen all of district sales meet, says he found business in a more promising condition and exhibitors more optimistic, with the hit pictures getting plenty of trade.

At RKO, Ambrose "Bo" Dowling is inclined to favor an increase in rental of American pictures in England. Various other companies are taking no action, the majority feeling that English money will eventually come back to par and most companies can manage to hold their collections abroad should they draw them out nearer par.

It is also believed that the advance in sterling gives England in the matter of exports and is likely to spur American producing activity over there, since the pictures are now being made at much lower cost.

UNION RACKET CHARGES LAID BEFORE GOVERNOR

of the M. P. Machine Operators' Union of Greater New York, it was revealed from Samuel I. Rosenman, counsel to Governor Roosevelt, that charges had been made to the Governor against District Attorney Thomas J. Walker of New York for failure to act in connection with alleged racketeering of officials in conducting the union. The charges were instituted by Samuel B. Birnbaum, lawyer for the union members, who have been fighting for two years to get an accounting of the union's funds spent over a period of three years.

In the ruling of the Court of Appeals here, the judgments of the lower court are reversed and judgment directed in favor of plaintiff in each action, setting aside the pre-cedings of the union, restoring plaintiffs to membership and awarding to Polin a recovery of $1,055 and to Schneider a recovery of $1,622.40 with interest, together with costs in all courts.

COMING & GOING

ANN HARDING is due from the coast today, by all reports, trucked in by the FRANK BORAZ. Fox director, is due in New York with his family on Friday from the coast.

PARAMOUNT FINANCES DECLARED IN SHAPE

ing a nation more than seasonal drop in summer due to its disease, and the infantile paralysis epidemic, have shown a healthy seasonal increase and this together with recent economies has made Paramount now operating substantially in the black. The statement further said:

Paramount has an obligation to purchase its common stock between Sept. 1, 1931, and April 1, 1932, which will necessitate payment of approximately $11,000,000. Recently the bank debt of the company was increased to $8,250,000 to take care of part of this commitment in the early part of September. At present this bank debt has been reduced to $7,750,000, and will be cut to $7,400,000 by Oct. 1. During the last three months of the year bank loans probably will be reduced another $1,400,000, leaving a balance of $6,000,000 at the year end.

Paramount will have the usual cash balance of about $6,000,000 or more on hand at that time.

During the first quarter of 1932, Paramount have paid the remaining $6,500,000 for the purchase of stock funds for which will be obtained by increasing bank loans to about $40,000,000, and from excess cash arising from the depreciation accounts and profits during the first quarter of 1932.

It is understood that Paramount has at this time more than $18,000,000 of com-ducted lines of bank credit to take care of these commitments. After the stock issues have been completed, commitments will be normal, and should be taken care of by a usual excess earned from depreciation incentive and profits. Bank loans, according to the banner, are required to be reduced during the second quarter of next year, and will be paid off as rapidly as possible from then on.

Paramount's film releases in the past six months have been substantially lower in cost than during the like period last year. The average negative cost of films released in September, October and November, 1931 is about 28 per cent less than average cost of releases in the like months of 1930. Substantial progress is made in economy of production, such as already have taken place in the distribution and theater departments. Results from this should be felt by February, 1932.

Film Editor ................ George Amy
Cast: Ray Cooke, Dorothy Dix, Franklyn Pangborn, Edmund Breese, Constance Moak, Jane Richmond, Bob Holman, Morley Drury, Cornelius Keefe.

The second of the series of six "Torchy" comedies is a real treat. A combination of clever dialogue and amusing slapstick kept the preview audience in constant state of laughter. Exhibs can bank on this series to give satisfaction, if the other four measure up to the first two.

The story is a continuation of "Torchy's" adventures and misadventures as an office boy, in constant danger of losing his job. There is a dinner-party sequence at the home of his employers that brought lots of chuckles.

The cast is capable, with Ray Cooke as Torchy, Franklyn Pangborn as a,usy employee, Bob Holman as a game warden, and Cornelius Keefe as the boss, giving outstanding performances. Morley Drury, the football star, portrays himself, and his work in this picture, at least, should have little effect on his answer to ordinary questions.

HOLLYWOOD FLASHES

CONSUELO DAWN, who played in comedies at Fox and Universal a few years ago, is re-joining the studio. Since signing with Holly- wood, she has played on the stage in the East. Her most recent stage engagement was in "The Gay Bottle" at the Hollywood Vine Street theatre.

Our Passing Show: King Vidor, Eleanor Boardman, Esther Benet, Charles Bever, Maurice Reuter at "Precedent"; A. A. Klime boosting Carmel, the writers' colony.

Columbia has signed Adolphe Menjou to appear with Barbara Stanwyck in "Forbidden".

Roscio Karas, Geneva Mitchell, Francis McDonald, Kathryn McGuire, Adele Kar- pels and Carl Stockdale are the principals in "My Face Red" the Allen Birkin Ben Markson sketch, will be presented at the Writers Club Sept. 30 and Oct. 1.

William H. Deitz, who did the trick camera work on "Devotion" and "For Lovers Only", is handling special effects on "Racetack".

Harry W. Lieb, Universal film editor, who cut "Homicide Squad", has been assigned to edit Viv Moore's new story, "Huckeberry Finn".

ALONG THE RIALTO
with PHIL DAILY

• TALKING OF “gratitude” . . . there is the case of a certain musical feature of one of the palatial Broadway cinemas and a good deal of quarrelling and doing so he asked his cinema boss if it was oke . . . . not only did the boss approve, but he rearranged the program spot for the young man so that he could cover his studio dates more conveniently . . . . this fall the stude will not use the young man . . . . it means a loss of some hundreds of berries a week to him . . . . so what does the egg do . . . . he goes to his friendly boss, and yaws . . . . “I gotta big request for I’m gettin’ hundreds a week less, but my living expenses are just the same.” can ya beat that for gratitude? . . . .

SOME DAY we are contemplating’ putting a lot of artists of stage and screen on the spot . . . . on this “gratitude” angle . . . . with a few choice tales we have been collecting from their business managers, agents and personal representatives . . . . fully authenticated . . . . why, some of the clowns wrote long letters to their benefactors,” thanking ‘em profusely for mak’in’ em . . . . admitting freely that without their help they would never have rung the gong . . . .

and today? . . . . well, if instance, there is the classic case of the cluck now sitting pretty on top of the heap . . . . being tendered a big testimonial dinner, and the guy who spent two hard years putting him across to the dear public With His Own Cook walked up to congratulate him and the Great Star looked him over coldly, and sez . . . . “Fardon me, but what’s the name?” . . . .

THEN AGAIN, there are a swarm of regular fellers to whom the word “gratitude” is not a stranger like their miss- ing appendix like the young director on the Coast who had to take a 10 per cent salary cut . . . . and he had an opportunity to add a hundred berries weekly to his paycheck via an offer from a competitive studio . . . . but this young feler had been groomed by his old studio from the post of film cutter on up . . . . and he stuck . . . . and the 10 per cent reduction went off last week and in addition they have given him the 100 smackers difference the competing studio had offered . . . . proving that Gratitude is sometimes an attribute of the studio exec as well as the salaried boy.

OUT IN the St. Louis branch of Warners they have known Jerry Steel for the past five years . . . . Jerry has codles of friends in all branches of the film biz . . . . so he decides to become an exhibitor and he leases himself into ownership of a house in Oberlin, Ohio . . . . and on the opening night the theater was packed with well-wishers . . . . and Jerry was on the stage receiving congrats and floral tributes . . . . finally they passed up an immense bouquet of American Beauties . . . . Jerry gasps, as he looks at the card attached from his wife “Aw, folks, I’m almost overcome’ . . . . and a mugg in the audience yaps . . . . “Ya an’ you’ll be unconscious when the wife hands ya the bill!” . . . .

OVER AT Wallack’s on 42nd Street, Max Cohen is playing Universal’s “Mystery of Life,” depicting the saga of the Age . . . . the banner reads . . . . “The picture that took 1,000,000 years to make” . . . . a mugg cases up to the sign, and peeps to his pal . . . . “Must be a De Mille production” . . . . Joseph Van Raalte is anxious to have it know that he did not write the play, he play, “Nice Square.”

EDGAR SELWYN is back from Hollywood to launch his Broadway stage production of "Abe Lincoln in Old Virginia."

ELLIOTT Nugent, J. C. Nugent and NORMA LEE (Mrs. Elliott Nugent), M. M. Lpeed, are due from the coast at the end of this week.

SONYA LEVEN, Fox scenario writer, ar-ives in New York from the coast on Sunday.

EDDY FISHER reached New York on the Century yesterday from the coast where he appeared in Paramount, Columbia and other pictures, as well as doing radio work.

OSCAR R. HANSON has returned to Toronto from New York.

ALONG THE RADIO with PHIL DAILY

• • • GETTING AWAY to a flying start with his first big meeting as proxy of the Amcas, Ed Finney and his committee of arrangements had the most gorgeous lineup of femme guests of honor you can imagine...there was Lillian Bond, the Australian charmer...Olave Olsen, the dancing delight of Earl Carroll's "Vanities"...and Alice White, in a tight-fitting green gown that moulded her...well, we said before...y' can imagine...it was a most gorgeous lineup...

• • • THE MAIN event was Norman Krasna, the juvenile marvel who has just left his 'teens behind him...he wrote "Louder, Please," scheduled for Broadway staging this fall...it seems only a few months ago that he was dillydally-ing around the Warner plant in Hollerword tryin' to convince the Big Shots that he could write...they believed him...and set him to readressing returned scenarios...and wasn't Mister Darryl Zanuck and the rest of the bunch surprised when the kid wrote his own manuscript...and sold it to a Broadway stage producer...it sounds like a typical Hollerword talkie plot, doesn't it?...that's why Norman calls it "Louder, Please"...he sez he thought he was shassin' his own praises at the top of his young lungs when he was in the City of Forgotten Women...but since he has returned to Broadway and listened to the film pressages...he realizes he is only Whisperin'...

• • • HE TOLD the inside story of how that big mountain in back of the Warner stude came to be called Warner Mountain...it seems that nobody of the thousands around the stude for yrs had paid any attention to it...everyone out in Hollerword gets so wrapped up in himself that mountains pass unnoticed...then some Easterner suddenly discovered it...so they decided to christen it Warner Mountain...they had the prop department place a big boulder up on the summit...and one bright mornin', surrounded by all the staffs of the Losang papers and state and city officials...

Jack Warner's plan trip to split a bottle of real champagne on the rock...and it went Clear Through...the darn thing was only a papier mache prop...ain't that just like Hollerword?

• • • THE EDITOR of Ballyhoo, Norman Anthony, was scheduled as a guest...but he sent a wire of regrets...noting the big absence of Ballyhoo will be out on the 15th...15 cents a copy...and THAT qualifies him as a pressagent...and an honorary member of AMPA...but for us personally, the real charm of the luncheon was Alice White in her green form-fitting creation...what DID she talk about?...oh, well, it doesn't really matter...

• • • TOM HOGAN blew in from Detroit Wednesday, where he assisted in the direction of "The Legion On Parade"...which Talking Picture Epics will release...Tom tells how he squared one doughboy around before the camera...and he beheld, it was "Duke" Schnier, famous Canadian aviator...the last time Tommy saw the "Duke" was in the Canadian wilds a few years ago...when Tom scored the Bremen aviation scoop for Pathe News...what will place this ole world?...Du Eader writes from his new post with "U" in Lunnon that our premature story about his betrothal is getting him in bad with his harem in the East and West—his English stenog wrote it "in bed"—but we quite understand.

NEWS of the DAY

Brunswick, Ga.—Mrs. Alma King, owner of the Bijou, now closed, is planning to remodel the house, it is understood.

Milwaukee—Ted Hilgendorf, for several years manager of the Ritz, was married recently to Evelyn Fruits.

Marinette, Wis.—Tom Kress has taken over the management of the Fox, succeeding George E. Haman, resigned. It is reported the Rialto theater in this city will be reopened shortly under the same manage-Toledo — Martin Smith is now operating the Park, formerly called the Sylvan, on a full-time policy.

Cleveland—J. J. Scoville is offering a mixed policy at the Gordon Square. On Saturday, Sunday and Monday of each week, the house will show feature pictures and five minutes of vaudeville. The rest of the week straight pictures prevail.

Akron — Allen Simmons has reopened the Allen. Charles Schweitzer again manages the house.

Youngstown—Joe Trunk has reopened the Victory. The house had been closed all summer.

At present practically all Amer-

That the financial situation in Great Britain will give impetus to American production activities there was indicated yesterday.

This amazing weekly mileage is just one indication of ERPI's constant efforts to maintain every Western Electric Sound System at peak performance. . . . Down have come the number of emergency calls every month. In one year they have been reduced 28 per cent because regular service calls have eliminated the emergencies — a preventive service. . . . When emergencies do arise, records show that ERPI Engineers are reducing the time to clear trouble. In August, 1930, average time to clear trouble was 131 minutes. Seven Theaters Being Added to Active List in Miami

Show Business in Florida Taking Spurt With Reopening of Houses

Miami—Theater activity in the Greater Miami district is taking a spurt with the addition of seven houses to the operating list. The Hippodrome, which Publix closed last summer because of differences with the owner, T. R. Knight, is being reopened as a Publix house following adjustment of the controversy. The Paramount, closed several seasons, has been leased from Knight by Charles F. Johnson, who has several houses in the state. He (Continued on Page 10)

A STATISTICAL BUG—picture minded—has doped it out that—when the five-day week—and six-hour day—become fairly general—probably within the next couple of years—movie attendance—will be in line—for an increase—of 15 to 20 per cent. Sounds pretty modest—for a statistician.

ONLY 14 dramatic productions—and seven musical comedies—running on Broadway the past week—a third less than the same week of 1930—and less than half of Broadway’s peak figure—when there used to be some 75 playhouses—all devoted to legit. Only 38 stage companies (Continued on Page 2)

Trans-Lux Theater On Split-Week Policy

Starting the week of Oct. 9, Trans-Lux's Madison Ave. theater will inaugurate a split week with reel policy, changing programs Saturdays and Wednesdays. No plans for a similar change of policy in the Broadway houses has been announced.

11 Baltimore Houses In Newspaper Tie-up

Baltimore—Unique trailer tie-up has been made between “Coming Sun” and 11 first-line theaters. Paper will print a two-column me- vic time table on Saturdays, giving name of picture, star and schedule. Movies will run talking trailer, different each week, first show- ing pretty girl opening paper and reading na- tice. Houses affected are Auditorium, Century, Europa, Hippodrome, Keith's, Metropolitan, New, Parkway, Rivoli, Stanley, Valencia.

Chicago—A hundred new educational films have just been added to the Bell & Howell library of pictures for school use. Forty-two of the subjects deal with science and nature, 13 are about literary notables, six concern American statesmen, nine are geographical, seven relate to industry and agriculture, eight an outdoor life and a five-reader on the Life of Christ.

—now on tour—against all last year. Only 22 burlesque shows—on the road this week—compared with 79 in October of 1930. Only about 250-vaudeville acts—in this week's Billboard route list—against some 430—a year ago—although de luxe movie theater presentations—currently number 205—and only 105 last year at this time. So it's no disgrace—for movie business—to be running in second gear—when all other amusements—are in low.

FILM STOCKS—can go down—only a few more points—before hitting zero. But there's no consolation. The fewer they go—the more room they give themselves—on the upside—for that rebound—which has to come—sooner or later.

Despite two years of business anemia—the cash position—of 60 leading American industrial companies—is considerably stronger—than in the 1924-27 period—and only 14 percent—below the 1928 peak—according to a survey—by the Midland Bank of Cleveland.

Between schools, churches, American Legions, etc., etc., there are—now about—as many non-theatrical shows—as regular movies—and the non-theatricals—are expanding—by leaps and bounds. Eastman Kodak alone—has a 16mm. repertory—of 500 subjects—and nearly 1,000 reels—with branch distributors—in 60 American cities—and 30 abroad—while the Educational Screen—in its latest Blue Book—lists more than 3,000 items—from agriculture and athletics—to sociology and entertainment.

Welfare groups—educators and church organizations—find only 10 to 20 percent—of current film output—suitable for kids—yet "Period and Sam"—swell juvenile entertainment—if nothing else—was the longest shot—to play in the New York Strand—in this yea season—and the parasitic epidemic—gets blamer.

Construction activities—in the theater field—are as low—as an adder's hips—with barely a handful—of projects—in an active state—against a former average—of a few hundred. This means—at some not distant plane—there will have to be—a good period—of above-normal activity—to make up for—the present recess—for there's no depression—in wear and tear.

Independent exhibitors—in union-troubled sections—declare the wages—paid their operators alone—exceed the total—for all other employees—on the theater side. So the union would solve this—by giving the other help—more dough.

One reason—the Chase banking interests—have been cold—to the months old idea—of selling back—that Loew stock—is because—even at their high—purchase price—these 660,000 shares—are bringing in—nearly four percent—and where else—could a job be found—these days—between five and eight percent per return—with the same safety?

And where—are all the boxes—of turnstile movies—announced last spring?

Films Helping to Wipe Out Gangsterism

The motion picture industry is opposed to gangsterism and unless this method of human expression is strangled, our news reals particularly intend to keep hammering away at it until government by gangsterism ceases to be a fact. There was never a motion picture made where right did not triumph over wrong. Gangster pictures are at an end of their own weight and because the public does not want them. You cannot eliminate crime as a theme from motion pictures unless you prohibit the industry from making pictures from all the great masterpieces that have ever been written. Motion pictures have done more, or at least as much, as anything else to arouse the public not only to the dangers of gang rule but to the fact that gang rule actually exists and is operating in defiance of all laws. Gangsterism will not be stamped out by curtailing any form of human expression. It will be wiped out through the press, the screen and the radio.

EXPLOITETTES

A Clearing House for Tabloid Exploitation Ideas

“Hamilton” Period Display

In Sloane’s, 5 Avenue

The hope of every exploitation man in New York to obtain a prominent window in the fashionable shopping district of Fifth Avenue for display purposes was achieved by the Hollywood theater. The window in question was in W. & J. Sloane’s store at Fifth Ave. and 47th St. and it was used for the George Arliss picture, “Alexander Hamilton.” It is the first time that this conservative house has lent itself in any way to a thing of this kind. All furniture used in the picture was of the early American period in which the action is set. Drapes, hangings and all the little decorations used in the scenes were the real articles. W. and J. Sloane agreed not only to obtain for Warner Bros. all the necessary furnishings, but to send representatives to Hollywood to supervise the dress of the scenes in the picture. At the conclusion of the Arliss vehicle the furniture was shipped back to the New York establishment. Much of this furniture formed the basis of the artistic window display at the Sloane establishment. A neat card announcing that the furnishings were used in “Alexander Hamilton” to be seen at the Hollywood theater. In addition to those enlargements showed scenes in which the furnishings on display were used.

Timely Topics

A Digest of Current Opinions

• • • FIRST GUN was fired the other day over at the Empey Club for their Monster Annual... which is scheduled for the new Waldorf-Astoria on Feb. 20th... this M. P. Club bunch are a very ultra-ultra gang.... dignified, and all that sort of thing... they seem to be laborin’ under an impression that when they enter the portals of their club, they must eschew the Flamboyant Gesture, the Ballyhoo Bank and the Inflated Inflection in voice and deportment... doggone ’em, to watch this gang doing their stuff over at their ritzy club in the Bond building, they don’t seem like showmen at all... you think you have wandered into the Meadowbrook Hunt Club... or the Salem branch of the Dignified Daughters of the American Revolution... they’re that Aristocratic and Unworldly...

• • • SO IT came to pass at the luncheon tendered that other afternoon to launch their first big annual dinner, dance and diongling... that the Committee were deficient about branching the subject... there was a lil’ matter of $12.50 a duet in connection with the Waldorf-Astoria affair... which means 25 smackers if ya want to pair up with your gal... and the Committee had to intrude the sordid subject of filthy lucre into the proceedings... finally someone suggested they dine... and the chairman of the committee casually mentioned that the luncheon was On the Club... straightaway every mother’s son present threw off his Dignified Disguise and became a Showman... as they hacked and tore their way to the tables... and everybody was actin’ natural and real happy in a jiffy.

• • • THE EFFECT of the Free Lunch was immediately apparent... Billy Ferguson, a Scotchman no less, ups and ones to buy the first two tickets... at which a dozen muggs who have tried for yanks to yangle and ensile things out by yby felt unconscious under the tables... and then Mister Ferguson wrote out his check then and there... it happened on the day that all the Film Stocks hit a New Low... and Billy holds a big block of each... so a possible explanation is that the Stock temporarily unseated his reason... wait til he Recovers... and sees his cancelled check for the 25 smackers... he’ll probably have a stroke.

• • • THEN AGAIN, it might have been a canny trick on Mister Ferguson’s part... ne knew he’d haveta buy the tickets eventually... and he just made a Grand Stand Play in front of the Gang... this theory is borne out by the fact that he asked Paul Gulick privately later if he could Post Date the check two Months... in any event, Si Send- ler, who has worked alongside him for yrs... opined that Billy wasn’t taking any chances... Si says that this Scotty never made a Bum investment in his life... and as Billy is on the Ballyhoo Committee for the affair... it’s bound to be a Big Success... for William R. Ferguson never starts a Ballyhoo on anything unless he has 75 per cent of it in the bag... at the Committee confidently expects to have the maximum turnout of 3,000... and we’re bettin’ that they Will.

• • • SOL EDWARDS, assistant to Bud Rogers at Sono Art, has a swell gag. When he starts to talk business with a circuit booker or exhib, he pulls out a beautiful long pen-box... but instead of a pencil he draws out a brass Chisel... and starts gently chiseling on the top of the prospect’s desk... it effectively stops the other mugg from chiseling.
8 FEATURE PICTURES

More Truth Than Comedy

jimmy Gleason, star of RKO Pathe comedies, says he is considering compiling and publishing the world’s longest and shortest books. The former will be published next February 28, and is aptly titled WOAM. The second is to be, "What We Know About Motion Pictures," by the same authors.

Three Independent Units
Shooting at International

Pictures currently in work at the International studio are: "China-town After Dark," Myers-Loehe vehicle directed by Stuart Paton; "Anybody's Blonde," with Glenn Tryon, directed by Frank Strayer, and Rex Bell in an untitled picture directed by Harry Webb. J. P. Mc- Gowan also is preparing to direct a Burton King-Custer production.

Cagney-Young Film Retitled

Warners have at last definitely decided on a title for the new James Cagney-Loretta Young picture which is now in production with Roy Del Ruth directing. The original title was "The White Spot," which gave way to "Taxi, Please." This has now been shortened to "Taxi!" It is based upon a play by Kenyon Nicholson and has been adopted for the screen by Kubee Glaumann and John Bright. Cast also includes Ralph Harolde, George E. Stone, George MacFarlane, Leslie Fenton, Dorothy Burgess, Ray Cooke, Bella Bennett and Gay Kibbee.

Brook Starts Two Comedies

Louis Brock has decided on "Big Dome Hunting" as the title of the next Ned Sparks comedy, in which Betty Farrington will play the feminine lead. With George MacFarlane directing. Brock also has Chic Sale starting in "Ex-Roocher," with Bud Jamieson, Allan Carlyle, Otis Harlan, Catherine Courtnean and Ben Holmes, with Mark Sandrich directing.

Agnes C. Johnston With Para.

Agnes Christine Johnston, writer of motion picture stories and novel, and author of the scenarios of numerous famous films, has been signed by Paramount to write dialogue and prepare character material for the picture version of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch." The principal juvenile roles have been given to Junior Durkin and Charlotte V. Henry.

Pathe Grooming 2 for Stardom

RKO Pathe is grooming two players for stardom. They are Marion Shilling and June MacCloy. Thirteen star and featured players are now under contract to this company.

3 COMEDIES COMPLETED
AT EDUCATIONAL STUDIOS

Three new comedies were completed this past week at the Educational studios, and as many are being prepared for production. The second in the new series of Mermaid comedies, as yet untitled, was completed by William Goudich, with Jack Shuttela and Frances Dean in the leading roles. Miss Dean, who is Eddie Cantor's leading lady in "Palmy Days," was loaned to Educational for this Mermaid comedy by Samuel Goldwyn.

"Torchy Fasses the Buck," second in the Torchy series being made by C. C. Bur, was also completed, with Ray Cooke and Dorothy Dixon again in the principal roles. Supporting cast includes Edmund Beree, Frank Wagner and Maury "Skid" Drury. Billy Dooley completed a new Camel, "Smart Work."

Pathé-Natan Holds Parisian Film Festival

Paris—One of the most ambitious events in the history of the French film trade was the recent Pathé-Natan French Film Festival here. It was designed to focus the attention of the world upon the achievements of French talking pictures. Guests from all countries were invited. The festival was a big success. Pathé-Natan talking pictures were shown, visitors were taken to the company’s studios and to the French colonial exhibition. A banquet was given in conclusion which was attended by the French Cabinet.

French Cinema Council Now a Fact

Paris—With President Doumergue having signed the decree providing for the creation of the French Cinema High Council, that organization is now an accomplished reality. The principal part of the High Council will be a sub-committee of 11 representatives of various ministries, which will undertake censorship duties. The film trade is not represented on the sub-committee, although it has 14 out of the 87 members of the parent body.

FILM IMPORTS BY ITALY

Show Considerable Drop

Rome—Importation of foreign films from the United States, Great Britain and Germany suffered a big drop during the first half of 1931. France was the only country to show a big increase. Importation of English pictures dropped from 200,000 to 720 meters for the first half of 1930 to 45,868 meters for the same months of 1931. The decrease in American films—7,355,842 meters, while the drop in German pictures was from 97,533,521 meters. France sent Italy 445,587,701 meters during the first six months of the year, as against 234,296,508 the previous year. Owing to the foreign talk ban the supply of films is very much below normal. Italian film exports for the first half-year were 588,318 meters, against 649,958 in 1930, and 807,162 in 1929.

William Powell in "THE TIE THAT BINDS" with Doris Kenyon, Marian Marsh, Warner Bros. Time, 79 mins. FAR-FETCHED BUT GENERAL-LY FAIR "THE TIE THAT BINDS" THAT DEPENDS ON POWELL FOR ITS CHIEF DRAW.

William Powell's following will help to boost the sale of the new business on this picture. Based on the stage play, "Heat Wave," it is a farce with a romantic angle and though for one reason or another it provides a generous number of laughs. Powell plays the role of a notorious industrialist who has figured in home-breaking scandal to the extent that he is unpopular even in the Far East hole where he returns to drink himself away. In the same settlement is a doctor played by Louis Calhern, who is so interested in his work that he is as much as a kiss or a smile for his desirable wife, portrayed by Doris Kenyon. She is an elderly woman who is to be married to him by a24-hour marriage, and when she is drunken and charged with murder, but finger prints reveal the real killer, who, in the meantime, has been killed by another gang. Husband and wife find they love each other. Expert acting and direction.

Ludwig Satz in "ZEIN WEIBS LUBOVNIK" ("His Wife's Lover")

High Art Pictures Time, 79 mins. ENTERTAINING YIDDISH DIAL-OGUE PRODUCTION WITH MUSIC, A GOOD BET FOR STRICT-LY JEWISH TRADE.

Because it is, or claims to be, the first musical comedy in Jewish dialogue, and having the prominent star, Ludwig Satz, at the head of its cast, this picture should find a ready and generous clientele in the Yiddish field. Considering the limitations involved in making an independent production of this kind for a special class, the job has been done very commendably. The action revolves around a bet between an actor and a cynical friend that there are some good women in the world. The actor dons an elderly disguise, represents himself as rich, and gets a young girl to marry him for his money, and when he turns around in his natural appearance to play for the wife but she remains faithful to her husband, whereupon he plays the same game on the girl all right as farce, and the story is aided by good acting and a few pleasing songs.

Cast: Ludwig Satz, Tadeo Cusiner, Lucy Levine, Lillian Feinmann, Michael Rosenberg, J. W. Grande, Robert Goldsby, Sidney Goldberg; Author: Schmeklisen Smedkoff; Cameraman: Frank Zackery; Recording Engineer, Percy Glen. Direction, good. Photography, good.
“Batting With Buffalo Bill”
Universal
RKO Pathe
Time, 18 mins.

This is a wireless serial based on a book of the life of Col. William F. Cody. It is principally a recounting of adventures of the early settlers of the West, a section of the story being the story of Red Cloud, the Sioux chief. It is not so much a show of redskins, and the Indian tepee camps and the white settlement have been given lots of production detail. Tom Tyler is the prototype for Buffalo Bill, Jane Mills is the girl, and the cast is strong with such names as Rex Bell as the young hero, William Desmond, Francis Ford, Joe Bonomo, Chief Thunder Bird, Jim Thorpe, Yakima Canutt and Bud Osborne. There is plenty of hard riding, wild fighting between whites and redskins, attack and counter-attack, but there is much such action in repetition with slight variation in scene and action. First chapter covers the attack on the settlement and kidnapping of the girl. Second episode covers the rescue. The third chapter has Bill Cody, the hero and girl caught between the batting of two hostile Indian tribes. The gal deliberately rides from safety into danger in order to help the diva, and the heroine a scene. The famous scout does not seem to use his vaunted cunning in avoiding danger. The serial in its first three chapters dinnered with similar weak go up, so the kids will probably overlook all this in the excitement of the Indian warfare and the undeniable thrills that ensue.

“The Great Junction Hotel”
(Masques Comedy)
RKO Pathe
Time, 21 mins.

Swell Comedy
Again the Masques’ Club of Hollywood pitches in and produces a highly entertaining broad comedy which will provide merriment for any audience. The action deals with a honeymoon couple’s first night at a hotel. The wife, who is a sleep-walker, disappears from her twin bed while the husband is unconscious away. When he awakes and finds her gone the hotel is almost turned upside down in an effort to find her. A general alarm is sent out, bringing a flock of comedy detectives, disheveled attorneys and weak exhausted police, “who appears with a bodyguard to present an alibi so the disappearance won’t be blamed on him. Columbia
Time, 5 mins.

The Yale-Dartmouth game of 1930, played in the Yale bowl where 60,000 people yelled themselves hoarse at some of the most thrilling plays ever witnessed, is the first sequence of this fine short. Described by Ford Bond, the reel keeps a steady pace, continually creating excitement and bringing climax after climax to the screen. Washington State vs. Oregon State and U. of S. C. vs. Citadel and a number of other of the season’s best contests are shown in part. The reel provides genuine entertainment.

“A Journey Through Germany”
Ideal Pictures
Time, 9 mins.

Very Good

Prepared by Allan Carrick, this is one of the most interesting travelogues ever yet presented on the screen. It moves swiftly in contrasting shots from the picturesque Rhine with its castles, the great Alps with a cascade of waterfalls and villages, and finishing with a thrill sequence of dangerous mountain climbing in the Bavarian Alps. Two mountain climbers with only a rope between them ascend a perpendicular rock that falls straight down to a ravine a mile below. One of the most sensational and daring stunts ever caught by a camera. It’s a bear. Arthur Hale does the narration and makes a good job of it, mixing in a lot of interesting historical data in describing various scenes.

“A Havana Cocktail”
Vitaphone
Time, 8 mins.

Musical Novelty

In a Havana bar setting, with an aggregation of Cuban musicians and a Cuban female trio of singers performing an appropriately high fast melange of music and novelty. Solo exhibitions by members of the orchestra are offered in interesting sequences and in addition to the pleasing quality of the music there is some byplay at the bar, with a gem of a number of coffee house patrons, topped off by a fake “raid” to make the Americans “feel at home.” A very good novelty.

“Venezia di Notte”
(Venice at Night)
Transcontinental
Time, 7 mins.

Excellent

Another decidedly enjoyable scenic and musical novelty from the Cines-Pittaluga studios. It shows Venice during night time, with gondoliers gliding along the canals, moonlight reflected on the water, and lights sitting up the palaces and other buildings, natives singing real Venetian songs, the Senescal wife is a real fadista at the fes-

PARAMOUNT

"Ermine on Parade," currently occupying the Paramount stage, is generally undistinguished entertainment with the only highlight being the work of Castleton, Mack and Owen, who do some expert acrobatic tumbling and dancing. Acts are interspersed in a fast fashion show produced in cooperation with I. J. Fox. However, even this doesn't help pep up the show. Other entertainers on the bill are: Francois LeMaire's Ice Skaters with Evelyn Chandler and Marguerite Verden, David Bines Ballet, May Joyce, Walton Quartet and the Paramount Debuates. The production is by Boris Petroff. Jesse Crawford's organ concert is below his standard. Rubinoff and the Paramount orchestra please with a group of songs titled "Memories of Victor Herbert."

ROXY

The stage presentation at the Roxey is "The Glory of Greece," in five episodic scenes. Opens with the Roxettes as "The Highlanders of Greece," doing one of their routines in Greek costumes. Then follows "Invocation to Zeus," a very spectacular and impressive bit, employing the singing ensemble, the ballet, and with George Gordon and Philip Steele in specialty bits. The third scene is "Wind and the Grecian Urn," a very beautiful and artistic conception. Natacha Nattova is the dancer, who poises herself ciffe on an immense urn of flowers, and executes some graceful and clever symmetrical movements. Paul Haakon appears in a dancing specialty, and the finale is "The Parthenon," showing a replica of the classic architectural structure as a background. Patricia Brown is the danseuse, and also featured are Beech Rubyayette and Company, Arnold Grazer, the singing ensemble, the Roxettes and the ballet.

not necessarily follow that a stage play must be a great success in or- der that it will be a satisfactory picture," said Selwyn. "No matter what the result on the stage, the play will show the producer both its limitations and its advantages as a screen production. I believe mo- tion picture producers should stop tempering as stage producers. It is a field to which they will be well- known and in which they will be successful. Plays may carry on with any one of many outstanding requisites, but take the play and add the 'plus quality' of many screen star names, extensive scenic treat- ment and elaborate production, and a good photoplay is the result. Some companies have tried it. Others should, but should be earnest in their desires along the line of stage shows as well as movies."

LOOK FOR

BETTER PICTURES

NOT since sound first burst upon the eager ear of the movie fan have there been changes and improvements so important to the industry as those wrought by Eastman’s introduction of ultra-speed negative film. They begin on the lot, and they carry through to the screen. Because of them you can look for better pictures for your audiences. And that is an augury of better business for you.

YOU remember Warner Baxter as the "Kid"—O. Henry's famous character—in that big success, "In Old Arizona." Meet him again, in a new adventure, romance with a pile-driver punch. And Edmund Lowe as Sergeant Mickey Dunn—good lover, good soldier—he admits it. It's swell—vigorous, heart-stirring.

The Public Wants Outdoor Pictures

"Increased use of exteriors in forthcoming productions is on the slate as a result of the public demand for more action and less unnecessary dialogue, inquiries by the Film Daily reveals...with the back-to-nature policy looming more prominently as a result." —Film Daily cation soon to star in "Blond Baby."* * *

GINGER ROGERS has returned to New York from Hollywood, where she featured in several RKO Pathe pictures, and is heading an all-star bill at the B. S. Moss Broadway theater this week.

Reunions were very much in order when Olive Shea paid a visit to the Paramount New York studio the other day. The first man she met was Millard Webb, who directed her in "Glorifying the American Girl," and who is here on a visit from England. She next encountered Robert R. Snoddy, who directed her in "The Love Kiss," an independent feature in which she had the leading role. Miss Shea is planning more picture work in conjunction with her stage activities.

Charlotte Wynters and Joan Blair have been added to the cast of "His Woman," featuring Gary Cooper and Claudette Colbert, now nearing completion under the direction of Ted Sloman. Miss Wynters has previously appeared in "Personal Maid" and "The Struggle." The latter is D. W. Griffith's latest picture in which Miss Wynters exhibits an entirely new style of vamping.

Thelma White and Fanny Watson are now making their fourth Vitaphone two-reeler, "Shake a Leg." They started work Friday morning, knocked off at noon Saturday, when the electricity went out, but instead of being able to call it a day, they fell in with Director All Gould-ion's suggestion that they spend the afternoons and Saturday rehearsing for next Monday and Tuesday's work. Glenn Lambert and Stanley Rosh wrote the script for "Shake a Leg."* * *

Dr. Rockwell has the most reten-tive memory of any player that has appeared on Vitaphone. He can read over his script once and then rattie off his lines. Director Roy Mack didn't have to order a single retake because of Rockwell's failure to get his lines right.

Among the collection of stars' photographs presented to Harold Sugarmann of the Paramount studio foreign department is one from Nancy Carroll and another from Fredric March, both of which are inscribed in French. The pay-off is that both Chevalier's salutation, as well as that of Claudette Colbert, is written in perfectly good English.

Sensational Films Out, Says Depinet

Death-knell of "sensational" pictures has been sounded, Ned E. Depinet told FILM DAILY yesterday. "The basic value of popular entertainment depends upon its cleanliness and decency," said Depinet. "If I had never believed this before, I would now know it to be a fact, since seeing the recent public reaction to certain clean pictures."

Department of Commerce, in a paper to the S.M.P.E. fall meeting yesterday.

The paper also states various authorities as follows: Approximately 10,000 of U. S. distributors has dropped 5 per cent as compared with 1936, with 20 per cent of the aggregate revenue now received by American distributors.

England is the most completely wired having 4,100 of its 5,000 houses equipped. That country also is the only one with any number of its cinemas wired as ready as 18 of 19 for this year, 13 of this year against 76 in 1930, while Germany's production is declining due to economic depression and only 16s are wired for this year against 174 last year. Italy is suffering from an acute product shortage, leading less than 10 films available against its requirements of 265.

ONE of the busiest men at the meeting is Sylvan Harris, editor-manager of the Journal. The success of the meeting is due in no small measure to his labors.

H. T. Cowling, treasurer of the society, is one of its best boosters and looks now upon Bob Dole as a new member. His handshake makes you wish your hand was in a vice instead.

Glenn Matthews, chairman of the Producers Committee, has deep circles under his eyes from burning midnight oil for the past two months in preparing his report, which invariably is as long as a congressional record, but unlike the congressional record, every word is interesting and informative.

W. C. (Bill) Kunzmann, chairman of the Program Committee, must be made out of springs. He is on the job day and night and looks as fresh as something inside a cellophane wrapper.

ed Dr. V. B. Sease of Dupont-Pathe by a vote of 131 to 96. E. I. Spon-awable won the vice-presidency, de-ating M. W. Palmer by 127 to 102. J. H. Kurlander was chosen secre-tary, and H. T. Cowling treasurer. L. C. Porter and O. M. Glunt were named to the board of governors.

Schlegel said that although progress has been made in theater decorations, few im-provements have been made in theater con-struction. He recommended reverse slope seating arrangements for theaters, allowing for economic construction, better projection angles and space saving.

Griswold said that the tremendous news-photo slide library helped influence Fox to enter the 16mm. educational field. He stressed the value of Americanization sub-jects.

COMING & GOING

ESTELLE TAYLOR is in New York via-ging to the Far East via Hong Kong and returning by way of Sydney, Australia, after the RKO vaudeville tour in Jersey City. FRANK ROGERS of the E. J. Sparks circuit in Florida arrived in New York yes-terday.

A. W. SMITH, JR., eastern sales man-ager for Warner-First National, is in Buf-falo to address the annual meeting of War-ner theater managers.

PETE WOODHULL left Sunday for a tour of the South and middle west.

A. H. SCHNITZER, RKO Pathe short subject sales manager, leaves today for Chi-cago.

TITTANY'S newspaper story, "X Marks the Spot," has gone into production under the direction of Erle C. Kenton. Sally Blane and Mary Nolan have the principal femi-nine roles, while Lew Cody, Fred Kohler, and William Walker are also cast in featured roles. A new script for the picture has just been com-pleted by Warren B. Duff and Gordon Kahn.

Our Passing Show: B. F. Zeidman, Ru-per Haines, Leon Clayton, J. R. Young, Valentin Mandelshtam, Howard J. Green, Jo Swerling, Adeline Haver, A. Meyer, Sylvia Pasir, Sam Marx, Dave Thompson, Dan Kelly, H. McCullom at the Writers Club entertainment.

Stuart Walker will megaphone the "The False Madonna" from the script of Arthur Kober and Ray Harris. Conway Tearle will play an important role, while other princi-pals include Kay Francis and William Boyd.

"Evenings for Sale," by I. A. R. Wylie, will be Paul Lukas' next after "Tomorrow and Tomorrow."

Winfield Sheehan, chairman of the Com-munity Chest's motion picture division for the fall's campaign, has begun organizing the film ranks (for participation in the eight annual appeal). He expects the industry to raise about $200,000 this year, against $100,000 last year.

Mae Marsh has been given another assignment by Fox, a featured role in "The Devil's Lottery" with Charles Farrell and Sally Eilers. Greta Nissen and William Pawley have supporting roles, with Hamilton McCadden as director.

H. M. Mitchell Dies

Pelham, Ga.—H. M. Mitchell, 67 owner and operator of the Dixie here for the past several years, is dead.

WE'RE NOT PESSIMISTS! We merely believe in being prepared for any contingency. If there's a cold, hard winter ahead we're ready for it! Are you? If there's going to be keen shopping for pictures by the public, we're set for it. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's plans for 1931-32 visualize a year when it is more necessary than ever for M-G-M showmen to have a wide edge over competition. Last year we took top production honors in a walk! The "Trader Horns", "Free Souls", "Politics", "Min and Bills", and all the rest of them—we'll have shows of that calibre plus! We've got the important money names—no question about it—the Davies, Garbos, Crawfords, Shearers, Haines, Dresslers, Novarros, Lunt-Fontannes, Keatons, Gilberths, Montgomerys, Beerys, Tibbetts, Jackie Coopers, Clark Gables and more!

NOW IS THE TIME to visualize what your theatre marquee would look like if those names were to appear on your competitor’s house-front! Now is the time to look ahead to SIX MONTHS FROM NOW and realize that what you buy now is what you’ll have to sell to your public THEN! To a public that won’t be in the mood to throw money away on unknown quantities!

NEVER BEFORE in all the history of this industry was your buying problem more important! Success!—or Failure!—there’s no in-between this year! Buy badly and you’ll have empty seats in these times! Buy with intelligence and you’ll have the assurance backed by seven years of solid success of another Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Year!
What Causes the Slump?

SHOW business ought to be good now with so many people talking baseball, but the theaters ought to be packed all the time. This is a verbatim remark made to me a few days ago by a friend who admits he knows little or nothing about our problems. And his theory that "show business ought to be good" is by no means a rare thought. Most people seem to feel that way. If people still have money to go to theaters and crave entertainment, what is stopping them? Newspapers tell us of record baseball crowds, fighting crowds as big an attendance as ever, the Kentucky derby had 60,000 paid customers and the annual speed classic, while it didn't hang up a new record, had an immense crowd. To be sure, ours, being a seasonal business, is destined to suffer from lack of patronage in the summer. The lure of the great outdoors is bound to make drastic inroads in the box office, but is that really the reason? In my opinion the present slump is the result of two things: lack of quality product and a hardening of the morale of those connected with the motion picture industry. There have been few "teaks" and too much "sausage." This goes for practically every distributor. Our product this season did not consistently issue from any one. A box office picture is not necessarily a big picture. First of all it must be entertainment, and second, it must have that "something" which the public demands. It is to be regretted if this industry has run out of ideas, worthwhile stories and the "unusual." Film business no longer runs in cycles. The public has been educated to a degree where it knows long before we do whether a picture is worth seeing. "They smell 'em!"

TIMELY TOPICS

A Digest of Current Opinions

SOME DAY when we get all fed up on the routine and blah of this humdrum existence ... we are gonna retire on the dough we hope our Uncle Jed Bilge will bequeath us if the ole sap doesn't marry some young debutante when he's 92 and too old to make another movie and then we will sit down leisurely and write a colorful novel about a Resident Foreign Film Manager and if ya think there's no romance and adventure in the daily life of such ... it's because you haven't met up with Jack Hayes ... one of the most interesting personalities in this here film biz ...

• • • • JACK HAYES is back after a three-years' residence in Java ... where an American citizen is as welcome as Cholera ... and he has to fight the jealousy of the Dutch who govern the Island ... and the wiles of the native Malaysians ... the whole thing being an electric devi try of the Eurasians - the mixed breeds ... and then there are the adjoining Dutch possessions of Sumatra and Borneo the combined group teaming with 61,000,000 people with only 200,000 whites ... all film fans for the Dutch East Indies are one of the richest sources of income for the the big film companies who go after it good for a revenue of 200 to 250 a year to any company that Goes After it properly ... meaning with a Manager like Jack who knows the ropes ... and has the guts to Stick and play the game against almost insurmountable obstacles.

• • • • THREE MANAGERS before Jack committed suicide which gives you just a Vague Idea ... they're not quite sure about one of 'em he took up with an Eranian woman ... darn lonesome down there, with the country unfit for a white woman and some of these Eurasian females are very, very attractive ... but tricky, sometimes like this one who was suspected of slow poisoning of the former manager ... when she learned that he was pining to return to civilization they have a cute trick of feeding a feller the fuzz of green bamboo stalks in his food which gradually coats the lining of the stomach finally pierces it like ground glass ... and some day the victim just passes out from "the insidious climactic conditions" ... but Jack is alive and healthy today because he kept strict bachelor apartment ... with a vicious Javanese knife hung over his bedpost ... and a dagger under his pillow ... nice countree, this Dutch East Indies.

• • • • DOWN THERE a few degrees above the line of the Equator the theater is built with an open roof ... practically a pavilion because of the terrific heat and humidity ... which both hover around 80 to 90 all the time ... no seasons ... just one long humid nightmare of Heat ... and the Europeans sit on one side ... and the natives, Chinks and Eurasians, on the other ... with an occasional poisonous snake crawling down the aisle under the seats but with these houses catering weekly to millions for that's about all the amusement they have ... and an average of four grand going forward to the home ossif every seven days ... who's gonna kick at these Trifles ... not the General Foreign Manager, surely.

• • • • SO WHEN ya feel your job is tough ... give a thought to muggs like Jack Hayes ... ya never hear of who's but whose work often keeps your company outta the red ... when the good ole Youessay theater receipts hit the skids.

"Laff Ballots" Exploit "Politics"

WALTER FLUGEL, manager of the Pekin theater, Pekin, Ill., included the use of "laff ballots" in the exploitation campaign he used to help in his showing of the M-G-M production, "Politics." Five thousand "Laff Ballots" were printed and distributed from house to house throughout the city. Each ballot was numbered and persons who received them were instructed to write their names on the reverse side and deposit them in the lobby of the theater. Each day ten names were drawn from these ballots and the winners signed an order for the election board in the theater lobby. Free tickets were awarded as prizes. Special cards, together with a letter from Marie Dressler in which she says: "I'm holding open house for miners at the Pekin theater on Monday night," were mailed to all miners listed on the Glenn-Ott payroll.

"Hush Money" Tied Up With Starr Faithfull Case

FRANK SHEPHERD of the Cataract, Niagara Falls, got plenty of talk starred on "Hush Money," by distributing several thousand heralds on the Starr Faithfull murder mystery. The heralds contained several photos of Constance Bennett, the star of the feature, and cited the reward offered by a New York newspaper for a solution of the Faithfull mystery. The tie-up came in the gag: "Was Starr Faithfull murdered for refusing to pay 'Hush Money?'

'PLATINUM BLONDE' RANKS AS FAST COMEDY-DRAMA

Dialogue Sparkles, Cast Excellent
"PLATINUM BLONDE"
Columbia

The rafters rang with the unstrained laugh of a large preview audience, as "Platinum Blonde" ran its merry course. The picture is light, engaging comedy fare, so well told, acted and written, that it fairly bounces across the screen. It is a great credit to Director Frank Capra and Dialogist Jo Swerling, that in a picture of this type, no situation, no funny line was "muffed" by the audience. The pace is fast—but not too fast to squeeze in a little drama, and its "sophistication" has been shaped with an eye on the measurements of the average brow.

"Platinum Blonde" will surely take its place with the best comedy-dramas of the year. And why not? The story has been so very well garnished with humor and fine direction, so lavishly mounted and well cast, that the result is a rare dish of thoroughly satisfying entertainment—the kind that makes you forget the depression—that is, if you have one.

The direction of this piece is A1—101 per cent swell. The picture is full of "touches"—the kind that make good scenes better. Dialogue is a treat, and many of the lines are excruciatingly funny. Photography beautiful. Robert Williams does himself and his producers proud as Stew Smith. He carries most of the footage and has that thing called charm. Jean Harlow emerges a treat for the hip and fanny fanciers. Loretta Young does well and looks sweet as Gallagher. Walter Catlett, Edmund Breese, Halliwell Hobbes and other supporting players excellent.

Well, Exhibs—you can do the big blast on this one. Plenty of laughs and enjoyment for the whole clientele in "Platinum Blonde."

You had better get ready for "The Spirit of Notre Dame," because you may be carried away by it. The spirit of football has been so powerful that the audiences have been huge. The movie "The Spirit of Notre Dame" will surely attract everyone interested in football.

Junior Laemmle has had the courage to produce a film about football, which is not just a juvenile romance and a picture formula. The movie has outlined the reasons why football is today the most popular and best-supported sport in America.

"The Spirit of Notre Dame" is another one of those Carl Laemmle productions which come along now and then, like "Western Front" or "Seed." It makes you glad you are connected with the picture business, because it is worthy of the picture's highest possible achievement, the lifting of millions out of the doldrums of life, inspiring them to the principles which have been the making of this great nation.

To Russell Mack, the director, and to Richard Schayer, who supervised and wrote the screenplay in collaboration with Dale Van Every, there should go special commendation.

Courage — and other things

By JACK ALICOATE

The Spirit of Notre Dame

Here is not only one grand slice, but a monumental tribute to Rockne, one of the greatest and most beloved of sport's men that ever lived. To have given football the greatest character, is a laying high of the picture's highest possible achievement. And while it is not a slight tribute to Laemmle, the Second. And while it seems to have the second grand slice of entertainment, it is a tribute to Laemmle, the First. And while it seems to have the second grand slice of entertainment, it is a tribute to Laemmle, the First.
"THIS once high-riding, head-up industry seems to have its tail between its legs. It's licked. It's lost its guts. And altogether without cause!" So said a picture individual in New York to me the other day. That's a pretty strong indictment; worth pondering over. But his last words—"and altogether without cause"—stuck to me most.

Rather than look for a cause for such pessimism I looked for a cure. And these were my thoughts:

Where are the courageous fighters of yesteryear? Where are the men who beat the Patents Trust? What has become of the genius that pioneered sound? What's become of the showmen who transformed nickelodeons into palaces? They're all still in this business—but they're too damned still for the industry's good! Have they, too, got their dampers down?

"... and altogether without cause!" Pictures today are better than they ever were. With such sterling values as "Street Scene"—"Five Star Final"—"An American Tragedy"—"The Miracle Woman"—"Spirit of Notre Dame"—"Bad Girl"—"Sporting Blood"—and a dozen others could be named—never has this industry had so many good pictures released at one time. And we don't need new inventions to start another era; talking pictures are the greatest entertainment of the age. They need but to be sold right. They need inspired selling!

Perhaps the answer lies in leadership—leadership, not of one man, but by a score of men; leadership in production; leadership in distribution; leadership in exhibition. The leadership that made this industry fifth in size in the world is still in this business. It needs to be aroused. The call is coming for it loudly from every quarter of the industry. Yes, aggressive, fearless, two-fisted, hard-nosed leadership!

WHAT A MARVELOUS RESULT WOULD COME FROM ALL OF THE OLD LEADERSHIP, THAT MADE THIS BILLION DOLLAR INDUSTRY, ASSERTING ITSELF ANEW!

NOW IS THE TIME! LET'S SEE THAT OLD FIGHTING COURAGE; LET'S FEEL THAT INDOMITABLE SPIRIT; LET'S START, AND CONTINUE—ALL TOGETHER—TO TAKE THIS GRAND INDUSTRY TO NEW HEIGHTS OF SUCCESS.

NOW IS THE TIME!

SEE LITTLE IMPROVEMENT IN SOUND REPRODUCTION

mittee of the S.M.P.E. presented at the fall meeting here. Very slight improvement, if any, has been noted in the quality of reproduced sound in smaller theaters, the report says.

S.M.P.E. Coast Office
Urged by J. I. Crabtree Swampscott, Mass. — Establishment of S.M.P.E. headquarters in Hollywood with a part or whole time secretary and manager is recom-dended by J. I. Crabtree, retiring president of the organization, in connection with the Society's plans for closer contact, more active participation and a wider scope of activities. Duplicate committees should be appointed in both east and west to retain and solve problems. Laboratory processing, studio lighting, projection practices, etc., he asserted, adding that Hollywood is rapidly becoming the leading laboratory processing as well as production.
Possibilities and limitations of rear screen projection in solving the problems requiring investigation by the Projection Theory Committee of the S. M. P. E., said Crabtree. Other problems needing attention are the merits of non-intermittent projection for two-color additive photography and the possible eye-strain produced by pictures.

Fox Theater Assignments
Recent assignments among Fox theaters include the following: Art Smith, named manager of the Jastale, succeeding Jules Fields, retipointed manager of the Nemo, Manhattan; Clay Armstrong, managing the Mirth, Milwaukee; S. G. Mattisi, managing the Capitol, Buffalo; Tom Warne, managing the Capitol, Lion, N. Y.; Paul Krize, made maner of the Valencia, Waltham, Mass. The New Jersey division has been added to Harry W. Woodin’s Bronx group.

Refuse Operators’ Contract
Pueblo, Colo. — The Rialto and Palm have served notice on the state industrial commission that they will not renew the present contact with operators, expiring Oct. 31 and calling for two operators and $63 a week. The managers want one man and a cut in wages.

Up to Producers
Swampscott, Mass. — Film executives must come to a realization of the value of the S.M.P.E. if the society is to function to aid the industry to the greatest possible extent, declared J. I. Crabtree, attending the convention. He deplored what he termed producer apathy towards the organization's activities.

S. M. P. E. Convention Sidelines

By ARTHUR W. EDdy

IT is no wonder that the Bell Telephone Laboratories is noted for its scientific accuracy and efficiency, for T. E. Shee, one of its prominent members, is handing the papers and speakers at this meeting as efficiently as he handles electrons, ohms and atoms at the laboratories.

A pleasing fellow, this Franklin Ellis, who handles the Eastman Kodak and who is doing good work for the society's Publicity Committee.

That paper on third dimension pictures which Dr. Herbert E. Ives of Bell Telephone Laboratories is reading, is the last word on the subject. Dr. Ives is the man at Bell Laboratories who coordinates all of A. T. & T.'s research and investigations on television.

J. I. Crabtree of Eastman Kodak, who has guided the destinies of the society so well for the past two years is working harder than ever at this meeting, although it is his "Swan Song" since he declared to accept a re-nomination for president for the coming year.

This boy Ben Schlanger surely knows his inclinations. By that we mean theater floor inclinations and floor seating in theater arrangements. His paper at the spring meeting in Hollywood attracted wide attention. His parer at this meeting is getting the same amount of talk.

If anyone wants to get the real low-down on the foreign film situation, N. D. Golden, Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C., is the man for him to see. Golden's parer on this subject is one of the highlights of every society meeting.

If you don’t believe that the scholastic atmosphere of a police campus and the talk of the movie business can mix, you will have to revisit your ideas when you meet Dr. A. C. Hardy. He is a "prof" at Harvard University, but just the same he can tell you a few things about the film business.

That quiet man whose smile is as infectious as M. H. Palmer of the Paramount studio, Astoria, and chairman of the Studio Lighting Committee for the society.

A. F. Victor, whose movie cameras can always be seen at any football game, is attending the convention.

From over the Canadian border comes B. J. Back who works in the Trenton Studios at Trenton, Ont., for the Ontario Government.

Erpi, Bell Telephone Laboratories and Eastman Kodak are probably the best represented companies at the meeting. Kenneth Morgan and H. C. Silent came all the way from the West Coast to help represent Erpi.

Married less than one week, RCA Photophone Jimmy Frank, has spent night and day over-seeing the job in installing Photophone equipment. He has the Charmimg Mrs. Frank with him.

Everyone is especially glad to see Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Depue at the meeting. They have not been present at the last several meetings. Mr. Depue is a real pioneer in the business, having devoted his life to pictures even before they began to move.

James R. Cameron of the Cameron Publishing Company, but Jimmy to you, may be Scotch, but there’s nothing stingy about that smile of his.

National Theater Supply Joe Cifre has had his hands full for the last week helping to get the sound and picture equipment in the ball room.

ASSAIL SUNDAY STAGE SHOWS

Steubenville, O. — The City solicitor has asked two Warner theaters to discontinue stage acts on Sunday or face prosecution. Warners have been bringing the stage shows here from Pittsburgh, where Sunday showing is barred.

Merchants Help Buy Sound Set
West Salem, O. — In order to keep the residents of this town from going to neighboring towns, local businessmen have chipped in to sound equipment and will show pictures twice a week.

BURNS WARDEN TO CLEVELAND

Cleveland — Burns Warden, assisant ad sales manager for Paramount in Detroit, has been appointed ad sales manager in Cleveland succeeding Justin Speigle, transfer-ted to Pittsburgh.

Speaking of the problems confronting independents, Abram F. Myers, head of Allied States Ass’n, declares that the “exhibitor movement will have to have more Cooldidges and fewer B.P.O.E. economic independence is to be secured to the exhibitor of the country.” Myers says labor unions are demanding the employment of a greater number of workmen than are fairly and reasonably necessary to the safe and efficient operation of theaters. Copyright abuses, he asserts, are resulting in double and even treble taxation for the privilege of reprodusound, and they subject the theater owner to penalties for mere breaches of contract that are all out of proportion to the damage inflicted. He also attacks zoning, and declares selective percentage contracts introduce new principles greatly to the disadvantage of the theater owner and his patrons by denying to the exhibitor the right to book pictures in accordance with the wishes of his patrons.

legality of the uniform protection and zoning in the Omaha territory, is one of a series of test cases planned by Allied.

Announced opposition of certain other state exhibitor associations to any protection between "run" or localities also is a factor in the distributors' stand against participating in conferences.

As a result of this decision, each and every distribution territory is left without any uniform limitation upon protection, and in each instance private negotiations between individual exhibitors and each distributor will be necessary to fix protection without restrictions or limitations of any kind upon its length or area.

Distributors feel that, although there is an urgent demand from exhibitors for uniform zoning plans that are reasonable to all, the distributors would not be justified in jointly going forward in the face of the pending and threatened litigation questioning the legality of limiting protection by agreement between all parties interested and attacking the right of distributors to grant any protection of any kind.

Schwartz Bros. Acquire Two
Uhrichsville, O.—Jules and Abe Schwartz, who operate the Utopia and Park in Painesville, have purchased the State and Ohio from Jay H. Guthrie.

Philadelphia — Robert Mochrie, RKO Pathe branch manager and retiring president of the Film Board of Trade, will be given a dinner at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel on Oct. 12. Mike Landow of Universal is the newly elected Film Board head.

Scranton—With the addition of Poughkeepsie, Middletown, Yonkers and Newburgh, there are now 71 houses in the Comerford-Publix group under the regional directorship of George C. Walsh.

Philadelphia—Lou Davidoff is now Warner-Stanley district manager for southern New Jersey.

Everly, Ina.—An $8,000 theater is being constructed here by Wehde & Schoelerman. It will seat 250.

Monesen, Pa.—Peter Sotus has renewed his lease on the Olympic.

Pittsburgh—William Caldwell is now managing the local branch of Ross Federal Service, Inc., succeeding Harold Lunt, who has been promoted.

Chicago—E. A. Laughlin has taken over the Erie. Laughlin also operates the Granada in Mount Morris.

Oklahoma City—Irving Mirisch, manager of the Liberty, will soon leave for New York to manage a house there.

Orleans, Ind.—Robert Honnaker of Louisville has reopened the Orleans.

Durant, Tex.—T. Miller Davidge will open the Queen soon. Davidge recently sold the Liberty to Hughes-Franklin.

Ennis, Tex.—Local authorities have passed an ordinance which closes theaters on Sundays.

Corsicana, Tex.—C. J. Musselman has opened the Grand. G. L. Wood has been transferred from Paris to manage the house.

Pittsburgh—Joseph Kaliski recently celebrated his tenth anniversary as manager of the local Educational office.

Worcester—R. Lawson Daniels has been transferred from the Family to manage the Olympia, succeeding E. G. Pollard. Herbert Bloom will manage the Family.

Boston—Frank O'Connell has been transferred from the Empire at Whitman, to manage the Garden. Frank H. Harrington succeeds O'Connell at Whitman.

Danny Costello's Admiral theater suffered most, the bomb wrecking the lobby and projection machines above it, causing $5,000 damage. The Admiral had been using a non-union operator since September 1 because it could not afford the International demands of two men at more than $90 a week. The Bijou, Dickinson house whose operator was imported from one of the circuit's out-of-town houses, suffered slightly, the bomb exploding outside. Emanuel Rolsky's National, which has not been using International operators, suffered $1,000 damage.

Notations
— while Hollywood bound

By JACK ALICOATE

To be statistically accurate this is the first lap of our 22nd ROUND TRIP to Hollywood... and that's round tripping in any league... In the OLD days we were a cinch for LUNCH in Chi... Now Chicago is SVC US as the place SAM Katz, JIMMY quick, WATTY rothacker, and JOHN ebsron came from... Chicago was at ONE TIME an important producing and distributing center... Now it's only INTERMISSION while they jump from the Century to the Chief or vice versa.

MAURICE chevalier is on the train with us... He is a likable, democratic and definitely opinionated chap... He was born in MILAN, ITALY, france, if anybody cares... if they want to show GANDHI how poor people can live on practically NOTHING, why not let him MINGLE with the EXTRAS in Hollywood... LOUIS gerow is en route EAST. We just passed him somewhere BETWEEN Albuquerque and the end of the depression... And speaking of Albuquerque, our favorite Navajo who sells anemic bows and arrows at the station tells us his business has fallen 70 per cent since they stopped sending song writers through.

Mickey mouse is one star they DON'T have to send to Europe or New York for a HOLIDAY... With Jimmy whale directing, we have a suspicion that Universal's Frank ENSTEIN will be plenty picture... If the studios BAN us, we will throw away our ties, both of them, and go as an ACTOR... We've decided One thing: This trip is to be NO joy ride... Aside from a bit of GOLF, smattering of BEER, a dash of YACHTING and occasional RUBBER, we're going to apply ourselves to a scientific and THROUGH investigation of Hollywood as we go, and what they tell us. Eh! gang!

Celebrates at Luncheon

Beverly Bayne, Madge Bellamy, and Catherine Dale Owen were among the speakers at the Astor luncheon given by Better Photoplas, Inc., which plans to make a talker version of Merton, "Elijiah," in the Holy Land. A national contest will be held for singers to appear in the picture. The association's aim is to offer artistic opportunities in motion pictures to young American talent, it was stated.

Booking Names for Film

Famous Artists of the Air, with motion picture affiliations, has formed an artists’ bureau headed by William Rowland, former producer and agent. Through this bureau is planned to secure screen personalities for commercial broadcasts with a new manner of presentation delivered from oratorio, "Elijiah," in the Holy Land. A national contest will be held for singers to appear in the picture. The association's aim is to offer artistic opportunities in motion pictures to young American talent, it was stated.

ALONG THE RIASTO with PHIL DAILY

THE WELL WISHES of the entire film industry go forth unreservedly to Dr. A. H. Glaniani, as he prepares to assume his new position as chairman of the executive committee of the Bank of America National Trust and Savings Association in California. He thus becomes the outstanding figure in the Pacific Coast banking field, controlling, as he will, the destinies of approximately 410 banks—always a staunch friend of the film business. He has done more to build up solid financial structures than any other banking personality. And it is nothing to exaggerate to state that the “Doc” was the first to sell the film biz to the money powers of the Street... and to keep it sold... which is no mean service... and while his friendly and expert hand he missed here in the East it is cheering to know that located near the center of production he will continue to be an invaluable ally in guiding the destinies—of the motion picture.

IF YOU want to get a comprehensive idea of the far-flung network of the Paramount organization covering the entire world... where hand wanders into the Mailing Department of the home ossif... and ask Manager Danny O’Neil to show you around... pneumatic tubes shooting letters up and down to all the doors... and the acres of bins of the cubbyholes for mail assortment... electrical machines for stamping... handling a mere trifles of about 10,000 pieces incoming mail each day... and the same amount going out in two wires between Washington and New York... and receiving cables and telegrams and cables on automatic machines... the saw a wire shot to Hollywood... and received in four minutes... which puts the studio just around the corner... as far as home ossif concerns are officially known... this... working on railroad schedule... scientific... modern... efficient.

IN THAT recent story of Norman Krass’s we ran about the christening of the Warner Mountain in Hollerwood we mentioned that “some Easterly” made the suggestion... we have since been apprised that the anonymous gent was no less than A. P. Waxman... it happened last March... when A. P. was advertising chief for the company... while on the First Nash lot he suggested to Jack Warner that the peak be dubbed Mount Warner as it was a natural scenic background for the lot so he went into a huddle with George Thomas... in charge of coast publicity and... no time George ironed out the legal red tape to put it over.

JUST TO show ya what a live Publicity Mind can do in an eight-day trip to the Ghost—or Coast City—Mister Waxman got the idea of having the University of Southern Cali-for-nigh-aye give Jack Warner a degree for his contribution to Science and Education through his development of Vitaphone... and he set George Thomas to work on this one also... and it went over in jigg time but as A. P. modestly admits... thinking up stunts is one thing... but putting ‘em over is somethin’ else again... and he thinks George should get the credit for two good jobs whose authorship should not be veiled in anonymity... and our main reason for relating all this is because of our Extreme Amazement... at finding a publicity chief who wholeheartedly gives Due Credit to another mugg who helped him.

EDDIE CANTOR and George Jessel met yesterday in the offices of Charles Freeman. RKO booking head where contracts were signed for their appearances at the Palace week of Oct. 31. Gus Edwards, who gave the comedians their start 20 years ago, was present. Following the signing of the contract, Arnold Van Leer, press agent for the Palace, was host to a score of newspapermen at a luncheon at the M. P. Ballroom. Booking for the Lew and Other enterprises is now being handled by Martha L. Wilchinski, formerly of the Roxy and now an independent public relations counsel.

HUGHES DICKERING to BUY UNITED ARTISTS INTERESTS

Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks

Consummation of the deal will leave Goldwyn as an independent producer, possibly releasing through some organization—such as United Artists. He is now completing “Arras,” the last of six features he is scheduled to produce for United Artists. He is one of the eight owner-members of the distribution company and one of the four stockholders in Art Cinema.

FILMS DEBUNK DEPRESSION, DECLARES CHAS. R. ROGERS

Bill Cody appearing in Okla.

Folks are following life normal aspects minus the gloom of depression, says Charles R. Rogers, RKO Pathe vice-president in charge of production.

“Wholesome entertainment is the world’s greatest safety-valve,” declares Rogers, “and by showing men and women following normal pursuits, working, loving, striving, traveling, playing, forging ahead to conquer difficulties as they have from the beginning of time, motion pictures are doing much to debunk the depression and to restore the public’s fear-biased perspective.

In addition to picturing life normally, Rogers points out, the film industry is aiding the return of better times by providing entertainment that takes the minds of millions off their real or fancied worries, by going ahead on normal production schedules, and giving work to thousands, and by putting its own house in order and on a more sound business basis.

hold by the Academy of Motion Arts and Sciences. Nov. 10 will be made the most brilliant assembly of the series to date, says William C. de Mille, president of the Academy. "The past year has been one of particular difficulty to every one," states de Mille. "Mental and financial burdens have been heavy. The members of the motion picture industry, therefore, feel that the winners of the Mart Awards during the year deserve special attention. They have attained their positions not for the pressure of extraordinary obstacles. We are planning that they shall be honored, not only by the presence of their own director but also by the presence of such famous personalities in all walks of life.

The Committee on Arrangements is headed by Harry Rapf and includes Lawrence Grant, Reginald Barker, Nathan Levison, Julien Josephson, Albert Low, Louis Reeves, Joseph Johnson, Mitchell Lewis, Donald Crisp, Arthur Edeson, Frank Woods, Clinton Underwood, Bar- ret C. Kiesling and Howard Strickling.

F. Watson Adams, an associate producer, with Brown-Nagel Productions of the Bill Cunningham Sports Reviews, narrowly escaped being killed when his plane collapsed at an altitude of 5000 feet while he was performing solo stunts as part of the program of an air meet at the Framingham Airport in Framingham, Mass. Adams saved his life by a spectacular parachute leap to safety as the plane went into a tailspin and crashed in a pasture.

Harry Bannister has been loaned by RKO Pathe to Paramount for "Husband's Holiday."

J. L. Warner, Mayor Porter, Senator Shortridge and Joseph Scott were among the speakers at the opening of Warners' new Western theater in Los Angeles on Wednesday night. William Powell acted as master of ceremonies.

AT LAST it has happened.... Uncle Carl Laemmle has met his celebrated English biographer, John Drinkwater.... since Jawn wrote "The Life and Adventures of Carl Laemmle" over a year ago, these two have been trying to get together.... several days ago they met in Drinkwater's Lunnon home. "What, how didja like my blurb about ya. Mister Laemmle?" .... and Uncle Carl, through force of habit when talking to an author about his latest work, replies.... "Oh, I don't think your hero is so hot, but whadja want for the screen rights, anyway?"

* * *

TALKING of Lunnon, reminds us of a squib in the current issue of Today's Cinema by Publisher Sam Harris commenting on the writeup we gave him, Miss L. H. Clark, on her recent visit here. Sam quotes it, and is amazed at "the powerful way" we American journalists have of putting things. referring to our build-up of Miss Clark as "a lurid pen picture" of her beauty, we characterize her as "smart Hamilton" and "a Ziegfeld eye amash." shocks, Sam, if a British writer ballyhooed an American trade paper editor that way, the publisher would meet his editor at the dock with a brass band and a Mayor's Reception Committee and try to cash in by getting ye a job with Ziegfeld on the side.... some day these Britishers are gonna be being Dignified, and put Showmanship in their trade papers and their pix.... and we Americans will start reading their papers.... and booking their pix.

AND THE Depression has hit the beer consumption in Great Britain, which has decreased 10 percent per year. why, can ya believe it?.... the Britishers guzzled only 18,000,000 barrels of brew this last fiscal year practically Total Abstinence.... for them.

* * *

NOW COMES Joe Fisher, the big distributor of pix in the Orient. who radically disagrees with the opinions concerning the Dutch East Indies and says he has been there. Fisher has been in the Orient for several months and as far as he knows the Britishers guarded only 15,000,000 barrels of brew.

* * *

SPENT AN interesting hour with Neil McGuire.... over at his studio with the National Screen bunch.... Neil is what ya might term a Technical Artist.... he paints scenery, art effects and atmospheric stuff on Bristol boards.... employs them as background for trick photography, animated figures and Live Actors.... and gets some amazing effects on the screen.... his stuff replaces entirely expensive sets and with camera work it takes an expert studio man to tell the difference.

* * *

OUT IN the Grand Canyon, where Claude Fleming is shooting some of his Romantic Journeys.... the Hopi Indians made him one of their chiefs and dubbing Claude as Big Chief Thunder.... they bein' superstitious, as it hadn't rained for a month and all their crops were drying up.... and doggonit if it didn't rain the very next day. now Claude could have their shirts....

* * *

WHAT A tuff spot Walter Huston was in out in Hollerwood. when he took a rising young screen actress to visit other stars. he left her in the hands of a cameraman, she guzzled their lunch and departed without a cent, and whispered to the gal.... "I haven't a penny— I changed my pants" and she sold her bag, blushed and sez.... "How awkward. I'm in the same fix!"

Hollywood Hails, Wow Comeback Of Billie Dove

By FLORABEL MUIR.
Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 20.—This is one of the soundest picture making jobs turned out this year, which is saying a great deal in a season of unusually fine pictures. From the point of view of individual performances "Age for Love" tops almost anything I've seen.

"An exceptionally strong audience picture the public is going to like a lot...Howard Hughes has a picture here with plenty of audience appeal, a lot of romantic heart interest, bound to click at the box-office. 'The Age for Love' looks like a sure-fire winner."
—HOLLYWOOD DAILY SCREEN WORLD

"The Age for Love' splendid...Has just about everything to recommend it: a thoroughly modern treatment of a very modern problem, direction which never permits interest to lag for a split second, a sensational 'new' star supported by as capable a cast as could be found in all of Hollywood, and no expense spared in mounting the production adequately."
—THE HOLLYWOOD HERALD

"The Age for Love' should be box-office in all towns, large or small. It will cause plenty of talk—the kind that sends 'em into the theatres..."Age for Love' is a different picture on a topic that has been discussed in every home, on the streets, and in most offices...It will settle many problems for exhibitors."
—THE HOLLYWOOD REPORTER

"It's a United Artists picture that exhibitors should hop on and play up for all it is worth that it is a Howard Hughes production starring the most gorgeous beauty on the American screen."

Arbitration—Its Importance to Both Sides

In a business where the product dealt in has no set price value and where that product is sold before it is made—there are no samples of film that can show fully what the actual product will be—contractual misunderstandings are bound to arise. To settle these differences in the courts of law is a long drawn out and expensive procedure. But such a course is all that is available to the exhibitor who has a right and just claim against a distributor. Distributors, on the other hand, obtain satisfaction on contractual violations by exhibitors through the Copyright Bureau, which fixes damages on bicycling, fictitious receipt reports on percentage bookings and irregular holdovers of pictures. Those are the principal exhibitor violations. But distributors, too, do not always live up to their agreements. Where other than through Justice or Circuit courts can the exhibitor obtain satisfaction over a contractual violation by the distributor? We hold no brief for the exhibitor who falsifies box-office reports; he has no defense. Nor do we hold any brief for the exchange manager or salesman who misrepresents the product he has to sell and who overprices his product in accordance with his over-estimation of it. In various sections of the country exhibitors are now asking for a return of arbitration, the principle of which has always been right. Arbitration gives exhibitor and distributor an equal hearing. There is no more tendency for wrong decisions by an arbitration committee than there is in the courts by a biased or judge-arbitration and arbitration is much more expeditious and far less costly. We believe that distributors, too, would like to see the return of arbitratoin.

TIMELY TOPICS
A Digest of Current Opinions

with PHIL.M.DAILY

• • • OVER AT the AMPA luncheon the other day they had the Dame Who Launched a Thousand Quips and the Mugg Who Sunk a Thousand Ships—meaning Sophie Tucker and Graf Felix von Luckner . . . . Sophie sang her songs with a lymic accent following her Lunnon visit . . . . but her song topics were broader than her aitches . . . . even George Harvey and Paul Benjamin brushed . . . . and those hardboiled dags haven't changed color since Harlem went sepia . . . . and that's a helluva long time . . . . but Sophie's classic was the one about meeting Mahatma Gandhi, the Indian prophet, in Lunnon . . . . she sang one hot number to him . . . . and he threw away his suit consisting of a bedsheat . . . . Sophie made some side remark to proxy Ed Finney about her pajamas . . . . and Ed got all flustered and started biting his nails . . . . we must make a note to get the Dirt from him later . . . . there must be something in this business of being the head of AMPA and selecting the honored guests, after all.

• • • BUT THE German Talking Picture was the main attraction . . . . Count von Luckner went over with great sound effects . . . . a one-man cast, director, supervisor and everything . . . . Count von Luckner says he sunk our ships and scared everybody silly during the War . . . . and now he comes over to lecture about it at $3 a head and the nation books him solid for two years . . . . we need his Showman Brains in the film biz . . . . the Count could win the next war all by himself . . . . if they let him wander through the enemy lines . . . . and tell a few of his inimitable stories . . . . if he ever hits Washington and talks to Congress . . . . they'll cancel all the German war debt amid cheers. Just a mugg with a marvelous Magnetic Personality

• • • AT LUNCHEON the other day, Georgie Jessel starts felicitating his pal Eddie Cantor . . . . "Why, Eddie," he chirps, "when I was in Paris I saw mobs of pipple in line before eight theaters tearing and hitting each other to get into see your latest pix . . . . and Gus Edwards yaps . . . . "Just a slight error in your story, Georgie—they theater's were Closed Banks."

• • • WE SEE by the trade papers which we read occasionally . . . . that the Empey Academy has completed its nominations for the finest achievements in pix for the past year . . . . awards to go to the Best Direction . . . . Best Story . . . . Best Adaptation . . . . in fact, the Best everything . . . . EXCEPT awards to certain ginks without whose work all the work of the others wouldn't amount to much on a big pix . . . . we refer to such gents as Mister Hendee at Radio . . . . take Prinestone his research in preparation for "Cimarron" . . . . we were for months before they started shootin' he assembled mountains of data on the historical background of the production . . . . resulting in such authentic material going into the pix that the scenario skeleton became a live, pulsing, vibrant document . . . . every big producing company has its Mister Hendees . . . . tireless, patient Research Experts . . . . working without a spotlight . . . . who seldom get a Break . . . . but without their labors some Big Moneymakers would have been just Programmers.

• • • BOTANICAL NOTE . . . . in the ossif of Arthur Eddy there is a lil' green plant he has been nursing . . . . but it just withered away and dropped day after day . . . . till Art went to Swampscott over the week-end . . . . and darned if the lil' plant didn't perk up immediately . . . . now the horticulturist is back . . . . and the shrub is swoonin' again.

SAM GOLDWYN FINISHING LAST HALF OF SCHEDULE

Samuel Goldwyn's second group of pictures for the 1931-32 season is in the final stages of production. "The Greeks Had A Word For It," a farce picturization of the Zoe Akins stage comedy, in which Ina Claire, Madge Evans, Joan Blondell and Lowell Sherman appear, is completed and Miss Claire has gone to New York. The finishing touches are being shot on the Ronald Colman picture, "Arrowmith," Sidney Howard's adaptation of Sinclair Lewis's Pulitzer and Nobel Prize-winning novel, in which Helen Hayes, Richard Bennett and A. E. Anson play with Colman, while Gloria Swanson expects to complete work on "Tonight or Never," based on the Belasco stage success, sometime next week. Wardrobe is on both "Tonight or Never" and "The Greeks Had A Word For It," were designed by Mlle. Gabrielle Chanel, distinguished Paris fashion authority and style arbiter for Goldwyn's pictures.

Goldwyn's future plans are undecided. He may do one, two or even three more pictures this season. "The Kid From Spain," with Eddie Cantor, will probably be for next season.

Buster Keaton's Next
Her Cardboard Lover" will be the next Buster Keaton starring vehicle for M-G-M. Edward Sedgwick is directing. "Her Cardboard Lover" was a continental stage farce that enjoyed a season of success on Broadway with Jeanie Eagles in the leading role. It has been long the property of the M-G-M studios, and at one time served as a silent motion picture vehicle for Marion Davies.

Max Steiner's Busy Year
The judges who give annual prizes for distinction in screen work might well consider Max Steiner, musical director at the Radio Pictures studio. He completed a symphony for use in "Are These Our Children?" wrote several original bolets for "Marchetzi" and between inspirations translated a German play for consideration by William LeBaron. During the current year he has written 16 songs, two complete symphonies, several religious numbers for "Other People's Business" starring Seth Parker, and the scoring for 24 pictures.

Sally Eilers, James Dunn Paired in "Dance Team"
Fox has teamed Sally Eilers and James Dunn in still another picture, titled "Dance Team." It will be directed by Sidney Lanfield. Edward Crandall, Ralph Morgan and Claire Maynard have supporting roles, while Edwin Burke is doing the direction and dialogue from the novel by Sarah Addison. As a result of this assignment, Miss Eilers will have to forego the feminine lead in "Widow's Might."

Three Male Leads in Fox Picture Victor McLaglen has been assigned to a leading role in "Circumstances," thereby bringing the total of leading men in the cast of this Fox picture up to three. Ralph Bellamy and Alexander Kirkland are the other two. Linda Watkins will have the feminine lead.

M-G-M Buys Novel
M-G-M has acquired motion picture rights to a pirate story, "China Seas," a novel by Crouble Garstin.

Tim McCoy Vehicles Titled
"Shot Gun Pass" and "The One Way Trail" are the permanent titles for the first and second of Columbia's Tim McCoy outdoor specials. The last named had the tentative title of "Gambler's Guns."

U'S FIRST THALIAN COMEDY CONTAINS MANY BIG NAMES
Universals first Thalian comedy has been completed. Its title is "Running Hollywood," directed by Bryan Foy, and in the cast are such prominent names as Buddy Rogers, Arthur Lake, John Wayne, Seagis Hawakaya, Louise Fazenda, Charlie Murray, George Sidney, Noah Beery, Vivien Oakland, Leo Carrillo, Gertrude Astor, Ralph Ince, Little Harry, Mary Carr, Claude Gillingwater, Sally Blane, Bennie Ruben and Virginia Sale.

"Over the Hill" Completed
Henry King has completed the shooting of "Over the Hill" for Fox. In the cast are Sally Eilers, James Dunn, Mac Marsh, Edward Crandall, Claire Maynard, Eula Gay, Olin Howland and others.

"Chic" Sale Film Begins Nov. 1
Starting date for "Chic" Sale's next Warner Bros. picture, an adaptation of Edna Ferber's "Old Man Minnick," has been set as Nov. 1. The director will be Archie Mayo, who is now handling "Under Eighteen," with Marian Marsh, Regina Toomey, Warren William and others.

Joe E. Brown Starts Nov. 9
Production of "Fireman Save My Child" will begin Nov. 9 at First National. Lloyd Bacon is to direct this film, which will star Joe E. Brown. It has been authored by Robert Lord, Ray Enright and Arthur Caesar. Brown has just finished filming his picture, "Sternward," and will visit his mother in Toledo for a few days before departing for Hollywood.

GEORGE O'BRIEN, Fox star, has finished production of his next picture, "Zane Grey story, "The Rainbow Trail."  Mr. Kerneman is one of the busiest ingenues in town these days. She has just completed playing the role of "The Door," in Roach's series of comedies, co-starring Charles Rogers and Charles Hall, with Roach personally directing Mary, the first child, who completed a featured part in Radio's "Ave These Three" show, with Richard Breenes, Geri Beach this week and proved a sensation.

Maurice Murphy, juvenile, who divides his time between the stage and screen has been signed for an important role in "The Night Out," with May Robson, opening this week at the Hollywood Playhouse.

Charlotte Wynters, well known Broadway actress, whose most recent New York stage appearance was in the leading role of "Regular Guy" opposite Glenn Hunter, has a small part in Paramount's "His Woman" in support of Claudette Colbert and Gary Cooper.

W. C. Fields, Lenor Errol, Ford Sterling, Chester Conklin, Harry Stubbs and Maudie Earman are among the importations of the forthcoming Marilyn Miller picture, "Her Majesty, Love." Mr. Lyon has the leading juvenile role in this Warner production which William Dieterle will direct. The lyrics are by Al Dubin.

The large cast being assembled to support Lionel Barrymore, Nancy Carroll and Phillips Holmes in the Erna Lubitsch production of "The Man I KILLED" at Paramount, has been increased by two more character actors, Forrest Meyer and Harry Schulz.

Mervyn LeRoy, who has completed the direction of "Tonight or Never," starring Gloria Swanson, will direct William Powell for Warner Bros. The story is expected to be "High Pressure," by E. F. Peters.

The first authentic Rathskeller for the film colony has been engaged by Ford Sterling. Jimmy Mannix, Detroit and Los Angeles cafe men, in association with Dave Kay, former newspaperman and Hollywood diamond broker, the decorative scheme, patterned after a famous Rathskeller in Berlin, has been carried out by James Colburn, Hollywood artist, who recently returned from a tour of Europe.

Such is fame. One writer, commenting on the preview of Bert Lahr's initial picture, "Flying High," used Lahr's name seven times, always spelling it "Lehrh."

George Davis, noted clown, and more lately a member of Winkler's band, now a knowledge of several languages, has been added to the cast of "The Story of Other Days," and is being rehearsed at the Radio Pictures studios.

Emile de Recat is all smiles these days. He recently received word that the French version of "Trader Horn" is playing to capacity business at the Madeleine theater.

He wrote the adaptation for the French version.

Del Lord, Mack Bennett director, caught an octopus during a fishing trip. Del keeps an octopus is certainly different from a bathing beauty—it never appears in anything less than eight-piece bathing suit.

In the old days, contracts for writers were thrown around freely. Now it seems it's the writers who throw thrown around freely.

Of the first 64 short subjects listed by the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, 12 were directed or produced by Elmer Clifton. Among those mentioned were serials, "The Mysterious Adventures of the Tomb of Ahas," "Ghost Towns," the first of the "Beloved Other Days" series; "The Magic Witch" and "Comrades of the Desert," two of the "Wild Life Pictures."

SHORT SHOTS from EASTERN STUDIOS

By HARRY N. BLAIR

JOHN McCONAUGHTY, formerly associate producer at the Cosmopolitan studio and more recently with Paramount as staff writer, has completed his first book. The title is "From Cain to Capone," and it comprises a history of racketeering in all forms. On sale Oct. 16.

Vitaphone Vitavision: Russ Brown late of "Flying High," signed for two shorts. Thelma White heads revival at Hollywood restaurant opening Oct. 18... also starring in "The Girl Friends" series with Frances Watson... busy girl... Jay Rescher, demon cameraman, enjoying location work during spell of warm weather.

Nick Basil and Tony Martin, previously featured in the "Nick and Tony" series under the direction of Mark Sandrich, have completed the first of their two-reel humorous travelogues for Picture Classics, Inc. This new series will be known as "Sightseeing with Nick and Tony" and the first is set in New York.

Max Hoffman, Jr., musical comedy favorite, heads a cast of 50 people used by Warner Vitaphone for "Relativity and Relatives," starring Dr. Rockwell. Others include Maurice Cass, veteran character actor, and Helena Barcay, who posed for the Fisher Body ads painted by her husband, Macieland Barclay.

Paramount's New York studios has a miniature League of Nations represented in the four "Hello" girls employed there to take calls. Emma Gertani is Italian; Helen Kazmarek, Polish; Anna Allig, German; Henrietta Slomba of Czeck extraction.

Robert L. Ripley, in his fourteenth "Believe It or Not" short, just completed at the Vitaphone studio, presents a man who can tear a deck of cards into eightths, the smallest kind. The film has had worldwide release and also reveals the identity of the Japanese Mesheslah who lived to be 306 years old.

No feature activity at the Paramount New York studio this week and only one short, Ethel Merman in "The Garden of Eatin," which Aubrey Scotto is directing. Next week Rudy Vallee makes another short with a collegiate background, with Casey Robinson stepping into the re- roeet. "Woman Against Woman," next paramount feature, in which Tallulah Bankhead will star, is set to start Oct. 19.

Harriette Lee, chosen as Radio Queen of 1931-32, is featured in a joint promotion under the title "You're Driv- Me Crazy," soon to be released by Paramount. Olive Shea, previous Radio Queen, has also appeared in Paramount shorts and features.

During the past ten days, Vitaphone releases were "Aces Alive," first of the Book Tarkington juvenile series; "Havana Cocktail," one of the "Melody Masters" series; Robert L. Ripley's 13th "Believe It or Not" short; "Thrills of Yesterday," shot in the first of the "Broadway Brevidities" series; Ted Husing's "Sportspants!" "Lucky Thirteen," first of the Watan-White series and "The Eyes Have It," starring Edgar Bergen and his dummy, Charlie, one of the "Pepper Pot" series.

Numerous players engaged in eastern production, including Claudette Colbert, Irving Pichel, Tallulah Bankhead and Betty Lawford were present at a farewell party given by Rudie Harris, who leaves for Hollywood in a few days to conduct a radio column featuring star personalities. Visiting west coast stars also in town were Estelle Taylor, Fay Wray, Kent Douglas and Ginger Rogers.

Jack Cherry plays the role of a hulker in Vitaphone's "Shake a Leg," under the direction of Alf Gould. This in itself would not be particularly interesting except that two years have elapsed since Cherry last worked under Goulding's direction. Back in 1930, when Cherry was only ten years old and Goulding was 17, they toured the world together with a show troupe.

Sidney Easton, colored actor, who has signed for "His Woman," has been cast for "Garden of Eatin!" Paramount short featuring Ethel Merman.

Dr. Rockwell, who recently completed a Vitaphone short, is one of the busiest gents in town. During the past ten days, he dictated articles to his secretary which are syndicated to 40 daily newspapers. In addition to his vaudeville, musical revue, radio and talkie engagements, he also writes for magazines. And while he is resting he looks after his hotel in Booth Bay Harbor, Maine.

LONNIE DORSA, associated with Edmund Goulding on many of the latter's productions, and who has been visiting such places as London, Paris and Budapest, writes from the Continent that he expects to return shortly and resume work in Hollywood.

FIRE PREVENTION DEVICE PLACED ON THE MARKET

Philadelphia—A new fire prevention device known as the "Chief" has been placed on the market by the Film Fire Prevention Co., Inc., of this city.

The controls consist of an assembly of seven distinct parts. Parts 1 and 2 are an upper and lower fire valve, which automatically close if fire or explosion is detected. These fire valves are mechanically operated and protect at all times rooms. Whether or not the projector is in operation, it is declared.

Part 3 is the lower head. Parts 4 and 5 are the upper and lower loop switches. Part 6 is a centrifugal switch which operates when the speed of the projector drops too far below normal. Operation causes motor to stop and douser to drop automatically. Part 7 is an automatic control box which carries power to motor, switches, etc., causing a complete shutdown if trouble develops.

Operating time from moment of faulty operation to complete operation of the "Chief" safety controls is one-sixteenth of a second, the company claims.

Dallas—R. Z. Glass, owner of Public Address Service Co., distributors of X-Cell A.C. sound equipment, has announced the marketing of the "Paso" junior and senior portable sound-on-film equipment manufactured in his own plant on Jackson Street here.

The projector and heads are said to be mounted in a streamer trunk-like case and speaker and amplifier are housed in smaller carrying cases. Reduction in prices on his X-Cell sound-on-film for theaters where disc is now installed, and reduction in complete X-Cell installations, have also been announced by Glass.

New Animatophone Features

Davenport, la.—The Animatophone 16MM talking projector has been made more attractive, compact and efficient through the acquisition of a "blimp" type case which encloses the projector while it is in operation, a vertical tone-arm which operates on the pendulum principle, and several other improvements to make for better sound projection, the manufacturer announces.

The Animatophone is the product of the Victor Animatograph Corp. of this city, and wholesale distribution in the U. S. will be made through the 31 branches of the theatrical division of the National Theater Supply Co.

Installs Aluminum Screen

Boston—A new all-metal screen has been installed in the Metropolis here. This screen is the product of the Whiting & Davis Co. of Plainville, nationally-known makers of ladies' mesh bags. The screen is made up the same way that these mesh bags are fabricated, with millions of little aluminum squares inked together so that the whole fabric is flexible.

This is claimed to be one of the first absolutely fireproof sound screens to be put on the market.

“Viennese Nites” Record

Sydney—Warner’s “Viennese Nites” has broken the record for length of run in the Antipodes. That record was previously held by “The Ten Commandments.” “Viennese Nites” is now in its fifteenth week at the Prince Edward Theater here and is expected to run for at least five more weeks.

American Film Interests

After Broadhead Circuit

Manchester, Eng.—It is reliably reported that the American film interests are seeking to buy the 14 theaters in the Broadhead Circuit in towns throughout the country. The tempting offer is said to have been made. A large British insurance corporation has become interested, with Harry Burton, in keeping the theaters under English management, and an offer in excess of the $1,250,000 already made, is expected to materialize. Negotiations are awaiting the probate of the will of the late Alderman W. H. Broadhead.

Bokra Women Rebel

Against Picture Ban

Bombay—Bokra women are in rebellion against the order of the Bokra head priest prohibiting the women from attending motion picture shows on the ground that it is un-Islamic. A band of Bokra women picketed a Bombay theater to enforce the order. Vehicles which brought Bokra women to the theater were held up by the pickets. The women who defied the pickets, and entered the theater with the permission of the management, were made to show their faces and will be reported to the head priest. The pickets were all women who wore the usual bokha.

Catholic Talkie Van

Liverpool—A Roman Catholic organization, the Metropolitan Cathedral of Liverpool Building Fund, has instituted a traveling cinema. A new model Morris van, in which an Associated Portable Sound Equipment has been installed, will visit the parish halls, schools and convents. The van is equipped with sound films dealing with the Cathedral, which is to be the largest in the world.

Pittaluga’s First for New Season

“Rebellion of the Mountains,” Cines-Pittaluga’s first production for the new season, will soon be released to Italian exhibitors.

PRODUCTION IN SPAIN IS AT A STANDSTILL

Madrid—Film production in Spain is dead, for the time being at least. Not a single picture is being made this year, despite the fact that most of Spain’s 350 picture houses have been wired for sound. Spain imported during the year ending this August a total of 500 motion pictures, which 200 of which we talkers. Eighty per cent of the talkers and 70 per cent of the silents were of American make. The remaining 20 per cent of talkers and 30 per cent of silents were English, German and French productions.

BRITISH SEATING CAPACITY UPT 234,645 IN 4 YEARS

London—A survey of the new theaters built in Great Britain in the four years since talking pictures were first successfully presented shows that the increase in the number of seats is 234,645. The figures were arrived at by T. P. Drew, Western Electric’s sales manager in Great Britain, who states that of this number of new seats Western Electric wired 183,159, the remaining 51,486 seats having been wired by other systems.

Invention Records Sound On Undeveloped Film

Paris—A young Frenchman, Rene Nublat, claims to have invented apparatus which permits the instantaneous recording of sound on film without the film’s having to be developed. He asserts that his invention will result in a great saving of money to producers. He will soon give a demonstration of his invention at the film trade in Paris. His invention, he says, records mechanically, aided by electrical apparatus.

Klangfilm-Gaum’nt Equip 117 Houses

Kendall from Mayfield to Owensboro to take over the Empire, Paul Wykoff manager of the Princess and Dixie at Mayfield; W. H. LeValley at the Embassy, New Britain; J. V. Shea at Broadway, Norwich.

Following changes have been effected in the Philadelphia territory: Al Reh, formerly with Allenegy, now at Colney; Jack Mulhall, formerly at Colney, to the Arcadia, Wilmingtom; Al Blumberg, formerly at Aldine, to the Stanley; Morris Gable, formerly at Sherman; Buster Keaton, Robert Montgomery and Wallace Beery visit Haines in Hollywood. For a cheery goodby they will tell him of the terrors of a personal appearance. The trailer is a scream and is followed by Haines doing a monologue with a very fat girl in the audience acting as stooge. Milton Berle heads the revue, "Great Guns." Berle is an ace master of ceremonies. Maureen Rio, a mighty pretty girl, gives a snappy acrobatic dance, Mills Kirk and Martin cause much laughter with their nutty antics, the Four Monitors render some tuneful quartette numbers and the show is rounded out by the 12 Navy Steppers, the Chester Hale Naveyettes and the Capitolians.

Paramount
Launching its new policy of big names to meet the stronger competition, the M-G-M's "Broadway" started its bargain value offerings, the New York Paramount this week presents a stage show headed by Georgie J. and Sophie Tucker. The presentation, an elaborate affair in about a dozen scenes, was produced by Boris Petroff and is titled "Some of These Days." It was pretty close to even honors for Jessel and Miss Tucker at the opening show, with both vocalizing for big hands and substantiating the drawing power of name talent. The revue also includes a number of other versatile artists, among the featured performers being Jules and Josie Walton, Jimmy Hareide, Ted Shapiro and Danny Dancer. Special songs were provided by Ruby Cowan and some sketches by Jack Yellen, while Vincente Minnelli did the set-designs. As an added item of interest, Mrs. Jesse Crawford has returned to the Paramount to appear again in twin organ concerts with her husband.

WARNERS' ARTISTS' BUREAU
Adds Vaudeville Bookings
The Artists' Bureau, in connection with Warner Theaters, is arranging to take over all the vaudeville bookings in the circuit houses that are presenting special acts as preludes to feature pictures. For some time the bureau has booked the tours of stars and supplied the acts for the Warner houses in Chicago, Pittsburgh, Washington, Milwaukee, Jersey City and Philadelphia. It has now added to its list the Warner houses in Johnstown, Pa.; Parkersburg, W. Va.; Erie, Pa.; Wheeling, W. Va.; Jamestown, N. Y., and New Kensington, Pa. From two to five acts will be booked for these cities on a split week basis.

HIGHLY AMUSING AND POINTED SATIRE ON DIVORCE QUESTION. CLEVER COMEDY AND DIALOGUE BY LILIAN TASHMAN.

Lilian Tashman, in a fine highly comical portrayal, carries off honors in this keen satire on quick marriage and quick divorce. The hero is chiefly Reno with its simple separation mill, free living and open gambling. Miss Tashman plays the much-married wife of a kindly eastern millionaire, portrayed by Pichel whom she wants to divorce for no special reason. The incident is somewhat of a tragedy for her second grown-up children, one of whom, Peggy Shannon, accompanies her to Reno and falls in love with a young engineer, "Buddy" Rogers. In the Reno crowd is a child who, while awaiting his own divorce, makes a play for the newly arrived mother and daughter, and the hectic proceedings are given. Miss Tashman is the woman who boards the son who shoots the librettist, just as he is about to march to the altar.

"CRIEF STREET" with Barbara Kent, John Holland, Chesterfield

NOVEL MURDER MYSTERY WITH BACKSTAGE SETTING AND USUAL PROBE ROUTINE.

A fairly well-handled production that moves through an intriguing maze of mysterious happenings to the ultimate disclosure of the murderer and the method of perpetrating the crime, which was done in a novel way. It is almost impossible to guess the denouement, but when it comes it is perfectly plausible and logical. Although being set in a backstage atmosphere among members of the cast of a Broadway play, there is nothing exactly stagy about its development or acting. Barbara Kent and John Holland turn in worthy performances, stamping themselves as a team with possibilities. The rest of the cast is well picked, and credit goes to director Richard Thorpe for getting all the c. t. w. twists in spotlight so that any child can follow the developments easily.

"SUSANNE MACHT ORDNUNG" ("Susanne Fixes Everything") Foreign Talking Picture Corp., 70 mins.

PLEASING GERMAN COMEDY HAS A BRIGHT SUNSHINE TONE AND A N D CHARACTERIZATIONS WITH TUNEFUL MELODIES.

A very pleasing number, nothing complex, but the constant delight of the sustaining German-speaking audiences. It is one of those typical themes of mixups resulting in a lot of good-natured fun and some very good work on the part of a competent cast with diversified character parts. Trus v Alten is the girl, an elfish type who fits through the footage pleasingly. She is ably supported by Franz Leiderer, an engaging youth who knows his camera and how to play up to it. Trus is in a boarding school where she discovers her own father, and starts to Berlin to find him. It so happens that her daddy is about to marry the daughter of his company, and he suggests creditors to order the firm from bankruptcy. His attorney, fearful that the daughter's appearance will grab the headlines, asks the girl to impersonate her father's friend.

Cast: Trud von Alten, Max Parkinson, Leo Leiderer, Paul Migeon, Guenter Knarr, Max Ahrlich, Szeke Szeik, Maria Kloster, Heinz Stett, Maria Foresee, Irma Godau.

Director, Eugene Thiele; Author, Eugene Thiele, Wolfgang Wilhelm; Adaptors, Leo Leiderer, Ferdinand Igel, Manfred Marcarian; Editors, M. Nikolaus; Editor, not credited; Cameraman, John Meehl; Recording Engineer, Walter Tjaden.

"RECKLESS LIVING" with Ricardo Cortez, Mae Clarke Universal, 99 mins.

WEAK OFFERING HAS A RAMBLING AND UNCERTAIN STORY THAT FAILS TO CREATE ANY SYMPATHY FOR PRINCIPALS.

This was adapted from the stage play, "The Up and Up." The present scenario by Sam Goldwyn is a young couple who try to make a precarious living mixed up with various shady deals. Ricardo Cortez is running a betting book and a lot of the action takes place in his phone room with his assistants busy recording the bets of clients. He is making a play for Mae Clarke, married to a young sap. But Mae loves her hubby, and tries her best to get him away from his gambling mind so they can save some dough to buy a gas station. Cortez persuades her husband to go on vacation for which he pays the rent so he can use it as a blind for his phone room. Meanwhile hubby drives a taxi, but the gamblers are so fussy for it, he bars him from driving. The plot moves along slowly, with some good touches, but there is nothing novel about it. This is a somber picture with a draggy, somber score.

Cast: Ricardo Cortez, Mae Clarke, Norman Foster, Marie Prevost, Slim Summerville, Frank Lundy, Carl Seep, Stanley Blystone, Louis Nathanlux, Murray Kinnell, Russell Hopton, Perry Ivory, Brooks Bennett, Shirley Ross, Nora Swanson, Rex Reason, Felix Riebersheim; Adaptors, Kenyon Nicholson, Walford White, Walter Mark, Sam Goldwyn, Dudley Nichols, William Anthony McGuire, Director, Harold Schuster; Cameraman, John Meehl; Recording Engineer, W. W. Lindsay.

"SKYLINE" with Thomas Meighan, Maureen O'Sullivan, Hardie Albright, Myrna Loy
Fox, 68 mins.

GOOD HUMAN INTEREST DRAMA SET AGAINST INTERESTING SKYSCRAPER BACKGROUND.

This fills the bill fairly well as popular entertainment. It has a bit of a slipper story, about an East River barge boy, who, fascinated by the New York skyscrapers, breaks away from his strict stepfather following the death of his mother and goes forth to realize his architectural dreams. He is befriended in turn by a foreman with a nice daughter and then by a famous architect, who makes a protege of him, and it later develops that the father was not at fault everything is cleared up. Tom Meighan gives a likable portrayal of the architect. Hardie Albright is good as the boy and Maureen O'Sullivan plays the girl sweetly. The stagey scene is a disclosure of how German talkies are made. It may be of interest to German audiences, but there is nothing particularly novel about it over on this side. The film is too long and draggy, and goes into a lot of unnecessary detail that builds no interest and does not advance the story interest. It is primarily designed to give each individual a chance to do his or her stuff, and consequently the story interest suffers. It is built around the hackneyed idea of an extra girl, played by Camilla Horn, becoming a star—her "great passion." The action develops a light satire on Viennese films. Music is agreeable.

"DIE GROSSE SEHNSUCHT" ("The Great Passion") Tobis, 100 mins.

TOO LENGTHY GERMAN TALKER WITH MUSIC PRECORDING, BUT RELUCTANT TO APPRAISE A RAMBLING STORY WITH STUDIO SETTING.

This was evidently an attempt to reproduce a "Paramount on Parade" effect, but the German screen fanatics are in their element. They are shown at work in the Neubabelsberg studio near Berlin, and much of the film is a disclosure of how German talkies are made. It may be of interest to German audiences, but there is nothing particularly novel about it over on this side. The film is too long and draggy, and goes into a lot of unnecessary detail that builds no interest and does not advance the story interest. It is primarily designed to give each individual a chance to do his or her stuff, and consequently the story interest suffers. It is built around the hackneyed idea of an extra girl, played by Camilla Horn, becoming a star—her "great passion." The action develops a light satire on Viennese films. Music is agreeable.

"NEW ADVENTURES OF GET-RICH-QUICK WALLINGFORD"
M-G-M  96 mins.

BIG LAUGH NUMBER CRAMMED FULL WITH HILARIOUS SITUATIONS. JIMMY DURANTE A SCREAM.

This is a top-notch comedy and the best yet made from George Ran- dolph Chester's famous series. William Haines, Jimmy Durante and Ernest Torrence play the roles of Wallingford, Schnozzel and Blackie Daw, respectively, forming an outstanding mirth- making trio that brings this comedy to a very high standing. The story concerns Wallingford's exploits in a small-town real estate swindle, and how, because he falls in love with the daughter of the town's leading citizen, he returns the money to the townfolk and decides to go straight. This brings some well-woven to the screen much of the material that made him famous in vaudeville. Mr. Durante makes a fine Wallingford and never lets down on the fast pace established by director Sam Wood.

Director, Sam Wood; Author, George Randolph Chester; Adaptor, Charles Macar; Dialogue, Elmer Rice; Cameraman, Max Steiner; Cameraman, Oliver T. Marsh.

Good Cast Holds Up the Attractive Story That Lacks Conviction in Sophisticated Theme of Married Life.

Here is an adaptation of the stage play, "Nancy's Private Affair," which shows all the stage tricks of striving for effects at the expense of believability. Mr. Durante, the loving wife who returns from a trip abroad to find that her husband, Rob- ert Ames, has fallen in love with a designing girl after his divorce. Then Mary decides to be a "smart woman" and beat her rival with arms. She invites an English lord to the house and plays up to him. He frames the other girl and shows her up to the husband who begins to see the light and realizes that his wife is his real love after all. With such an unconvincing story they couldn't do much, but an excellent cast throughout gets it over as fairly interesting entertainment if you can overlook the lack of sympathy on the part of the two principals behind. Mr. Durante is a sap, and the husband for a bad.

Cast: Mary Astor, Robert Ames, Edward Everett Horton, Noel Francis, Ruth Austin, John Halliday, Gladys Gale, Alfred Cross, Frank Varela, Lilian Harris, Ruth Weston.

Director, Gregory La Cava; Author, Myron C. Fagan; Adaptor, Salisbury Field; Dialogue, Elmer Rice; Cameraman, Nick Musmanno; Recording Engineer, Bert Linder.

Direction, handicapped by material. Photo- graphy, good.

"SOUTHERN INDIA" (Newman Travel Talk) Vitaphone  10 mins. Good

Chief interest of this Newman travelogue is in its shots of India's eomming human hordes, principally the lower castes, and the giant temples which must have taken centuries to build. There is also shown one of the country's most important festivals, with fantastic floats on parade and the people massed along the way in almost unbelievable numbers. Accompanying talk is both interesting and instructive.

Clark and McCullough in "FALSE ROOMMERS" Radio Pictures  19 mins. A Laugh

As a couple of stragglers who rent a furnished room for the night from a Scotch landlord, Clark and McCullough provide plenty of merri ment with their laughable "mock-usage," and unique style of comedy. The first sequence shows them engaging the room from the Scotclean, who grants them all privileges except their landlord's wife. Clark's love for popcorn forces him to weaken and soon the tasty grain is merely popping along in the background while the mirthful situations involving other roomers, round out two reels of really funny material.

"NAM RHEIN" ("Only on the Rhine") Foreign Talking Pictures  81 mins. Fair

FAIR GERMAN PRODUCTION IN WHICH ROMANCE, COMEDY AND MUSIC ARE AGREEABLY BLENDED.

Another musical romance set against the Rhineland, which seems designed to appeal to the majority of German pictures brought over lately. In this instance the love story involves a British officer and a burgomaster's daughter, with the girl's brother, who is a student, becoming entangled in some unlauful dealings and the English officer being obliged to arrest him. This brings about a break between the officer and the girl, but everything is smoothed out in due course and love has its way. The action glides along in gentle fashion, with the love interest, comedy and musical numbers taking turns in a manner that is quite agreeable. A bunch of students put on an amusing masquer ade stunt, and the acting of the cast as a whole is interesting. As usual, the attractive Rhine- land scene background.

"SALLY WARD IN "MORE GAS" with Lea Penman Paramount  9 mins. Good Comedy

An amusing comedy idea and consistent action make this a thoroughly enjoyable travey. Sally, accompanied by her wife, visits the dentist. Wife and the tooth-yanker find they are old friends, so while Sally is under gas the dentist and the spouse go for some sparkling. Meanwhile Sally, under the influence of the gas, finds himself in a pleasant situation with the nurse, and he likes it so much that when he wakes up and realizes it was all a dream, he voluntarily returns for the gas to be able to have his wife in another happy trance. Ought to please audiences anywhere.

"TROUBLE" (Tom and Jerry Cartoon) Radio Pictures  8 mins. Fair

Fairly amusing animated cartoon. Tom and Jerry, the "human" char acters, are not specially funny in appearance nor is there much humor in what they say or how they say it, but one gag, where a fellow tries to anchor a dirigible to the top of the Empire State building, raises quite a few laughs.

George Dewey Washington in "Old King Cotton" Paramount  7 mins. Pleasing

This atmospheric short deals entirely with negro life and tells in simple terms the story of a young boy who leaves his plantation home for Harlem only to realize that the things he most desired were love and a few reasonably of pleasing tunes well delivered by Washington, a well known negro singer. Ray Cozine directed, from an original by Walton Butterfield.

"Melody of the World" Fair Novelty

Tobis  30 mins. This is a "featurette," running for a half hour. It is chiefly propaganda for the Hamburg-American Line, showing innumerable shots of views taken in a round-the-world trip on the liner "Resolute." A German sailor with the initials of the steamship line on his cap is injected every so often to remind you that the steamship company is giving the party. The shots are presented with kaleidoscopic effect and without titles. Scenes jump from India to America, from Berlin to Singapore. All the known countries of the world are seemingly represented, and there is absolutely nothing against this. Bernard Shaw talks with Ivor Montagu of the London Film Society, "Slow Poison" Swell Laughs RKO Pathe  18 mins.

A swell comedy that gets the heavy gaggers right through the footage. With Jimmy Gleason as the hardboiled fight manager, and Harry Gribbon as the dumb pug, Arthur "Bugs" Baer contributed a character- istic yarn of the prize ring that is a wow. You may think that the ring stuff has been worked to death in the short comics, but you aren't seen nothing till you lamp this goofy travesty on the realm of fictitious. Gleason and Gribbon make a great comedy team.

"Thanks Again" C Icks

RKO Pathe  18 mins.

Another neat number in the Mr. Average Man comedy series, with Edgar Kennedy doing his usual line as the worried head of the house. With Jimmie Gleason under the handicap of a fluffy wife, a rasy ma-in-law, and a meddlesome brother-in-law, Kennedy starts out to assemble the family airplane. After they have promoted him into being airminded, with some hilarious complications that will bring the chuckles with a struggle on the part of any audience.

"The Family Shoe" RKO Pathe  7 mins.

A neat Aesop Fable cartoon, with a combination of the fairy tales of the Old Woman in the Shoe and Jack in the Beanstalk. Hero Jack starts out to help his poor old mother living in the shoe, climbs the beanstalk to the clouds, and steals the goose that lays the golden eggs from the giant. It is a fine mixture of fantasy and cartoon com- ments, and is above the average ani- mated.

Fundamentals of Projection

A small area of light source is essential to the projection of a clear, sharp image on the screen. The crater of the carbon arc, just a few millimeters in diameter, is the ideal source of light.

High intrinsic brilliancy is required of this minute area of light—sixteen million times the high intensity of screen illumination demanded by the critical patron. National Projector Carbons afford an intrinsic crater brilliancy rivaling that of the sun at zenith.

Steady light is equally essential to satisfying projection. Extensive research and years of experience have enabled National Projector Carbons to supply the steady, white light that is a source of satisfaction to both projectionist and patron.

Two satisfied patrons pay for the National Projector Carbons used at each performance.

National Projector Carbons are sold exclusively through distributors and dealers. National Carbon Company will gladly cooperate with the producer, exhibitor, machine manufacturer or projectionist on any problem involving light.

Harry Thomas Opening Exchanges Throughout the East

Hollywood

—just snooping 'round

By JACK ALICOATE

We had hardly brushed the dust in the Air of the desert from our patent leather shoes before we were face to face with the compellingly novel thought that here, in California, was one spot where they gave these good old United States, as well as the motion picture industry, a chance of pulling through. "Business as usual, for the sun will soon be shining," seems to be the spirit in the air. We've heard less crying here in three days than we usually get in walking to the Roxy to Times Square. It's infectious, too. We have even caught ourselves smiling a couple of times. And back in the M. P. Club they'd expel you for that.

The Extra Situation

One of Hollywood's continually pressing problems is the Extra. The situation is chronic. In the silent days it was bad enough. Now it is many times worse. Some 16,000 extras are registered. Forty-nine out of 50 cannot earn a living wage and not one in 5,000 ever gets to first base in the profession. And still they come, in droves, only to have their aims and ambitions crushed in this relentless mill of heartaches. You'll be doing your industry a favor by advising all screen aspirants to keep away from Hollywood. Practically all new screen talent is now recruited in the East.

The Cycle Again

On all sides we hear humming to the tune of the March of the independents. Closely following the latest trend in exhib

Hollywood Working Pace Too Much for Howard

Leslie Howard, after distinguishing himself in several U. S. films, is quoted in London as saying he turned down a five-year contract because he couldn't stand the pace of work in Hollywood. Howard is now acting in "The Headwaiter," which Paramount is making at threetee. He expects to return to the New York stage.

SUPREME COURT RULES
ON NEW THEATER LEASE

A lease for a theater which becomes operative at the immediate expiration of an old lease, although it is a separate contract, is nevertheless an extension of the old lease. This is the opinion of Judge Dodd in the Supreme Court, Kings County, in the case of Rosen Bros., theater operators, against John Chesnut, owner of the Grand, Brooklyn. The court denied petition of Rosen.

Demand for Shorts Takes Big Spurt in Northwest

MERCHANTS FORCE REOPENING OF HOUSES

Universal City

— a day with the Laemmles

By JACK ALICOATE

One cannot visit the Universal lot without immediately being impressed with its complete rejuvenation. Politics has made way for efficiency. One finds far less noisy talk and far more action. Less zoo, less billboards, and decidedly more spirit. Under the effervescent guidance of Carl Laemmle, Jr., the old factory methods have been painlessly discarded and in place we find a busy, efficiently supervised, beehive of modern production activity. And a 1931 batting average right up in front of the parade. Any outfit that can turn out a string composed of "All Quiet," "Seed," "Waterloo Bridge," "East of Borneo," "Dracula" and "The Spirit of Notre Dame" can be fairly sure of its standing in any league.

FRANKENSTEIN" is still in the making. We were fortunate in being permitted to see several of its sequences. Somehow or other you rather feel a decided hit around a studio. This one looks like it's in the bag. It packs a series of them that will have 'em talking all over the country. Some of these days someone is going to discover that his James Whale follow is really a director. "Strictly Dishonorable" is about ready and is grand entertainment. The first of the Tom Mix series goes into work in about two weeks. They have ambitious plans for "Once in a Lifetime."

To reminisce and chat with Carl Laemmle, Sr., is to share his optimism and satisfaction of recorded accomplishment over the years. His has been an open record of unerring aim and dogged determination. In this trying year his company has just turned up a profit of well over a million for the first nine months. On his desk is the photograph of the one that holds

Myers Calls on Allied

For United Relief Aid

Washington Bureau of THE FILM DAILY

Washington—Abram F. Myers, president of Allied States Ass'n, has issued a call to all Allied leaders to "lay aside all political differences and petty jealousies" and join in with the other units of the industry in a united effort to put over the unemployment relief program.

the key to his ambitions and happiness, Carl Laemmle, Jr., who had his own way of doing things and then proceeded to do them. He took his baptism of fire and came through like a major. It’s hard to find a better incentive than the wish to accomplish. We have our own happy little thought, that, more than one realizes, the “Spirit of Notre Dame" is but the reflection of the spirit of Universal. Some day this industry will place its true appraisal on Carl Laemmle—the grand little old man of pictures.

TELEVISION OPENS OCT. 24
‘AT B. S. MOSS’ BROADWAY

Television demonstrations will become part of the show at the B. S. Moss Broadway starting Oct. 24, when scenes from the play, “He,” will be broadcast from the stage of the Theater Guild theater. Other television scenes will be transmitted from a building under the screen, which measures 10 x 10 ft. and is the invention of Ulysses Sanabria of Chicago. A late staggering for newspapermen and scientists will be given at the Broadway on Oct. 21. William Morris is agent for the inventor.

7 Foreign Productions Received by Ufa in Week

Ufa has received six German and one English dialogue features in the past week. The latter, “Monto Carlo Madness,” an Erich Pommer production, is scheduled for national release. The others will play the regular circuit of theaters. Of the 1931-32 schedule of 30 features, more than 50 per cent will be either German or English. All the six German talkers are “Der Kleine Seitensprung” (“Her Indecision”); “Bläune Frau, die Hochstaplerin,” (“My Wife, the Swindler”); “Sein Scheidungsgrund,” (“His Reason for Divorce”); “Nie Wieder Liebe,” (“Never Again”); “Geheltemdienst,” (“TII B”) and “Die Schlacht von Bademunde,” (“The Battle of Bademunde”).

CIRCUIT AND INDEPENDENT THEATRES, HAVE YOU A BUSINESS PROBLEM?

I have nursed and cared a number of theaters of their ailments and never had a failure during my twenty-six years in the moving picture business. If there is something wrong with your business, I will risk the time to look into it and tell you frankly whether I can help you bring it out of the red or increase its present profits.

In return I would expect, first of all, money. If no money is forthcoming, a chance to share in the profits I can produce for you. I am American-born, Christian, a business man with a modern business mind, and come from A to Z. Prepared to give business advice in any line, from wages and insurance, also bond to any extent desired.

If you have a theatre problem, let us talk it over in confidence. Box 808, FILM DAILY, 1650 Broadway, New York.

shorts is exceeding all records. Vitaphone subjects are selling like hot cakes, according to L. E. Goldhammer of Warner-First National, while Ben Marcus of Columbia says his exchange can't get shorts fast enough to supply the demand. EKO Pathe, Universal, Paramount and indie exchanges handling shorts and serials also find a stimulated demand for their short releases.

Publix-Shea Take Over Two in New Philadelphia

New Philadelphia, O. — Publix-Shea have acquired the Union Opera House, largest movie in this section, and reopened it with Forney L. Bowers continuing as manager. The same company has taken a 10-year lease on the Bijou.

Feist to Philly on Product Deal

Philadelphia—Felix Feist is expected in town today to talk over a product deal with William Goldman, representing the Stanley-Warner theaters, negotiations on which have been in progress for a number of days. Owing to the fact that M-G-M has already sold numerous houses in this territory, following its recent breaks with Warners over the M-G-M出品, it is unlikely that a major deal will be set.

Two P. N. Releasés Set

First National has set Oct. 17 as the release date for "The Honor of the Family," starring Bebe Daniels, and Nov. 28 for the release of "Comes Promized," featuring Ben Lyon and Rose Hobart.

Ziehm Sells Two Films to Tobis

Arthur Ziehm of World's Trade Exchange has sold the American rights to two German pictures, "Eine Freundin So Goldig Wie Du" and "Die Gross Sehnsucht" to Tobis Forenfilms.

Pauline Frederick is expected East shortly to play a prominent role in "Wild Beauty," which Paramount is planning to start next month with Nancy Carroll and Phillips Holmes co-featured. No director has as yet been announced.

Seven of Ziegfeld's choicest beauties, now appearing in the current edition of the "Follies," gave up their morning sleep to appear at the Vitaphone studio in "Footlights," latest of the "Broadway Brevetiees" series. Cliff Hess wrote special tunes for this elaborate two-reel musical.

Fanny Watson and Thelma White got writer's cramp signing their names for autograph collectors while on location in the Bay Ridge section of Brooklyn for "Shake a Leg," their latest Vitaphone comedy.

Barbara Newberry and the Giersdorf sisters head a cast of Broadway headliners appearing in "Footlights" second two reel revue of the "Broadway Brevetiees" series which Ray Mack is directing for Vitaphone. Twelve Albertina Rasch dancers, James C. Morton and Russ Brown, are also featured.

Joan Blair, featured in numerous stage plays, including "Torch Song," "Flight" and "Even in Egypt," has a role in "His Woman," along with Charlotte Wynters, Averill Harris and Harry Davenport.

Much of the credit for the artistic effect of Vitaphone's "Rhythms of a Big City" is due to Bert Frank, head of the cutting room. In assembling the various scenes made by Murray Roth and Glen Lambert, Frank used no less than 14 dissolves, so two of which are alike.

Start Geo. Washington Short Vitaphone has started work on the special two-reeler for the George Washington bi-centennial celebration to be held next year.

Sam Sax, head of the Brooklyn Vitaphone studio, has engaged Lyon Mearson, author and authority on George Washington, to work with Burnet Hershay in preparing the scenario. They are now in Washington, D. C.

James C. Morton of stage and vaudeville will henceforth use his right name on all future screen work, following his success in Vitaphone comedies. Not sure of how he would go over in films, Jimmy used the name of Edward Morton on his first two films. His most recent appearance is in "Footlights," a two-reel musical revue.

Marjorie Beebe has started work in her Vitaphone short,"Cigars and Cigarettes," by Herman Rub. Direction is being handled by Alf Goulding. James C. Morton also is in it.

Claudette Colbert has been assigned the lead in "Woman Against Woman," originally intended for Tallulah Bankhead. Miss Colbert is now en route to Hollywood to visit her husband, Norman Foster, after which she returns here to begin work under the direction of Berthold Viertel. Miss Bankhead goes west in two weeks to star in "Michael's Dress," under the direction of John Cromwell.

PRODUCERS SEEKING 'GOOD GIRL' STORIES

Son Clarke, author of "Millie" and other sex stories. "I believe the public is fed up with stories of girls 'falling,' regardless of the worth of the excuse. Producers to whom I have talked feel likewise." Clarke also told THE FILM DAILY that the most successful screen plays of the future will first be written in story or novel form. "Authors create 'book characters,' but directors make those characters live."

Schneider Bringing Over Series of Foreign Films

George Schneider, who is handling the release of "Das Cabinet des Dr. Lariifart," recently shown at the Little Carnegie, plans to bring over a series of German and other foreign pictures. He has established headquarters at 230 West 54th St., with a branch in Los Angeles as well as an office in Vienna.

with PHIL M. DALY

• • • PRIZE STORY of the week goes to Alf Goulding who overheard the following conversation between two stock brokers in the subway: "Depression," moaned one of the brokers who had been socked — "that's all I hear — Depression." and the other wheezed — "And the worst of it is — it's universal." and a Universal film salesman sitting alongside got sore, and yelped — "Ya, ya, Universal gets blamed for everything. What about Warner and M-G-M?" • • •

• • • THAT OLD wheeze of the stage actor, "The show must go on," has an entirely different significance in the motion picture theater. It took us all these years to learn about it. till we went down to the International Projector plant and had general sales manager Herbert Griffin and assistant factory superintendent Thomas Lambert show us around. the story rates a whole kolyum which we'll dish out to you later.

• • • NOW IT'S "Admiral" Rogell if you please when addressing director Albert Rogell after his direction of sea operations for RKO Pathé's naval merrymaker, "Suicide Fleet" he had as many as ten U. S. Navy warships under his indirect command. His orders were transmitted by the commanding officers via Navy radio and signal men. Verne Braman is jaunting around Havana and the Canal Zone with a scientific expedition having the time of his life and in a postcard he refers to his "arduous task" that guy always did have a sense of humor.

• • • WHAT A turnout they had for the inauguration of the new officers of the Paramount Pep Club the other day a thousand members were present speakers were Jesse L. Lasky, Sam Katz and R. A. Kohn the new officers are Dr. Emanuel Stern, prexy Chris Beute, vice-president Homer S. Traw, treasurer Doris Meyer, secretary the board of directors are Fred L. Metzler, J. J. Doughney, Charles E. Gartner, M. F. Gowthorpe, Lillian Stevens and Ida Wolfe.

• • • DJIA EVER hear the story of how Al Selig almost became a war correspondent? when he was a cub reporter on the "World," during the Russian-Japanese War he had a bright idea and suggested to the managing editor that he be sent to Russia to report the doings the same as he was covering assignments at the police precincts something Snappy and Modern in the war correspondent game but the managing editor sez "NO" so Al became a film advertising man

• • • KEEPING UP the hot pace he has set as prexy of the AMPA Missus Finney's son, Edward, has lined up a bunch of honor guests for the Dixie luncheon today Irving Pichel, Raquel Torres, Thelma White and Max Hoffman, Jr., when the hotel management heard about Raquel being booked, they installed seven big electric fans in the dining room that gives you a Slight Idea of Raquel.

• • • LATEST RACKET a vaude actor on small time wrote to Eddie Quillian to send him a sound film with applause on it so's the projectionist could run it over the sound equipment in the theater as soon as his act was finished!

ALONG THE RIALTO with PHIL. DAILY.

OPENING OF Universal's "Spirit of Notre Dame" at the Mayfair last night with Mayor Jimmie Walker on the stage paying a tribute to Knute Rockne, to whose memory the football epic is dedicated should not overlook giving these two ladies their due. They put every bit of their combined experience of advertising and publicity into the job...experience accumulated over the years...which is Considerable...and we don't mind saying that no other combination of advertising and publicity brains in the biz can beat theirs.

...marked the culmination of one of the most intensive publicity campaigns ever recorded in motion picture annals...it meant three months of solid plugging...supervised and engineered by Paul Gulick and Joe Weil...and when the final checkup is made, the "U" officials in distributing the honors for a fine production...

BY WAY OF a legal brief to support our statement, let us cite, among other achievements on this super-campaign...nation-wide publicity on the famous gridiron stars who appear in the production...separate stories to every paper in every town where these 14 football notables were known and honored...newspaper stories breaking in every college paper in the Youessay...three syndicate stories a series of special screenings for sports writers and national organizations...two dozen national tie-ups...two radio hours...and a new type of pressbook authored by Jack Hess for the RKO playdates...in three sections, with each section stepped off at the bottom so that material in it can be readily found and clipped without damaging the rest of the book...the entire press sheet printed in typewriter type...a Brand New idea in pressbooks...which haven't produced that Miracle since D. W. Griffith got out his blurb on "The Birth of a Nation," and if all this sounds to you like a free ad for Universal and Paul Gulick and Joe Weil it IS...and we'll give 'em an autographed copy if they think we're kidding, b'gosh.

LOOKS AS if a "Back to Nature" movement has started in film production...with Jawn Public and his family fed up to the eyebrows on these gangster and sophisticated sex pix...and it is a pleasure to note that "Alice in Wonderland" is getting a strong play...with it's unworldly idyllic appeal to the heart of all children...and aren't we all children?...at heart?

NOW COMES Radio with "Way Back Home" with Seth Parker, the radio star, doing a gorgeous role...a kindly old way-down-East character...with a spirit of tolerance for all the world...a simple, wholesome story...with the farm songs that mellowed the lives and character of generations long past...happily fireside atmosphere...just a ole-fashioned tear-jerker...but it had those hard-boiled boys of the RKO bookers osif wiping the weeps from their galvanized iron glims...and any pix that can move that gang must Something...can ya imagine what it will do to the mothers and grandmas and children in the theater?

...and according to Mister Oscar Doob, a special stage call the called Second Anniversary Revue has been prepared for Loew's Paradise theater to bring the happy event on October 23rd. Polly Moran will appear in person.

BORZAGE SEES TREND TOWARD LIGHT ROMANCE.

(Continued from Page 1) "Bad Girl" believes that the public wants romantic, lighter and more wholesome stories. Borzage finds that use of stage players who read lines expertly is advantageous because it enables working according to schedule. Trained players, he feels, can build an ordinarily unimportant scene into an important one. Color, in the opinion of Borzage, is not yet ready for general use in pictures. He believes that eventually wide film will find a place in the picture scheme of things.

The Fox director is now making exterior shots for "After Tomorrow." He leaves New York for the Coast tomorrow.

New Group Takes Detroit House.

UNITED ARTISTS! The Leader!
ANNOUNCEMENT

We deem it a distinct privilege and honor to announce our direct association with the Sparks-Withington Company of Jackson, Michigan, makers of the VISIONOLA; Sprague Specialties Company of North Adams, Massachusetts, makers of the VISIVOX and the International Projector Company of New York City, makers of the SENTROLA, in the opening of a chain of non-theatrical motion picture exchanges for the distribution of 16mm sound pictures.

It is inspiring to know that film producers, as well as the above named equipment manufacturers, appreciate the advantages of the Mayer plan for the distribution of 16mm motion picture entertainment. It may be said with safety that it is the only plan brought forward so far which is truly flexible and equitable and which possesses profit-sharing features benefiting both the film producer and the equipment manufacturer. Furthermore, it is the only plan which definitely guarantees the producer a reasonable profit from the 16mm industry.

With three exchanges now being opened in New York, Boston and Philadelphia, under this plan the 16mm industry is now making its first stride toward what will be sure to lead to national and even international distribution of home entertainment.

Yet no matter how astounding its growth, the 16mm industry will never interfere with the motion picture theatre which is permanently established as an American institution. We therefore assume the attitude, not as a competitor of the exhibitor, but as a co-worker. Accordingly, we feel that the efforts of the 16mm industry, added to those now being expended, will result in increased growth of the motion picture industry at large.

Hollywood—M-G-M’s short subject production program is far ahead of schedule, with more than half of the program as a whole already completed. The entire series of 12 “Sport Champions” has been finished, the last being set for release Aug. 1, 1932. Laurel and Hardy comedies and FitzPatrick Travel (Continued on Page 3)

WILLIAM WHITE RETAINING 5 FOX NEW YORK HOUSES

Five houses controlled by William White and operated as part of the Fox Metropolitan circuit will not go to the Skouras Brothers under their deal with Fox. Instead White will conduct them as a separate group, it is understood. They are the Riverside, Nemo, Riveria, Japanese Garden and Jamaica. White is understood to own a 51 per cent interest in these theaters.

Pittsburgh Houses Give In to Two Men

Pittsburgh—Four of the 15 independent theaters in the Pittsburgh district where machine operators went on strike about six weeks ago have now signed for two men in a booth, according to Fred Harrington, secretary of the exhibitors’ association.

Stars at $150 a Month Under New Soviet Plan

Moscow—Under a new plan mapped out by the Soviet film industry, motion picture players are to be divided into four categories and paid accordingly. The stars will receive 300 roubles ($150) a month; first-class artists, 270 roubles; second-class players, 200 roubles; and extras 160 roubles.

German Studios to Concentrate On German and French Versions

Paris—As a result of existing conditions in the German film industry, producing companies in that country appear to have concluded that their intention to supply films for the world markets will, temporarily at least, be restricted to films in German and French dialogue, and special versions without talk, it is understood (Continued on Page 11)

2 More Chicago Bombings Brings Total Up to 15

Chicago—Hurling of bombs Friday at the Byrd on the West Side and the Lindy on the North Side brought the total of such attacks up to 15. Neither of these houses is involved in the operator dispute.

Canton, O.—Spread of the double-feature policy in Ohio is under way following unusual success in the experiment here. Warners inaugurated the plan at the Albamaha several weeks ago, first confining it to mid-week. Upon finding that it took well, they expanded it, so that dual bills (Continued on Page 11)

Film Titles and Stories —the merry game of changing names

By DON CARLE GILLETTE

CHANGING picture titles—seems to be—a favorite pastime—with some producers. There are cases on record—where a film’s tag—was juggled around—six times or more—before finally settling. Which means—for one thing—that at least five-sixths of the advance publicity—on this picture—was a total loss—to say nothing—of the editorial confusion—caused by the changes—and the resultant—unfavorable opinion—of the film company—doing such dallying. Curiously enough—it is some (Continued on Page 2)

Public Demand for More Value Obviates Cheap Pictures

Producing of lower-priced product owing to current business conditions will not help the box-office situation any, as the public, which is now carefully shopping for its screen entertainment, wants all it can get for its money, in the opinion of Alfred Santell, Fox director, who arrived in New York on Friday (Continued on Page 3)

McWILLIAMS REELECTED WISCONSIN ALLIED HEAD

Milwaukee—Frank J. McWilliams of Madison was reelected president of Allied Independent Theater Owners of Wisconsin at the two-day convention here. big outfits—that do most of this changing.” The idea fellows—are really guilty of such misdirected energy—they start out with a title—and stick to it—usually because the original name was such a failure—therefore—can’t be sure about the title—from the start—a sensible plan would be to use some other means of identifying the picture—such as names of chief actors—and not announce—any title at all—until it is set.

INCREDIBLE importance of film titles—is becoming apparent—in foreign reactions—to American product. Before talkies came the clientele abroad was almost solely star-conscious—made so by campaigns—of producing companies. But now that films—have become audible—the foreign patrons—are fast becoming—play-conscious—anxious to understand—what is contained in the dialogue—the story—has taken on—a bigger meaning—and the title—must better indicate—what it all about.

On the word—of European authorities—the time is coming—when the foreign market—will prefer to buy—the play—framework of an American film—on a royalty basis—or for outright cash—and reproduce it—in its own country—with correct linguistic—such a framework can be understood—by more persons—and more readily attract—big business—and an American star—in a sound picture—that only a few—over there—can understand.

RKO Pathe and Warners Conclude Deal on Shorts

RKO Pathe has concluded a deal for the playing of all its shorts over the foreign Warner circuit. Many of the houses already are booking the Rooster subjects. A contract on Palhe features for the Warner theaters was closed recently. The short deal was negotiated by A. H. Schmitk of Pathe and Charles Klang of Van Beurn with William J. Clark of Warner.

Fox Signs Violet Heling

Violet Heling, prominent stage actress, has been signed by Fox and leaves Sunday for the coast to appear in “Circumstances.”

Mary Boland Gets Para Contract

Paramount has given Mary Boland a long term contract. She is now appearing around New York in the state play, “The Vinegar Tree.”

Nacio Brown to Write Negro Music

Nacio Herb Brown will write a complete original score to provide a musical background for “A Woman Commands,” the Pola Negri picture being made by RKO Pathe.

Seymour House Reopens

Seymour, Conn.—The old theater which has been reopened by E. H. Rolston, owner.

New Saenger Manager in Vicksburg

Vicksburg, Miss.—Jack Manning has become manager of the Saenger, succeeding James Thomas, Jr.

Palmer to Manage New Gables

20. Aides

- - - MANY EXHIBS are in the habit of thinking of screen trailers strictly in the sense of announcements of their next week's attraction — overlooking the fact that the screen is their stage — their Rostrum for selling their theater in innumerable ways — and not more than one exhibit in a thousand has ever set back and said to himself...

"What am I offering my patrons to make my theater different from my competitor? ... he runs a program of feature, newsreel, shorts, the same as I do. ... so I must hit on a plan to put some individuality into my screen — to create on the screen an atmosphere that sets my theater apart from my competitor — to leave an impress on the minds of my audience that my screen is distinctive — to put it over in my publix. Air... It reflects the spirit of this community in a word, it is not just a theater, ... but a place where my patrons feel at home... it has an indefinable, intangible something which they miss in the theater of my competitor. And, say, Mr. Exhibitor! when you have hit on that solution... then you automatically move up into the class of Showmen. ... not just a Ticket Seller.

- - - JOHN J. HARWOOD's death was a distinct shock to his many friends in New York... who knew the Cleveland exhibitor as a man among men. Typical of the expressions voiced along Broadway is the following... by C. C. Pettijohn: "The death of Cleveland is a great personal loss to all who knew him and a great industry loss as well. He was a man. His word was better than gold. And a real man doesn't have to be on your side all the time if he is as honest and sincere as was Jack Harwood."

- - - RUTH ROLAND, who has been touring steadily since she opened in San Francisco at the age of six as "Baby Ruth"... is merrily doing her five-a-day throughout the middle west and giving them all by showing that it's possible for a movie star to really have talent... Ruth sings, dances and gives imitations that put her in the top-notch class as an entertainer... In between shows she keeps tabs on her real estate activities... just a girl with plenty of energy and directed by my old pal, cape Taylor, who has been drawing them in at the Warner Stanley in Jersey City the past week, is doing ditto this week at the Fox in Washington, after which she comes into the Albee, Brooklyn.

- - - JOE BRANDT of Columbia has made himself highly popular at Syracuse University, where his boy Gerald is a student, by offering to help the faculty in establishing a school of motion pictures... Michael L. Simmons may soon lose that "six-syllable" for a new appellation, to wit, "quick-trigger" Mike... the reason being that, a few hours after the Collings murder was committed, Mike had written an original story and solution, which the official dicks haven't arrived at yet, and sold it to George W. Weeks for production by Sonor Art... David Burke, the theater broker, reports business brisk over his way... among his latest deals is the lease of the Lyric on 42nd St., to Harry Brandt, for a vaude-and-shorts house... Helen Penland, formerly the Warner lot in Hollywood, is in New York with her first novel, "Taxi Money"... and Harold Winston is back from the Paramount studios on the coast with a couple of play manuscripts... Ronald Colman is aboard the Conte Grande, which has sailed for Mediterranean ports...

- - - AND IF there's any question in your mind about "Susan Lenox"... whether she Rose or Fell... go over to the Capitol and watch the whimper fall for Susan... oh, boy!... and Clark Gable... and if the exhibitors don't fall for his lube, they deserve to hit the skids... whether Susan fell or was pushed, she's gonna make the Grosses soar... and how!

LOWER-COST PICTURES UNWISE, SAYS SANTELL

Reducing of salaries of screen stars is impossible, according to Santell, owing to highly competitive bidding which seems beyond elimination. Personalities will always command big compensation as long as they register at the box-office. A handicap in the production of pictures, said Santell, is frequently time restrictions. On the other hand, he pointed out, stage shows are in process of moulding and re-shaping weeks before their premiere on Broadway. A picture, however, is comparatively given but little remake attention.

Santell is on the first lap of a three months' vacation.

Julia Butterfield Injured Detroit — Julia S. Butterfield, daughter of W. S. Butterfield, was severely injured a few days ago by a fall from a horse.

No Drop in Para. British Revenue Paramount revenue from the U.S. market for Britain has not been reduced through the pound situation, it was stated at the company's home office yesterday, owing to the increased sales efforts of its organization in that country.

Waco Censor Has A Snap Waco, Tex.—Since the city commission stopped the censor's pay, but refused to repeal the ordinance stipulating no pictures shall be shown here without a permit, City Secretary George Bush has been appointed censor by the Mayor. Bush issues the permits without the bother of viewing the pictures.

A LITTLE FROM "LOTS"

By RALPH WILK

Patie Westerns Going Musical

Music is going to play an important part in this season's RKO Pathe Westerns, if the plans made for the Tom Keene starring series may be taken as a criterion. "The Sheik," which will star several cowboy actors, while "Firefighters of Destiny," just completed has no less than three specially composed numbers.

William Beaudine, who has just finished Columbia's "The Men in Her Life," has been assigned to direct "Blind Bells," which will feature Jean Harlow.

Herbert Mindin is a late addition to the cast of Linda Watkins' coming Fox picture, "Circumstances." This is the first picture William Cameron Menzies has directed alone. The leading man will be the young newcomer, Alexander Kirkland.

UNIVERSAL has added Carmel Myers to "Nice Women," "The University Father," "Private Life," "The Unsilvered Father," while Clarence Badger, Robert Gleason and James Durkin... Complete cast of "The Unsilvered Father," featuring Billie Dove and Zaha Pitts, includes Allison Shipworth, Dorothy Chevly, Tom O'Brien, Claude Allister, Richard Cramer and four-year-old Cora Sue Collins... Thornton V. Fireland is directing from an original by Dale Van Every.

William Collier, Sr., will be dialogue director of Fox's "Stepping Sisters." Seymour Felix will direct.

Anthony Bushell, who appeared with Constance Bennett in "Born to Love," returns to his RKO Pathe studies to play an important role in Pola Negri's starring vehicle, "A Woman Commanded."... * * *

Wilhelm Dieterle will handle the megaphone for Warners' "Shadows on the Wall," in which Kay Francis will be starred. The story is by E. Pettit.

Monogram has started production on "Forgotten Men," a new low budget production Allen- ager of Monogram, has borrowed Marion Shilling from Pathes for the lead. The rest of the cast includes Beryl Mercer, Virginia Lee Corbin, Patsy Ruth Miller, Edna Murphy, Carmelita Geraghty, Edward Earle and Red Bell. The story is by Weylin Tooman and Adele Buffalo. Richard Thorpe is directing.

Joan Blondell and George Barnes, cameramen, have announced their engagement.

Our Passing Show: Harry Chandler greeting his son, Ellis, who arrived from New York to attend the University of California at Los Angeles; Sam Rork and Sol Lesser chatting at the Roosevelt; Ben Jackson monitoring to the Fox Western Studio, etc.

Marie Dressler, back from her vacation in the east, is preparing to start work in "Emma" at M-G-M. Clarence Brown will direct the Frances Dee story. William Powell also is in it. ... RKO Pathe has added Paul Hurst to the new Helen Twelvetrees picture being directed by Sam Wood. Hurst will be the new supervisor of Westerns, is making a tour of California and Nevada ghost towns for locations.

John Warburton will lose little time between pictures. Rushed from New York to Hollywood, Warburton is now playing in "Thirty Days," being produced by Patrician Pictures. The same company will also star him in "Just Suppose," because of his resemblance to the Prince of Wales, the central character of the story. "Just Suppose" was made as a silent picture by Inspiration Pictures, with Richard Barthelmess as the star.

FOX has moved up the production date of "Dissorderly Conduct" and placed Ralph Bellamy in the leading role originally intended for Victor McLaglen. He will be in "While Paris Sleeps." Others in the Bellamy picture include Sally Eilers, Lawrence O'Sullivan, William Powell, Mansa Roberts and Jesse De Vorsa, with Constance Cummings directing. Kenneth MacKenna will direct Warner Baxter in "Where's the Money, with Claire Maynard, Edward Crandall and Raul Roulien... Allan Dinehart has been added to "Charlie Chan's Chance," which John Blystone will direct.

Walter Klinger, casting director at the Mack Sennett studio, asked an actress her age. "I've just turned 25," she replied sweetly. "Yeah," Walter retorted, "and when you turn 25 around you get 52."... * * *

WARNER BROS. has assigned Lillian Bond to "Union Depot," now in work, and Lilian Bond and Guy Kibbee will be in "The Novel." The Richard Barthelmess picture, now called "Alias Doctor," is in second week... * * *

With "Cyclone Kid," starring Burt Burton, Big 6 turns a new series of six westerns... Shooting has been completed on "Quick Trigger," starring Bob Custer under the direction of J. P. McGown.

Evelyn Knapp as ingenue lead... Others in the cast include Rolle Roffard, Guy Kibbee, Polly Moran and Frank McHugh, with Perrin LeRoy directing.

Percy Westmore, makeup expert, has completed a coiffure for Lil Dagover, German star, which he anticipates will become as sweepingly popular with the fans as was the Garbo bob of a few seasons ago. The Dagover coiffure is combed back from the forehead and falls in loose shadow curls at the side of the neck.

PARAMOUNT has added Kent Taylor and Julia Swayne Gordon to "The False Madonna." Wallace Walker will appear with Ruth Chatterton in "Tomorrow and Tomorrow." Jane Darwell is a late addition to "Ladies of the Big House."... Margaret Dumont makes her appearance in "Second Chances," which Frank Blyye will direct.

Mirza Auer has been assigned to "The Last Man," made with Max Ophul's. Mothers-in-laws are openly taboo with the Navajos, according to George and William Allen, co-producers with Elmer Clifton of "The Navajo Witch," a short subject. A Navajo husband must never be caught speaking to his mother-in-law, her sisters or her mother, the Aliens declare.

FIRST NATIONAL completed "Safe in Hell" this week... Dorothy Mackall is starred and William A. Wellman directed "The Captain's Wife," starring Lil Dagover, has gone in work... cast now includes Walter Huston, Warren William, Randolph Scott, George J. Lewis, Oscar Apfel, Maude Eburne, Paul Porciatti, Ben Hendrick, Jr., and George Cooper... Lilian Bond and Guy Kibbee will be in "Union Depot." The Richard Barthelmess picture now called "Alias Doctor," is in second week... * * *

With "Cyclone Kid," starring Burt Burton, Big 6 turns a new series of six westerns... Shooting has been completed on "Quick Trigger," starring Bob Custer under the direction of J. P. McGown.
SHORT SHOTS from EASTERN STUDIOS

MARGARET ADAMS, who had a prominent supporting role in "My Sin," is featured in "The Cat and the Fiddle," a new musical play which opens in New York this week. "My Sin" will be one of the season's smash hits. Heading the cast is Georges Metaxan, who attracted much favorable comment as the star in Paramount's "Secrets of a Secretary."

Vitaphone is proud of the fact that the Lowe circuit has booked "Old Lace," Ruth Etting's latest two-reeler, for their whole list of 50 New York and Brooklyn houses. Ruth Etting has been signed for four more two-reelers as part of the "Broadway Breezies" series.

Billy Lee, who has appeared in numerous Vitaphone productions, including "Rough Sailing," "Nagger's House Warming" and "Lucky Thirteen," is nothing if not versatile. In the many years that he has been in pictures he has played Greek, Italian, Hebrew, French and Arabian parts, mostly of a comic nature. Lee's stage experience includes prominent roles in such musical plays as "Puzzles" and "Vagabond Melodies," an instance of his powerful baritone voice.

Ebbe Merman's next Paramount short is called "Irene," with emphasis on the last syllable. Casey Robinson is slated to direct.

Jane Winton, late of Hollywood, where she was featured in "Hell's Angels," has been signed for the leading feminine role in "The Well End Mystery," third of the S. S. Van Dine series. Donald Meek and John Hamilton, who appear throughout the series, have principal roles. Harry McNaughton, Barry Townley and Isabel Jewell complete the cast.

Vitaphone Vitamins: Marjorie Beebe, starring in "Cigars, Cigarettes," never smoked in her life...Bryan Foy has specialities in unusual props...carries his own boxes of props with him...no matter what's going on, he is always happy...Eddie Delange, back in New York after five years in Hollywood, appearing in "Cigars, Cigarettes."

"Dead Man" is the intriguing title of Frances Hyland's first novel, which is due in March. Miss Hyland has been attached to the writing staff of the M-G-M and "U" studios, among others, and has recently been turning out snappy short subjects for Paramount's New York studio where her husband, Al Ray, is a director.

Despite conditions and double feature bills, Vitaphone shorts this year have sold better than in any previous year, according to Sam Sax, head of the Vitaphone studio. Aside from improved quality of product, Sax attributes the popularity of Vitaphone shorts to the series idea which he inaugurated this year.

"Shake Well Before Using," the latest number written by John Green and Eddie Heyman for "Here Goes the Bride," is already an established hit despite the fact that the show has not yet reached New York. It is hardly necessary to say that this song is intended for the "Body and Soul," which took the country by storm.

A cast of over 60 stage players, headed by Don Tomkins, Blair Kent and Faith Lytell, supports Ruth Etting in her latest Vitaphone short, "Words and Music."

The comedy talents which At Dawning exhibited in several recent Broadway shows is not being wasted by Vitaphone, which has booked him in four Vitaphone shorts within the past three weeks. His latest is "Cigars, Cigarettes."

Ray Foster, Vitaphone cameraman, estimates that he travelled over 25,000 miles, or more than the entire distance around the world, in the three years that he has commuted between the Warner studio in Flatbush and his apartment in upper Manhattan. Result: he's moving to Brooklyn within five minutes drive of the studio.

Sammy Fain and Irving Kahal, composers of numerous hit tunes including those introduced in Paramount features, have written the music for "Everybody's Welcome," Broadway's latest musical show, now packing 'em in at the Shubert theater. Among the best known numbers written by this team are: "You Brought a New Kind of Love to Me," "Merry Cara" and "Let a Smile Be Your Umbrella."

Stanley Ransch, Vitaphone staff writer, who recently completed "Shake A Leg," for Thelma White and Fanny Watson, in collaboration with Glen Lamont, is now working on the next of the "Nagger's" series as yet untitled.

Thelma White, the platinum blonde member of Vitaphone's Fanny Watson-Thelma White comedy team, made her first public appearance at the age of two years as babybly artist for a circus side show in which her parents were the stars. Thelma is getting her talents to work doubling at the Hollywood Restaurant as mistress of ceremonies.

$21,705 Profit for Year Reported by Hoyt Circuit

Sydney—Hoyt's Theaters, Ltd., controlled by Fox, after showing a loss of $53,155 for the first six months of the fiscal year, made a profit of $74,460 during the last six months, giving it a net profit for the year of $21,705, after providing for taxation and during the tax period stocks were declared owing to the commitments of the company which necessitated further borrowing.

6,000 French Institutions Are Equipped for Pictures

Paris.—At the Educational Film Congress which recently met here, it was stated that there are 6,000 educational establishments in France which are equipped for showing motion pictures.

B. & D. Signs Authors

London—British and Dominions Film Corp, has added P. G. Wodehouse and Walter Hackett to its list of contract writers which already included Frederick Lonsdale and Ben Travers.

Paramount-German Co. Personnel

Berlin—Managing executives of Paramount Film A.G. (Paramount's German production outfit) are Gustave J. Schaefer, Harvey D. Ott and George P. Vallar, all of Berlin. The board of directors is composed of: J. C. Graham, London; Isaac Blumenthal, Paris; and Ralph Knapp, Paris. The nominal capital of the concern is given as 500,000 marks.

Cheap Seat Tax Reduced

London.—Small exhibitors throughout Great Britain are greatly relieved at the amendment to the new amusement tax offended by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, leaving 2 pence seats tax free and removing 5 and 6pence seats. The House of Commons accepted the amendment by a vote of 230 to 130.

Effete Completes First Unit

Melbourne.—Effete Films completed its first unit program. In the five months the company has been operating it has made three features, two shorts and is well along in making its fourth feature, "The Sentimental Bloke."

S$72,157 Profit for A.P.P.H.

London.—The annual report of Associated Provincial Picture Houses shows a profit of $72,157 for the year. A final dividend of 6 per cent has been declared which is advisable. It will bring the total dividend for the year up to 10 per cent.

Walter West Reviving Broadway Company

London.—Walter West, who with George Broadbridge in 1914 launched the old Broadway Company, which went out of existence in 1921, has opened a new production concern. West will be production chief with the backing of a prominent Londoner and a Northern exhibitor. Studios will be built in the neighborhood of Surbiton. One of West's first productions for the revived company will be a film version of the life of Mary Queen of Scots. He made nearly 100 productions for the original Broadway Company.

Australian Exhibs Open Fight on Distributors

Sydney.—Differences between Australian exhibitors and distributors have reached such a point that the theater owners of New South Wales have opened a Fighting Fund, to which contributions are flowing in freely. The exhibitors' association has decided to call upon all independent exhibitors to show their balance sheets in the effort to induce the State Government to grant relief on purchase agreements through the Moratorium Act. Exhibitors are considering the advisability of contesting the validity of picture contracts in equity, and it is for this purpose that the Fighting Fund is being raised.

New Ufa Film A Hit in Vienna

Vienna.—"The Congress Dances," Ufa's new musical motion picture, scored a big hit at its opening at the New Scala Theater. Lillian Harvey, Willy Frischk, Lil Dagover and Conrad Veidt have the leading roles. Because of its music and pageantry, the picture is expected to help bring musical pictures back into favor. English and French versions have been made.

Paris.—As a result of the objection of the German Ambassador in France, "Hell's Angels" has been banned by the French Foreign Office. The German objection was that it was "a picture in which war, inimical to German interests, was glorified."
Volume Control Highly Important To Inspire Audience Enthusiasm

(R. H. McCullaugh in Fox's "The Last Word")

Before the advent of sound, motion pictures lacked popularity. Producers were seeking something different. The modern sound plates success saved producers and exhibitors, and since recording has been somewhat improved, theater audiences have returned to the movies.

I recently witnessed a sound picture performance, in one of our theaters, which caused such a sensation that the audience did not seem to be overwhelmed with enthusiasm. The success of this performance was due to proper volume control, in the auditorium, and the projectionist's efforts in handling and maintaining the projection room equipment.

It is great to hear an audience applaud a sound picture performance. Many accompanying effects with sound pictures are not anything over-marrowful, but they can be greatly improved by proper handling. Modern times have taught us that efficiency brings forth good results.

Sound picture presentation is something more than mere projection. It is something that requires the exercise of judgment and application of high grade knowledge and skill. It is imperative that every projectionist and manager take great pride in modern sound picture presentation.

Every theater with sound equipment has experienced the replacement of the 555-W Receiver, and there has always been a question as to just what was the nature of the trouble and why the unit ceased to function.

Gun shots, cannon shots, bombs, blasting and other effects produced with increased volume have been the cause of replacing many receiver units. The correct current circuit through the actuating coil, interacted with a steady magnetic field, forcing the diaphragm in and out. This coil is mounted rigidly on the diaphragm, and the diaphragm is corrugated between the coil and the clamped edge to prevent resonance.

However, I have found that the internal connections, connected to L No. 1 and L No. 2 of the speech circuit, break off at the terminal. It is advisable, when a receiver unit ceases to function, to remove the cover plate and inspect the internal wiring. As a time piece it is possible to reconnect the section circuit connection, which is broken off at the terminal, thus resuming operation of the unit.

Every day before the theater opens, the horns individually are checked for operation of the projector and pick-up mechanism. Regular daily testing is of great value and importance for the reason that a large proportion of failures and defects do not happen suddenly, but develop gradually and hence can be detected and remedied before they become serious.

Many projectionists are neglecting the take-up assembly in the projector. The take-up should be inspected every week for proper operation. Most projection room dimmers emanate from the take-up failing to function. Dust and dirt collect on the friction surfaces, which causes rapid wear.

Occasionally disassemble the take-up and wipe the friction surfaces with a cloth and fresh oil. Adjust the film take-up tension enough to wrap the film evenly and firmly around the reel.

The tension should be the same with one hundred feet of film as with five thousand feet of film. Excessive tension is used, it will cause orious damage to sprocket perforations.

Kliegl Issues New Catalogue

A completely revised catalogue, fully illustrated, thoroughly indexed and conveniently arranged for quick reference, covering the latest improvements and new devices and decorative and spectacular lighting included in its pages, is announced by Kliegl Bros. of New York.

It covers flood lights, border-lights, spotlights, footlights and numerous other forms of lighting equipment with prices said to have been adjusted to present day levels.

Markets New Projection Lamp

Davenport, Ia.—Marketing of a new G-E Mazda projection lamp of 300 watts rating which does not require any form of lamp resistance, for use in all model 3 and 5 Victor Projectors and Animatophones, is announced by the Victor Animatograph Corp.

The new 300-watt lamp is said to be of the regular 16 mm. T-10 size.

Plan Ads Carefully

"Remember your advertising reflects your theater. Plan your ads carefully. Have the pictorial sections of your layout. Give life and selling lines in your copy—have your ads stand out on the page just as you want your theater to stand out in your community. Spend plenty of time in the preparation of your ads. Do not be discouraged if your budget is small and you cannot afford to splash. Remember that the center of your ad should be more than a large ad carelessly constructed."—Parlous Opinion.

Lauds Premiums as Best Theater Patron Builder

Chicago—Premiums have proven themselves more valuable as consistent box office boosters than anything an exhibitor can offer as an inducement to patrons, claims Tom Mitchell, of the M. & M. Co.

According to Mitchell, none of the many and varied exploitation stunts practiced by theater owners near the permanent and consistent effect which premiums can create the year around. A test sponsored recently by the direction of Mitchell in several Chicago houses is said to have proved that more business could be done with a single feature, appropriate shorts and premiums, than with a double-feature program.

Offers New Premium Deals

Pittsburgh—New premium deals, including electric washing machines, vacuum cleaners and attachments, and hand painted electric percolator sets, are being offered exhibitors for the building of theater patronage by A. Steinberg, of Theater Novelty Sales Co., this city.

Photo-electric cells of the Caesium Argon type, for use in all types of sound heads, and declared to be constant in operation, requiring no continuous adjustment of voltage possessing greater flexibility, quiet operation, achieving perfect natural reproduction, are being marketed by the Telephoto & Television Corp. of New York.

New Equipment Catalogue

Chicago—A new theater equipment catalogue comprehensively describing and illustrating theater equipment, with a special section presenting the recently acquired list of the Gallagher orchestra equipment, has been issued by the Chicago Cinema Equipment Co.

6-in-1 Home Device

A new device known as the Television Klick, said to be the six different types of entertainment combined into one cabinet, has been marketed by the Talkiola Corp. of New York.
A LITTLE Journey to the Home of the Wonder Workers—measuring the boys who turn out the projection machines that make it possible for the Simplex and others to think they can produce a perfect product.  The International Projector Corporation is in a daily tussle—never ending—with the Problem of Accuracy—and it may surprise you to learn that there is more exactness in the construction of a projector machine than in that of most watches.  For the variation of even an infinitesimal part of an inch in any one of a hundred parts means Poor Projection—a motion picture camera that costs up to $150,000 is less accurate than a simple one.  A Portable Acme projector operates hours daily—year in, year out—and it must Stand Up and does, and for far less dough than they pay for a good camera.

The entire plant is governed by one master mechanism—Swiss Jig-boring machine—that turns out tools adjusted to the fineness of one-thousandth of an inch—ACCUERACY—Mister Henry Ford once bragged that he had a machine in his auto works that was geared to accuracy of one-thousandth of an inch—till the International boys installed their Miracle Machine that is Ten Times more accurate—which gives you a Slight Idea of how much more accurate the construction of a Projector is than that of a Lincoln car.

Testing the teeth on the intermittent sprocket of the projector proved a Fascinating Experience to us—a special mechanism with a microscopic attachment insures an accuracy of the tenth of one-thousandth of an inch! and even a slight variation in this one vital part would mean a poor screening.  IF the projector operated at all—and for practically every other of dozens of parts there is a special testing machine to maintain the same exactitude—and you have Problems!—they should browse around this Wonder Shop and come to the realization that their job is a Cinch.

The International boys are particularly proud of one achievement—the Intermittent Movement.  The Heart of the Projector that insures a Steady projection without the fraction of an inch in jumppiness on the screen—the casing that incloses this delicate movement is the finest bit of mechanical work we have ever lapped—insuring practically hermetrical sealing as the magnification on the screen is about 1500 to 1, this gives you a pretty fair notion of how accurate a projector must be.

And every part is made right in the plant—for no manufacturer can match their Standard of Accuracy.  We'll tell you more about International Projector some other time—the concern that makes it possible for the Show to Go On.  365 days a year.

Billy House in "Bullmania"

Paramount 20 mins.

Billy House, the round comedian, and a pal become stranded in a Spanish-American country where their plane goes haywire. In order to get some money, the friend agrees... Billy rolls into the part of a bull fighter and going up against what is supposed to be the most ferocious animal in the kingdom. A fake bull is substituted, however, and when the king gels wise to the farce he goes into a rage. But with the aid of a dashing senorita the Yankees extricate themselves. A fairly fast-moving comedy, with enough laughs to satisfy.

"Two Barks Brothers"

(Dogville Comedy) M-G-M

One of the Best 17 mins.

The producers will go a long way before they better this dog comedy which carries an interesting story and packs a load of laughs. The plot is melodramatic and concerns a dog who is running for political office on the prohibition ticket. Just before the campaign opens one of the villains changes his glass of water to a heavy swing of gin. The result is indescribable. Later it is dis covered that the culprit is the politician’s long lost brother.

"The Girl Rush"

Educational 21 mins.

Pip Collegiate

Al Christie has turned out a sweet comedy gem in the Vanities comedy. It features a bunch of eye-suckers in the way of bathing girls. The finish is a clever sequence of trick photography with a hair-raising chase between three autos. Some entirely new stunts are pulled that should get the fans. Strong cast with Vernon Dent, Helen Mann, Vera Steadman and Jack Duffy.

"The Hunter"

Universal 7 mins.

A Repeater

An Oswald cartoon, with the hero出来 fox hunting in a scene that is sweeter a nice winter fur. It follows the routine formula, with the bear appearing to scare both Oswald and the woman. It gives the eventual victor over both. Just another cartoon from the formula files.

"You’re Driving Me Crazy"

Paramount 6 mins.

Good Song Cartoon

Fastest moving Fleischer song cartoon. Main background is a jungle, with bears running around for cover from a rain storm. For the singing portion, there is a feminine vocalist and a good idea that some of the burlesque fun is added by a new and feminine vocalist appears and calls upon the audience to join in plenty of action and comedy.

"Deception Plays"

Educational 10 mins.

Fast Football

Another in the Football for the Fast series, with Coach Howard Jones of the University of Southern California putting his team through a bunch of deception plays which have won victories for big college teams in past seasons. The leading gridiron coaches are introduced by Jones, and they in turn demonstrate with the help of the Trojan team how they won games with their pet Deception Play. A lively football number that should please all the gridiron fans.

"Dive In"

(Sports Champions) M-G-M 10 mins.

Dandy

Despite a poor descriptive talk by Pete Smith, this reel of championship play is extremely interesting and novel. The subject opens with close-ups of several shapely bathing girls and then with the help of the Trojan team how they won games with their pet Deception Play. A lively football number that should please all the gridiron fans.

"Take ‘Em and Shake ‘Em"

RKO Pathé 18 mins.

Weak

Can’t give this one very much, a Gay Girls comedy that crowds in a lot of mixed motives and incidents in a weak attempt to make laughs. The comedy seems forced and strained to the cracking point at times. But it was due to no fault of the players. Charles Judels did wonders with his part of the forlorn who loaned his apartment to three stranded girls. Then they try to frame him for a grand on his return, and the complications start by dragging in a horse operation sequence that isn’t a bit funny. June MacCloy, Marion Shilling and Gertrude Short are the girls, who made the best of tough material.

"Benesar, the Hindu Heaven"

(FitzPatrick Traveltalk) M-G-M 9 mins.

Impressive

Starting in its content and with a very interesting talk delivered by FitzPatrick. A real rate high. Following several scenic shots of Benesar and of religious natives bathing in the sacred waters of the Ganges, the camera travels around the river edge is shown and graphically described. The body of the deceased is carried to the Ganges by the river. There it is immersed in the river waters and then placed upon the funeral pyre to be burned by the kindle. The flame which according to their belief, releases the soul of the dead mans to the gods.

"Our Gang in "Shiver My Timbers"

M-G-M 21 mins.

Excellent

Here’s a current release that the grown-ups as well as the kids will go for in a big way. The gang gets so interested in the pirate tales of a sea captain that they neglect going to school. Their teacher complains to the captain, who decides to cure the gang of playing truant, and of their liking for pirate thrills. He signs them all on part of his crew and then stages harrowing and breath-taking battles which so scare the tots that they are glad to return to the schoolroom with their teacher.

"Pears and Devilfish"

(Tharper’s Paradise) M-G-M 9 mins.

Knockout

Taken off the west coast of Mexico, this thriller holds attention throughout. According to the descriptive talk the devilfish that is harpooned, and subsequently landed, weighed 2,000 pounds. After being struck, the monster tosses a large fishing boat of the people. The fish is finally brought to the boat’s side and killed but not until it provides both the fishermen and the audience with one of the season’s best thrills. Photography is fine, but descriptive material is filled with forced humor.

"Laurel and Hardy in "One Good Turn"

M-G-M 21 mins.

Funny

This release is up to the average set by these clever comedians. Being hungry, they apply at a cottage for food and are welcomed into the kitchen by Mary Carr, as a kindly old woman. While eating, the boys hear someone in the next room demand the mortgage money and threatening to dispose of the old lady. It is a rehearsal of a amate dramatic performance, but the boys take it seriously with serious results. Plenty of falls and slapstick stuff. Audiences will like it.

"The Pajama Party"

with ZsaZsa Pelts and Thelma Todd M-G-M 20 mins.

Fair

This newly formed team will show to better advantage with stories that are stronger than this. However, there are many laughs due mostly to Miss Pels’ unique style of droll delivery. As sweethearts of two boys who are members of a society orchestra, the girls happen to attend a party with the boys are playing. There is much tomfoolery and slapstick stuff which results in a general串 of laughter, the biggest coming when ZsaZsa tries to understand a French maid who insists on undressing her.

"Taxi Troubles"

Educational 18 mins.

Scores

A Mark Sennett mirthfest that features Andy Clyde as the taxi driver who gets jammed up with the gangster husband of a neighbor. Through no fault of Andy’s he finds himself in several compromising situations with the beautiful bride of the gunman, while his wife and in-law take the worst possible view of the affairs. Winds up with a fast chase, with Andy in his taxi careening along with an Auburn car on top of his bus. Good trick stuff, with Andy scoring the laughs easily in some well planted gags.

"No More Hookey"

Paramount 8 mins.

Stevel Juvenile Number

This is a fine number for the kids, and will amuse the grown-ups as well. It is a sketch of an ultra-modern school in which the routine has been made so enjoyable that the pupils consider it punishment to be kept away from class. The children recite their lessons in song and dance. There are individual specialties and ensembles numbers, with the whole affair moving along at a lively pace.

"Idle Roomers"

Educational 9 mins.

Above Average

Snappy one-reeler Cameo comedy, featuring Frank and Alfred Molina in a fast acrobatic mixup. The boarding house lady thinks the acrobats are a couple of nuts, and after the doctors arrive and start doing acrobatics to humor the supposed goofs, in walks the booking agent and signs the doctors for the big time. This one-reeler has more gags and speed than a lot of two-reelers.

THE LOVED BACHELOR

with Paul Lukas

Paramount 68 mins.

VERY ENTERTAINING DRAMA CARRYING SUSPENSE, ROMANCE, HUMOR AND SOME HEART TUGS. STONG CAST AND DIRECTION.

This story carries plenty of punch and some new angles that will be welcomed by audiences. Paul Lukas plays the part of a sculptor who fathers the daughter of his former model. In order to prevent the child from being taken to an orphanage, Lukas tells a court officer that he is the father of the child. The remark is overheard by the girl with whom Lukas is in love. Believing him to be the child's real father, his ex-girlfriend, an artist, turns suitor. Then follow many intense situations, culminating with a sweet romance between Lukas and his new girl grown to womanhood. Charlie Ruggles gives one of his typical impersonations of a chronic drunk in a few scenes which are very funny. It is a good box-office feature.

NOW MOVING DRAMA CAN'T BE SNIPPETED CHARMINGLY.

This feature is a down-to-earth melodrama, but it has many points of interest. The story begins with a horse and buggy trip to a ranch, and the hero finds himself in love with the heroine. She is engaged to another man, but the hero overcomes all obstacles and wins her heart. The acting is competent, and the production is well done. It is a good family picture.

Direction, Fine. Photography, Excellent.

HEAVY, SLOW MOVING DRAMA WITH LIGHTEST ATMOSPHERE THAT WILL HOLD LITTLE APPEAL FOR AMERICAN AUDIENCES.

This British International production is done in the highly cinematic manner, but it has a certain charm. The story is about a young man who wants to become a lawyer and helps his brother, who is fighting in the war. The young man meets a girl and falls in love with her, but she is already engaged to another man. The young man helps his brother win and gets the girl in the end.

Direction, Fine. Photography, Good.

THE FLYING FOOL

with Charles Farrell, Madge Evans

British International 65 mins.

NOVEL DETECTIVE MELLER WITH FINE AIRPLANE ATMOSPHERE IN FAST MOVING ACTION STORY.

A British International picture that has been well handled in all departments. Henry Kendall plays the part of a private detective after an international crook wanted for a murder. The plot is very cleverly worked, and much of the action takes place on board one of the giant airships in the Channel service from London to Paris. The story shifts from a London club to a Paris dive, where a lot of exciting action takes place in a harem, where the hero is dropped into the Seine for dead, but recovers and escapes. Then the final sequence shifts back to the airplane stuff, with some novel shots of the Croydon airfield at night. It finishes with a stirring battle between the hero and the airplane and the murderer in a fast motor. This one moves fast, and carries a big wallop with all its action.

Director, Walter Summers; Authors, Al- fred Williams, Michael Shoesmith; Editors, Madge Evans, Eileen Dreyer; Art Directors, Walter Summers; Adapters, same; Dialogue, same; Music, same; Sound, same; Recording Engineer, Elmer Fays; Direction, Weak. Photography, Good.
"DAS LIED VOM LEIBEN" ("The Song of Life")

Tobis Featurelms 54 mins.

THIN STORY BUILT AROUND SENSATIONAL THEME SHOWING SURGICAL OPERATION.

Billed as having been barred by the Berlin censors board, this production will appeal almost exclusively to those interested in the science of surgery or to the morbidly curious.

A weak story paves the way to the operation room sequence which is carried out in true professional style and technique, no doubt by registered nurses and obstetric specialists. The story concerns a young girl who is engaged to a repulsive old baron. The girl rushes from the engagement dinner, determined to end her life by drowning.

At the waterfront she is prevented from jumping off the wharf by an idle seaman. They fall in love, marry and then come to the Caesarian scene sections. Much trick photography and symbolic material helps to pad the story to feature length. There is little talk and much pantomime.

Cast: Albert Mog, Margot Ferre; Director, Alexis Gransky; Author, original; Adaptors, Victor Tivis, Dr. R. Leech; Photographers, Avrow; Cameramen, Viktor Trinkler, Heinrich Halbach; Recording Engineers, Dr. Hans Hittman, Ernest Scholl.

Direction, Good. Photography, Fine.

"UN SOIR DE RAFFLE" ("Night Raid")

Osso Productions 80 mins.

ENTERTAINING FRENCH DIALOGUE DRAMA WITH OLD PRIZE-RING THEME. WELL ACTED AND DIRECTED.

There is plenty of suspense, drama and comedy in this French talker, all of which can be fully appreciated by non-French speaking audiences even though they miss the sparkling dialogue which helps to heighten the comedy touches. The story carries the well-known theme of a husky seaman, who is handy with his fists, becoming a professional prizefighter and later champion of Europe. As soon as he reaches the top notch in his profession, he deserts the cabaret singer who befriended him when he was poor. Besides leaving his sweetheart, he repudiates his manager. Night life and liquor are bought down so that he loses his next championship match.

The cabaret singer returns to him in hour of distress.

"DAS FLOETENKONZERT VON SANNSOUCI"

(="The Flute Concert in Sanssouci")

Ufa 60 mins.

GERMAN WAR STORY WITH EXCELLENT ACTING BY OTTO GEBUEHR BUT SHORT ON ACTION.

A historical romance of 1756. Too much dialogue and not enough action make this unsuitable for English speaking audiences generally, but good characterizations by Otto Gebuehr, Hans Rehmann and Renate Mueller should help it with German audiences. The picture relates how the envoys of Austria, France and Russia plan to overthrow the King of Prussia. Gebuehr, who gets word of the plot through a musician—courtier who rides all night to carry the message. Though opposed to war, Frederic slowly gathers his armies for battle, in the meantime trying to make peace.

His pacific efforts are unsuccessful and a sparkling finale shows him reviewing his men before they go to battle.

Renate Mueller, as the musician's wife, supplies romance for the story.

Botzum's theaters, the Strand and Valentine, under management of Joe Calla, also found the idea popular and made additional concessions by cutting night prices to 10 and 15 cents, against 25 cents formerly, while the Windsor and McKinley, neighborhood houses, are pulling big crowds with two features for a dime with nightly change.

This makes five out of seven Canton houses on a dual policy. The two major houses, Warner's Palace and Loew's, are alternating previews of Sunday bills on Saturday nights, with business coming along well.

Credits Twisted

Through a slip in makeup, part of the production credit for "Skylark" and "Reckless Living," both reviewed in last Sunday's issue was switched. Correct designations are:

For "Skylark": Author, Felix Riesenberg; Adaptors, Keene Nicholson, Dudley Nichols; Dialoguers, Nicholas, Nicholas, Nicholas, Williams, Anthony McGuire; Editor, Harold Schuster; Cameramen, John Mentec; Recording Engineer, W. W. Lindsay.

For "Reckless Living": Author, Ethel Wilmot; Adaptors, Ethel Wilmot, Ethel Wilmot; Editor, Harry D. Big; Cameraman, Jackson; Recording Engineer, C. Roy Hunter.

Roxy

The Far East gets its turn at the Roxy this week in a stage show that is entirely Oriental in flavor. Following an elaborate production of the overture to "Martha," the program reveals vistas of Samia and its mystic temples, the plains of Siberia and cherry blossom time in Japan. In addition to utilizing the Roxy regulars, including Patricia Bowman, Harold Van Duze and others, Palmenberg's Bears are appropriately spotted in the Siberian scene, while Maurice Baron has composed a special musical score for the Siamese bit. Dorothy Miller, Marion Rabe, William Johnson and Philip Steele also appear in the "Martha" number.

Capitol

A charming stage bill holds forth at the Capitol this week in the form of a three-part diversion. The highlights are "Milady's Boudoir," performed by Ivan Trislaus, James Pendleton and an assemblage of maidens and pages, followed by "Milady's Garden," with Joyce Cole, Ivan Trislaus, Louise Bave, Phil Tillman, the Chester Hale Girls and the Ballet Corps. As a prelude, Ivan Trislaus appears in a pantomime interpretation of "Afternoon of a Faun." Yasha Bunchak's overture is titled "Ballet Memories."

stated in a survey of the German situation by U. S. Trade Commissioner George R. Canty. With a need for 200 to 250 features next season, Germany's producers so far have announced only about 120 pictures. The U. S. is expected to contribute some 35 foreign-made German talkies and around 15 are expected from other countries.

"Laugh It Off," a Frank Cambrich production, is the current presentation at the New York Paramount. Charlie Ahearn and His Millionaire Hobo Band provide the comedy punchline, while the musical and dance portions are neatly handled by Violet Carlson, Tita Coral and the Foster Girls. Rubino direct the Paramount Orchestra in "Bouquet of Roses," while Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Crawford demonstrate classical versus jazz music at the twin organs.

BETTER PICTURES

Not since sound first burst upon the eager ear of the movie fan have there been changes and improvements so important to the industry as those wrought by Eastman’s introduction of ultra-speed negative film. They begin on the lot, and they carry through to the screen. Because of them you can look for better pictures for your audiences. And that is an augury of better business for you.

"It's good business for me to prefer LUCKIES"

"It's good business to guard my throat, so it's good business for me to prefer Luckies. I'm certainly for the throat protection which 'Toasting' gives me. And I'm certainly for your new improved Cellophane wrapper that really opens without a search warrant!"

Here's to Jack Holt—the star who never lets us down! Whether in out-of-door pictures or dinner-jacket dramas, Jack always delivers an able and vigorous job of high-powered acting. A mighty, mighty trouper to have around. "A Dangerous Affair," a Columbia, is his next film.

That LUCKY Tab! Moisture-Proof Cellophane, Sealed tight—Ever right. The Unique Humidor Package, Zip—And it's open! See the new notched tab on the top of the package. Hold down one half with your thumb, tear off the other half, Simple, Quick, Zip! That's all. Unique! Wrapped in dust-proof, moisture-proof, germ-proof Cellophane. Clean, protected, neat, FRESH—what could be more modern than LUCKIES' improved Humidor packages—so easy to open! Ladies—the LUCKY TAB is—your finger nail protection.

Made of the finest tobaccos—the cream of many Cropp. LUCKY STRIKE alone offers the throat protection of the exclusive "TOASTING" process which includes the use of modern Ultra Violet Rays— the process that expels certain harsh, biting irritants naturally present in every tobacco leaf. These expelled irritants are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. "They're not—as they can't be for LUCKIES—always kind to your throat."
Biggest publicity smash ever given a picture has pre-sold Columbia's scintillating "PLATINUM BLONDE." This ad ran in 1,600 great dailies. In addition, the Saturday Evening Post (issue of Sept. 19) told its 2,500,000 readers all about "Kansas City Platinum" (Jean Harlow)!

Jean Harlow first set the screen ablaze in "Hell's Angels," the great air film, and she almost stole the show from a fleet of fifty planes. See her "Goldie," a Fox film and Columbia's "Platinum Blonde."

A FRANK CAPRA production
THALIA PRODUCTIONS, having completed "Cosi e La Vita" ("Such I Life"), is preparing a second all-Italian talkie which Eugene Roberts will direct. The new picture will be made in both Italian and Spanish versions and Thalia is now looking for talent that can speak these languages. Production will start at the Metropolitan studios in about two weeks.

Paramount Notes: Tallulah Bankhead conferring with William Haines about leasing his home in Beverly which W. O. points to the Coast.... Betty Morrissey paying a visit to the New York studio where she has appeared in numerous pictures.... Marion Averly, sec. to D. A. Dorau, Jr., of the Paramount home office story council, seeing plenty of plays these fall evenings.

Burnet Hershey, Vitaphone staff writer, who is writing the dialogue and doing the adaptation of the S. V. Van Dine Detective Mystery stories for the two reelers being produced at the RKO Bryncliff Vitaphone studio, always confers with the author before and after each script has been written.

Jack Norworth, who with the mission is making six more of their popular Vitaphone "Naggers" comedies, is sitting pretty these days collecting heavy royalties from a song he wrote about 25 years ago and which right now is all the rage. In 1897, while on the stage with Nora Bayes, Norworth wrote "Shine On. Harvest Moon." Returning from their recent trip abroad, the Norworths learned the cheerful news that "Shine On. Harvest Moon" has become the song hit of the new "Follies," and also a national best seller.

Donald Meek, who has been doubling between the John Golden theater, where he is appearing in "After Tomorrow," and the Vitaphone studio, where he is starring in the S. V. Van Dine series, has been signed for a principal role in "The Main Event," which Walter Hite is preparing to produce in Waterbury, Conn. Charles Downs will be chief cameraman and Walter Scott first camera.

Along the Rialto with Phil M. Daly

THINGS WE NEVER THOUGHT WORTH MENTIONING TILL NOW.... all that the producing companies are in a race to bring out their own special Fascinating Male star types.... so Tiffany steps out with Wallace Ford, signed for the leading role in "X Marks the Spot," that Irving Pichel, who plays the district attorney in "An American Tragedy," was a director, writer and scenic designer in the theater before going talkie.

THAT Ginger Rogers has completed two big weeks at the B. S. Moss Broadway, and goes back to Hollerword for another Pathepix after the end of the New-York, that Frank Borzage is the only director we know who visited New York from the Coast, and did it right.... he got the true atmosphere of the metropoli by visiting Welfare Island, Washington Boro., old docks and crannies around wharfs, side streets.... in a word, he did not confine his visit to a round of the nite clubs.

THAT Mrs. Joe E. Brown had a nice surprise for Joe upon his arrival in Hollywood after a personal appearance tour.... in the form of a 16 grand Duesenberg.... that the Paramount wear In a new restaurant is ordering a new supply of Coca Cola in anticipation of Tallulah Bankhead's arrival.... that Fred March writes that he has completed "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."... that there has been a distinct rise in temperature (of a sort) with Lupe Velez, Raquel Torres and Armida all floating around our hamlet.

THAT Jane Winton, tired of doing the society matron act on Park Avenue, has taken a flyer at films again, doing a part in the new Van Dine short at Vitaphone.... that if Phyllis Haver, Carol Dempster, Ruth Taylor and Mae Allison should decide to do likewise, the pix biz in these parts might perk up a bit.... that Rutger Nielson is one of the busiest gents in any publicity dept., for he knows so many angles that it is easier for him to do the work than stop and explain it to someone else.

THAT "N.T.G." of the Hollywood nite club is competing with the film biz for the talent.... in his new show he has lined up Thelma White, Maria Gambarello, Rene, Harry Hillyard and Frank Hazzard.... not to mention those Forty Beauties that give Ziegfeld and Carroll a run for honors.... that Mickey Gross, manager of the State in Racine, Wisconsin, on a special trip between the hours of 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. that E. M. Orswitz has prepared a hefty 35-page exploitation campaign book on the Four Jinx Brothers to be sent to all RKO theaters booking the comedians' pix.

THAT Fred Allen in his coast office at the RKO Pathe stude has a golf score card bearing a circled "89" on the wall.... Fred usually shoots around 179, and is trying to convince all the golf bugs that the 89 is on the level.... that Guy Fowler has created a mythical kingdom for the novelization of Pola Negri's new story, "A Woman Commands." that Ted O. Eltonhead, public relations head for Local 306, is now at the main office on 45th St.
"Rah, rah, rah! And a couple of years! Here's a pip of a pigskin picture; one you'll remember for several football seasons to come. Thrilled a houseful of enthusiastic fans of talkiedom and gridiron combined. Starts out with a bang and keeps the pace all the way. It has dash and pep and thrill in heaped portions. And there is a full-sized share of human interest. You'll have a grand time at the Mayfair this week. 'Spirit of Notre Dame' is one football picture you shouldn't miss."

― N. Y. Daily News

"It is an effective tribute to one of the greatest figures in American sports."

― N. Y. Herald-Tribune

"Seemed to satisfy its overflowing audience, and indeed it should have, as the spirit of the late coach seems to permeate it. It will be a success."

― N. Y. Evening Sun

"Skillfully directed . . . acting uniformly natural . . . enough football players of recent days to please the most exacting gridiron enthusiast."

― N. Y. Times

"The most natural, authentic and entertaining film about undergraduate life and athletics that the screen so far has produced. Exceptionally fine piece of work in every department."

― N. Y. World-Telegram

"Notre Dame football film thrills Mayfair audience. A football picture that is a football picture. If 'The Spirit of Notre Dame' doesn't wow them at the box office there for the next few weeks, I'll be surprised and disappointed . . . thrilling with realistic backgrounds and famous football players. The outstanding football picture of this or any other season."

ALONG THE RIAFLO WITH PHIL M. DALY

• • • WITH THE rest of the newspaper boys and gals yesterday we were the guests of Production Manager Sam Sax at the Vitaphone stude out in the wilds of Brooklyn where we participated in a murder ... that is, we watched director Arthur Hurley polishing up the final scene on one of the
S. S. van Dine detective-mystery shorts ... and Mister Van Dine was there in person to tell us during the luncheon just how he goes about creating crimes on film ... there have been lots of crimes committed on film ... but these are the type that when you read 'em between the covers of a book you sit up all night ......

• • • THEN UPSTAIRS to the set, where they shot the scene in "The Week-End Mystery" as realistic and atmosphere a set as was ever used on a short feature ... rain coming down in torrents ... as Donald Meek, the crime specialist ... and John Hamilton, the police inspector hurried out from the house to the garage ... hot on the trail of the murderer ... and Barry Townley hops over the hedge ... and whispers in the crime specialist's ear
"Hist! I KNOW the name of the criminal." and just as he was about to mention the name "Popl" he gets a bullet in his cardiac region ... and Jane Winton was concealed in back of the garage door where the shot came from... well, whether Jane fired the shot or not, we're glad to see her back on the screen ... there's one girl who quit the game right at the zenith of her career ... it's the first time to our knowledge where real detective stories have been presented with two good opponents like Donald Meek and John Hamilton sustaining the interest right through a series .... and for that reason, if no other, they should go far and fame well ........

• • • HOW ONE Producer Started ... this is a thumb nail sketch of the rise of Sam Bischoff several years ago Sam was sent from Boston to Hollerod to go over the books of Grand-Asher Productions ... he was a certified public accountant. Upon that made him general production manager ... he was that smart ... one day he got orders to start production on "Her Market Value" ... starring Agnes Ayres and Sam had no dough to play with ... but Mister Grand and Mister Asher wired him from Boston not to worry ... the money would be coming right along ... so Mister Bischoff started ..........

• • • A WEEK rolled by ... and still no dough ... Sam was able to raise three grand for current expenses ... and when that was done, he went into a huddle with Miss Ayres
... and calling the actors and studio workers together, Sam made a sales talk ... assuring them that every claim would be met if the gang would see the production through
... there was not a dissenting vote ........

• • • IN THE second week of production, Mister Bischoff got a wire from Asher that Grand was sick in the hospital that he (Asher) was all washed up ... and that Mister Bischoff controlled the Works ... and did Sammy get disconsouerd? ... norizor ... he finished the pix with the hearty co-operation of all hands ... he made a distribution deal with W. H. Hodkinson Corporation ... and receiving an ad-advance of 59 grand the pix cost just 60 ... so Sam made a strong claim for wages ... that, my dears, is how to bust in as a Film Producer ... no bow and do likewise perfectly simple, isn't it?

Public Great States
Going on Lower Scale

50 cents against 75 and 85 cents downtown.
A survey of the Great States houses is reported to have revealed that the audiences were "top-heavy," crowding into the lower-priced balcony seats, while the downstairts was comparatively deserted. Admission cuts, therefore, have been made in these places. The East St. Louis house, which had been slashed at 40 and 25 cents, is reported to have boosted business remarkably by merely shedding to 35 and 25 cents.
In other houses the scale has been cut from 50 to 35 and from 35 to 25 with like results.
Many of the Publix-Great States theaters also have adopted stage attractions of various kinds.

OPEN ALL YEAR
HOLLYWOOD

ANNUAL GAMBL of the Catholic M. P. Guild will be held at the Carthay Circle after the close of the current attraction, that theater. Winfield Sheehan has donated the theater for the 1931 show, which will be staged by Larry Ceballos.
Tickets will be $1 to $5. James
Gleason is president of the Guild.

Walter Huston is making his third picture in 13 weeks with the starting of work in First National’s “The Marked Woman.”
Last week he finished in Universal’s “Law and Order.” He also made “Heart and Hand” for U and in addition another
F. N. picture, “The Ruling Voice,” yet to be released.

Ken Maynard is recovering from an injury received a few days ago while landing his plane at Burbank while flying from location where Tilfany is making “Fighting Mad.”

Our Passing Show: J. I. Schmitz, William LeBaron, Charles R. Rogers, Leo Carrillo, Ray Garnett, Clark Gable, Ann Harding, Mary Brian, Howard Estabrook, Louis
Searcy, Joan Bennett, A. A. Kline, Myra
Connolly, Robert Milton, Ivan Lebedoff,
Max Ree, Hugh Trevor at the première of “Consolation Marriage” at the Carthay
Circle; Joe E. Brown, Evelyn Brent, Irene
Purcell, Hal Wallis, Louise Pazaenda, Carey
Wilson, Loretta Young, Al Green, Max Shirgam, Carmel Myers, Gordon Hollingshead at Mervyn LeRoy’s birthday party.

Adrienne Ames, Paramount contract player, made her stage debut last week in “The Play’s the Thing,” at the Pasadena Playhouse. She is playing the role of a frivolous prima donna.

In five leading Los Angeles theaters, Walt Disney’s sound cartoons will be featured simultaneously this week through the selection of “The Spider and the Fly,” the latest “Silly Symphony,” to be screened with “Consolation Marriage” at the Carthay Circle. Of the five Disney cartoons, four are screened in a long run playground.

Rollie Asher is often mistaken for John T. Murray, while there is also a close resemblance between Dick Pearl and Bert Wheeler.

Francis Edwards Farahgoh, who because of his screen play and dialogue for “Little Cas-tar,” was one of the writers nominated for an award by the Academy of M. P. Arts and Sciences, may make a location trip in connection with “Prestige,” which will star Ann Harding. Farahgoh is now working on the script for “Prestige,” which will be directed by Tay Garnett.

Donald Dillaway is walking these days due to the fact that he is skeletal of any other means of transportation. He had two auto smashes and one airplane overtake in a week’s time.

Hank Mann and William Walling have been cast in Columbia’s next Buck Jones’ cartoon, “Headin’ for Love,” being directed by Ross Lee. Mann has the female lead.

Columbia has signed Ian Keith for “Unwanted.” . . . “Ridin’ for Justice” is the final title of the Buck Jones western formerly called “Headin’ for Love.”

First National has added Bulla Harrell
Mary Doran, Rita Flynn, David Landau, Alan Hale, Polly Walters and Max Madison to the new Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., picture, “Union Depot,” which Alfred E. Green is directing.

Warner Bros. will finish “Under Eighteen” this week. Marian Marsh is featured with Regis Toomey, Anita Page, Warren William and others.

More Passing Show: Laura La Plante,
William LeBaron, Helen Twelvetrees, John Bokes, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Plinn, Al Newman, Bert Lahr, Virginia Whitman at the opening of the Roosevelt Blossom room;
A. A. Kline motoring to the Fox studios.

Fox has added Allan Dinehart to “Circumstances,” directed by William Cameron Menzies.

Fate appears to be playing pranks on Victor Schertzinger since he started work on his latest Radio Pictures assignment under his present contract. Following closely on the heels of the announcement that filming of “Marchete” would be held up for several weeks, Schertzinger was confined to his bed with a severe cold.

RKO Pathe has finished “Suicide Fleet,” with Bill Boyd, Robert Armstrong, James Gleason and others
. . . Maude Eburne will appear with Helen Twelvetrees in her next picture.

William Sistrom’s personal appeal to William LeBaron has resulted in Wallace Smith being loaned to Fox to write the picture version and dialogue for “Circumstance,” a novel by Andres Soutard. Smith recently completed a similarly important assignment for “Boulder Dam,” which RKO is to produce on an elaborate scale.

 Paramount’s box-office combination, Ruth Chatterton as star and Richard Wallace as director, is expected to click again in “Tomorrow and Tomorrow.”

George Archainbaud, according to reports, has registered a bull’s-eye with his present directorial assignment for RKO, “The Pickup.” This is an original story by Louis Weitenkorn for which Wallace Smith wrote the picture version and dialogue.

Local critics are complimenting
Howard Estabrook’s screen version and dialogue for “Are These Our Children,” which Wesley Ruggles wrote and directed.

An announcement bearing on the future association of Albert DeMond, prominent producer and associate producer, is expected within the week. It is known that DeMond is the subject of negotiations between his representative and one of the leading producing organizations.

The 1932 Film Daily Year Book to be ready shortly after the first of the year will be the fourteenth of a series. . . . The first edition contained about 200 pages. . . . The 1932 book will be over 1200 pages. . . .
This healthy growth is the result of filing a definite need with a reliable and compre-ensive reference volume constantly in work and backed by 14 years of exhaustive digging and experience.—AND AT THAT THE ACCURACY, COVERAGE, COM-PLETENESS AND INTERNATIONAL SCOPE OF THIS BOOK WOULD NOT BE POSSIBLE WITHOUT THE EN-THUSIASTIC CO-OPERATION OF EVERY BRANCH OF THE ENTIRE definitely off after being practical’y closed. Withdrawal of the director from the production project is understood to be the reason.

16 mm. Patents Company
Plans to Issue Licenses
As a holding company for patents on a new 16 mm. recording device and a projector, Jones Research
Sauk has been organized with
E. W. Jones as president.

First recording equipment will be ready within 60 days. The concern will issue licenses to build projectors as well as to record in studios and on trucks. Recording runs at 36 feet per minute, it is stated, and a sound track 2 1/2 in. wide is used. Volume and tone quality is equal to standard 35 mm. sound-on-film,
Jones claims.

1931 convention of the M.P.T.O. of Arkansas, Missis-ippi and Tennessee.

Roxy Service
Service at the Roxy is not limited to routines run on Friday of a few nights ago, as the big house had discharged the audi-ce from its last show, there was a cold downpour. Notices, the following folks crowded under the marquee and along the curb. Manager Charles W. Crowe reopened the doors, invited the crowd to show and half of them stayed over sheltering host to them for about 45 minutes until the rain stopped.

Whittlers must bring their own carving tools, however.

Receiveihip Granted for Shubert Theater Corp.

Irving Trust Co. and Lee Shubert yesterday were appointed equity receivers for Shubert Thea-ter Corp. on the complaint of Ceresco, Besstey & Hampton of Chicago. Shuberts have been hav-ing financial difficulties since 1929, when late-ter theater business turned drastically downward. The company owns 23 houses, valued at $20,000,000, and is interested in about 50 others. It has liabilities of $10,749,687 and outstanding debentures with a face value of $6,350,000. The company is said to be solvent but without funds for maturing obli-gations.
American-Made Motion Pictures Called World’s Most Wholesome

American motion pictures today are the most wholesome of any nation’s contribution to the world screen, and analyses of the reports of the recent center of book and many scientific investigations bear this out. Dr. Ambrose N. Diehl, Motion Picture Chairman of the National Council of Women in the U.S., on her return yesterday from the League of Nations film conference.

Mrs. Diehl, who is also national M.P. chairman of the General Federation of Women’s Clubs and of the League of American Penwomen, said that while national censorship seems to have a certain political place in some European countries, she did not find one woman who believed that censorship had any virtue. She has just given up her pictures. All favor “discrimination instead of scissors,” she said.

RKO Studios—business as usual

By JACK ALICOATE

IT'S just as easy to crash the RKO studios here as it is to spend a week-end in the vaults of the U. S. Treasury. To gain admission you are first finger-printed. They then take your measurements, pedigree and temperature. If, by that time, your blood pressure is anywhere near normal you are allowed to apply for an interview pass. This is the lot that kept Will Hays waiting for ten minutes while they checked him with his photograph. While the gate keeper was talking on the long distance phone with President Hoover we slipped inside with the crowd until we reached the side of our pals, Joe Schnitzer and Bill LeBaron, who occupy the same position here that Messrs. Lee and Perrin do to a fashion of its. Sig. LeBaron is hard at it under the slogan of "business as usual." Ambassador Extraordinary Schnitzer, well versed in both producing and selling, is optimistically apprehensive over the future. He believes that the production end of the business must undergo a revolutionize and complete liquidating and housecleaning. That the production cloth must be cut to a new pattern. And this same Joe Schnitzer fellow has been in this business long enough to know pretty well what it all's about.

THINGS are humming along merrily on the Radio lot. "Consolation Marriage," about to be released, looks better than average. "Are These Our Children?" by the Ruggles-Estabrook combination that made "Cimarron," has smash possibilities. And by the way, Howard Estabrook, just raised to the rank of supervisor, seems to be one of the production stand-outs of the season. Productions in work all seem headed in the right direction. "Peach O' Reno," the new Wheeler-Woolsey opera, finds these two incorrigibles

Lee Marcus Sees Screen Writers Facing Greatest Opportunity

Jack Cohn Studying Data on Next Trends

A study of data to go in advance line on the next trends in movie topics is being made by Jack Cohn of Columbia with the cooperation of the company's field sales staff. Columbia's policy has been to govern its studio activities by the reactions of field men contacting exhibitors.

Authors now face the greatest opportunity ever offered by the film industry, Lee Marcus told the FILM DAILY yesterday. Unlike situation for some other professional work, acceptable stories can command studio returns, prices that are always paid by producers, Marcus said. "If more good writers realized how

Fox Wants $10,000,000 For Radio City Project

A difference of approximately $7,000,000 is understood to be the stumbling block preventing consummation of a deal for RCA interests to buy property owned by William Fox and needed for the site of Radio 'City.' Fox is reported asking $10,000,000 for his land, which extends 110 feet along Sixth Ave., between 48th and 49th Sts. Radio officials are understood to have offered $5,000,000.

Adopt Seal and Legend On Unemployment Drive

A seal and legend to be used in connection with publicity for the industry's unemployment relief campaign was decided upon by the U. S. vertising committee at a meeting at the Wampas office yesterday afternoon. Supplementing the slogan, "Give him a lift," will be an illustration showing two upstretched hands; a single hand reaching down to extend aid. The seal will also bear the inscription "National Motion Picture Week Nov. 18-25 for Local Unemploy- ment Relief."

in the roles of hit-and-run divorce lawyers in Reno. "Exposed" is a story of gamblers with a Paris background. Dolores Del Rio in "The Love" should stand out. The story carries plenty of punch and her work is outstanding. "The Lost Squadron," an air story with Richard Dix, will go into production any day now. After a rather extensive tour of the RKO lot one gets the impression that even in these days of production turmoil and uncertainty this outfit is nicely holding its own in the general scheme of things, and slowly but smoothly moving along the road of progress.

Triple Bill for B. & K. Anniversary Celebration

Chicago—As part of its big anniversary celebration today, the Balaban & Katz Parthenon will offer three features at the Saturday night show. Saturday will see two feature films and a last act review. RKO Television Act Will Oppose Moss’ Presentation

Previews
—and other problems
By JACk ALICOATE

Producers, here Catching on the banks of 'Em Early the Los Angeles River, are planning to make a concerted plea to the local army of enthusiastic reviewers to lay off previews until they have the official studio stamp of approval. This is not an unreasonable request. Definite damage has already been done by published reviews of pictures that were still being readied. In the old silent days of less noise but more fraternal spirit the catching of a hidden preview was not considered as unfair sportsmanship. However, producers contend that with pictures needing as much try-out and prep as the average stage production, it is obviously unfair to judge them until they are ready. And, while it isn’t a matter that will affect our short game any, we are inclined to believe they are approximately right.

The Game of Plagiarism

Plagiarism, particularly within the picture fence of the industry, is a sensitive subject. We have seen story situations and gags plenty, lifted bodily, with nary a squawk from their rightful owner. On the other hand, we recall where two or more film-folk did practically the same thing, at the same time, and, when the finished product turned up, each charged the other with malicious theft. The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences proceeds with extreme caution in the arbitration of such claims. Plagiarism, being primarily personal and depending on one’s integrity, is dynamite to the meddler. Only when both sides agree, in writing, to accept the acad-(Continued on Page 2) daily fan paper and trade paper press.

Lee Marcus of RKO Pathe, told THE FILM DAILY that "quite a little progress" has been made in television, and termed the demonstration held at the Fox Theater in New York as "overflowing." He felt that the television was "marvelous." Similar expressions were made by Frank C.
Walker of the Cornerfield Circuit,
Jack Cohn of Columbia and Larry Kent of Paramount. Other film officials who attended included Max
Fleischer and Jules Levy.

Moss presented the show in association with Sanabria Television
Corp. and William Morris. Opening the program was a short talk by Carveth Wells from the stage. He was followed by Waldem-mar Kaempffert, science editor of "The New York Times," who visualized eventually a great central broadcasting station in some important center like Hollywood or New York from which entertainment programs could be transmitted to theaters.

After his stage talk, Wells went to the Theater Guild Studio nearby on West 52d St. and there was televised. Via the television system brief remarks were made by Thesee Helburn of the Theater Guild and the latter solos were presented as well as a bit from the Theater Guild show, "The House of Connelly."

Images appearing on the 10x10 screen were generally indistinct, although they permitted recognition of the artists. Once the proceedings were interrupted when a lamp used in the process became too hot to allow immediate continuation of the broadcast. Sound conveyed by wire and loud speakers was not always in quality. The television "screen" was a large glass plate placed against a receiving disc which was making 900 revolutions a minute. Receiving Union would be a feature of the new bill at the Broadway opening tomorrow. A temporary studio will be operated on the stage within view of the audience and the broadcasting will be carried on simultaneously. Artists appearing in the show will be televised and people in the audience will also be invited to participate. Moss has the television demonstration booked for two weeks with an option for a longer showing.

making a better showing under present business conditions than other pictures, declared Fleischer yesterday. This type of picture is only off between five and six per cent, as compared with greater drops suffered by other kinds of screen entertainment receipts, he said. His organization is concentrating its publicity effort on Betty Boop, Talkaloo star, who rose from minor parts to a stellar posi-

BY RALPH WILK

HOLLYWOOD

RICHARD TALMADGE is a staunch advocate of going back to "first principles" in picture entertainment. That is, he thinks the camera should tell more of the story, with corresponding less dialogue spots should be easy to follow and the action should be fast and clean.

The series now being made by the aren of screen daredevils will follow out this theory. "Hot Rails," a railroad story, is now in work.

First of the new 1931-32 series of "Screen Snapshots" is being completed at Columbia will be under the direction of Ralph Staub. One of the feature in the initial release of this new will be Tom McCoy demonstrating the Indian sign language of which he is an accepted author.

Garrett Fort, one of the busiest scenarists on the Coast, is now writing the screen play and dialogue for "Veneer," which will be made by RKO Pathe.

Matt McHugh, Francis McDonald, Jack
Kennedy, Torrence Ray, Jack Curtis, Frank Leigh, Robert Ross, Dewey Robinson and
Jack Santoro are recent additions to the Lil Darner picture at First National.

Hal Roach has started "Help-mates," the next Laurel and Hardy picture, which James Parrott will direct. Filming of the latest Our Gang short, "Readin' and Writin'", was completed a few days ago under the direction of Robert McGowan, with June Marlowe as the teacher.

Our Passing Show: Ensmuel Cohen, Harry Reif, Mel Shaw, M. C. Levy, Jack Allcote, Jack Conway, Warner Baxter, Hunt Stromberg, Buster Keaton Paul Smith at the University of Southern California-Oregon game.

William N. Conselman, who wrote the screen play and dialogue for "Business and Pleasures," starring Will Rogers, is working on "Step-pling Sisters," which will also be made by Fox. During the past year, he wrote eight scripts.

Ray Garnett has started the direction of "Presigious," the biggest production of his career. The picture will star Ann Harding and will be released by RKO Pathe. Following three weeks of shooting at the Cul-er City studio, the entire troupe will enter for Tampa, Florida, wher exteriors will be shot for two weeks. The locale of the story is Indo-China.

Valentin Mandelstam collaborated with Harvey Thew on the screen play for "The Captain's Wife," starring Lil Dagover. The picture is being made by Warner Bros.-First National and has authentic French military backgrounds.

Many of the screen's most brilliant hu-manitarian's will be seen in Tiffany's latest "Voice of Hollywood," released by Educational. Marlene Dietrich, Joan Crawford, Zita Johann, Joe E. Brown, Ann Harding,
Edward Lowe, Robert Montgomery, Rob Steele,
Boswell, Joan Davis, Charlie Loyd, William Hamilton, Polly Moran, Olsen and Johnson.

Educational has finished another Tom Patricola comedy, "Moonlight and Cactus." C. C. Burr is at work on the third Torchy comedy, as yet untitled, with Ray Cooke,
Dorothy Dix, Franklin Pangborn,
Edmund Breese and Cornelius Keefe
... Andy Clyde is growing a new set of whiskers for his new Mack Sennett comedy ...

FOX assignments: Linda Watkins for "Disorderly Conduct," which John Cons-dine, Jr., will direct; Joan Bennett for "Sa-lony Jane," scheduled to start Dec. 1 under Raoul Walsh; Weldon Heyburn for "White
Paris Street," directed by Allan Dwan.

Paul Hurst is drawing pay checks on three pictures simultaneously.
The pictures are: "The Lost Squadron," at RKO; "Yellow," Columbia;
"The Big Shot." RKO Pathe.

Radio Pictures has completed "Peach O'Reno." Charles Dow Clark, Kate Price,
George Andre Beranger and Robert McWade have been added to "Ladies of the Jury" ...
Mary Astor will appear in "Hallelujah," original by Gertrude J. Lloyd... Tom Francis, brother of Hugh Herbert, has been assigned to the Mary Astor-Ricardo Cortes picture now in work as "Exposed," under direction of George Archainbaud.

Mark Sandrich is directing Chie Sale in an untitled comedy, dealing with "hoss tradin'." His latest comedy, "A Hurry Call," scored a hit at its preview at the Criterion, Santa Monica, last week.

Paramount has decided on Ernest Lubitsch to direct Maurice Chevalier in "Love Me Tonight." Jack Oakie will have the title role in "Jazz King," with Buddy Rogers and Miriam Hopkins, directed by David Burton... George Barrie has been added to "Ladies of the Big House"... Oliver H. P.
Garrett will write the screenplay for George Bernard's "Through the Window." by Martin Flavin and Joe Sherman... Herman McQueen is adapting Edmund Goulding's
"House of Treason" for Clive Brook... Ray Harris will write the continuity of "Evenings for Sale," next Paul Lukas picture, in collaboration with Samuel Hoffenstein.

M-G-M has signed Johnny Weissmuller, swimming champ, for the lead in "Tarzan," which W. S. Van Dyke will direct... Jean Hersholt will appear with Marie Dressler in "Emma." * * *

Our Passing Show: Douglas MacLean,
Dorothy Mackail, George Meeker, Andrew
J. Callaghan, Ivan Lovell, Mark Larkin,
Arthur Lang, Gerrit J. Lloyd, Margaret
Ettinger, E. H. Diet, Howard Hawks, Chas.
E. Sullivan, Irving Cummings, Charles
Judex, luncheing at the Brown Derby; J. G.
Bachman planning his trip to New York.

Leatrice Joy following her marriage to William Spencer Hook, will retire from pictures, she told newspaper men this week.

Dave Garber, construction superintendtent at the RKO Pathe studios, got a remis-cent thrill when his men were building the control room of a German submarine for interior scenes of the big navy specialty, "Submarine Fleet." Garber served with the A. E.
F. in France and went across on the transport Moungul in June of 1918. On the trip over the ship sank a submarine.

a definite statement about the Warner move, he did say that, if instituted, it would be in the Federal Court of Delaware.

The final cross-examination of Abe Carey Thomas, general counsel, and secretary of Warner, was designed to get information concerning the operation of the national company to aid the contemplated suit. Thomas so interpreted questions by Randolph Laughlin, attorney for Koplar, and while expressing the belief that they had no bearing on the Skouras case he willingly answered them. Testifying in rebuttal, Koplar said expensive stage shows at the Ambassador and formally in the Missouri helped to attract customers and caused the believers to pay greater rentals for Warner pictures and those of other producers under a percentage arrangement.

Both sides will file briefs within the next few weeks and final arguments in the case are to be made next month. The St. Louis Amusement case also will be argued then.

Though many believe—that show business—cannot be administrated—without cold calculation—such an attitude towards Chevroles and chalpenes—nevertheless—a systematic organization—stands a better chance than a lot of individuals—floundering by themselves

If you don’t believe it—compare the legit—producers—with the movie makers—or ask Equity.

THE Equity plea—contains an angle—that also concerns—the screen’s welfare. Under present trends—the time is not distant—when the legit stage—will practically pass out—taking with it—the best training background—for film players—the best source of pre-tested stories—the best medium—for developing new writers.

MOTION PICTURE companies—frequently take losses—of 100 grand or more—on original productions—that fail to click.For much less money—they could maintain—stage stock companies—in representative cities—with the primary object—of trying out plays—and developing talent.Many of these troupes—would pay their own way—while some might even—show a profit.At any rate—in a 10-week season—if a stock company—spent 40 grand over its receipts—and developed only two good plays scripts—it still would be a—worth-while venture.

PROOF Of the pudding—in the records—of past seasons—showing—that in the matter of film hits—adaptations from the stage—outnumber screen originals—nearly five to one—conclusively demonstrating—that a pliable stage show—plus audience reaction—results in better vehicles—at ultimately less cost—than experimentation—in a studio.

LEGIT: shows—were tried out—in dog towns—and worked over—until they click—before real audiences—while motion pictures—are pre-viewed—after they’re in the can—and it costs plenty—to make changes.So Equity and the movies—have a meeting ground—on this stock problem—and each of them—would stand to benefit.

GIANTIC movie palaces—have had their test—and failed to pass—the main reason being—in order to show profits—they must be fed—a steady supply—of gigantic hits—to bring in—gigantic crowds—and up to now—it has proven—a too gigantic task to produce—the necessary number—of such hits.Hereafter—in planning new houses—more thought will be given—not to how big—the theater can be—but how to design it—for low overhead.In other words—size can mean nothing—while the overhead—can mean everything.Ask John Eberson—he knows.

In four cities—within the past week—theater audiences—voluntarily rebelled—against picketers and bombers—attacking several—and beating them up—for causing annoyance.Which seems to indicate—that film fans—are not interested—in labor disputes—but want to enjoy—their daily movies—without molestation.

HOLLYWOOD

WALLACE SMITH, loaned by RKO to Fox to write the screen version and dialogue for "Circumstances," notes that more than 27 languages are frequently used by members of the Fox scenario department alone.

* * *

"Possessed" has been selected as the final title of Joan Crawford's new M-G-M starring picture directed by Clarence Brown. This film, formerly known as "The Mirage," is an adaptation of Edgar Selwyn's play of the same name. Miss Crawford heads a cast which includes Clark Gable, Wallace Ford and " Skeets" Gallagher.

George MacFarlane and Earle Foxe are late additions to First National's "Union Depot."

Mae Drester has begun work in M-G-M's "Emma," based on an original story by Frances Marion. Supporting cast includes Jean Hersholt, Dale Fuller, Barbara Kent and Richard Cromwell.

Roy Del Ruth, Warner director, after-screening over a long list of classic films, opines that if all our literature had been surrounded with the censorial restrictions which the screen imposes on itself, some of our greatest books of the world never would have been.

With the signing of Jimmy Wilson, Edie Bandler and William J. O'Brien, Columbia completes the cast of prominent players for "The Guilty Generation," which is being produced under the direction of Rowland V. Lee. Leo Carrillo and Clarence Cummins have the leading roles in this adaptation of the stage play by Jo Milward and J. Kirby Hawkes. Other members of the cast are Leslie Fenton, Boris Karloff, Murray Kinnell, Emma Dunn, Elliot Roth and Robert Young.

John Wray, who has been at work for First National ever since the West Coast studios of that company resumed operations some weeks ago, has been signed to a long-term contract.

* * *

Richard Bennett has been signed by Paramount for "Second Chances," under direction of Frank Tuttle. The cast will be headed by Charles "Buddy" Rogers and Peggy Shannon. Henry Myers is writing the screen play.

* * *

Reina Valez, sister of Lupe, was given her first role in an English-speaking motion picture a few days ago when she was selected to play the part of a native girl in Helen Twelvetrees' forthcoming production for RKO Pathé.

* * *

Two "Kinds of Women," a film version of Robert E. Sherwood's Broadway play of modern metropolitan life, "This Is New York," will be produced by Pan-American Pictures, Hollywood studios with Richard Arlen, Miriam Hopkins and Roscoe Arbuckle. It is all star cast, it was announced today. It is

Well Versed

Richard Tucker plays his 54th role as a prosecuting attorney in Tiffany's "A Marks the Spot." He knows the routine well enough now to handle a case in a real life court.

Original Music Backgrounds

Original music, instead of stock melodies, should be used more in interpreting the highlights of screen drama, according to Victor Schertzinger, RKO director. Hackneyed musical accompaniment like the "Hearts and Flowers" and "Evening Star" that were always used for certain scenes in oldtime melodramas, are a handicap to many present films.

will be directed by William C. de Mille from a screen play by Benjamin Glazer.

Ralf Haroldo and Guy Kibbee have been placed under term contracts by Warner Bros.

Richard Dix sprang a surprise with his marriage this week in Yuma, Ariz., to Winifred Cox of San Francisco.

Samuel Hoffenstein is writing the screen play for Paramount's "Evenings for Sale," Paul Lukas vehicle.

Billy Dooley (The goofy God) interrupted his vaudeville engagements long enough to take another fling at pictures and has just made "Smart Work," an Educational-Gome comedy under direction of William Goodrich at the Educational Studio. It will be released on another 42-week tour as the star of a Fanchon and Marco unit.

* * *

Tommy Dugan, Eddie Kane, George Chandler, Mathew Betts, Wade Boteler and George Cooper are among the Masquers supporting Dorothy Sebastian, Antonio Moreno and Ned Sparks in the new RKO Pathé comedy, "Wide Open Spaces."

* * *

Following completion of "One Hour With You," in which she will next appear opposite Maurice Chevalier, Jeanette MacDonald will be starred in a series of "Grand Duchess and the Waiter," which Paramount will also produce. The actress will then return to Paris for a star in a stage revival of "The Merry Widow" in French.

* * *

Marie Prevost and Mae Clarke have been signed for leading feminine roles in Columbia's "Blond Baby," in which Jean Harlow will be featured.

* * *

Frank Reicher is dialogue director as well as playing an important role in "A Woman Commands," RKO Pathé vehicle for Pego Negri.

* * *

Morgan Galloway, youthful New York stage player, recently placed under a long term contract with RKO Pictures, will make his film debut in "Ladies of the Jury," the D. W. Griffith production currently being made by Paramount. Morgan and his co-stars are now being coached by "Famous Players."

* * *

Lucien Littlefield is the latest addition to the cast of "High Pressure," in which William Powell will be starred by Warner Bros. The picture is scheduled to go into production Nov. 2 under the direction of Mervyn LeRoy.

Olga Borget, former extra girl, got her legged-for break as a big act across the other day when she was assigned a role in a radio Pictures "The Dove," now in production with Dolores Del Rio starred.

David Manners will play the lead opposite Constance Bennett in RKO Pathé's "Lady With a Past," to be directed by Edward H. Griffith.

Claude Marguevan, general manager of Action Pictures, announces that the cast of "Soil of the Sinners," the fourth in the company's series of 24 features, will include William Collier, Jr., Blanche Myhaféy, James Bradbury, J. Murray Smith, Mathew Betz, Walter Long and Bernard Siegel. Frank Strayer will direct.

* * *

Frank McHugh is working in "Final Edition," last of his series of six newspaper reporter comedies for RKO Pathé. Isabel Witthers, Buster Phelps and Charlotte Meno also are in it, with Harry Myers directing.

Our Passing Show: Mervyn LeRoy spending his vacation at Arrowhead Springs, Jack Warner, Harry Cohn, Eddie Buzzell, Bette McNayr, Bert Roach at the River Dance; Alan E. Rivkin motoring to Universal City.

Through Howard Seiter, Charles Baron and Juliana Johnson, another dance team, were signed for their Hotel Roosevelt Blossom room engagement.

Leo Wraycof, who is making his first appearance playing the romantic lead opposite Sidney Fox in "Murder in the Rue Morgue."

has been learning what the well-dressed man wore in the early part of the 19th century, as this Universal production is set in that colorful period. Wraycof finds himself with sideburns, gray coat, hat, sweeping cape and all the ornate trimmings of the day.

Howard J. Green, who wrote three originals for Columbia, is working on an adaptation with Eugene Chip- pin, based on Ursula Parrott's story, "Love Affair." "Love Affair" also will be made by Columbia.

* * *

For several weeks an extra girl haunted the studio. She can play golf, tennis, basketball and ride a bicycle. One day she got a call to swim—and she doesn't know how to swim.

Andy Clyde says that the reason this country is called the land of the free and the home of the brave is because there are so many divorces and marriages.

* * *

Stuart Walker, who gave Kay Francis her first part in his Indian production, is directing her in "The False Madonna," at Paramount.

* * *

Miriam Hopkins' first stage role was in "The Puppets," in which Fredrich March was starred. Now, the blonde star is appearing with March in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," which Rouben Mamoulian is directing for Paramount.

* * *

Kenneth Treseder and Rolfe Sedan, playing Linney and Frenchy, members of Reed Howes' crew in "Gangway," Fanchon Royce production, constitute an interesting comedy team. Treseder, who has acted in England and Canada, has played in "East of Suez" and "High Road." Sedan, who has played many French roles on the screen, will soon be seen in "Blondes by Proxy" and "Stop That Run."

Andy Clyde, Mack Bennett's stunt comedian, was asked where the best country club to be found. Andy replied that his questioner might look around any country club on a moon light night.

HOLLYWOOD PLAZA

Where the "Famous Doorway of Hospitality" Greets You

M ost convenient location in Hollywood. Next to motion picture studios, theaters, cafes and shops . . . only ten minutes from golf courses, bridge paths, and other amuse- ment places.

The Plaza Hotel is quiet, luxuriously furnished, with deep, restful beds, glistering silver bars and showers, excellent service and cuisine, convenient parking—every modern con- venience for your comfort.

European plan, $2.50 up, single, $4.50 up, double. Special weekly and monthly rates. Look for the "Doorway of Hospitality."
GEOBCE BOLISARDO, who for some time has assisted Bill Steiner of Paramount's camera department, has signed as chief cameraman for one of the latest expeditions of its kind ever to get under way. With Africa, India and Indo-China as its ultimate destinations, this expedition, headed by Capt. A. H. White, sails Oct. 29 on the Bremen.

Next Fall the same group will return to Africa to film a story based on a well-known adventure tale. Negotiations have already started to have Roy Cozine direct this. The expedition is under the auspices of the Field Museum of the Rockefeller Institute.

Robert L. Ripley has completed his "Believe It or Not" short at the Vitaphone studio.

Charles Bowers, producer of the "Bowers Comedies" for Educational, is preparing to film eight more two reel novelty shorts. Harold Muller, who photographed and directed Bowers in the former series, will again act in the same capacities.

Production is scheduled to start about Dec. 1 at the Royal studios in Grantwood, with RCA recording used.

Donald Meek has been added to the cast of "Bubbling Book," a Paramount short featuring Burns and Allen, which goes into production this week under the direction of Aubrey Scotto.

Jane Winton proved a charming hostess at the luncheon given to the press by Sam Sax, head of the Vitaphone studio, during the filming of the latest S. S. Van Dine mystery Short, "Red Herrings on Ice." She proved a most affable gent who, I told exactly how it is done. Director Arthur Hurley brought the luncheon to a close by calling his company back to the stage. Several of the ladys' scribes wondered why they had not been introduced to Walter Petrie, he is that handsome.

Johnny Burke, musical comedy and vaudeville headliner, has been signed to make two more short subjects for Paramount. Eddie Cline is slated to direct.

Harry McNaulton, cast for his fifth role in a Vitaphone short, as one of the suspects in the S. S. Van Dine mystery two-reeler, "Week-End Mystery," has played in numerous stage mysteries, including "Whispering Gallery" and "Number Seven."

"Struggle" Opens Nov. 14

D. W. Griffith's "The Struggle," is scheduled to open Nov. 14 at the Rialto or Rivoli, New York.

Aubrey Scotto is directing the bulk of the Paramount shorts. He has just completed "The Undefeated," featuring Billy House, and "Bubbling Book," written by Aubrey Scotto, and scoring "The Struggle," following which the same team will do "The Swell Head," A Rudy Valee short, tentatively titled "Memory Rhythm," is also scheduled.

Practically the entire score used in the D. W. Griffith picture, "The Struggle," was composed especially for the film by Philip A. Scheib. Besides conducting, composing and scoring "The Struggle," Scheib scored two of the "Terrytoons" series, with the result that he is taking a much needed vacation in Atlantic City.

Something unique in the nature of a contract has been entered into between Paramount and the comedy team of Burns and Allen. Under the terms of this agreement, Paramount is given exclusive rights to their services including vaudeville and musical comedy engagements in addition to the 12 short subjects a year for which they are scheduled.

Having been picked as a perfect motion picture type to play the movie actor in "Ladies of Creation," a Broadway stage play, Charles Campbell finds himself with offers from several of the large producers. Campbell is now appearing in "The Church Mouse," a W. A. Brady production.

Vitaphone has signed 10-year-old David Gorcey for the role of Sam in "One Good Deed," third of the series of Booth Tarkington one-reelers. Younger brother Bob, and father, Edward Gorcey, original father in "Abie's Irish Rose," Billy Hayes, seven-year-old girl, will again portray the role of Penrod, with Alf Goulding directing.

Fred Zimmermann, assistant to Berthold Viertel, was preparing to direct "Her Confession," wrote the dialogue for the German version of "The Big Trail" for Fox before coming East.

"Wayward" in the new title of "Wild Beauty," Nancy Carroll's next for Paramount. Miss Carroll is due here Nov. 16 and the picture will get under way about one week later. Four more features are scheduled beyond this, assuring a busy winter at the New York plant.

A photographic still, which will no doubt be eagerly sought after in future generations, shows Dinah in "The Life of Louis Pasteur," in which most of the exterior shots used in "His Woman" were made.
MAKE LOW OUTRIGHT PRICE ON UNIVERAL SOUND UNIT

Philadelphia—Designed so that it is especially adaptable for theaters of 250 to 5,000 seating capacity, a sound-on-film device known as the “Economy” model and sold outright at a new low price is being put out by the Universal Sound System, Inc., of this city.

Some of the principal features claimed for the new Economy model include: full A. C. or battery operation, dynamically and statically balanced spiral gear drives, no chains, micro-adjusted exciter carriage, half-inch main drive shafts and split guide rollers.

The cost of operation and upkeep with the Economy model must be lower, the company declares, because of the simplicity of design, the ruggedness of construction and the standard quality maintained throughout in material and workmanship. The model fits Powers, Simplex, Mutoscope, Erneman Hans Gutz, etc., projectors, the company claims and can be arranged for A. C. or battery operation.

New De Luxe Portable Put Out by Photophone

RCA Photophone, in addition to its recently introduced portable sound reproducing equipment which was designed to meet the requirements of educational and industrial institutions, has developed a new de luxe special size equipment for the non-theatrical field. With the sound heads, amplifier and loud speaker, which comprise the reproducing unit, a twin turntable, nonsynchronous phonograph with amplifier is included. By connecting the amplifier for the phonograph to the output of the voltage amplifier, sound of sufficient volume for distribution in an auditorium containing 150,000 cubic feet of space may be developed.

This volume of sound, it is said, is approximately the same as that to which the Photophone Standard size equipment is adapted. Two loud speakers may be used if desired, but only one is supplied with each unit.

Donora, Pa.—Thomas A. Gilbert, veteran showman, has resigned as manager of the Liberty.

West Springfield, Mass.—Majestic Theater of West Springfield, Inc., has been incorporated by Jeremiah Campopiano, president; Joseph Campopiano, treasurer; Lawrence and William Campopiano.

Pittsburgh—Harry Blaine of Burgettstown has joined the local Paramount ad sales department under A. Valentour, local manager.

Portage, Pa.—The old Pastime has been reopened by C. O. Baird. It has been remodeled and newly equipped and its name changed to the Rex.

Scranton, Pa.—A. Brown Parker has been transferred by Publix from Birmingham, Ala., to manage the Capitol here in place of Sidney Smith, who is recuperating from a severe attack of pneumonia. Smith is reported to have asked to be transferred to a more favorable climate.

Norristown, Pa.—Louis M. Felt is the new manager of the Westmar.

Easton, Pa.—C. C. Spink has taken over the management of the Third Street here.

Germantown, Pa.—The Bandbox, Germantown's "arty" theater, has been taken over by Robert W. Wolf for a term of years at a rental of $270,000. It will be renovated, equipped with new sound apparatus and reopened late in October under William H. Wolf management.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa.—The following changes are announced by Publix in theaters in the Wilkes-Barre zone: John J. Galvin has returned to the Penn, Wilkes-Barre; Morris Rosenthal, manager of the Capitol, has been transferred to the Springfield, Mass., division; Al Cox has been transferred from the Irving to the Capitol; and Fred Green, Jr., from the Penn to the Irving.

Los Angeles—Ralph Blank, former manager of the Fox Figueras, has been transferred to the Fox Ritz. Murray Pennock, former manager of the Ritz, has been assigned to the Figueras.

"Queenie of Hollywood"
Educational
21 mins.
Unusual Comedy
An Ideal comedy featuring Rita Flynn, Virginia Breck and Jeannette Farren. This one has more solid plot than the average comedy short, and works out into a highly picturesque and very interesting offering. The girls are flat broke in Hollywood, with no prospects of landing jobs at the studio. They decide to take jobs temporarily as chambermaids at a swell hotel. Through a telegram concerning Queenie, the pet pup of one of the girls, the hotel management gets the notion that they are part of a royal family traveling incognito. So they set the girls up in a swell suite, and shower them with expensive service. The showdown is highly amusing. Here is a "different" comedy done with a lot of class.

"Fairlyland Follies"
(Aesop's Fables)
RKO Pathé
8 mins.
A Daisy
Animators John Foster and Harry Bailey have turned out another snappy piece of primitive animation cartoon. It all has to do with Mother Goose, who, as teacher of all the characters in her rhymes, manages to hold them in order until they strike up a jazzy air with a host of instruments. Then Mother Goose turns modern and shows the children and animals how to "step on it." The kids will like this one and so will the grown-ups.

"The Black Spider"
Educational
Class Cartoons
At last they have made a cartoon in this Pappy Terry-Toon that gets away from the routine of the musical stereotyped stuff that has been dished up so monotonously for months. Here there is a clever idea worked out with a lot of animated technique that in spots is beautiful and artistic. The Spider is a terrifying creature who invades the castle, imprisons the king, and disguises himself in its clothes so he can pursue his designs upon the king’s fair daughter. The cartoon conception is handled with fine imagination and ranks way above the average current cartoon.

"Adventures in Africa"
No. 11—"Beasts of the Wilderness"
Vitaphone 3511
12 mins.
Very Good
This episode in the Adventures in Africa series covers the African veldt. It is principally a collection of some remarkable and unusual shots of wild animals. The camera got sufficiently close to the herds to prevent some very real pictorial records seldom seen in these African pictures.

Ted Husing in "Sportslants"
Vitaphone 5501
9 mins.
Fair
Just an ordinary reel depicting various sports, such as ping pong, diving, handball and lacrosse, with the champions in the various fields demonstrating their technique. Ted Husing carries on a running fire of comment that is interesting, but the camera work is just fair, and the presentation not in any way distinguished.

Daphne Pollard in "Oh Marry Me"
RKO Pathé
18 mins.
Weak Slopestick
Inane low comedy and a useless story give this two-reeler a low rating. The sketch takes place in a boarding house where Daphne Pollard and Dot Farley attempt to capture the affections of James Finlayson, another roomer. James is suffering with a bad cold, so Dot decides to stay at home and nurse James while Daphne drives his taxi. While Daphne is away Dot marries James and all Daphne gets for her trouble is a handful of police tickets.

Rosco Ates in "The Gland Parade"
Radio Pictures
Fast Laugh Number
This is one of the fastest and funniest of the Rosco Ates series turned out by the Los Angeles studio. In the role of a stuttering window cleaner, Ates gets into all sorts of trouble, being mistaken alternately for a gink who agreed to have one of his glands grafted onto another man, then as a dentist yanking out another man’s wrong tooth, and in turn being mistaken by the real dentist for his patient, resulting in Rosco having one of his own teeth pulled out, and finally, being a female daimon and submitting to the nance attentions of a couple of burlesque culture workers. For the windup, the entire group that is chasing Rosco becomes bunched on a fire escape, which gives way from the weight and deposits them in the street. Good all the way, and a scream at many points.

Harry Richman in "Clinching a Sale"
Paramount
Good Novelty Skit
As a hooch salesman who delivers his sales talk in song, together with some dancing, Harry Richman has a couple of neat ideas. He sings and does some vocal numbers and performs a few of his classsy steps in order to break down the customer’s guard and, in turn, show the wife, in the end he is selling himself to her. A neat little novelty that should please.

"Football Forty Years Ago"
Universal
Flat
This is the first in the "Pop" Warner-Starr short series and is the sort of a freak reel, showing Coach Warner’s team disguised in the regalia of the early nineties, as they were considered highly sensational in those days. But on the screen it all shapes up very tame, in contrast with the scientific and snappy gridiron work of the present day. There is very little class in the production end of this reel.

"Strange As It Seems"
RKO Pathé
No. (14)
8 mins.
Weak
This is a weak number in the series, with only one or two of the usual shots arousing more than passing interest. It is built up from such "unnusual" incidents as a family with five sets of twins and a blind man operating a telephone switchboard. These incidents in themselves are interesting, but not sufficiently unique to feature in a reel that purports to be out of the usual. Only one sequence carries a real kick, and that concerns a bee specialising in the trick plays which bees use, such as making a beard out of them, and putting a handful of them in his mouth.

"The Song of the Voodoo"
(Vagabond Adventure)
RKO Pathé
9 mins.
Good Travelogue
Scenes along the Caribbean and in the island of Haiti make up this interesting travel talk. Natives at the market, the smoking of green gourds, silversmiths at work and a visit to the studios of Charles Normil the sculptor lead up to a sequence purported to be actual scenes of a voodoo dance. The descriptive matter of the voodoo ceremony is more interesting than the photographs.

"Harem Secrets"
Educational
Oriental Atmosphere
A Romantic Journey adventure in Morocco, with Claude Fleming conducting a trip through the harems of an Arabian prince. The potentiates put on a special entertainment for him, with his army, including riding their fast steeds in battle array. Then the dancing girls are brought on, while the ladies of the harem are the spectators. The reel is filled with Oriental atmosphere, and offers phases very seldom caught by the camera for the screen. Done in Multicolor, with Claude Fleming as narrator making the scenes very interesting with his chatty comments.

"Out Stepping"
Universal
Old Gags
Looks like a rehash of a lot of old gags that have been selected from Universal reels of ten years ago. Don L. (Steve) Brodie for some unknown reason is featured as the comic, but either the material was too tough for him to extract comedy from or he has no comedy in him. Either way, it shapes up as a paragon.

THE MAD GENIUS

GOOD ENTERTAINMENT FOR ADULT AUDIENCES. COMEDY RELIEF HELPS DRAMATIC STORY.

This is a familiar type of Barrymore vehicle, but helped considerably by occasional comedy injections from the dead-panned and clever Charles Butterworth. Barrymore does a ballet impresario with a short-length foot whose ambition in life is to create a stellar dancer out of a boy. When the young chap falls in love with another dancer, played by Marian Marsh, he tries to break up the romance, but the couple run away to Paris. Barrymore eventually convinces the girl that being a professional means a career and she goes away with another. The imperious Mr. Butterworth develops into a demi-premiere, thus clearing the way for the reunion of the lovers. Barrymore plays Barrymore. Donald Cook is good at the boy and the rest of the cast does well enough.

SPOLENSHY CHANCE

William Collier, Jr., Claudia Dell Peerless 55 mins.

ENTERTAINING AND SPEEDY DRAMA OF THE TURF COMBINING THRILLS, ROMANCE, LAUGHS AND SONGS.

Director Al Herman has turned out a horse-race drama that carries a diversity of entertainment and several strikingly beautiful scenes. The story is fresh and logically permits Claudia Dell to sing a love song. A quartette of negro stable-boys also render a couple of Southern airs. The story concerns William Collier, Jr., who as an apprentice jockey, secures a riding contract and subsequently is ruled off the track on a technicality, deserting his sweetheart, Miss Dell. He is later found by "Horse-shoe" Gauvreau, who gives him a job as a jockey boy, and it is Gauvreau who brings him to Claudia. Given a chance to ride in the stakes race, Willie gets up from a sick bed and wins the race and his girl. The fact that Gauvreau as "Horseshoes" contributes much comedy relief, as well as a fine running and a good plot.

chinatown after dark

Action Pictures 59 mins.

FAST ACTION MELLER WITH LOTS OF COLORFUL ATMOSPHERE AND STRONG CAST MAKES THIS A POP NUMBER FOR THE CROWDS.

Getting back to first principles in the horse-race business, this offering supplies plenty of the action and excitement which we were wont to get in the old silent days. It is frankly a stunt picture done with a touch of the circus that carries an undeniable kick with its suspense and Chinese menace. The cast is well picked, with Doris Lloyd doing a swell characterization as a clever Chinese girl as the master mind of the gang. Rex Lease and Barbara Kent are the sweetheart team, with Edmund Lowe in the role of a dignified mandarin. The action revolves about a mysterious ancient Oriental dagger which is brought in by a corporal from Shanghai to this country. All sorts of intrigue develops in an effort to get possession of the dagger which contains a valuable jewel concealed in the hilt. Works up to a thrill climax with Carmel being exposed as the big con artist. Good number for the neighborhoods and the horse fans.

LARIATS AND SIX SHOOTERS

AVERAGE WESTERN DEALING WITH SMUGGLING OVER THE MEXICAN BORDER.

The attempts of Jack Perrin, as deputy sheriff, to break up a gang of smugglers, makes up the story for this popular stuff, but that type of fan should like it. In one of his campaigns against the smugglers, Perrin has a hand-to-hand fight with the second command of the gang. Perrin is knocked out from a blow on the head. The leader of the band, who has had a dispute with his helper, shoots him while Perrin is unconscious. Perrin is accused of the murder, but he escapes with the help of the sheriff. The leader of the smugglers is finally brought to justice through his girl, who confesses to the sheriff's daughter, and the ring is broken up.

HEROES ALL

Imperial Distributing 50 mins.

FAIRLY INTERESTING REHASH OF OLD WAR FILMS WITH SYNCHRONIZED DESCRIPTIVE TALK AND MUSIC.

Very few shots of soldiers in action during the world war that have not been seen during the past ten years are contained in this moderately entertaining war picture. The picture opens with a long talk between Emil Gauvreau and General John J. Bradley and finishes in the same manner. In between are four reels of war film showing French, Italian, Russian, English and finally American troops in action. There is an abundance of big gun firing and shots of soldiers in the trenches. Hand-to-hand fighting and pictures of soldiers being killed or wounded as they go over the top may prove repulsive to many. The descriptive line is well written and forcefully delivered. No attempt has been made to synchronize synthetic effects. A colorful musical background, played on the organ by Emil Velazco, adds to the entertainment value. A good job has been done in the editing and cutting.

THRELL MELLER FEATURING DICK TALMADGE IN HIS FAST ACTION STUNTS AS A REPORTER. HAS A KICK FOR ACTION FANS.

In this one, Dick Talmadge forsores the open spaces and does his stuff as a newspaper reporter on a big city daily. The entire plot was designed to give the stunt actor a chance to do his action antics, and he does not disappoint. While Dick is in action, the fans will go for it strongly, for he outdoes himself in the quality of his leaps, jumps and all around acrobatics to get the thrills into the footage. It must be taken purely as a meller featuring the thrill lad, and as such it will get the boys and girls.-Mixed up with the head of a gang, who frames him for a murder, Dick takes the rap, escapes from the police and adds up to the stunts which pin the crime on the gang leader.

The Great Pie Mystery

Educational 21 mins

A Mack Sennett comedy that spoofs the current craze for mystery films. It starts out with a good idea, but they fail to keep the track clear, and up the wrong end with a disjointed continuity that spoils the action and the interest. Harry Gribbon is the goofy boy from the country who visits the big city, gets himself in a jam. Harry Myers is the “scientific” detective explaining to the reporter how he solved the baffling mystery of the missing garter. It is all a lot of funny nonsense, which could have been made twice as funny if they had held to the main idea and not gone off on side alleys.

A Sentimental Romance

Frida's Song 20 mins.

Tedious and boresome, this short will not click with American audiences. It has evidently been made with the idea of producing an artistic masterpiece but it is not acceptable film fare. Scenes of a hurricane, of trees falling, of an angry sea, of threatening clouds and of death symbolizing the words of a song which is sung by a girl at a grand piano. As the scenes and mood change, her costume and the tempo of her song also change. It is long drawn out and contains three and four repetitions of every scene shown. Photographic is the reel’s only entertaining element.

Good Football

The next in the Football for the fans series, this picture, which is produced by Coach Howard Jones of the University of Southern California, is put through a series of plays that call penalties. He is assisted by several well known coaches from other colleges, who personally explain different penalties. The team shows the plays in actual practice. The plays are followed by slow motion shots showing in detail the different penalties. This is not difficult as the penalty. Very interesting, especially so the to the legation of football fans who follow the fine points of the game.

Good Burlesque 7 mins.

This Paul Terry-Toon is a clever burlesque on grand opera, with the hero rescuing his girl from the villain who has imprisoned her in the castle. As villain and hero battle, they stop in the midst of their scrap to warble in tenor and basso, while the heroine kicks in with her soprano.

The Symbol of Mercy

William J. Ganz 10 mins.

Big Appeal

This short was made for the American Red Cross and aside from its definite appeal for the organization, there is an abundance of interest and excitement in its content. Not only is the relief work of the Red Cross depicted, but the causes that lead to the destruction of cities are colorfully shown and described. Hurricanes, floods and tornadoes in all their fury, are flashed in well edited sequences. Some thrilling shots have been gathered for this release which stands out as one of the best propaganda films produced. This show in the presence of Mr. J. J. Cross, radio announcer, handles the synchronized talk, and does a fine job. Editing by Major S. H. MacKean is commendable.

Paramount

A snappy colored aggregation provides the highlight on the Paramount stage this week. Cab Calloway and His Cotton Club Orchestra, of Harlem and radio fame, heads the all-colored revue, produced by Boris Petroff. Also in it are Cora La Red, Roy Atkin and Little Bits of the new Cotton Club floor show, and the Dave Gould Septet. In addition there is a Frank Cambria musical tableau, "The Concert," featuring Harrison and Fisher, dancers; Miriam Lax, soprano; Leo Stroffek, violinist, the Paramount Male Quartet and David Bines Ballet. Irvin Talbot directs the Paramount Orchestra, and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Crawford do a joint organ concert.

Roxy

Memories of gold rush days are revived by the current Roxy presentation, "Days of '49," a warm and colorful production of the Old West and Tia Juana staged by Clark Robinson. Besides employing the services of various Roxy regulars, the performers include Bob Robbeck and his trained horse, Riding Bob Rogers, Monroe and Grant, Zanou and Kas, Arthur Hamby, Peggy Price, Bert Faye, a Mexican string orchestra, cowboys, cowgirls, Indians, etc. Patricia Bowman dances, and there are vocal bits.

The success of many of our great corporations and business enterprises has been built upon the solid foundation of successful advertising yet, there is nothing mysterious in either the theory or practice of advertising. It is simply telling your story to those you wish to reach through the medium that offers you the least waste circulation at an economical rate. Such a publication is The Film Daily. It is filmdom's pioneer daily, backed by fourteen years of reader confidence. The Film Daily is known in every spot throughout the entire world where pictures are made, distributed, or exhibited. It has played its modest part in the progress of a great industry and still believes that the greatest era of prosperity for the screen is still to come.

RKO Pathe—We visit Mr. Rogers—By Jack Alcoate

THIS lot is one of the "hot" spots of Hollywood. As we were Rolls-Royced up to the Pathe gate, we could not help recalling visits of the past. Here was the stamping ground of pioneering and dynamic Tom Ince. On this lot DeMille held forth in all his glory, and here it was that Samuel Goldwyn made some of his best productions. Ten years ago we dined in the same ship-of-state dining room, and it seemed but yesterday. But today is another day. In charge of RKO Pathe production, and doing a swell all-around job, is the suave, dapper, Charlie Rogers. As first lieutenant we find Harry "Joe" Brown. Together they make a pretty solid and substantial team. Formerly this lot was like "Topsy." It just grew. It is immediately impressed with its general air of studio efficiency.

A RATHER quick glance at the list of product from the bakers in this bakeshop proves rather conclusively that they know how to dish up box-office product. We happen to know that this same Mr. Rogers is a good round bundle of frogs under his budget, and that alone, in these days, deserves at least a diploma. The 1931 schedule consisted of 22 features, 6 westerns and 42 two-reelers. There has been a consistent click, from those now playing, all along the line. Now in work are "Suicide Fleet," which looms big; "The Second Shot," with Helen Twelvetrees; Constance Bennett in "Lady with a Past," and "Prestige," the Ann Harding story to be done in Florida.

A N'lan' sakes, will this Pola Negri picture prove a delightful surprise. They were shooting the final scenes the day we called. A

Union Problems Figured In Legit. Circuit Downfall

Lack of co-operation from unions is one of the factors responsible for the present condition of Shubert Theaters, according to C. P. In addition to houses elsewhere in the country the Shuberts have 23 in New York.

Activities of relief committees, broadcasting of relief information by radio, and speeches by prominent citizens urging the public to meet the crisis by giving liberally, are having an effect on the box-office that may become serious unless the situation is handled in a way that will overcome this influence, says Sidney E. visit with director Paul Stein brought back fond memories of PILSEN and our trips to Berlin. He is bringing back to the screen a new Pola. More captivating and dashing than ever in this picture called "A Woman Commandrs." And here's a bit of gossip: Her diction is perfect and her figure is as trim as that of a school girl. We were so impressed with this one that we asked to see a bit of the picture. After sitting through several sequences with impresario Rogers, we have a rather decided hunch that this vehicle will bring her back with a resounding bang. MR. WEINSTOCK gave us a great IDEA FOR YOU!

He took our big product ad and enlarged it into a One Sheet for his Cameo Theatre lobby in Hartford, Conn.

AND NOW YOU CAN GET ONE FREE!

FIRST WE MADE this announcement up into a newspaper ad. Hundreds of theatres got free mats to tell their patrons they had the great M-G-M product. You can still get one of the mats to announce your M-G-M service. And now in addition we’ve made it up as a special One Sheet for lobby display. Get yours FREE!
A Sound Investment

IT'S no news to live managers that sound, well-timed advertising is justified. A planned exploitation offensive is the best defensive, particularly under depressed business conditions. No matter what the condition of the country, most of its people seek diversion and amusement. They are less imaginative or emotional now than they ever were. They are all ready to "go somewhere," but where they go depends upon which attractions they are most interested in and curious about, i.e., which are best advertised. Audiences are not alone waiting but are actually anxious to patronize good entertainment. Judicious and efficient advertising will attract these people who want to escape from the routine of everyday life, are eager for the softening touch of romance. When business is running smoothly, average effort can get by, as there is no apparent pressing need for initiative. When the going gets rough, a go-getting attitude is essential. It is during such periods that resourceful management demonstrates its worth. Under such conditions ability is put to the most rigid test. Instead of folding our hands and waiting for things to turn up, we have to go out and turn them up, radical times demand radical methods. Advertising must be of the sort that can carry a stressed load. Campaigns must be carefully planned and forcefully carried out. No other force can as readily speed up patronage and bring fresh impetus to the box-office...Consistent, good advertising is an investment—not an expense. Nothing will steady the box-office so quickly. Business is waiting. If you are not getting your share, there may be something wrong with your advertising. No part of your operation deserves more of your attention, or rewards it more.

Revival Gets Play
On "Desert Song"

IN looking over the bookings for his Ottawa houses, J. P. Nolan realized that there was a dearth of screen operettas. His people had always liked them and so he determined to make a revival of one of the old ones at the Avalon. The operetta selected was "The Desert Song," and it was announced for Sept. 21st, 22nd and 23rd. In a letter which went to the members of the Ottawa Drama League, Nolan called attention to the success of "The Desert Song" when originally presented in the city and followed this with a liberal newspaper campaign. The revival met with so much success that Nolan announced a return booking of the picture for Sept. 28th, 29th and 30th. The return booking was even more successful than the previous one.

Tied-In with Flying Circus

MANAGER HARRY C. STOY A WELL tied-up with the opposition to plug "The Lawyer's Secret" at the Public—Paramount, Middletown, N. Y. First, Stowell made arrangements with a coffee shoppe whereby this establishment printed 10,000 throwaways containing co-operative copy about the coffee shoppe, theater and flying circus. The flying circus was in town on a Sunday and Monday. These people were induced at no cost to the theater to drop these throwaways over the town during one of their dinner breaks.

'Homicide Squad' and 'Lenox' Frisco's Pips
At $18,000—$46,000

Competition at razor edge this week. A modicum of superior pictures is boosting grosses to higher than usual levels, although a flock of Wednesday openings brought down first day grosses a bit.
Garbo, Carrillo and Arliss share honors. 'Susan Lenox' is pulling a swell $46,000 for eight days at the Fox and Leo Carrillo's 'Homicide Squad' is topping the usual Golden Gate intake by several grand with $18,000.

Golden Gate (RKO) (2,844; 30-40-65) — 'Homicide Squad' (U) and vaude. Intake mighty sweet at $18,000, several thou over previous weeks. Last week 'Reckless Hour' (FN) did $14,000.

Business is GREAT with UNIVERSAL
SAM SAX has signed the Horace Heidt Band for one of the "Melody Masters" series which are being directed by Roy Mack. This will make the third Vitaphone appearance of this well known band composed of California College boys. The beauty about getting the Heidt band from a production standpoint, is the fact that it is unnecessary to employ any outside specialists, because each member of the band can sing, dance and act. The band is a complete entertaining unit in itself.

Paramount Notes: Natalie Ham mond, daughter of John Hay Hammond, visiting the studio . . . Frank Heath, casting director, telling about his ride in the Goodyear Blimp with Ray Cozine and Fred Schell . . . Heath says an actor called out to him about a job as the blimp passed the Empire State Bldg. tower.

Little Billy Hayes, Sam Sax's seven year old find, is getting five bucks a day for the use of his dog, Duke, in "One Good Deed," the third of the series of Booth Tarkington Juvenile Stories being made by Vitaphone. The studio also has to supply Duke's lunch. Billy took part of the first five dollars the dog earned in "Snakes Alive," and treated Duke to a new collar.

Big Attendance Expected
At Relief Meet Tomorrow

Indications are that there will be a big attendance at the unemployment relief drive meeting to be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the Astor Theater. Circuit and independent theater employees and executives will attend. Speakers will be Will H. Hays, Mayor James J. Walker, Charles L. O'Reilly and Attorney Louis Nizer.

By RALPH WILK

HOLLYWOOD

RALPH BLOCH has completed his first novel, "Fellow Mortal," which is laid in New York, Washington, and Paris, during 1923 and 1934. It is one of the few novels written by a member of a film colony, which does not deal with Hollywood.

Dwight Caldwell, film editor at Larry Darmour's studio, is back at work following a short vacation. He will edit the new Mickey McGuire comedy, which will be directed by J. A. Duffy.

Back in the days when the RKO Pathe studios were the Thomas H. Ince studios, Bradley King was one of Ince's most prolific writers. Now Miss King is at the same studio and is doing the adaptation and dialogue for "Women Need Love," which will star Ann Harding.

A Los Angeles neighborhood exhibitor sup- plied "Jinks" and others when he used only James Gleason's name on his marquees in connection with the showing of "A Tree Soul."

Sarah Y. Mason, who wrote the screen play and dialogue for "Peg O' My Heart," is now working with Leo McCarthy on "Polly of the Circus," which will be directed by McCarthy.

The third "Torchy" comedy, "Torchy Comes Through," is in production at Educational, with C. C. Burr directing, assisted by Allen Smiley, Ray Cooke and Dorothy Dix are again featured, with their support included are Frank Pelfrey, Edmund Corre, Charles Kalu and Adolph Milar.

George Sidney and Oscar Apfel are late additions to "High Pressure," in which Warner Bros. will star William Powell.

Esther Ralphson's baby makes its screen début at the age of two weeks in Tiffany's new "Voice of Hollywood" release.

When Frank Marsales, musical di- rector for Harman-Ising Studios, which produces "Jockey Turn" and "Merry Melodies," declared he was too busy to go to football games and did not play his studio, Rob- ert Edmunds, the cartoonist, was an interested listener. "However, Frank does a lot of scoring in a day," Frank commented.

Monte Westmore, oldest of the famous fam- ily of make-up specialists, has been engaged by Columbia as make-up artist on Barbara Stanwyck's, "Forbidden," being directed by Frank Capra.

Edward Sedgwick has been se- lected to direct Columbia's football production, tentatively titled "Yellow," with Jack Holt and Richard Cromwell.

Sally O'Neill and William Bakewell begin work together soon in "First Cabin," at the Fox studio. Others in the cast will be Ralph Morgan, H. B. Warner, Charlotte Greenwood, Ferdinand Munier and Joe Brown. Marcel Varnel will direct.

Tully Marshall has been signed for Paramount as a role in "The Man I Killed."

Polly Ann Young, Edan Marian and Noble Johnson have been added to the cast of Uni- versal's, "Murders in the Rue Morgue." Grace Hampton, Tyrrel Davis and W. I. Holme are additions to the cast of "The Unexpected Father," featuring Slim Summerville and ZaSu Pitts. Thornton V. Freeland is direct- ing.

Two additions to the cast of Ruth Chatterton's new Paramount picture, "Tomorrow and Tomorrow," are Winter Hall and Lillian West.

 Casting has been completed on a new Mack Sennett-Andrée Clyde comedy, titled "Let's Go Fishing," and production is sched- uled next month. In the cast are: Charlie默f Babe Stafford, Arthur Stone and Dorothy Granger will head Clyde's supporting cast.

Martin Cornick of Fox is now the tennis champion of North Hollywood. He also won a challenge match from John Fowler, who won with Fox studio tournament honors.

Leo Carrillo's personal valet-cook-butler, Ling, has been with him since he was a child. An interviewer on the "Race track" set, in which Carrillo was playing, wanted to get one of those "faithful servants" ex- pressions from Ling and asked how long he had been with Carrillo. "Too dam long," was the answer.

Tim Whelan, Alfred Jackson and Joseph Fields have been assigned by RKO the task of writing the dis- course and adaptation for the next Wheeler and Woolsey film, "Girl Crazy." Already cast with Wheeler and Woolsey are Dorothy Lee, Kitty Kelly and Hugh Herbert.

The "Wa-Wa" brigade has been ordered out of Hollywood. The brigade comprises atmosphere players who never can think of concentrating inner life scenes; instead of making intelligent conversation, they murmur "Wa-Was," using Robert Milton, direct- ing "Husband's Holiday" for Paramount, was the first to ban the "Wa Wa" from the set.

Robert Preanell has written an un- titled original, which will co-feature Irene Dunne and Pat O'Brien at RKO. Presnell was formerly with First National and Paramount.

Susanne Fleming, New York stage actress, has been signed to play a role in Edna May Oliver's next starring vehicle for Radio Pic- tures, "Ladies of the Jury," to be directed by Lowell Sherman. It was adapted by Salisbury Field.

It is not generally known that the late Charles Webb Murphy, one-time owner of the Chicago Cubs, built a very expensive theater in his home town, Wilmington, O., which has a population of only 5,000.

Irene Dunne, who was recently elevated to stardom in "Consolation Marriage" for Radio Pictures, has been assigned to play the starring role in the forthcoming production, "Hula Babaloo," which was originally announced for Mary Astor. Laurence Olivier, former stage player, and recently signed to a con- tract by Radio, is to have the featured role opposite the star. Already announced to appear in "Hula Babaloo" are John Halliday and Hugh Herbert, and it is to be directed by Gregory LaCava.

Dorothy Jordan is to play the principal girl role in RKO-Radio Pictures' air film, "The Lost Squadron, starring Richard Dix.

The camel has a real rival in the antelope chipmunk, according to Bill Lucas, narrator for "Comrades in the Desert," which was made by the Allen Brothers, naturalists, in connection with Elmer Clifton. Lucas learned that nature endowed the chipmunk with a special internal works that changes dry starch into liquid to run his engine—primarily distil- lery—hence, the chipmunk has no craving for water.

William Collier, Sr., recently as- signed to direct the dialogue in "Stepping Sisters," will play a role in the same film.

Over in dead old Lunnon, Dave Bader, who devoted considerable time to putting out "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" in England, is acting as special exploitation representative for Universal. In the mean- time, he has been missed during the Los Angeles opera season and at the Hollywood Bowl.

Jean Hersholt, head of the Danish Olympic Games committee in this country, and personal representative of the King of Denmark in American arrangements for the coming of the Nordic athletes, announces that the Danish athletes will positively appear at the 1932 Olympic games in Los Angeles, despite any reports to the contrary.

"Dick" Talmadge, ace of screen daredevils, has gone bushy. His new floral emporium in Hollywood is located in a magnificent all marble building. His spare time for years has been spent in cultivating flowers at his several acres home in the Tiger Trail area of Brentwood, where he has hundreds of varieties of rare blooms, with more than four hundred gladiolus in experiment for improvement of the strain. His new shop is known as Tal- madge-Jones, with Mrs. Grover Jones in charge. He is not quitting pictures, but is simply developing his hobby.

Stella Moore will play her second consecutive important role, it was announced, at Paramount's Holly- wood studios.

statistical service states, and the outlook for the New Year, if the pace of the past two months continues, is for a substantial increase. The following are the conclusions:

1. The probable increase in attendance coincident with general business improvement is estimated at 15%.
2. The continuation of the production of superior pictures at a relatively low cost.
3. Increasing outlets in the form of the miniature theater, home movies and a potential circuit of 16 mm theaters.
4. Further cutting down of time between productions and similar procedure to complete the program of cost reduction, and television...

Educational
—and its workshops

By JACK ALICOATE

The Hollywood activities of Educational are far-flung. To cover them all in a day is no small assignment, but we did it, thanks to the drive and navigating ability of our trusty pilot, Ralph Wilks, of the southampton Wilks. Educational's hottest project subject for the season is a completed, leaving the familiar Educational studio, for the moment, practically dark. Over at Tiffany we found the energetic Sam Ischoff as busy as an exhibitor at chorus girls' convention. Here is virtually a one-man production department, at work 24 hours out of 24. Just finished a short one in "Left Over Ladies." Now on "Farks the Spot," "Hotel Continental" and "Men of the Evening" to follow, Sam Zierler is turning out the Cruze-Sono Art product. Four to come to complete the Educational releasing arrangement, "Race Walk" just previewed, received excellent notices. Zierler tells us the floor on the way look pretty boxy, they are "Luxury Girl," "Last Ile," "Those We Love" and "Silent Spring."

BOOKS FOR FEM PATRONS
DOUBLES PEEKSKILL BIZ

In the first release of the Popular Classics business-stimulating plan sponsored by Edward Golden, where by books and book-ends are given free to women patrons, the Peckskill doubled its regular business last Thursday, according to Joseph R. Singer, manager.

The idea is to hand out one book each week, then a book-end on each of the next two Thursdays, giving the patrons a set that includes "Treasure Island," "Scarlet Letter," "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," "Three Musketeers" and other well-known classics.

With the new Paramount playing "A Free Soul" as opposition, the Peckskill drew 379 women, against an average of 200, says Singer. There were also some 100 kids in the audience who night, compared with few or none on other nights.

Gross was about $500, compared with an ordinary take of $200, and it cost the theater about $80 for the books.

Two local furniture stores displayed a set of books in their windows with a sign telling the folks to get the books at the theater and then come to the store and buy a stand for them.

First New York presentation of Golden's attendance stimulator will take place in the Majestic and Up-town of the Lee R. Ohc circuit.

Ferndale Film Studios promise large plant on Long Island.

THE PASSING OF Thomas Edison recalls the story of how Oscar Apfel came to be the first director of a talking picture. Oscar is now playing a part in Paramount’s “Sooky” back in 1911, he became one of the very first film directors when he joined the Thomas Edison Film Company in New York. In those days they made nothing but one-reelers. Then they decided to make a super production—a two-reeler. “Aida” was the result, which directed and in 1912 Edison invented his camera. He decided to film seven minutes for the “epic.” He also ruled the capacity of the disc record. Some time later, Mister Apfel also made the first outdoor talkie, a seven-minute tableau of a scene from “The Bohemian Girl.” With Lilian Snell playing the lead. It was recorded in the Orange Hills, with a large group of extras as singing gypsies.

TH FIRST sound studio consisted of a large tent near the inventor’s office. So Oscar started in as the first talking picture director with a tableau version of the prison scene from “Faust” that was in December, 1912. In this play Ernest Torrence made his debut as a talking picture actor. He appeared in the role of Mephisto. Lillian Snelling of the Metropolitan Opera Company, sang the Madrigal. The camera was connected with a wire pulley to a phonograph machine. And the camera recorded a huge horn that stretched over the recording machine over the heads of the player. The director was limited to between seven minutes for the talking “epic.” It was the speed of the disc record. Some time later, Mr. Apfel also made the first outdoor talkie, a seven-minute tableau of a scene from “The Bohemian Girl.”

IT WAS not until the next year that Edison decided his process was perfected enough to show in public, the first projection was at the Colonial Theater in New York, on Feb. 17, 1913. after showing in various theaters throughout the country, the invention was finally scrapped. Either the projection machine or the phonograph was slow in starting. It was thrown out of sync. and the audience gave it the razz. But that was how sound-on-film started, no matter what claims anyone else may make.

IT IS an open question whether Mister Apfel is proud or sorry for being the first director to introduce the talking screen. He was a good guy, and many other directors, including the men who were in the business. He was working on a project that would revolutionize the film industry. He was making films for the William Farnum for Bill Fox. Incidentally, Oscar holds another record. He introduced yours truly to the film business. He was assigned to the adaptation of the novel, "The Man from the Bitter Roots." He was right after that both Oscar and his Fox. And we quit writing for the screen, and if you should ever see that ole book, “Bitter Roots,” you’ll understand perfectly.

BING CROSBY, radio singer, signed his contract with Paramount via a talking picture. It will be filed away as a properly proper legal document. A record long distance call of half a dozen countries occurred on Tuesday night. Sheehan, Fox foreign manager, received a report from Charles Munro, director of Hoyt’s theater in Sydney, Australia, on Fox pictures just shown at the Plaza in Sydney and the Regent in Melbourne.

Appellate Court Upholds Exhib's Choice of Unions

In a decision upholding the right of a theater to exercise its choice of unions in the employment of operators, the New York State Court of Appeals has permanently enjoined Local 306, Operators Union, from picketing the New United States and the New Broadway, Brooklyn theaters employing projectionists from the rival Empire State Operators' union. The ruling also enjoins Local 306 from carrying signs or distributing notices of any kind in front of or in the vicinity of these theaters. The State Supreme Court previously had decided while in favor of the Empire State, with Local 306 appealing the decision.

Skouras Now Linked in Operation With Two Circuits

W. R. Sheehan
— shows us the countryside

A VISIT with Gen. Sheehan of the Fox Field Artillery is always interesting, usually illuminating, oftentimes controversial, and frequently all three. Taken in a Lincoln, at 60 miles per, for 150 miles, makes us all spiffy. English fellows would say, a bright and jolly adventure. Hey, what! There is no dog about Winnie Sheehan. He has no fancy illusions about the business. As production head he is constantly in the saddle. He believes in strict studio allegiance and enthusiastic cooperation, and conducts the Fox producing activities with an eminently fair, but consistently dominant hand. The production activities of this outfit are perhaps the broadest on the Coast. Both Movietone City and the Hollywood studio at Sunset and Western are in operation. For one mechanically inclined, this Movietone City is a veritable fairground and the last word in sound perfection and achievement. Like Westminster Abbey, Napoleon's Tomb and the Washington Monument, no trip to Southern California is complete without a visit to the most imposing of all studio layouts, Movietone City.

THERE seemed to be considerable enthusiasm around the lot over Henry King's "Over the Hill." They were shooting the final scenes the day of our visit. Sandpapering our fingers, we chiselled our way into seeing a first rough print, and lady, if you're asking, here's a picture. Perhaps we're just an old softy, but the tears rolled down our cheeks as jolly as doughnuts. We were ashamed to look around, but when we did there were tears of others, splashing splashes in every direction. The fast-coming Jimmy Dunn and Sally Ellers (Continued on Page 2)

Berlin (By Cable) — move to place the industry on a solid basis. Here have them to M-G-M Ad. Dept., 1540 B'way, N. Y. C.
ONE OF the most spectacular motion pictures ever made never reached the screens of the nation— it was "The Birth of A Race" made in 1917-18— which traced the development of the Negro race from the earliest sublimate times down to the Big War. Several wealthy Chicago cullud gentlemen backed the venture with plenty of dough for they kept kicking in for over a year steady. the Frohman Amusement Company was also actively interested the pix was shot in Tampa, Florida and it had al the Floridians excited for they figured that with this big production as a starter, Hollywood was due to change its locale to their state.

THE PIX wound up in Camp Dix for the trench scenes which were to be the big climax with a war sequence the old Amity Street Armory in Flushing, Long Island, was used for the stude when the company came north finally everything was set for the gala opening the epic was cut from about 90 reels to 18 so it opened at the Blackstone theater in Chi and the Washington authorities stepped in and closed the show at the premiere the Amnitude was just about to be signed the Government didn't want any pix with war propaganda to gum up the works so "The Birth of A Race" is buried away in some film vault unheralded, unsuspecting just another of those things that came to prominence and never earned a nickel for its backers and the very first war pix to be made after that "The Four Horsemen" rolled out three years later some of the most spectacular mob scenes ever filmed are contained in the buried epic.

OUT ON the Universal lot director Roland Brown read about this college psychologist who declared that whistling indicates a moron type of mind so he prepared a list headed "Musical Morons" and any nagg girl caught whistling around the stude got his name on the list one day Master Laemmle Jontor came around feelin' quite happy over things in general so he was whistlin' musical Moron list mysteriously disappeared and it should when you stop to think that a bunch of historical celebs who were anything but morons were invererate whistlers for frinstance Abe Lincoln, Charles Dickens, Robert Mantell, Robert Louis Stevenson and if ya want to go back a few yars there was Alexander the Great and Michael Angelo and one of the earliest works of art sculptured on the wall of his tomb shows an Egyptian kink with his lips puckerin' in a pronounced whistle or was he just giving the well known razz to his prime minister all of which makes us feel very happy and we personally are whistling AGAIN

“Leftover Ladies”

Gripping drama of woman’s struggle for a place in the sun

Featuring

Claudia Dell, Walter Byron and Marjorie Rambeau

“This picture is acted with polish and quite remarkable sincerity by every member of the cast. Claudia Dell as Patricia is most appealing—and very pretty. Marjorie Rambeau gives an outstanding performance.

‘Leftover Ladies’ is cleverly dialogued and directed and beautifully staged and costumed. The story has depth as well as snap and will make any woman, gazing upon husband and home with the look of love grown tired, pause and do a little thinking.”

By RALPH WILK

HOLLYWOOD

BRADLEY KING has taken up quarters at the RKO Pathé studio to write the screen play for the new Ann Harding picture, “Women Need Love”, based on a novel by Ursula Parratt.

Bill Boyd, Director Al Rogell and a unit of 12 persons leave for a month in the High Sierras, to make first scenes for “Bad Timers”, an original by Marion Jackson.

Harry Lieb, veteran film editor, is editing “Speed”, which Vin Moore directed for Universal.

Our Passing Show: Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., Joan Crawford, L. E. Behymer, Lee Shumway, Rob Wagner, Charlie Frame, Lee Hardence, Locan, Radie Harris and Ken the sea given in honor of Lawrence Thayer, Louis Stevens and Peter Milne lunchee at RKO.

P. J. Wolfson, Universal contract writer, is now working on an original story. His book, “Bodies Are Dust”, has attracted much attention.

Humphrey Pearson is writing the script for “Chi Chi and Her Papas”, which will star Lily Damita, with Richard Boleslavsky directing. The vehicle was originally a German comedy and was translated into English by Max Sennett, RKO musical director, who has also written the musical scores.

Harold Minjir has been signed by Paramount to aid Charlie Ruggles in supplying comedy in “Husband’s Holiday.”

Lily Damita will be seen in two pictures for Samuel Goldwyn during the coming season. The first film will most likely be “Sons of Guns,” in which she will appear opposite Al Jolson. After that, probably in March or April, Lily will begin work with Eddie Canner in “Kid from Spain.”

Genevieve Tobin has been borrowed from Universal by Paramount for a role in Maurice Chevalier in “One Hour With You.”

Tay Garnett is directing “Prestige”, starring Ann Harding. Among Garnett’s recent selections for the cast were Adolph Menjou and Guy Bates Post. Other principals include Myrna Douglas, Ian MacLaren and Clarence Muse. The story was written by Garnett, director-author, Ross Lloyd, dialogue writer, and Francis Paradgh, one of the leading continuity writers in the industry.

Zion Myers has completed the direction of an untitled athletic short, starring Willie Hoppe, the champ. Pete Smith is the narrator.

Paul Ivano and Ralph King are preparing the second of a series of 12 novelty shorts, which will be released by Natural Productions. The first subject, “Phantom of Hollywood”, has been finished.

Paul Weigel has joined the supporting cast of Paramount’s “The Man I Killed”; the Ernst Lubitsch production featuring Lionel Barrymore, Nancy Carroll and Phillips Holmes.

James Cagney’s next picture for Warner Bros. will be “The Roar of the Crowd,” auto racing story by Howard Hawks, adapted by Seton I. Miller, who was also associated with Hawks in the production of “The Dawn Patrol.” Dorothy Mackaill and Joan Blondell will have principal parts, and also probably Walter Huston. “The Roar of the Crowd” will go into production as soon as Cagney’s vaudeville tour, which has been cut from six to three weeks on account of the preparation of this picture, comes to a close.

Adrienne Ames, New York society girl who is being trained by Paramount for featured roles in motion pictures, has been granted a two-week leave of absence from film work to appear opposite Guy B. Post in the stage production, “The Play’s The Thing” at the Community Playhouse in Pasadena.

Still further additions to the cast supported by Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., in “Union Depot,” already in production at First National, are George Rosenzweig, Dickie Moore, Georges Ernest, Dorothy Christy, Genevich Mitchell, Spencer Charters, Ethel Griffies and Virginia Sale.

Charlie Ruggles has been assigned the comedy leading role in Paramount’s “Second Chances.”

Ann Dvorak has been added to the cast of “Devil’s Loot.” For production in which Charles Farrell, Mae Marsh, Greta Nissen and William Fawley have already been selected for the leading roles. The picture, adapted from the story by Nabor Barley, is now ready to go into production under the direction of Hamilton MacFadden.

“High Pressure,” William Powell’s new starring picture for Warner Bros., will start production on Thursday of this week instead of on Nov. 2, as previously announced.

Wallace Smith as script writer and William Wallace as director of “Circumstance” are once again associated. This combination served together, with Menzes as art director, on “The Dove” and “Bulldog Drummond.”

Roy Del Ruth is nearing the finish in directing “Taxi,” his latest assignment for Warners.

H. Lee Hugunin, assistant general manager of the Mack Sennett studios, announces that the next Sennett short, “The All-American Drawback,” has gone in work with Del Lord directing. Harry Gibbon is featured.

DIRECTORS

Have used the annual Film Daily Year Book as a casting directory for the past 14 years. Here will be found the work of every star and featured player as well as a complete “Directors” section covering the productions of every director. A list of cameramen, labs, studios, raw stock distributors, technicians, etc., is included as well as a quick ready reference buying guide. Here one will find over 1200 pages of reliable industry statistical and informative data at one’s finger tips—and—we’ll bet our last bottom dollar that you’ll find a copy of the Year Book on the working desk of every Director in pictures.

Sport Topics in Shorts
GAIN FAVOR, SAYS MORAY

There is a distinct trend toward sport topics in short subjects, said Norman Moray, Vitaphone sales manager, yesterday. He expects more reels of this classification to appear on the market for 1933-34 release. Vitaphone plans for next season are now receiving preliminary attention. As during the current year, names for marquee lights will be included.

Low Cost Dynamic Speaker
St. Charles, Ill. — A dynamic speaker aimed to give exceptional reproduction at a low cost is being offered by the Operadio Mfg. Co. of this city, manufacturers of sound systems, for theaters.

One or more units mounted on a suitable baffle, may be operated from the 408 DT amplifier with sufficient volume, it is declared, to fill a 800-seat theater. Features such as cast frames, “Acoustex” diaphragms, and cast pots, assure high efficiency and ability to withstand the most severe operating conditions, the company claims.

Faughnan to Albany
Cleveland — James P. Faughnan contact manager in the local Warner theater department, has been transferred to Albany in a similar capacity. George Wiegand of St. Louis succeeds him here.

Ralph Skinner is due this week on the Aquitania from the other side, A. A. Milne, the author, is on the same boat.

LACK OF PRINTS PROHIBITS NEW PIX FOR RELIEF SHOWS

Lack of prints is understood to be a major reason prohibiting adoption of the recommendation of several exhibitor units that distributors furnish them with new pictures for showing during National Motion Picture Week. In addition, it is pointed out, pictures current that week will prove better draws because they have had much publicity through the regular channels, as compared with new and unpublicized.

Mr. Mike Levee
— Mr. M. Mouse and others

By JACK ALICOATE

A signal honor has just been bestowed upon Mike Levee of Paramount in his election to the presidency of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. His first important duty will be that of presiding at the Annual Awards Banquet of the Academy to be held on the evening of Nov. 10. Here is the energetic, enthusiastic type of leader who will keep Academy activities humming for the ensuing year. No one in Hollywood has so devotedly devoted more time to industry cooperation and relief and charity work than this same, popular and efficient Mr. Levee. We are sure which deserves the most congratulations — the Academy or Mr. Levee.

We Visit Mr. M. Mouse

Mugg may be on the screen, but he sure is serious when at home. It was with due politeness and extreme consideration that he conducted us through his compact, attractive and modern studio which was built by his guardian and severest critic, Walt Disney. In order to get caught up with our Mouse home work, we learned that takes from six to eight weeks to complete a Mickey Mouse cartoon, that between 75 and 80 people work on it, that 8,000 to 12,000 drawings go into each subject and that this Mickey Mouse guy has some 8,000 customers in these United States next year’s schedule from the

URGES PLAN TO PROVIDE FLESH FOR FILM HOUSES

Revival of vaudeville to meet the present crisis of many exhibitors for some flesh could be brought about through organization of an association similar to the one headed by Will H. Hays, in the opinion of Bud Irwin of Amalgamated Vaudeville Agency. Such an organization could unify the vaudeville field, he believes.

The Dvot Diggers

Way out here where men are men and a half acre of ground is called a ranch they have a unique social-golfing organization contemptuously called the Dvot Diggers. Meetings are held at a different golf club each Sunday. At 10 o'clock members sit down to a good old-fashioned breakfast. At 11 the foursomes are started. After 18 argumentative holes and a shower they serve luncheon, of course, with all the trimmings. Here twits faster than the Niagara River. Our arch enemy at the last meeting was Harold Lloyd. After 1 mile, he had a little more respect for us Tammany fellows. Prominent among the members who attended regularly are Doug Fairbanks, Jesse Lasky, Jack Warner, Mike Levee, Harry Rapf, Henry King, Eddie Mannix, Al Kaufman and a flock more.

COURT OF APPEALS UPHOLDS RIGHT OF LOCAL 306 TO PICKET THEATRES HAVING CONTRACT WITH EMPIRE STATE UNION

In order to correct any erroneous impression as to the legal effect of the recent decision of the Court of Appeals in the New Broadway and Brooklyn United cases, Sam Kaplan, President of Local 306, issued a statement in which he said, “Although the Court forbade picketing at the particular theatres mentioned because it was alleged that the picketing there was accompanied by violence, it clearly reaffirmed the right of Local 306 to peacefully picket any theatre, despite the existence of a contract between the exhibitor and the so-called Empire State Union. Such a contract is not a bar to picketing.

“The Union intends to immediately assert its right to picket as laid down by the Court of Appeals and will, within the next several days, commence picketing of theatres now employing Empire State men, or other non-union operators. Adv.”

Stage and Screen
Growing Further Apart

WHEN I first went out to the Coast about two years ago I found motion picture directors following rather closely the stage form of handling both action and dialogue. After I made my first talking picture I returned to the stage and produced some more plays. I found that playwrights who had spent years learning the technique of dramatic construction for the theater, with its definite restriction of four walls, were getting panicky because of the so-called "talkie competition." They were, in their turn, trying to break up their plays into too many scenes in order to approximate the flow of motion and the pictorial quality of the screen. When I returned to the picture studios last time from New York, I found that the producers were profiting decidedly by their earlier mistakes. The new photoplays, it seems to me, have less talk and more action. Talk is inserted only when it is logically necessary. I don't think it will be so long before novelists, screenwriters and playwrights will work so definitely within their own fields that it will be possible to enjoy equally well, and for different reasons, the same story told as a novel, a stage play and a photoplay. The stories as told in the different mediums will have so many differences that the novel-reader will not turn away from the theater and say, "Oh, I know that story," but will go without hesitation to see the same narrative in its two other reincarnations as a stage drama and as a talking picture.

Intensive Publicity Helps "Hamilton"

The effect of good, consistent exploitation was never more apparent than in the case of the run of George Arliss in "Alexander Hamilton" at the Orpheum theater in Vancouver. First of all the things done by Joiner was the running of a special trailer three weeks in advance of the play date. He got up special frames of stills for the lobby and had the marquees covered with banners. At the Capitol he also ran a trailer announcing the coming of "Alexander Hamilton" to the Orpheum. Two weeks in advance of the opening, radio announcements were made over three local stations. Over 30,000 heralds were distributed and 200 window cards placed in prominent shop windows. Special illuminated billboards were used and a tie-up brought about with the Manufacturers' Convention being held in the city. —Orpheum, Vancouver, B. C.

Two Good Stunts for "Modern Age"

MANAGER L. Wieschensk was able to tie up the La Salle (Ill.) Furniture Co. for five-minute broadcasts two nights preceding the showing of "This Modern Age" at the Majestic. The station used was WJBC. The Kaskaskia Ford Agency used two display boards upon which stills showing M-G-M stars with Ford models were posted with appropriate publicity. In addition, two of the latest Ford models were placed in front of the theater during the showing of the picture and any theater patron was given a demonstration by being driven to his home. Each car was bannered.

LILY DAMITA is to have the starring role in the Radio Pictures film adaptation of a German comedy, according to an announcement by William LeBaron. The picture, "Chi Chi and Her Papas," by Armin Friedman and Fritz Lunzer, Max Steiner, musical director at the Radio studio, translated the play into English and wrote the musical score.

Also assigned to roles in the Lily Damita picture are Hugh Herbert, Sidney Toler, John Warburton, Sam Hardy, Clarence R. Wilson and Tony Sarsfield. Richard Boleslavsky will direct from a script prepared by Humphrey Pearson, and rehearsals are scheduled to start immediately.

Mark Sandrich contemplates making several comedies which will continue the characterization of "Lemmie Pott," who appears in two of the Chic Sale comedies, which Sandrich directed for Louis Brock for RKO release. "Lemmie," who is more or less the "Specialist" type, has scored a hit and has actually come to life on the screen under Sandrich's direction.

Rita La Roy and Jack La Rue have been added to the cast of "While Paris Sleeps," in which Victor McLaglen plays the leading role and Helen Mack, Fox Debutante Star, makes her debut. Others in the cast include Claire Maynard and William Bakewell. Allan Dwan will direct.

Herbert Brenon, who is directing "The Dove," found a dove caught in his tennis net. He placed the dove in his cage, along with his pet macaw birds. Every time the director tries to separate the trio, the stray dove hides behind the belligerent macaws.

Stanley Smith will play an important part in "Stepping Sisters," the Fox picture in which Louise Dresser, Marie Rambert and Jobyna Howland, aided by William Collier, Sr., will give their version of how ex-bartender queens climb the social ladder. Seymour Felix will direct.

Hollywood fable—Once upon a time a writer admitted his agent got him a job.

Jules White, who directed "A Desert Regatta," a short at Saltan Sea, had a few troublesome moments at the M-G-M restaurant, when accosted by a duck club owner who claimed his ducks were frightened away by the outboard drivers, who raced under Jules' direction. The stranger wanted $1,200 damages from the director. Jules and the duck owner were about to come to blows when the boys who were "framing" Jules intervened and introduced the "duck owner" as Vincent Barnett, the noted "ribber."

Another addition to the Radio Pictures writing staff has been made in the signing of Paul Banks, novelist and short story writer. Banks is the author of "Black Ivory," "The Gentleman from America" and the current novel, "Streets of Women."

The next Big 4 western starring Buzz Barton will be "Human Targets," on which filming is expected to start the coming week, or as soon as cast and director have been selected. "Cylcone Kid," Barton's initial western of the series, will be released Oct. 28.

Charles Ruggles will play the comedy lead in "Second Chances," which is being directed by Frank Tuttle. The comedian was sent to Hollywood from New York, where he has been for several years, following his first starring picture, "The Girl Habit," and a part with Maurice Chevalier in Ernst Lubitsch's "The Smiling Lieutenant." Since his arrival here, Ruggles has had leading roles in "The Beloved Bachelor" and "Husband's Holiday," in which he now is working.

"Ladies of the Jury," the Edna May Oliver starring vehicle based on a stage play by Fred Ballard, with Jill Esmond, Ken Murray, Rosco Ates, Kitty Kelly, Suzanne Fleming, Morgan Galloway, Richard Sumner and Robert McCallum in the cast, is now in production with Lowell Sherman directing. "Hullabaloo," with Irene Dunne as the star, and Lawrence Olivier, John Halliday and Hugh Herbert in support, is in rehearsal with Gregory LaCava directing.

Elizabeth Mechan has been assigned to write the script and dialogue for Radio Pictures' screen version of "The World of George."

Mervyn LeRoy chooses "Five-Star Final" as the picture he likes best of those he has directed. LeRoy has more pictures to his credit than any other young director, has just completed Gloria Swanson's newest starring picture, "Tonight or Never." He also directed "Little Caesar," "Local Boy Makes Good," as yet unreleased, and "Gentleman's Fate," a recent John Gilbert picture.

Josef von Sternberg today finds himself directing his former boss Emil Chantard, once a prominent director of silent pictures and now a character actor. Chantard directed Mary Pickford and other stars before becoming a character actor and last year employed von Sternberg as an assistant director. The two are re-united in the production of "Shanghai Express," Marlene Dietrich's next Paramount starring picture, which von Sternberg is directing and in which Chantard plays an important role.

"Woman Breaker," is the final title of Walter Huston's first for Universal. Story was taken from Olive Edens' story, "Heart and Hand."

Alfred E. Green's assisting staff on "Union Depot," for First National, will include: Al Alborn as assistant director; Sol Polito, first camera; Jack O'Reilly and Jack Killifer, film editor.

Natalie Moorhead and Richard Tucker will have important parts in "Unwanted," which Lewis King will direct for Columbia. Jack Cunningham adapted the story from an original by Bella Muni and Abem Finkel.

Richard Arlen has been assigned to a leading role with Nancy Carroll in "Way Down," soon to be into production at Paramount's New York studio, his previous roles having been enacted in Hollywood.

John Boles has been placed under contract by Fox, following the completion of his work with Linda Watkins in "Good Sport."

Robert Williams, Broadway stage actor who won a film contract with RKO Pathe through his work in "Rebound," is to play one of the featured leads opposite Constance Bennett in "Lady With A Past," David Manners plays the romantic lead.

Julian Josephson and Maude Howell, who will direct Jules Ecker's good, "The Man Who Played God," for the screen as George Arliss's next starring vehicle, will be assisted in preparing the script by Arliss himself.

independent product is being well received by audiences in all classes of houses, says Jaynes, "and the sizable grosses being rolled up on present pictures insure improvement in future productions. In turn, price pegging by the large distributors with tremendous overheads, offers a neat margin of profit when both major and independent pictures are jointly booked, and keeps the small sporadic operator from injecting cut-throat tactics.

"It is my belief, reinforced by an actual field survey, that the important independent is in the seat of favor during present conditions. Selling his film at fair rentals, along with major distributors, helps both; insofar as scarcity of major product is bolstered, permitting the show to go on—at the same time offering a certain assurance of future security to the new necessary independent."

"Palmy Days" Is Shown Partly on Wide Screen

Houston - For the premiere of Samuel Goldwyn's "Palmy Days" starring Eddie Cantor, E. E. Collins, city manager for Public, and Ralph Ayers, manager of the Metropolitan, used the magnascope screen and color tints during certain scenes. In the "Bend Down Sister" number sung by Charlotte Greenwood, the magnascope screen was used with a lavender gelatine in a frame in front of the lens, thus tinting the entire screen and giving it added production values. Later in the picture, when Eddie Cantor sang "There's Nothing Too Hard for Me to Do," the magnascope and colors were again used. The same treatment was given the picture in its showing at Public houses in Dallas and San Antonio.

to give rise to a price war in Chicago. Also, it is forcing the showing of pictures that had better go unseen. Allied theaters are confident that if the circuits will discontinue the practice, they can get every independent theater in Chicago to do likewise. In this they ask the cooperation of all branches of the industry and should receive it.

In the settlement of the operator trouble in the Windy City, Allied estimates that theater owners will save more than $1,500,000. It now appears that the settlement made with the union and running until 1933 was much more favorable to the theaters than at first supposed, according to Myers. Fully 60 of the 104 theaters involved will be able to qualify under the one-operator clause, he states. Al Steffes is lauded for his work in connection with the successful fight.

place in a much greater number of houses.

Brecher, who operates a circuit of seven houses in Greater New York, believes that admission price increases are not an effective method of boosting the net. The results of such a policy, according to his experience, is a lowered gross and consequently a lowered net. Double features, he believes, are generally something to avoid. In some situations, however, a twin-feature policy is necessitated by similar policies in opposition houses.

Brecher has bought another German feature for distribution in this country. It is "The Opera Ball," produced by Greenbaum - Emelka, with Ivan Petrovitch, Henrich Georg and Liane Haid. The picture will be shown with superimposed English titles at the bottom of the image to explain highlights of the dialogue. Cultivation of student business has proved a big asset in connection with showing of German and French talkers, he said.

The Value of Louis Mayer Organization was back in little old New York the day the Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer lot. However, by mere coincidence, we chose to call between 12:30 and 1 o'clock and were enthusiastically invited to break bread with Irving Thalberg, Harry Rapf and Eddie Mannix, cutting down thereby, and no doubt, the early-ebbing for the day. If one were asked to put one's finger on one outstanding impression of this M-G-M outfit, one would immediately say—a spirit of cooperation.

This thought compellingly reflects itself in the product of Leo the Lion. No one company has been more consistently successful with its product over the span of recent years.

A Studio of the effete Personalities, client, systematic, and resourceful Louis Mayer. Here we find the soft-spoken, sensitive, imaginative Irving Thalberg, considered by many as the outstanding production executive of Hollywood. Norma Shearer, Greta Garbo, Joan Crawford, Marie Dressler, Wally Beery, William Haines, Bob Montgomery, Lawrence Tibbett and plenty other big-time names call this lot home. Clark Gable is coming on like Twenty Grand. He is the most promising bet in pictures today and an M-G-M fixture.

Ackerman-Harris Win Income Tax Decision

Washington Bureau of THE FILM DAILY

Washington — The contention of Irving C. Ackerman and Simon (Sam) Harris that the Commissioner of Internal Revenue erred in ruling that they still owed $37,521.74 and $25,800.95 in income tax for 1922, has been upheld by the U. S. Board of Tax Appeals. Ackerman and Harris alleged that the company.

Despite difficulties with stage hands and musicians' unions in various spots throughout the country, major circuits are sticking to their attractive policies. This is indicated by a check-up made by THE FILM DAILY yesterday disclosing the fact that 169 big-circuit theaters are using vaudeville or presentations.

RKO heads the list with 70 houses playing vaudeville. Publix follows with 40 theaters using presentations. Fox has 30 theaters using Fanchon.

COMING & GOING

JOHN GILMOUR, production manager for General Electric in Schenectady, is in New York.

ERNEST TORRENCE returns to the coast Saturday.

SAMUEL MARK, M-G-M story editor at the Coast, is en route to Hollywood from New York.

JOE LEO is en route to the coast.

MARY PICKFORD and DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS, Jr., are to arrive in New York on Sunday from Hollywood to arrange for Miss Pickford’s next screen role, a theme with juvenile appeal, one for the premiere of Fairbanks’ travelogue, “Around the World in 80 Minutes.”

Marilyn Miller is scheduled to leave Hollywood next week for New York.

••• NOW THAT we have started something with this discussion about the originator of the talkies and it seems clearly established that J. A. Whitman’s device, the Cameraphone, preceded Edison’s Kinetophone by several years it may surprise most folks in the film biz to learn that the Kinetophone was the invention of a Frenchman, Auguste Baron... the proof can be found in the records, to wit:

French patent No. 255,317, April 3, 1896 . . . . German patent No. 118,250, Oct. 8, 1898 . . . . U. S. patent No. 656,762, Aug. 28, 1900 as Edison established his first experimental sound studio at 41 East 21st Street in 1909, employing the Kinetophone it is clear that he used the Frenchman’s device after the patents had expired.

••• HERE WE have the origin of sound-on-disc for Kinetophone used phonograph records in conjunction with the screen . . . sound-on-film is the invention of E. A. Lauste . . . covered by an English patent in 1906 . . . and supported in U. S., District Court, Southern district of New York, within the past year . . . also in the U. S. Court in Wilming-ton, Delaware, and in Toronto, Canada . . . and now that we have settled the origins of both sound on disc and film with legal evidence, will all you publicity muggs make a note of it . . . and quit sending out Misleading Information about Thomas Edison being the Father of Sound . . . we saw the yarn carried by three New York newspapers and no doubt several hundred rags broadcast this Wrong Dope through-out the nation . . . meanwhile Auguste Baron, the real father of sound, languishes in obscurity in the poor house in Paris . . . bowed with his 75 years . . . and stone blind so let’s give credit where credit is due . . . . for after all is said and done, the facts here set forth are a scat of backhanded compliment to you publicity mongers . . . you can make Fiction appear Fact . . . and have the whole world giving credit to the wrong person . . . while the Cause of It All huddles alone with his age and blindness in a poor house . . . and they write tragedies!

••• IT IS a safe bet that there were never so many bootiful Wampas baby stars selected as there are this season as seen in the current “Voice of Hollywood” . . . . where they all come before the mike and speak a lil piece . . . flash ‘em Sydney Fox, Anita Louise, Rochelle Hudson, Judith Wood, Frances Pade, Constance Cummings, Karen Morley, Marion Shilling, Joan Marsh, Frances Dee . . . every one looks unsophisticated and charming . . . most of ’em are college gals . . . . the Stand of New Faces among the femmes of the screen is certainly improving but in a year from now they will probably be sophisticated and worldly wise like all the sweet young things who preceded them.

••• A CHANCE for some of the boys outa work to go in the apple biz . . . for Eddie Cantor and George Jessel will hand out 10,000 apples at noon today at 45th St. and Broadway. Hal Dygert of Arkayo arranged the stunt as a plug for “Consolation Marriage” at the Mayfair, inaugurating National Apple Week.

Jimmy Landy, former trade paper man now exploiting in Washington, D. C., sends us a birth certificate with the picture of a rabbit on whose face is an Anti-cipatory Smile, as he says, “It’s A Boy!” . . . . and Jimmy and his wife are Irishers, e’n ya imagine? . . . At Columbia’s shindig tomatle at the Astor, the baseball team winners will receive prizes donated by Quigley Publications, Variety, Film Daily, Jack Moss and Jack Baker.

ALL EUROPE WATCHING
RADIO CITY PROJECT

In keeping with the international interest that it has aroused, Radio City will be international in scope, said “Roxy,” and will serve as the fountain-head for the future refinement of electrical entertainment.

The motion picture theater in Radio City will have a straight movie policy, without any stage presentation and possibly without an orchestra. It will seat 3,600 and will be opened about Jan. 1, 1933. The international music hall, to be opened at the same time, will seat 6,000 and will be the production center of all RKO vaudeville unit road shows. Both theaters will introduce many innovations and appointments that will set a new standard of production, comfort and beauty, both here and abroad.

Roxy was met at quarantine by a score of newspapermen. Returning with the impresario were Mark A. Laescher of RKO; Leon Harrison and Peter Clark, architects. O. B. Hanson and Gerard Chatfield of the National Broadcasting Co. and Wallace K. Harrison, architect, who sailed from New York with Roxy, remained abroad to further study plans and conditions.

A LITTLE from "LOTS" by RALPH WILK

studio story for Harold Lloyd

Harold Lloyd's next production, according to reports filtering through, will be based on a story written by the actor himself. Although it will, of course, be a comedy, the theme is to be handled in such a way that there will be no poking fun at the film industry, but instead will be a sympathetic human interest story, sprinkled with laughs, about a lad trying to crash the movie gates.

Lydia Roberti, Broadway musical comedy favorite recently signed by Paramount to play in a musical picture, left Chicago this week for Hollywood to start rehearsals for a leading role in "Jazz King." * * *

"Partners," instead of "Ghost City," will be the new starring vehicle for the cowboy star, Tom Keene, it is announced by the Western Department at the RKO Pathe Studios. "Ghost City" will be made later on the current program. "Partners" is a ranch story by Donald Lee. Fred Allen, who directed the cowboy star in his last picture, "Fireights of Destiny," will again be at the megaphone. * * *

Wallace Ford, now in "The Magpie," new Clareen Brown production starring Joan Crawford, "Enchanted" in a Winnipeg, Canada drug store daytime, and ushered in his theater at night. * * *

"The Final Edition," one of the Newspaperman series of comedies which are starring Frank McHugh, is in production at Pathe under the direction of Harry Sweet. Supporting McHugh in the cast are Isabel Duval, Adele Phillips, Charlotte Minnow, Bud Jamieson, Jerry Mandy and Roderick O'Farrell. The story is an original by Lex Neal, adapted by Ewart Adamson. * * *

Almeda Fowler, May Wallace, Carrol Naish, Eric Wilton, Russ Clark, Lee Phelps, Budd Fine, Thomas Curran and William Arnold have been added by Paramount to "The False Madonna," which is being directed by Stuart Walker from a screen adaptation by Arthur Kober and Ray Harris. This completes the cast. The principal roles are being portrayed by Kay Francis, William Boyd, Conway Tearle, John Breeden, Marjorie Gateson and Charles D. Brown. * * *

Dorothy Gulliver and Matthew Betz are the first players to be signed for "Quicksands." Columbia's next starring vehicle for Tim McCoy. * * *

One of the important feminine roles in "High Pressure," the picture in which William Powell will next be presented by Warner Bros., has been assigned to Lillian Bond. Graham Baker, scenarist, recently completed working scripts from translations of two foreign novels. Although the books had not attracted attention in this country, they were recommended to Baker by a German newspaperman who recently visited Hollywood. Both have been approved by Universal executives. * * *

B. de B. bio plans to take a unit of 30 people to South Africa, where he will make "Regeneration," a feature, in Multicolor. The party is scheduled to leave here in December. * * *

Columbia's "Unwanted," being directed by Louis King, has been permanently named "The Deceiver." The story, a drama of stage life behind the scenes, was written by Bella Muni and Abe Finkel. * * *

Minna Gombell replaces Marjorie Rambeau as one of the three barefooted queens in the Fox picture, "Stepping Sisters," on the eve of its going into production. * * *

Our Passing Show: Archie Mayo, Paul Perez, Allen E. Rixkin and Simon Alter at the Isaac Dov Levine lecture; Laura La Plante guest of honor at a big party at the Hotel Roosevelt Blossom Room.

Al Rickett, associate producer at Fox, who recently returned from Europe, will supervise "Young America" and "The Devil's Lottery." More Passing Show: The two Georges—Landy and Barr Brown—in a huddle at Columbia; Jean Harlow autographing photos for members of her production unit at Columbia. * * *

Lambert Hillyer is directing Buck Jones in "Justice Rides Again." for Columbia. Hillyer also wrote the story. * * *

Walter Futter, producer of John P. Medbury "Traveling" "Circus" which are distributed by Columbia, visited Columbia exchanges in New York, Chicago, St. Louis, Omaha and San Francisco on his recent trip. * * *

Mack Sennett has cast Geneva Mitchell to play opposite Harry Grublin in the forthcoming Sennett short, "The All-American Back," under the direction of Del Lord. Vernon Dent has been chosen to play the coach in this football comedy.

George R. Batcheller, now at Universal studios where Chesterfield's next vehicle, "The Devil Plays," is in production, announces the acquisition of Jamesson Thomas and Florence Britton for the leading roles. Miss Britton has been loaned to Chesterfield through the courtesy of Samuel Goldwyn. Richard Thorpe is directing.

William Bakewell has started work as the featured juvenile in a Fox production. He was borrowed from M-G-M, to whom he is under long term contract.

MOVABLE SWITCHBOARD MARKETED BY KLEIGL

A semi-portable switchboard design primarily for little theaters, and said to afford an unlimited number of circuit combinations and dimmer arrangements, has been developed and is being marketed by Kleigl Bros. of New York, manufacturers of electric stage lighting equipment and control.

The device, while having all the graduation of control to be found in permanent equipment, as well as being extremely flexible in the matter of circuit connections and combinations, can also be removed from the premises as a complete unit and stored again at the next location by simply connecting the feeder cable to the source of supply, the company states.

All but four circuits are controlled by dimmers, the four through circuits being reserved for the switch. Dimmer equipment consists of eight 250-slder type dimmers and 12 round plug portable dimmers in three groups of four with capacities of 750 to 1,500 watts, 1,000 to 2,000 watts, and 1,500 to 3,000 watts, respectively. Short jumper wires with plug terminals provide means for crossing any load to any switch and for obtaining any dimmer control desired—and interlocking group switches permit each set of four slider dimmers to be connected in series with one or other of the master dimmers.

The entire switchboard and dimmer arrangement is constructed on a steel frame and enclosed in a wooden case having a removable front, and is mounted on ball bearing rubber-tired casters.

While primarily intended for little theater producers, this semi-portable switchboard may also be used to advantage by national exhibitors, novelty display advertisers and others requiring this type of equipment, the design being modified to meet their particular needs, the company declares.

Business Improves—Following Repairs

Cleveland—There is a direct relation between business and theater improvements according to A. J. Buck, owner and manager of the Colonial. "New upholstered chairs were recently installed in the house," Buck says, "and the public not only noticed the improvement, but showed its appreciation by increased patronage. New RCA Victor Disc Put Out by Photophone

A new type of disc to be known as the Victorlee record, developed and perfected by the engineers of the RCA Victor Co. in Camden, has been placed in distribution by RCA Photophone. Advantages of the new record over the old style shellac record are: reduction in weight from 24 ounces to four, reduction in size to 12 inch diameter, flexibility, durability, improved tone quality and a minimum of surface noise.

Cleaner Light Stands Offered

Chicago—Cleaner stands or work lights, said to provide an extremely portable means of illumination while cleaning theater auditoriums or elsewhere, are being offered by the Chicago Cinema Equipment Co., of this city. The cables are fitted with plugs that can be inserted in any single outlet receptacle, obviating the necessity for turning on the house lights.

3-ALARM CHANGE-OVER FOR ALL PROJECTORS

Chicago—A three-alarm change-over for use on all projectors has been developed and is being offered by the GoldE Mfg. Co. of this city. Installed in the upper magazine of all projectors, and with the Standard Release Print, the three alarm is said to afford the projector his separate and distinct warnings, each at an exactly predetermined spot and at exactly the right spot for (1) general warnings, (2) spot motor, and (3) change-overs. This is accomplished by a novel, patented device for, mechanical device declared to be simple in installation as well as operation. Positions may be set according to each projector's pickup speed, and the mierometers, once set need never be varied.

With the use of this device, marking, punching, cutting or scratching of the film is done away with and the show can be run off smoothly because of the alarm system's ability to cause a switch to be put at the start motor and change-over time.

The three-alarm takes the place of the regular red end alarm, is quickly and easily installed and is of nominal cost, the company states.

Carrier Systems Installed

Long Beach, N. Y.—A complete system of engineered weather and climate controls by Carrier Engineering Corp., is being installed in the theater being erected here by Ed Rugoff.

Other complete Carrier systems now being installed by the company include the Paramount theater in New York, previously installed in the Paramount in Amarillo, Tex., and the new RKO theater in Denver.

Installs Audiphones

Western Electric Audiphones for the hard-of-hearing have been installed in the Manor theater, Pittsburgh, and Warner's Western theater, Los Angeles.

Tama, Ia.—Iuka is the name chosen for the new Tama theater and the slogan, W. W. Mansfield, who has the King in Belle Plaine, also is operator of the local house.

Des Moines—More than 300 theaters in Iowa are making plans to present relief programs at the approximate dates of Nov. 18 to 25. Allied Theater Owners of Iowa devised the plan and appointed a committee with Lester F. Martin of Nevada, president of the organization, as chairman. The central committee has held several meetings here to arrange details. The members are R. M. Copeland, E. J. Tilton, W. E. Banford, Ed Pierce, Barry Burke, B. J. McCarthy, J. W. Denman and Jack Roth.

Ford City—Palace is now open Friday and Saturday only.

Cleveland—Jack Conley has been added to the sales staff of the Cincinnati office of Standard Film Service Co.

Shawano, Wis.—Independent Theatres, and, its companion theater here which is expected to be ready to open by Christmas. W. L. Amsworth, operator of the Garrick in Fond du Lac, is president of the new theater company.

West Allis, Minn.—Eugene Phelan has taken over the Allis here from George Fisher, who continues to operate the house here and two in Milwaukee.

Minneapolis—Harvey Kelly, assistant manager of the Publix Grand, is recovering from serious injuries inflicted when he endeavored to eject a trio of disorderly young men from the theater. Although plugged with a blackjack, Kelly managed to hold on to one of the rowdies who was placed under arrest and given a stiff jail sentence.

Cincinnati—Harvey Callaway, salesman for RKO Pathé, is recovering from injuries sustained in an auto accident on his way to Gallipolis, W. Va., last week.

Minneapolis—Charles Coren has been appointed Northwest representative for the Meyer-Reiger Laboratories, Inc., of New York. Coren's headquarters will be 64 Glenwood Ave.

SHORT SHOTS from EASTERN STUDIOS

PORTER H. EVANS, chief engineer of the Warner Vitaphone studios in Brooklyn for the past three years, was elected chairman of the Johnstown section of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers at a meeting held Thursday evening.

Richard Arlen will be accompanied by his wife, Jobyna Ralston, when he comes East next week to play opposite Nancy Carroll in "Hayward," the role for which Phillips Holmes was originally mentioned.

Sam Sax is searching for actors to play the roles of George Washington, Martha Washington, Alexander Hamilton and other figures prominent in the American Revolution. Casting is now going on at the Brooklyn Vitaphone studios for "George Washington," the special two-reel picture which Warner Bros. will produce for the Washington Bicentennial Celebration.

Among the shorts completed this week at the Paramount New York studio was "Johnny Burke, assisted by Aileen Cook in "The Mysterious Mystery," directed by Eddie Cline and "The Swell Head," with Grace Allen and George M. Burns, directed by Aubrey Scotto.

Edgar Bergen, who has the distinction of being the screen's only ventriloquist, is appearing at the Strand theater this week in "Free and Easy," one of Vitaphone's "Pep Pot" series.

Tallulah Bankhead, having completed her work in the added scenes which Berthold Viertel directed for "The Cheat," is preparing to leave for Canada where she will be starred in a picture made at Paramount's West Coast studio. Irving Pichel, who appears opposite her in "The Cheat," also leaves soon to appear in "Two Kinds of Women," with Miriam Hopkins.

Horace Heidt and his California "King," composed of musicians from the University of California, made their third Vitaphone short this week at the Warner studios in Brooklyn. It will be released as one of the "Melody Masters" series.

Jack Norworth, while at the Vitaphone studio to rehearse his next release, "The Naggles at the Opera," stopped work temporarily to hear the Horace Heidt orchestra in their rendition of "Shine on Harvest Moon," which he wrote back in 1907 and which is now enjoying a tremendous vogue after being revived by Ruth Etting in the current Ziegfeld "Follies."

SOUTH

Thomasville, Ga.—Interstate Enterprises, owners and operators of the Rose here and several others in the state, purchased a new, two-story brick building in the heart of Thomasville. The purchase was considered an investment, but it is believed that when the theater business justifies expansion the building will be turned into a showhouse.

Canton, N. C.—M. C. Sprinkle of this city announces the starting of work soon on a new modern theater here. The theater is to be leased to W. H. Odom, who is now operating the Strand. It will have a seating capacity of not less than 700.

Parsons, W. Va.—H. L. Bennett has leased the Victoria to Frank Shomo, the latter announces. Shomo also operates the Grand theater, Elkins, W. Va.

York, S. C.—With no theater for several months the city council has taken it into its hands to provide one. Representatives of an out-of-town company have been negotiating with the council and plans will soon be announced. The second floor of the City Auditorium is the probable location.

Monogah, W. Va.—Strand, now managed by Fred Nutter, is open Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

WEST

San Francisco—Ernest Uman has been promoted from the accessories department at the Columbia exchange to the buyer's desk in Los Angeles.

Los Angeles—J. H. McIntyre, western district manager for RKO Pathe, has closed with Dave Beresh, national buyer for Hughes-Franklin, a 100 per cent deal on RKO Pathe product, which will be played over the entire eastern Washington and Oregon circuits of Hughes-Franklin. Day and date bookings have been set by Fred Mercy, Jr., division manager for H-F in Walla Walla.

San Francisco—Mannie Brown is back in town and expects to make a final decision on several locations available for the local office of Pacific Coast Exchanges, Ltd.

TO-DAY'S BIG EVENT

As seen by The Press Agent

"Caryn Lincoln wears pajamas in one sequence of 'Cyclone Kid,' in which she hides a horse. They are made to conform to the Western influence and Caryn says they are just the thing to bring Westerns up-to-date." —Big 4.
“One More Chance” with Bing Crosby
Educational Slight
Featuring Bing Crosby, the radio crooner, in a slight story that jumps all over the map and is very disconnected. The “plot” is pretty hazy, if any. Bing is a happy-go-lucky salesman for an electric washing machine who depends on his songs to sell his wares. He has the usual trouble holding his wife from the other fellow, but wins her back in the last sequence by crooning his song. Bing’s crooning is okay, but not enough to be said in his favor. Or was it the fault of the material?

“Outposts of the Foreign Legion” Educational Unusual
Unusual views of far corners of Morocco with Sarda Folco. The narrator taking part in the picture and describing interestingly the various odd sights. A visit is made to a desert city, where the natives are shown in the market place engaged in their various occupations. The Foreign Legion are seen off duty, engaging a visit to the camel market. Native dancing girls and an open air circus add to the picturesque qualities of the reel. Done in Multicolor. As a travel picture, it shapes up as a very entertaining subject.

“Sealed Lips” (Shadow Detective Series) Universal Thrills
Another of the Shadow Detective series. All about a theatrical owner who plans the murder of his manager who is his rival in love. He hires up an artist to employ a makeup artist to act as his double. There is plenty of action, but the mystery element is lacking. They use the device of the “shadow” who appears very often and points the moral that crime does not pay. This seems to serve no good purpose, and is an amateurish touch.

“Slim Summerville in “Hotter Than Haiti” Universal
A Repeater
A Slim Summerville comedy, with Slim as the bugler and Eddie Gribbon as the tough sergeant. This time the marines are in Haiti, but they stage the same gags practically that they did when they were in Russia, France and points east and west of there. Again there is the native gal over whom they quarrel. Again the officer butts in and spoils their fun. Again there is an explosion. The two principals are good, as usual. But they are so good that they make the repetitious material look worse than it probably is. It is a pity they can’t get away from the stereotyped stuff, and give these two troupers some original gags and situations.

“Torchy Passes the Buck” Educational
Weak
They assembled quite an imposing company in support of Ray Cooke as the comedian in this Torchy Comedy, including such names as Edmund Breese, Franklyn Pangborn and Dorothy Dix. But the comedy element is very thin, and the idea does not seem to warrant the footage. Half the footage takes place in an office setting, with Cooke pulling a variety of gags that lack any real humor. Then the scene switches to a dinner given by the boss, with a lot of gagging about a deer that he shot, with the game warden trying to arrest him. It seems like a lot of effort wasted for so a slim comedy subject.

“Tiff” Tiffany
Ordinary
The latest of the Tiffany Chimppe, being a takeoff on “Skippy,” with his own pal and the same cartoons. It is essentially for the kids, who no doubt will go for it strongly. But it is below the caliber of most of its predecessors, and the antics of the monkeys in many instances lacking the proper comedy and seeming too mechanical. One main subject of the schoolroom, and it falls pretty flat here.

“Road to Mandalay” (E. M. Newman Travel Talk) Vitaphone 5705
8 mins.
“Great Travellage” of Universal
In this number of the E. M. Newman World Travel Talk series the famous Rudyard Kipling poem is pictured with interesting scenes along the route of the famed “Road to Mandalay.” It is an engrossing reel of its kind.

“Bosko the Doughboy” Vitaphone 5402
7 mins.
Average Cartoon
Vitaphone’s new animated cartoon character, Bosko, here dispouts himself in this a doughboy. (Nothing specially new or novel about the affair, but it is sufficiently diverting to serve its purpose as a short fill-in.)
“Pack and Saddle”
RKO Pathé  11 mins.
Fair

A Spotlight trip with the pack horses through the Wyoming mountains in search of game. The hunters bag several elk and moose, and then start back to the ranch through a driving snowstorm. There is very little action or hunting thrills in the picture, but hunters may get a kick out of the preparations for the trip and the incidents connected with it. The conversation handled by the hunters is probably just about what hunters say to each other while on a hunting trip, but it makes very flat repartee when placed on a sound screen. It runs like this: “Here are your Folks,” Hell, a Jail I see you brought home the bacon. Got three elk and a moose. Fine and dandy.” And so on and so on. The scenery is good.

Walter O’Keefe in “Platinum Blondes”
Vitaphone  17 mins.
Neat Comedy

Playing the role of a popular Broadway singer who is invited out to a Park Avenue party, Walter O’Keefe makes this a neat comedy number of the better class. It has some musical comedy atmosphere and some clever gag stuff that should register well, especially with the more intelligent clientele.

“Bali”
(FitzPatrick Traveltalk)
RKO Pathé  10 mins.
Interesting

This little island off the coast of Java offers many interesting sights and considerable material that will be of interest to American audiences. James A. Fitzpatrick delivers a well constructed descriptive talk and introduces many natives of exceptional stature and form. The market place, natives bathing, some close-ups of native girls and women, all go to make this a short subject of merit.

Benny Rubin in “Full Coverage”
RKO Pathé  20 mins.
Okay

They crowded a lot of material into this one, with Benny Rubin acting as an insurance salesman out to win a prize for doing the most business for his company. He tries to sign up a bunch of tough taxi drivers, and succeeds, only to have a rival gang of taxi gangsters beat up his crowd, and they all collect on their accident policies, putting Ben-ny’s company in bankruptcy. It moves fast, and Benny succeeds in making it reasonably funny.

“The Voice of Hollywood”
No. 8
Educational-Tiffany  11 mins.
Fine

This is one of the best of the series, featuring all the Wampas baby stars. They make a great aggregation of beauty as they come before the studio mike and speak their little pieces in close-ups. The list includes Sydney Fox, Anita Louise, Rochelle Hudson, Junith Wood, Frances Dade, Constance Cummings, Karen Morley, Marion Shilling, Joan Marsh and Frances Dee. Monte Blue acts as master of ceremonies. This should go strong with the fans, presenting as it does most of the new faces with whom the public is just learning to get acquainted.

“In Wonderland”
Universal  7 mins.
Old Stuff

An Oswald cartoon that is a dead ringer for another just released in a competitive series. It employs the same idea of the hero mixed up in the two fairy tales of Jack in the Beanstalk and the Old Woman in the Shoe. Oswald climbs the bean-stalk to the castle in the clouds, steals the goose that lays the golden eggs from the Giant, and brings it back to the old lady in the shoe. It’s a fair cartoon, if you haven’t run the other one first. Then it’s just a repeat.

One of the Stanford Football series, with “Pop” Warner and Jim Thorpe instructing the rookies in the art of passing, kicking, tackling and running. This reel is mainly of interest to football players, but the average football fan will probably miss the actual scenes of games that give punch and excitement to other gridiron reels.

Billy House in “Retire Inn”
Paramount  20 mins.
Good Comedy

Billy House, the fat comedian, has among his supporting cast here James Dunn, who since appearing in this short has become a Fox feature star. Though Dunn’s role is secondary, he can be exploited as a result of his current fame. Aside from this, the comedy is a generally enjoyable affair showing Billy as the landlord of a roadside inn with a talking parrot for company. To get trade, he has a gimmick for puncturing the tires of passing autos. Among his victims are two eloping couples, one member of each having done the runaway marriage for spite. Billy reconciles the real lovers.

Eddie Quillan, Robert Armstrong in "THE TIP-OFF" with Ginger Rogers

70 mins.

THOROUGHLY ENJOYABLE COMEDY OF THE BREEZY TYPE WITH PLENTY OF COMEDY AND ACTION

Eddie Quillan in another of his popular roles as a go-get-'em-kid. With Ginger Rogers as his prizefighter, for his chief running mate, while Ginger Rogers and Joan Peers supply the feminine end of the story, Eddie Quillan knocks off the caps, the clicks nicely all the way. Eddie, a radio store employee, accidentally saves Bob from being put on the spot by a crooked fight promoter whereupon Eddie and Bob become pals. The pug's girl makes a play for the kid, but he ducks her, and in doing so he unknowingly grabs off the tough promoter's sweetheart. They fall in love, and then comes the real showdown from the menace, who is sore as a pup and has ordered his gang to give the smart young hero a chance to“Forget” the gangleader's girl into an immediate marriage. Eddie rushes to the girl's rescue, and with the assistance of Bob, the gang leader is dispersed and Eddie trots up to the altar in safety.

"THE YELLOW TICKET" with Elissa Landi and Lionel Barrymore

For 88 mins.

FINE DRAMA FILLED WITH INTENSE SITUATIONS EXCELLENTLY ACTED BY STRONG CAST; WELLDIRECTION AND PRODUCTION.

In this drama of Russia, the Czar and the war, Elissa Landi contributes a wonderful performance since coming to America. As Marya Varenska, a Jewish girl who is forced to accept a "yellow ticket" in order to return to the U.S. frontier to visit her father who is in prison, Miss Landi is extremely convincing. Lionel Barrymore, as an all-powerful baron, gives another of his outstanding characterizations. His subtle sarcasm, facial expressions and significant gestures are highly tistic.

The story concerns Marya, who as a "yellow ticket" girl is branded as a woman of the streets until she returns to the English war correspondent, who falls in love with her and who paves the way for her personal freedom. Laurence Olivier, the British actor, is a most natural portrayal. A lavish musical background adds interest.

Cast: Elissa Landi, Lionel Barrymore, Laurence Olivier, Walter Byron, Arnold Moss, Ralph Forbes, Katherine DeMille, Victor Varley, Alfred Lunt, Ivan Fomin, Virginia Maskell, Max Melford, Clive Brook, William J. Worrell, Anthony Bertram; Author, Michael Morton: Jules Furman; Director: Jules Furman; Assistant Director: John Travilla; Camera: Elmo Williams; Recording Engineer: Donald Gillett.

Direction: powerful, Photography, excellent.

"SIN OF MADELON CLAULD" with Helen Hayes

M-G-M 74 mins.

GREAT WOMAN AUDIENCE STUFF IN THIS MOTHER LOVE DRAMA. STAR IS BRILLIANT PERFORMER WITH EXCELLENT SITUATION.

Women will cry for, and over, this picture, which has been remade into a worthwhile piece of product. And, additionally, the reviewers will cheer for Helen Hayes. The screen audiences, but her supporting players included well established names and Miss Hayes herself will win plenty of applause for her work. She plays a woman abandoned by an American artist who returns to his country. After a male child is born she becomes the mistress of Lewis Stone. As he is about to legalize their relations through marriage he is arrested as a thief and commits suicide. The girl is jailed. When she is released she hides her true identity and she knows that she must not interfere with her career as a physician. She becomes a prostitute in order to finance him. Years later, when he is the famous doctor, and he, although not recognizing her, adopts her.

"PLATINUM BLONDE" with Loretta Young, Robert Williams, Jean Harlow

Columbia 90 mins.

BIG LAUGH FARCE FILM WITH COMEDY PUNCHES AND NICELY SUSTAINED STORY INTEREST.

A whitesqueezing the newspaper profession to a fare-thee-well, and giving society somewhat the same treatment, this production furnishes a good deal of the type of entertainment. Its plot concerns a brazen reporter who marries a classy society blonde, much to the outraged amazement of her family. After standing the gaff in her patrilial home for as long as he is able, by which time the girl also has recovered from her infatuation, the "Cinderella man" breaks out of his gilded cage and discovers he really was in love all the time with a faithful girl reporter. It is not so much the story, but the direction, acting, gags and classy production that makes it such a success. The whole human interest tops it off nicely. Robert Williams registers strong as the arch?reporter and should build a big following. Rest of the cast also is top-notch.

Radio Pictures 82 mins.

DELIGHTFUL ROMANTIC PIECE, INTRIGUING PLOTTING, ACTORS ANCHOR WELLEDITION AND PRODUCTION.

Swell entertainment has been created in this cleverly manipulated love story with Irene Dunn and Pat O'Brien as the key factors. Irene Dunn and Pat O'Brien meet informally and readily become pals in a mutual effort to drown any attachment that becomes manifest in their marriage, a "consolation" affair as it were. In due course the respective former loves of each turns up again, their own marriages having been failures, and they now want their old sweethearts back. Although Irene and Pat have made an agreement to give each other freedom if they ever desired it, and they put themselves to the test with the old loves, the new attachment has become too strong to be broken. The plot is deftly worked out and the engrossingly sustained interest is further helped along by an excellently well balanced with clever comedy touches. Smooth direction and first-rate acting by a well-picked cast also figure in it.

Cast: Irene Dunn, Pat O'Brien, John Halliday, Matt Moore, Lester Vail, Lynne D. Low; Direction: Paul Stone; Assistant Director: Humphrey Pearson; Dialogue: same; Editor, not credited: cameraman, Robert Heust; Recording Engineer: John Triby; Synopsis: First-rate. Photography, fine.

Ken Maynard in "RANGE LAW"

Tiffany 65 mins.

SNAPPY ACTION WITH LOTS OF FIGHTING AND GUN PLAY KEEPS THIS PEPPED UP IN A WAY TO PLEASE THE FANS.

Ken Maynard and his trusty horse are in action most of the time in this production, and it rates as a good thrill western. The crooked gong who is running the town in the guise of a respected citizen along with his gang, is about to marry the pretty ranch mistress. The heavy and his henchmen have robbed the stage and killed the driver, and manage to make it appear that Maynard is the road agent. The hero kidnaps the girl right at the wedding ceremony, and while his partner holds the girl, he starts out to get the evidence that will clear his name of the crime. The girl later stumbles on the hideout of the gang, where she hears two of them quarrel and disclose the evidence. Then the hero enlists the aid of the band and with the villain, who is killed by one of his own men who tries to get Maynard. Plenty of fight stuff andBy the book.

"GIRLS ABOUT TOWN"

Paramount 66 mins.

AMUSING BUT UNIMPORTANT YARN OF GOLD Diggers. GETS OVER PRINCIPALLY BECAUSE FOUR PRINCIPALS ARE GOOD.

This is an inconsequential film of two gold diggers in the big city who accumulate jewels and expensive trims by acting as professional or amateur artists. But instead of trying to lure the men off their wives, they lure them off house parties and yacht parties without giving anything in return. The most malicious pranks. Maisie falls hard for Joel McCrea, but Joel after falling, too, and proposing marriage, thinks she is just framing him for a shakedown with her former hubby. Meanwhile her old gold digging pal Lilayan Tashman is trying to get busy with a married man looses up, and finally rocks him for 50 grand worth of jewelry by the fimsiest kind of a racket which wouldn't pass muster in the First Reader. But the sets are extravagant, the four principals are clever, and with adroit direction the picture holds feature for several days on a cold analysis. It will amuse the uncritical and the flappers.

Cast: Billie Burke, Lilayan Tashman, Eugene Pollock, Allyn Delhan, Castle Webster Gibson, Andrew Lawle, Lucille Browne, George Barlir, Robert McWade, Louise Beavers, Armanda Ames, Isabel Howard; Director: George Cukor; Adviser: Author, Zoe Ainsworth; Supervising Director: Harry E. The Industry's Answer To the Cry of the Unemployed

The appeal of the needy unemployed is a challenge to the best effort the Motion Picture Industry can put forth. That challenge has been accepted, and will be met during National Motion Picture Week, when benefit performances will be given everywhere to furnish funds for local relief work.

Each community is making its own selection of a day for these benefit performances. Each theatre names the hour for its benefit show. Film service, accessories, press sheets and every service to make these benefits pay rich dividends to the unemployed are furnished without cost.

Every branch of our great industry is sharing to prevent suffering in your community. Every element in your community will cooperate with you to make the benefit show in your theatre a great contribution to local relief. Communicate with your local motion picture committee and get the plans and the exploitation started for your benefit performance.

PHYSICAL MERGER IS SET FOR RKO AND PATHE UNITS

For RKO and Pathe activities, will be stationed on the coast in charge of the business departments of the combined companies.

The Pathe lot in Culver City is to be closed, all activities concentrated at the Radio Pictures plant in Hollywood, where David O. Selznick will be in charge of all Radio production and Charles R. Rogers will have full charge of the Pathe producing activities. William LeBaron is remaining with Radio, as announced, and probably will head the musical productions.

Under his appointee as vice-president of Radio Pictures, Charles R. Rogers will serve on an advisory board for the Radio pictures in addition to being production chief of all Pathe pictures, and Selznick will be on a similar advisory board for Pathe pictures. Rogers is not to supervise any of the Radio pictures and Selznick is not to supervise any Pathe production.

A total capital of $40,000,000 and $50,000,000 in new capital is understood to have been placed in RKO within the last few days by several important interests, which are reported to have increased their preferred stock holdings in RKO. Another report yesterday had that there might be some public financing to provide additional working capital as well as a refunding of short-term obligations.

First move in the merging of Pathe and RKO home office departments takes place this week with the publicity departments being brought together. Details of the arrangements are still being worked out and it is likely that Hy Daab and A. P. Waxman will continue to supervise the Pathe and RKO appointments respectively, although the art and other departments will cease to work separately. Carrington North Stetson, who is in charge of the RKO Pathe scenario department, has already joined the reader staff of RKO.

“LET US PUT OUR SHOULDERS to the WHEEL” says—ABRAM F. MYERS, President of Allied States Association of Motion Picture Exhibitors.

The unemployment relief program mapped out by the Committees meeting in New York should be welcomed by all branches of the motion picture industry as an opportunity to make a contribution to the public welfare that will be of incalculable and lasting value.

To make the most of this opportunity requires that all branches and factions of the industry shall co-operate fully, vying only in accomplishments and not in self-glorification or claims for recognition or credit.

Not only must there be teamwork but the burden must be evenly distributed and any indication of selfishness or holding back by any branch or faction, no matter how important or prominent, will merit and receive public rebuke. While there may be room for difference of opinion as to some details of the plan, these can be readily adjusted by the local committees if they can be made to share the spirit of service which animated the groups that outlined the general plan.

The public has been taught to expect big things of this industry and if in view of advance publicity the results of this undertaking do not meet with the public’s expectations the industry will suffer a loss in prestige and good will. Let us, therefore, put our shoulders to the wheel for the relief of the destitute, the credit of the industry and the good of our souls.

Columbia adopts the unit plan

Although there is a decided drift Opportunist of Hollywood opinion toward the individualistic in production and away from the so-called mass methods, Harry Cohn, Columbia production chief, is the first to come out openly and vote the straight unit plan ticket. Thereby and to wit causing no end of controversy in social and select production circles. He tells us: "The day is past when one man, or a small group, can successfully produce from 24 to 70 pictures in a year. Meeting release dates, too, is most important. One cannot rush pictures any more than one can hurry through any sort of creative work. Everyone agrees that half-baked pictures are far worse than none at all." He has started something, this Harry Cohn fellow. The four new producers to operate at Columbia are Sam Briskin, Jack Bachmann, Ralph Block and James K. McGuinness.

Columbia

adopts the unit plan

The Columbia studio has adopted the unit-plan basis in its production schedule. The system is similar to the 20th Century-Fox plan where each unit makes a separate film under its own director and producer. The unit is allowed a certain degree of independence but is subject to the studio's overall plan and budget. This plan is designed to increase efficiency and productivity by allowing directors and producers to focus on their specific projects without the constraints of a larger studio organization. The system also allows for more diversity in production and can potentially reduce costs by allowing for more specialization among filmmakers.

INTER OFFICE CORRESPONDENCE

From Al Blofson, Manager, Phila. Office. October 10th, 1951

To Mr. Harry Thomas, Home Office.

Dear Mr. Thomas:

I am enclosing the biggest bunch of contracts that has been written by this office since it opened, amounting to $500,000, which I am sure rivals the week's business of many a national company.

The special FIRST DIVISION issue of "The Exhibitor" came out on October 2nd, and, while I am not stating that this advertising splurge was directly or indirectly responsible, when such a sensational move is recorded, there must be some reason. We used no new selling plan. All that was new in the situation was "The Exhibitor" announcement. You can judge for yourself.

But, what I must directly attribute to "The Exhibitor" is the tremendous impression made by FIRST DIVISION in the minds of our independent exhibitors, minds after our announcement.

In fact, the buyers of one of our leading independent circuits checked our work sheet with our special announcement and demanded that "Bride-Price-Sale" and "Sherlock Holmes Series," which as you know we are not trying to sell at this time, be included in the plan for the theatre.

The exhibitors here seem to know our product as well as we do. I certainly look forward to a healthy, prosperous sea-

ADRIENNE AMES, Paramount's actress recruit from New York society, will play an important role in "One Hour With You", starring Maurice Chevalier. She will share feminine honors with Jeannette MacDonald and Genevieve Tobin. It is a coincidence that Miss Ames is playing the role that Miss Tobin created in "The Play's the Thing". Miss Ames is playing the part opposite Guy Bates Post at the Pasadena Community Playhouse.

C. C. Burr, Nick Grinde, Norman MacLeod, Eddie Halperin and Maurice Samuel are among the members of the Los Angeles motion picture industry who will attend the annual Sigma Nu birthday party at the Elks club, Los Angeles. Nov. 6. "Sheets" Gallagher will be master of ceremonies, while "Chic" Sale will also be among the guests.

Ralph Dietrich, who cut "Seb Sister" and "Daddy Long Legs", is editing "Circumstance" at Fox.

Warner Bros. will place "Old Man Minick", with Chic Sale, in production Nov. 15. John Wray replaces Ralf Harolde in "High Pressure". Loretta Young has cancelled her trip to New York due to being assigned the Chinese role opposite Edward G. Robinson in "Honorable Mr. Wong" at First National. Charles Middleton and J. Carroll Nash are other additions to this cast. Edwin Jentsen takes the place of Nella Walker in "Union Depot", with Miss Walker being given another assignment...

George R. Batcheller has added Dorothy Christy, Carmelita Geraughty, Robert Ellis and Thomas Jackson to "The Devil Plays".

M-G-M has extended Nils Asther's contract for another six months...Myrna Loy, now appearing with Marie Dressler in "Emma", also has Kathryn Crawford has been added to the cast of "Emma". Philips and Alme Stuart, English playwriting team, are in Hollywood to do originals for M-G-M. Michael Vann will appear in "Mary Haire", Maurine O'Sullivan will play the feminine lead opposite Johnny Weismuller in "Tarzan".

"The Clean-up", police force story, is now being prepared for production at M-G-M by W. R. Burnett, in collaboration with Director Charles Brabin.

Edwin Knopf has been assigned by Universal to prepare the screen play for "Marriage Interlude", by Luigj Pirandello. Knopf is now finishing the direction of "Nice Women", with Sidney Fox, Frances Dee, Alan Mowbray, Carmel Myers, Lucille Gleason and Russell Gleason.

Jackie Cooper is scheduled to begin work in another week on "Limp", M-G-M's adaptation of the William Johnston novel dealing with the adventures of a crippled boy.

Natalie Moorhead will play the jealous wife and Walter Byron the juvenile lead in Columbia's "Blond Baby", which features Jean Harlow.

C R I T I C S

Newspaper men and women from all over the English speaking world tell us they would be lost in answering many of the hundreds of industry questions shot at them throughout the year without a copy of the Film Daily Year Book to turn to. Here is a motion picture institution that has stood the test of time and, like wine, gets better with each new year. The coming edition will be the 14th, will contain over 1200 pages, be more comprehensive, practical and useful than ever, and best of all, like all of its grandparents, will be out on time.

Columbia Closes $2,000,000 Booking With Warners

Deal Covers All Features for the Entire Circuit

Columbia closed one of its most important booking deals yesterday with the signing of a $2,000,000 contract with Warner Theaters. The deal includes Columbia's 28 features and 16 outdoor dramas and covers the entire circuit, while commitments embrace key runs, first runs and other runs. This contract, with the Public, Fox and RKO deals previously closed, gives Columbia major representation throughout the country.

U. S. Films Defended By Scottish Exhibs

London—American films have made the industry's success it is today. It was stated at a meeting of the Scottish Branch of the C. E. A. in reply to an attack by Major Gate on American centers. Discussing American invasion of the independent field, the organization pointed out that U. S. interests were not the only ones building and buying cinemas in this country.

Gang Films Out With Capone In

Chicago—Placing of Al Capone in the pen will quickly kill the popularity of gang films, said James Cagney while passing through here on his way to Milwaukee for personal appearances. As soon as the government takes the glory out of a type like Capone, that type will go out of the movies. Cagney's popularity of these pictures has been sustained largely by the glamorous background built around Capone, but there's no glamor in a mugg that's doing time, says Cagney.

Scarcity of American Films Spurs Production in Germany

Sound System Augments New Stage Production

Use of a Western Electric music reproduction system and loud speakers for providing music and sound effects in connection with the Norman Bel Geddes stage production of "Hamlet" will make its bow tonight at the Broadhurst. In the Philadelphia tryout of the play, the sound innovation attracted much attention.

Berlin—With American distribution activity in Germany at the lowest ebb in years, German exhibitors are preparing to produce sound pictures necessitated by the lack of sufficient product to keep their houses open. Compared with two years ago, total amount of available sound product is estimated as 40 per cent off.

Dual Bills and Delays in Releasing Add to Need of Films

A pronounced shortage of available features is being experienced, particularly by the larger circuits, according to bookers contacted by THE FILM DAILY yesterday. They characterize the situation as the most acute one of its kind in years. One contributing factor to the circumstances, in addition to excessive double-feature programs, is the fact that several major producing companies are behind on their release schedule.

EXCHANGES COMING FIRST IN RKO AND PATHE MERGER

Consolidation of the sales and home office staffs of RKO Pathe and RKO Radio Pictures is under way with details being worked out daily for the disbanding of the sales offices and the amalgamation of statistical, clerical and home office departments. Wilkins-Ellsworth Expedition Pictures

Three or two reels of engrossing and often thrilling adventure material is con- tained in the film record of the Wilkins-Ellsworth anti-Arctic submarine expedition, which was cut short by a mishap to the undersea craft. Presented in rough form before radio audiences with the aid of Walter Wilkins delivering a personal lecture at the sceneless reels unrolled, the picture held hold of its audience by the naturally told story of the 38-year-old Lloyd. Sir Hubert, who is planning to give a series of lectures with the film, which is owned by Paramount. Particularly fascinating are the scenes from inside the潜艇 which the submarine was taking along under Arctic ice. Preparations of the submarine, the rough voyage across the Atlantic, stops at picturesque Scenic spots, and various scenes among the Arctic ice fields are also shown. With the descriptive talk synchronized, an excellent story could be made from the material, either for theater showing or as an educational or lecture subject.

Harry Carey has completed "Cavalier of the West," first of eight specials that will make for Weiss Brothers Artclass Pictures. J. P. McCarthy, author of the story, directed the production. Cast includes Carmen LaRoux, Kane Richards, Paul Panzer, Theodore Adams, George F. Hayes, Maston Williams, Ben Corbett and Christina Monti. "Roped, the second of the Carey series, will go into production shortly at the Teet Art Studios.

Columbia's next Tim McCoy western, which carried the working title, "Alias the Sheriff," has been permanently named "The Fighting Marshall." Rose Laddarum is directing. Dorothy Gulliver, Mary Carr, Pat O'Malley and Mathew Betts appear prominently in the cast.

Wallace Smith did such a good job in writing the screen version and dialogue for "Circumstances" that William Sistrom who is to produce this opus for Fox, with William Mon zes directing, has requested Radio Pictures for permission to retain Smith for another assignment.

Harold Hecht, new dance mentor at RKO-Radio studios, is a choosy individual. He interviewed 200 girls and 150 men in order to select a dozen girls and a half dozen chorus men for Lily Damita's current starring vehicle, "Chie Chi and Her Papas.

Roy Del Ruth, having completed the direction of "Taxi!" his latest Warner Bros. assignment, is reading several novels and stage plays from which he is to select his next directorial effort.

Mr. Richard Wallace, wife of the Paramount director, has returned from New York with recommendations for the purchase of two stories which she discovered during her sojourn in the Eastern metropolis.

George Archainbaud and his troupe for the past fortnight have been working on the RKO ranch filming scenes for "Exposed," which he is directing.

Robert Lord, Warner scenarist and supervisor, is a graduate of Harvard. During his college career Lord achieved prominence for his contributions to such national magazines as "Life," "Judge" and other humorous publications.

Al Christie has placed in production a new Educational-Valentine comedy, tentatively titled "For the Love of Fanny."

Doug and Mary Fans

Indicative of public interest in Mary Pickford and Doug Fairbanks is the fact that approximately 200 telephone calls were received by George Gruver, the Artistic p. a., yesterday morning from persons who wish to see them, when the stars upon their arrival in New York. Numerous calls are from fans who wanted to crash into the presence of the celebrities.

P.S.—He Didn't Get the Job

Victor Schertzinger, director for Radio Pictures, received a letter from an ex-convict seeking employment as a technical advisor on pictures dealing with safe blowing, confidence games and hi-jacking in all of which he professed to have had extended experience. Schertzinger has filed the communication for future use.

Hal Roach has signed Billy Gilbert to a long-term contract. Charley Chase has started work in "The Krinko Kid," with Frances Lee as feminine lead and James Horne directing.

Otto Brower was recently recalled from Fort Miller Ranch, Friant, Cali., where he has been resting, in order to sign three directorial contracts. He will start shooting the third today. The three pictures are "Summer," released Oct. 31; "Mr. Oliphant," released Nov. 4, for Monogram, a cast including William Farnum, Ralph Ince, Cornelius Keefe, Sally Blane and Eve Burtner. Brower is also to direct Hoot Gibson for Allied Prods., and will follow this assignment with another directorial job at Monogram.

George Stevens, who has directed both "Boy Friends" comedies at the Hal Roach studios, will soon start work on his ninth "Boy Friends" subject. His last comedy, "Three Kick-Off," was enthusiastically received at a preview.

Randolph Scott, Virginia youth, who received his theatrical training at the Pasadena Community Playhouse, has been signed by Paramount. Born near Orange, Virginia, Scott attended Georgia Tech and the University of Virginia, in his second year, and picked up the game of athletics. He quit college for a tour of Europe and spent two years with his father in administrative engineering before coming to Hollywood.

Max Stein, director of music at RKO-Pathe studios, in one day, translated "Chi Chi and Her Papas," current Lily Damita vehicle, from German into English.

RKO Pathe has engaged Astrid Alwyn for "Lady With a Past," starring Constance Bennett; Isabel Winters, Eddie McPhail, Charlotte Minnlow, Bud Jamison, Jerry Mandy, and Frederick O'Farrell are added to "Pete Burke, Reporter," one of the Frank McHugh newspaper comedies being directed by Harry Sweet.

First National has bought the new novel by Harry Harrison Kroll, entitled "The Cabin in the Cotton," for Richard Barthelmess. It will follow "Alias the Doctor."

Catalina Bacena, famous Spanish star, who starred in Fox's Spanish version of "Jamaa," is on route to Europe. She came here for a pleasure trip, but her work as stage interpreter of the dramas of Gregorio Martinez Sierra was well known and she was given the Fox assignment.

Short Shots from Eastern Studios

Having completed her role in "The Cheat," Tallulah Bankhead heads for Hollywood on Monday. Paramount has selected "Song of Songs," based on a famous stage play, as her next vehicle. This will be the first time that Miss Bankhead has worked on the West Coast, her previous pictures having been made at Paramount's New York studio.

Olive Shea has been selected by Larry Kent to play opposite John Barry Burke in his second two-reel comedy for Paramount. Eddie Cline is directing. Miss Shea has appeared in "Little Devil," RKO's two-reel comedy of shorts and also in Warner Vitaphone comedies, as well as on Broadway, her most recent stage appearance having been in "Blind Mice." This accomplished girl is also a radio performer having been selected as the "Radio Queen of 1930."

Eight girl students of Erasmus High School in Brooklyn which was attended by six of the famous personalities as Helen Twelvetrees and Clara Bow, will get the thrill of their lives this week when they appear in the Vitaphone special short featuring Hal LeRoy. The name of the picture is "The High School Hoofer" and Sam Sax thought it a good idea to select actual high school students for atmosphere.

George K. Arthur, who recently completed a stage series with Karl Dane at the Paramount New York studio, has sold a short story to the Cosmopolitan magazine.

Jack Haley is getting ready to make two more two-reel comedies for Warner Vitaphone to be released as part of the "Big Star Comedy" series. Haley's first Vitaphone appearance was in the recently released "Success," which was all that the title implies.

Margaret Dumont, the dignified society lady who appeared in several of the Merce Bros. pictures, has a new role as Johhny Burke's second Paramount short.

Guy Bates Post, noted stage personality, makes his talkie debut in RKO Pathe's "Prestige."

With "Juvenile Court" out of the way, Bennett F. Zemek is formulating plans for his second picture, "Bachelor Mother," an original Al Boasberg, with adaptation by Luther Reed and screen play by Paul Gangelin.

Vivienne Osborne, who recently completed her feminine role in "Husband's Holiday," is spending a week vacationing at Palm Springs.

Merryn LeRoy, director of "Five Star Final," was once a newsboy in San Francisco. His newsy days were spent in the vicinity of the Alcazar theater and most of his patrons were theater people. It was through this contact that he became interested in the stage and that he became connected first with the theater and then with motion pictures.

Helen Mann is playing the lead opposite Glenn Tryon in "For the Love of Fanny," a Christie comedy.

Lal Chand Mehta of Amritsar, India, who has acted as technical director on several pictures and who is also a noted lecturer, is giving a series of three lectures on Mahatma Gandhi and India at the First Unitarian church, Los Angeles. The dates of his lectures are Nov. 1, 8 and 15.

Leonard Spiegelglass, Fox writer, was about to rent an apartment, when he asked the landlord whether he objected to dogs. The landlord was very emphatic in declaring that he was, and although Leonard does not own any dogs and does not plan to buy any, he walked out.

Wallace Ford is another screen newcomer, who is losing no time between pictures. He has been courted to M-G-M, but was borrowed by Tiffany, and his work in "X Marks the Spot" was so satisfactory to Sam Bischoff that Sam also borrowed him for "Hotel Continental." Ford attracted much attention by his work in the stage version of "Bad Girl."

Gregorio Martinez Sierra, who wrote "The Cradle Song" and other dramas, and who has been supervising Spanish pictures at M-G-M, is on route to France, where he will write at the Paramount Jointville studio. While here, he wrote "Ma ma," the first original Spanish drama accepted as an American studio. While on the coast, he was given the degree of Doctor of Letters by the Pomona University.

300 Extras in Short

Three hundred extras are a lot of people for a 16-reel comedy, but William Goodrich, director-in-chief at the Educational Studios, is using that number for the cabinet scenes in a new movie, which will be directed by Shaw and Addie McPhail play the leads.

Spirit Puts Over U Ball
Final cleanup of accounts for the Universal Club at the Motion Picture Club Saturday night shows that the event more than broke even. Though many advised against holding the event, the attendance should have been greater, they said. Helen Hughes, secy. of U. F. A., was in favor of it and there, as head of ticket sales, worked day and night to put it over. Even at $7.50 a ticket, attendance was 600. Herman Stern, president of the club, also received congrats for his good work in making the ball a success.

Merry-Go-Round

— a whirling industry

— By Jack Alcicote

If you happen to be part or parcel of the industry called motion pictures, don't turn your head, sleep with one eye open, and stay in town over the week ends. Changes that make or break big business, lay the groundwork for success or failure in gigantic corporations and shape futures of vital importance, are happening within the jolly old industry with machine-gun rapidity. And Mister. You ain't heard nothing yet. There's plenty of business still to be done here in New York. But. There's a French revolution brewing in California. And. As we see it, the sooner the industry gets by this painful but necessary job of house-cleaning the better.

The Menace of Overseating

Looking at the vicious circle, we see overseating in practice every important city in the country. playing a villainous role. Los Angeles is but an example. This city was universally recognized as having too many theaters a year ago. Since that time 20,000 additional seats have been added. It is business suicide combined with economic insanity to allow this condition to continue. Every third row of seats MUST be plowed under. Every outfit MUST do its share in this tightening-up process. To come clean you must first take the bath. Negative costs will again show a

Gus Schlesinger Gets Settlement from Warner

Gus S. Schlesinger, formerly in charge of Warner Bros. activities in Germany, yesterday reached an amicable settlement with the company following personal conferences with Harry M. Warner. As a result, Schlesinger has voluntarily withdrawn legal action against the company for breach of contract.

Warners Continuing With Own Financing

Denying recent Wall Street reports that Warner Bros. are getting additional financing, executives of the company yesterday emphatically stated that it is continuing without financial help.
Shippé-Johnson Peruvian Films

Two hours of travel and exploration film were shown at the Engineering Societies building yesterday by the American Geographical Society. The picture, comprising the complete camera record of the Shippé-Johnson Peruvian Expedition, covered scenes never before captured by a motion picture camera, high up in the Andes, showing the primitive life of the Incas, and relics of the departed Spanish invaders and the ancient Incas. It's a good travel picture for special audiences, but has little value as a theatrical presentation.

Is Production in that certain Coming East? quarters there is a somewhat secret but nevertheless determined effort being made to bring the bulk of production back East. This is the most sensible thing that could happen in the industry. Hollywood, in spite of itself, is suffering from a rabid desire to do things from which it finds it impossible to free itself. A vicious, tinselly, bull-headed system that is slowly crushing out the vitals of this great industry in its coils. The factors that made Hollywood the greatest production center in the world have all vanished. No city in the world has made Hollywood as the center of art, talent, literature and music. The supply is here and so is the inspiration. The motion picture industry has plenty of troubles but none of its headaches is half as acute as this Hollywood nightmare.

COMING & GOING

MRS. FRANK JOYCE sails for London tonight on the Olympic.

CHARLES STARRETT is leaving the coast for New York to appear with Nancy Carroll in “Wayfar” at the Paramount eastern studios. PAULINE FREDERICK is due to arrive today to start work on the same picture. She will also star in Arthur Lubin’s stage play, “When the Bough Breaks.” MEYER FINCH, president of Fisher Film Exchange, Cleveland and Cincinnati, together with J. M. JOHNSTON, manager of the Cincinnati branch, are in New York on a business trip visiting with John R. Freiler, president of Big 4.

NORMAN MORAY, Vitaphone Sales Manager, has left for Chicago in connection with impending deals for the showing of Vitaphone shorts. On his return trip Moray will visit the Warner-First National exchanges in Indianapolis and Buffalo.

ARTHUR COHEN, managing director of Canadian Pan-American Polux Theatres, reached the city yesterday.

CLAUDE FLOIS, narrator in the Educational-Romantic Journeys series, has returned to the Grand Canyon country with CURTIS F. NAGEL, producer, after shooting two Romantic Journeys in the rugged western mountain range.

WILL H. HAYS leaves today for the coast.

HARRY M. WARNER is en route to Hollywood.

JOHN M. STAHL, Universal director, arrives from the coast today with his bride of a few days, the former Mrs. Rosanna Roy.

ONE OF the important pronouncements ever made on the important subject of television was delivered by Dr. Alfred N. Goldsmith, vice-prexy of Radio Corporation of America, at the AMPA luncheon yesterday... he spoke as an artiste conveying to the press agents a vital message on the interrelation between television and the motion picture.... he predicted quietly but emphatically that within one year television will have arrived as a commercial art.... he said it was now an actuality in the laboratory.

- - - -

IEE EMPHASIZED the idea that television, sound pictures in the home on amateur sets, and the motion picture theater are even at this early stage indissolubly bound together...... Dr. Goldsmith was confident that they will grow together and thrive.... without competing with each other... they are three component parts of eye entertainment for the public which will help each other grow and prosper.

- - - -

OF COURSE there are some television problems yet to be ironed out.... such as getting clear pictures that will emphasize details.... handling operatic singers, for instance, to make them appear attractive...... taking a pudding singer as wide as he is long, as the Doe humorously said, and giving him eye-appeal the same as he has voice-appeal over the radio... and lastly, the problem of large units of patrons to cut down the cost of television programs.... and this means television apparatus in film houses to bring in a program just the same as it is now shot from the projection booth for the film program.... and that’s where Radio City comes in with its contemplated building housing the new power house of television.... which will shoot television programs to the theaters throughout the land as easily as the film programs are now projected from the booth.... sounds like Arabian Nights, doesn’t it? But it’s On the Way.

- - - -

ANOTHER INTERESTING speaker at the Ampa fest was Carveth Wells, the explorer who debunked African wild animal adventures in his film, “Hell Below Zero.” Mister Wells’ subtle wit and sly humor had the serious-minded press agents up a tree.... so the speaker sez.... “Wish you could see your face, gentlemen, and you’d have a much better time than you’re having,” they say Hinglishmen have no sense of humor! Carveth told of the tremendous expenses of his African expedition.... 150 smackers for a hand camera, and the whole affair costing within a grand each morning his native guide asked him what he wanted to do...... and whether it was zebras, elephants or lions, they’d drive comfortably through the jungle in their car at 40 miles per hour. And find the designated “wild” animals parked in some convenient spot where they could be shot..... either with camera or rifle.... just a wild, dangerous existence, this African expedition stuff.

- - - -

TO COMPLETE a surfeit of honor guests who knew how to be entertaining, there was Leo Brecher, the little playhouse impresario..... and Elinor Smith, the noted aviatrix..... altogether it was a swell luncheon..... one of the best that AMPA has pulled..... a fine balancing of Brains, Wit and Beauty. Ed Finney and his committee are doing a fine job when you are not attending are passing up the best show on Broadway..... and all for a smacker.

Kents Holding Reunion

Sidney R. Kent and his brother, Larry Kent, will fly directly for San Francisco to attend the golden wedding anniversary of their "S. R." departs Sunday and his brother today via plane.

ANN HARDING is enthusiastic about the story of her current production, "President," because it is unlike any story she has made for the screen. It has a unique development and provides her with one of the best roles she has ever undertaken. The story was written by Ray Garner, who is directing the picture, and Rollo L. Lewis.

Our Passing Show: Geneva Mitchell posing for publicity stills at the Mack Sennett studios, Tavares motoring to Culver City; Wallace MacDonald busy at Multi-color.

Carmen Myers is the first star to appear on the "Hollywood Gossip" program over KHJ. The program will be given for a period of 26 weeks.

Gilbert Roland and Bonnie Miller won the mixed dollars in the annual Herbert Broun tournament at Malibu by defeating Ralph Ince and Elizabeth Dickey in the finals and Buddy De Sylva and Caroline Babcock in the semi-finals. Victor Schertzinger, Elizabeth Meachen, Clif Hur, Florence Sutton, Mrs. Oliver H. F. Garrett and Everett H. Seaver won consolation prizes. Prices were presented by Broun, Warner Baxter, Ronald Colman, William Powell, Carole Lombard, Leo Carillo, Dolores Del Rio, Carl Laemmle, Sr., Clive Brook, Richard Barthelmess, Mrs. and Mrs. Dick Hyland and Milton Colton.

Miguel C. Torres, young Mexican producer, has just released through Talking Picture Epics a film of the Mayan ruins in Yucatan, Mexico. Among the ruins are the Pyramid of the Sun in Teotihuacan, the Temple of the Thousand Serpents, and the immense Olympic Stadium, where the Mayan athletes staged their contests in the fifteenth century. The Torres picture is called "Jalal" and it brings to the screen Medea of Movaray, who portrays the Indian princess in the legend, which is enacted at the scene of the ruins.

George Archbainad has discovered that the bridge member who is absent gets the most slams.

"All-American Drawback" replaces "Great American Drawback" as the title of Mack Sennett's new football travesty, now in production under the direction of Del Lord. Harry Gibbons essay the title role, with a comedy cast including Vernon Dent, Lincoln Steadman and Hugh Saxon. Geneva Mitchell and Dorothy Granger provide the feminine lure.

Rowland Brown's forthcoming Universal picture, "The Copperhead," will launch two new names in film careers. One is Rollele LaRue, whom the director discovered in a High School play, and another is Frances Bach, dancer.

Victor Schertzinger, Radio Pictures director and composer, has received a tempting offer to direct two pictures for a producing studio in Mexico. He also has been asked to write thematic and incidental music for the stories. Schertzinger is trying to steal 10 weeks from the calendar in order to accept.

Al Aborn is assisting Alfred E. Green in the direction of "Union Depot." Among players recently added to the cast are Nat Carr, Douglas Cosgrove and Ben Taggart.

HOLLYWOOD

Chicago — Fred Franke, national auditor for Universal, left Chicago a few days ago for a business trip to San Antonio. He will return to Chicago shortly. M. L. Coppelman, U. district booker with headquarters in Chicago, is making his first trip thru his district. "Bing" Miller, assistant central booker, is at home convalescing from an operation on an infected eye.

Gloucester—Gloucester is to have a new theater to replace the Strand. The opening date has been set for about July 1 of next year. The new house will be named "New Strand" and will have a contract under the management of Charles B. Craig, present manager of the Strand.

Kansas City—O. D. Woodward is here to confer on plans for reopening the Orpheum with a dramatic stock company.

MACK SENNETT \textbf{BRINGS YOU}

A short subject star that blazes on BROADWAY'S BIG SIGNS!

It took a whole building to carry the Paramount Theatre's announcement of the personal appearance of Bing Crosby, Mack Sennett's two-reel comedy star. Known to 50,000,000 persons through the microphone, his name now becomes one of the greatest marquee names in film.

BING CROSBY

"I Surrender Dear"

Nothing like it before. The crooning sensation of the dials brings his music and mirth to the screen and a ready-made audience clamors to the box-office!

Monogram, T.P.E. Approached in New Cooperative Plan

Part of Financing to Come from Allocating Territory Quotas

W. Ray Johnston of Monogram and Frank C. Wilson of Talking Picture Epics have been approached in connection with the exhibitor group plan to form a production and distribution organization modeled after the old First National, as exclusively published in THE FILM DAILY on Friday. Exhibitors and exchanges in cities outside of New York have also been contacted.

ATLANTA 10-CENT HOUSES
HARD UP FOR PICTURES

Atlanta—Dime admission theaters in this territory are finding it hard to get product due to unwillingness on the part of most local exchanges to hold back product for such houses. Some distributors are flatly refusing to sell the 10-cent theaters where they follow first-runs on percentage. Thomas A. Branson, president of Affiliated Producers, says the industry cannot produce and distribute.

Commonwealth Theaters Takes Over Houses in K. C. Area

West Coast Bureau, THE FILM DAILY

Los Angeles—Hughes-Franklin Theaters has given up its operations in the middle west, with Commonwealth Theaters, headed by Clarence Schultz as managing director, taking over the circuit's houses in that territory. H-F is planning to concentrate its activities in California, Washington, Oregon, Texas, Oklahoma and Montana.

KATZ FORMULATES PLAN FOR BEATING DEC. SLUMP

A campaign of activity to be followed in all Publix situations for offsetting the usual December slump has been proposed by Sam Katz. To offer patrons every inducement to attend the theater during the first three weeks of December, managers are urged to feature extra attractions, in the way of live talent and give-aways, every week-day night as part of a "Stunt-A-Night" policy.

Doubling On Duals

Chicago—Competition for business in Loop theaters is keen that two houses, the Orpheum and the Monroe, are offering double features. The Monroe has taken a step further and distributed two-for-one-cards. Punch and Judy Theater, operated by the Anchor Brothers, has closed, after trying several different policies.
When Is a Juvenile Film? — the noise-making of the audible minority crime pictures—and every outburst—brings a headline in the papers. When this pastime of panning gang films has ceased to have public value—the crime pix will quietly disappear—or switch over to something else.

GENERALLY speaking—discussions of films in the press—and on the platform—has taken on—a better tone—in recent years. It is growing—more tolerant—and less antagonistic—more appreciative—and less scurrilous. The achievements of—the talker era—are mostly responsible—for winning over—this recognition—and respect.

The swaddling-screen has been weaned—in spite of odds—and just wait—until it really—grows up.

Much of the noise—inimical to films—is made by the audible minority—and doesn’t reflect—the genuine attitude—of the masses—the folks who count—by b o t a l l . So wise showmen—listen to critics—but follow the signs—that are indicated—by their customers.

Many theater men—hold the opinion—a heap of good—would quickly follow—if the unions—let up a bit—in their regulations. By allowing houses—to take on—their own number—of musicians—and stage hands—instead of insisting—on certain quotas—it would be possible—to use orchestras—and organists—and stage acts—thruly giving work—to many thousands—including union men—who are now idle. Some flesh numbers—would ease up—the bad situation—that now exists—through production shortage—due to dual bills—and two shows. “A hundred theaters—hiring eight men each—is better than—those same theaters—with no man at all—merely because—the union decrees—it shall hire—sixteen or none

REVIVING briefly: the subject—the newspaper attitude—toward the movies—it would help more—if in a good will war—on the producers—who stop presenting—or misrepresenting—newspaper reporters—as comic strip characters—whose behavior—makes real members—of the fourth estate—write in their seats. The studios—say but dough—to detail experts—who are responsible—for correct costumes—and the right furniture—and so not send—one of these experts—to a newspaper office—and find out what gents of the press—are actually like

AND isn’t it odd—to few critics—seemed to notice—the historic ability—of Doris Kenyon—until they started—casting her—in negligees?

Warner Royalty Settlement May Be Delayed for Years

Expectations are that several years will elapse before final decision is made in the action brought by Warner Bros. to collect royalties from Western Electric and Electrical Research Products in connection with sound reproducing equipment. In the hearing now in progress so far only Warner executives’ evidence has been taken, with examination of Western Electric and Erpi officials to follow.

Arthur Loew Flying to Cuba

Arthur Loew has purchased a new four passenger Stinson airplane and will leave from Roosevelt Field at daybreak Monday for Cuba, where he will visit the local M-G-M office. Loew will pilot the plane. According to Dave Blum, foreign publicity director, this is the first time a motion picture company executive has gone to a foreign country on business by airplane.

Cagney for Jersey Houses

James Cagney, now making a short vaudeville tour of the Warner theaters, has been booked by the Actor's Bureau connected with the circuit to appear at the Ritz, Elizabeth, N. J., on the 14th. The week will be split with the Jersey Hoboken. Walter Meyers of the Actor's Bureau says efforts are under way to prolong Cagney's tour beyond the Hoboken date.

Scores Infidelity in Films

Charlotte, N. C.—Fewer stories of marital infidelity on the screen was advocated by J. Wilson Smith, interstate secretary of the Y. M. C. A. In the two Carolinas, in his semi-annual report. Too much showing of unfaithfulness "breaks down the sacredness of marriage vows and home life," he said.

HOLLYWOOD

Ralph Block, one of Columbia's new unit producers, is the author of a novel, which is shortly to be published. Incidentally, the novel does not have a Hollywood background, which makes it a novel of new material, so to speak.

Before Ann Harding makes "District Nurse," the Faith Baldwin story bought by Charles R. Rogers after reading galley proofs, she will make "Women Need Love." She is now working on "Prestige."

Evelyn Knapp will have the principal feminine role opposite Joe E. Brown in his next First National comedy, "Fireman, Save My Child."

Hobart Bosworth is to have one of the featured roles in "Bad Timber," Bill Boyd's next starring picture for RKO Pathé.

Natalie Moorhead, now working in Columbia's "Blonde Baby," is on her third consecutive role at Columbia studios. Her next assignment is a role in "Yellow," featuring Jack Holt and Richard Cromwell. She has just completed an important part in "Unwanted."

Nate Slote, former contender for lightweight championship, and now trainer for Ben Lyon, Richard Dix, Clark Gable, John Barrymore, and other male stars in the film colony, turned actor for a funny bit in the new educational-Torchy Comedy, "Torchy Twos to Try." No.

Ed Le Saint completes the cast of "The Fighting Marshall," Columbia's Tim McCoy outdoor drama, which features Dorothy Gulliver, Mary Carr, Mathew Betz and Pat O'Malley. Ross Lederman is director.

Wilhelm Dieterle, the German director imported by Warner-First National, will henceforth be known, by his own decision, as Wilhelm Dieterle.

Columbia will shortly place in production, "Feathered Serpent."

Blondes Lead the Field

In a survey of 2,450 girls working as extras, Fred Darig, casting director for Paramount, found 1,540 blondes, 890 brunettes and only 20 redheads.

Mark Sandrich is directing "A Hurry Call," starring Chic Sale. The supporting cast includes Alleene Carlyle, Charles Judels, Bud Jamieson, Billy West and Phil Danam.

Doris Lloyd has been added by M-G-M to the cast of "Tarzan," the African adventure story now being directed by W. S. Van Dyke. Johnny Weissmuller, national swimming champion, has the title role in this picture and Maureen O'Sullivan has the chief feminine role.

Lil Dagover has completed "The Captain's Wife," her first American-made starring talker, at First National.

Nora Lane and Charles Williams complete the cast of Fox's "Dance Team," now in production with James Dunn and Sally Eilers in the leading roles. Edwin Burke wrote the dialogue for this adaptation of one of Sarah Addington's novels, and Sidney Lanfield is directing. Ralph Morgan is directing. Harold Hardy and Edward Crandall also are in it.

Marian Marsh will appear opposite Richard Barstizel in his next First National picture, "Alias the Doctor."

Metro has acquired motion picture rights to the short story, "Spurs," written by Tod Robbins. This story first appeared in Munsey's Magazine in 1926, and was reprinted in the volume of short stories titled "Who Wants a Green Bottle?"

Lucille LaVerne is a last minute addition to the cast of "While Paris Sleeps," in which Victor McLaglen and Helen Mack play the leading roles. Other members of the cast include William Bakewell, Claire Maynard, Rita Lafay, Jack LaRue, Paul Porcasi, Eddie Dillon, Maurice Black, and Dot Farley. Allan Dwan is directing.

Kenneth McKeena will direct John Boles in "Widow's Might" for Fox. Claire Maynard, Edward Crandall, and Raul Roulien have been assigned roles in this RKO-Lanter story.

Al Santell, who is to direct Marion Davies in "Folly of the Circus" for M-G-M, expects to have the picture under way in about three weeks.

Ralph Bellamy will play the leading role with Violet Heming in her first Fox picture, "Circumstances," an adaptation of Andrew Soutar's novel "The Devil's Triangle." Victor McLaglen, Alexander Kirkland and Robert Minard will also play important roles under the direction of William Cameron Menzies.

Charles E. Mack, originator of the famous black face team known as the Two Black Crows, waxed eloquent in his praise of Laurel and Hardy after witnessing the Hal Roach comedians in "Pardon Us."

"The black face work of Laurel and Hardy is perfect," said Mack, who has spent 20 years in this type of work. "I've only laughed at ten comedians in my whole life, and Laurel and Hardy give me the best laughs of the bunch."

More Eastern Activity in Sight

The middle of November will find considerable production activity in the East, with Paramount having started "Her Confession" and "Wayward" in preparation, both features. Vitaphone will be in the midst of a heavy shows schedule and the Metropolitan studios will be busy with an all-Italian feature.

Kenneth Daigneau, selected by Sam Sax to play the role of James Madison in Vitaphone's film "George Washington," is a well known Coast player who was once leading man for Marjorie Rambeau. Walter Wilson and Frank McNelis, from the Broadway stage, will enact the roles of Chief Justice Roberts Livingston and General Green respectively. Grace Van Auker will portray Martha Washington.

Arthur Hurley has been studying up on American history covering the period between 1776 and 1789, as preparation for directing the twodimensional special being made by Vitaphone for the Washington Bi-Centennial celebrations sponsored by the Washington Chamber of Commerce. Story is the work of Burnett Hershey, story specialist and Lyon Pearson, noted historian.

An amusing incident (depending on your sense of humor) happened during the filming of "The Naggers at the Opera," at the Warner Vitaphone studio. One of the extra girls, arterial in rich furs and evening clothes and looking like a million dollars spent a busy ten minutes between takes trying to borrow fifteen cents for lunch.

Stanley Rubash is working on the script for Vitaphone's fourth Booth Tarkington juvenile story in which Billy Hayes, Vitaphone's Pernod, will again have the leading role. Those already completed are "Snakes Alive," "Batter Up" and "One Good Deed."

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Norworth on location in Brooklyn for exteriors to be used in "The Naggers at the Opera," thought they had selected a quiet street and were all ready to shoot when two school girls around the corner both let out a couple of hundred kids. In spite of this, Director Al Gouding got the necessary scenes and made a hurried exit.

Charles Starrett returns to the Paramount New York studio for a role in "Wayward." It was at this same studio that Starrett first attracted attention by his work in "Fast and Loose" and "The Royal Family of Broadway," leading to a long-term contract. Since then he has played opposite Billy Dove in "The Age for Love," besides appearing in "Silence" and "Touchdown."

Mrs. Edward Sloane was among the recent visitors to the Paramount New York studio, where her husband, who recently finished "His Woman," is now preparing to direct Nancy Carroll and Richard Arlen in "The former picture went over very big in a recent pre-

Berthold Viertel, now preparing to direct "Her Confession" at the Paramount New York studios, came to this country four years ago with the late F. W. Murnau, when the latter was brought here from Germany by Fox. Both had been associated with the UFA studios in Berlin as directors.

Ray Foster is urging his cronies at the Vitaphone studio to visit an exhibit of art caricatures, the work of his uncle, Conrad Mosaic, now on display at the Adelphi Galleries.

Burnet Hershey has departed from such heavy material as the Van Dine mystery series and Burton Holmes travelogues to turn out the look for "Footlights," a two-reel musical comedy recently completed by Warner Vitaphone.

"Hot News Margie," first of the Marjorie Bee comedies for Vitaphone, is being released this week along with "Of All People," two-reel Fanny Watson-Thehma White; "Sport Slants" No. 3, with Ted Husing and Fourth of the series of "Looney Tunes," entitled "Bosko's Fox Hunt." ALUMINUM HORN PUT OUT BY FOX ENGINEERING CO.

Toledo, O.—The first size in a full series of all-metal trumpet horns to be manufactured has been placed on the market by the Fox Engineering Co. of this city, manufacturers of horns and high-powered electric-dynamie units.

The new horn, which is said to be entirely free from the influence of atmospheric and moisture conditions and are almost indestructible in normal use. The outstanding application is for exterior use where weather conditions are bad, but their compactness, light weight and fine bore quality, meet every condition of auditorium and theater work, the company declares.

The horn is available in the standard and straight style and can be furnished with a special curved adapter with an integral bracket for installing on wood or steel poles.

W. E. Tubes Pass Severe Test

Nantes, France.—The most severe test talking picture equipment tubes could be put through was applied to the Western Electric Sound System at the Apollo Cinema, this city, when the theater recently burned down.

The next morning it was discovered that, despite the terrific heat of the blaze, the equipment had suffered very little. The film in the lower magazine was intact and the tubes from the equipment, although showing traces of carbon on the outside, were not blown out and could still perform their work.

Pointers and Suggestions

ALTHOUGH sound reproducing equipment has been mechanically made for easy operation, it needs periodic inspection by technically trained experts if it is to be kept at its highest efficiency. Modifications made necessary in the equipment from time to time to take advantage of improvements or refinements as they become available, while it especially desirable that the supervision of its maintenance be be in the hands of those whose training and experience have been extensive.

Now is a good time to check over and repair the open doors, etc., that let in the draft and cause untold annoyance to patrons during the cold weather.

Advertising media for any theater regardless of its size or location require frequent attention. Patrons like variety and are quick to appreciate changes in atmosphere within and outside the theater. There are probably many theater operators who know a lot of out-of-date advertising ideas that could be brought up to the minute. They may be so sold that the modern picture-going public has never heard of them, but their use could create unusual attention. It's worth a try.

English Firm Develops Tubular Theater Chair

Sheffield, Eng.—A new type, interchangeble tubular theater chair has been developed and is being marketed by Friese-Greene, Nicholson and Co., Ltd., of this city. Made with a tubular steel frame, it is so designed that each seat is a separate unit. Each part such as seat-back, seat-bottom, base and arm, are easily detachable. Another important feature is said to be the self-aligning swivel bearings which are employed in either concave or convex curves of the seat row.

By a simple movement the whole seat can be taken up in a few moments, a factor which facilitates the overhaul and thorough cleaning of the auditorium. The swivel mechanism is provided with either concave or convex curves of the seat row.

Improvement of Sound Efficiency
Discussed by R. H. McCullough

The mere fact that music sounds pleasing to the ear is no proof that the sound reproducing equipment is faithfully reproducing every frequency. The human voice is much more difficult to reproduce properly than music. The voice affords a much harder test of a loud speaker than does music—probably because the human ear is trained to know when the voice sounds natural. If the reproduction of the human voice is resonant without being hollow or throaty and the sibilants come through clearly, without distortion, the reproduction is said to be excellent. We should not be satisfied with mere traces of the "S" and "TH" sounds. They should be heard almost as clearly in normal speech. After hearing the human voice, listen to a musical selection containing drums and make sure that the drums retain their full resonant boom.

It is advisable to retain the volume in the auditorium at a normal level. Do not permit speech or music to be reproduced with excessive volume. Musical accompaniments with feature presentations or other subjects should be reproduced at a very low level. When the news reel is being presented, see that movie volume is used for the voice of a close-up speaker than for a person some distance in the background. It is very important to bring the music in a way where it is appropriate for special effects—such as the shouting of a crowd, the whistle of a locomotive, a brass band passing nearby, etc.

Check Up on Replacement Parts
Upon receiving any replacement parts it is imperative that you immediately check same for defective ness and return such part or piece of equipment which shows any perceptible defects. Sound equipment and replacement parts must be absolutely perfect to insure a good performance and besides we are paying for good equipment and you are responsible if you are operating sound equipment with defective vacuum tubes and other working parts.

High-voltage filter condensers are capable of holding a charge for a considerable length of time. It is possible, while checking over the amplifier and component parts, that you will receive a severe shock from one of the condensers. A simple method of avoiding such shocks is to make it a practice to always discharge such condensers before handling them. To eliminate the possibility of shocks, take a screwdriver, or any other metal conduc-

Check It Up
Your fire fighting equipment should be kept in the best condition. Fire extinguishers should be checked and refilled at regular intervals. Check over your equipment now, not only for your own protection, but for the safety and welfare of your patrons.

Before starting the projector, observe the meter readings and set at normal operating values. The projectionist is entirely responsible for the operation of the sound equipment.

To win and hold theater patronage, it is necessary to present the sound motion picture in a realistic manner with good definition and natural tone quality. The unnaturalness in voice, the shrillness in notes and the unpleasantness of sounds will cause loss of steady clientele. Your audience will be grateful for any improvement you can make, which will lead to the perfection of performance. Your specific problems must be remedied. Experience and science have gone far to make the difference out of the perfect sound picture presentation.

Common Projection Problems
Common projection problems are unsteady pictures, poor definition, distortion and poor screen illumination. An unsteady picture is caused by a bent intermittent shaft or sprocket— or worn intermittent parts, insufficient tension on tension shoes which hold film against projector mechanism aperture, wax or dirt on intermittent sprocket, film shrinkage and film perforations not being standard. Poor definition is caused by a dirty objective lens, using a poor grade lens which provides spherical aberration, incorrect lens system, loose tension against tension shoes, which permits film to buckle; thus causing an in and out of focus effect and warped film.

Poor screen illumination may be caused by dirty condenser lenses if

POWERFUL SPOTLIGHT BULB INVENTED BY MAUDE ADAMS

Maude Adams, who has just returned to the stage after long retirement during which she made vast experiments in lighting, is the inventor of a new bulb that is 30 times more powerful than the spotlight in average use in the theater and which permits change of color without the usual use of gelatin slides. The device is operated by remote control.

An operator, seated at a control board, will regulate all qualities of light from that of morning to midnight, it is claimed. Because of the increased light from the bulb, which has a power of 30,000 watts, an air cooling device is provided.

The bulb is manufactured especially by General Electric, while the Century Lighting Equipment Co. of New York, manufacture the control apparatus.

Aisle and Seat Lights
A series of aisle and seat lights to enable patrons to find their way about in darkened auditoriums and seat themselves without the discomforts and dangers of groping in the dark, yet without annoying the audience or interfering with the performance, are being marketed by Kliegl Bros. of New York, manufacturers of theatrical, decorative and spectacular lighting.

The high intensity or standard arc is used—a dirty mirror if the mirror arc lamp is used—negligence on part of the projectionist to maintain a proper arc—incorrect relative distance between the aperture and the light source—incorrect condenser lens system, or insufficient current for the type of projector which is being used.—R. H. McCullough in Fox's "The Last Word."
B. I. P.『TURNING OUT ONE PICTURE A WEEK』

London—British International Pictures has increased its production schedule so that, beginning with 1932, embellishments will be released at the rate of one a week throughout the year. Eleven productions have recently been completed and await early presentation, while six more are in various stages of work at the studios. Eight more are being filmed to start filming at an early date.

Synchronized Music For Personal Dates

London—Stage artists may hereafter make personal appearances and be accompanied by music without the theater going to the trouble of hiring an orchestra. A demonstration was given recently at the Polytechnic of a system of synchronized accompanying by which the necessary music to accompany the personal appearance of the artist is recorded on films and reproduced on the screen at the proper time. Long intervals between bits of accompanying music are taken care of by having two or more records eued to start at the proper time. Songs and dancing were equally well accompanied by the film music, it is stated.

New French Producing Agreement

Paris—An agreement of importance to the French film industry has been entered into between Delac and Vandal on one hand and P. J. de Venlo on the other. Under the terms of the agreement, de Venlo will cease producing, while Delac and Vandal will no longer distribute, but confine themselves to producing talkers.

Newport's 2,700-Seat Super

Newport, Eng.—Plans have been drawn up for a 2,700-seat motion picture theater here to be built by Tilney's Kinema, Ltd. It will be erected at Capitol Park, near the city's main thoroughfare, at an estimated cost of about $45,000.

British Quota Record

London—The highest percentage of British-made pictures exhibited at one theater occurred at the Palace, Orpington, Kent, at which during the past year 46¾ per cent of the features shown were of British-made. This is believed to be a record for England.

League May Collaborate on War Film

Paris—Marcel L'Herbier has written a story depicting the horrors of a future war, "L'Amour du Monde," upon which he states that he has received assurances of collaboration by the League of Nations and the Women's Union for Peace. A number of French statesmen, including Messrs. Briand, Tardieu, Herriot, Painlevé and others, have promised their co-operation. The author hopes to obtain international patronage before beginning production.

French Film Pioneers Honored by Government

Paris—The French government recently honored four of the pioneers of the film industry when the Order of the Legion of Honor was conferred, in the presence of Cabinet ministers, upon Charles Delac, M. Vandal, Louis Lumière and M. Molles, Mario Roustan, Minister of Public Instruction and Fine Arts, presented the decorations at a banquet held at Claridge's Hotel.

"Atlantide" as a Talker

Paris—G. W. Pabst is to make Pierre Benoit's novel, "Atlantide," into a talking picture. It was an silent film some 10 years ago. Five prominent French authors will prepare the scenario.

Three Times Sherlock Holmes

London—Arthur Wontner, who acted the role of Sherlock Holmes in Twickenham Film Studios' production of "The Sign of the Four," has signed to play Conan Doyle's great detective in two more productions of the same kind, for Twickenham, the company that released "The Sign of the Four," for Associated Radio Pictures.

Sues Rex Ingram on Slander Charge

Paris—Sues for $500,000 against the American director, Rex Ingram, has been instituted here by M. Corren-Molinier, former legal advisor to Ingram at Nice. The charge is slander and is brought under the new libel law passed by parliament last summer. Ingram brought an action against M. Corren-Molinier earlier in the year.

"Trader Horn" Gets 20-Year Record

London—"Trader Horn" has started its tour of the provincial theaters. At the Apollo, Southsea, according to Manager Blake's own report, it broke the record of his theater for the 20 years of its existence during which time 2,000 features have been shown there.

Rent Reductions in Sight for Australian Exhibs

Sydney—Relief is in sight for Australian exhibitors if the Rent Reduction Bill now before the New South Wales Parliament becomes a law. The decrease will not apply to the rental of films, but to the rent of theaters. The amount of rent deducted specified in the bill is 22½ per cent.

Actual relief for the exhibitor is found in the bill already agreed to which spreads the exhibitor's 15 per cent. The Interests Reduction Bill, already passed, calling for a decrease of four shillings six pence on the pound, will aid exhibitors whose houses are mortgaged or who have dividends to pay on preferred stock.

British Export Unit Opening Office Soon

London—British United Film Products, Ltd., is the official title of the new company recently formed on a co-operative basis to distribute British pictures in the Colonies. C. M. Woolf, John Maxwell, Simon Rowson, S. W. Smith and H. Bruce Woolfe are the directors. Offices of the company are expected to be opened in the near future in War- dour St. The new organization has the support of the Home and Colonial Offices.

Cines Doing Christmas Shorts

Rome—Cines Pittaluga is making two short subjects for Christmas release. They are "Natale de Boebe" ("Baby's Christmas") and "Il Pre- sepe" ("The Manger").

French Topical Films

Paris—A new company called Tri- angle Films has been formed by Jean Mitry and Boris Daen to produce topical films. The first will deal with the metal industries of France.
REVIEWS OF SOUND SHORTS

Herb Williams in "The Beach Nut"

Paramount 9 mins.
Fair Comedy

Herb Williams, who usually is a scream on the vaudeville stage, registers only fair in this short. He is shown at a fashionable bathing beach, where he does his nutty stuff and in the course of matters is introduced as a famous pianist. This gives Williams a chance to do his well-known piano routine, which ends up with the comedian splattering the musical stuff all over the place. Should prove satisfying to the less fastidious.

"Paramount Pictorial No. 3"

Paramount 6 mins.
Interesting Novelty

In this issue of the Paramount Pictorial series of radio-broadcasting are exposed in a manner that will provide some unusually interesting entertainment for the fans, though it certainly won't help the broadcasting business any. After a view of a couple listening to a radio program, the scene changes to the broadcasting studio where the tricks of sending a skit over the air are person revealed. A good novelty, but unquestionably a disillusionment for many radio listeners. The other subjects in this short are "African Wild Game," with talk by Lowell Thomas, and "Something New in Dishes," a china display in color.

"Donne Alla Fonte" ("Women at the Spring")

Transcontinental Pictures 6 mins.
Good Musical Number

Staged around a picturesque well, with a group of Italian girls in attractive native costume performing, some dancing while others sing, this short from the Cines Pitalluga studios of Rome is a delightful and very acceptable filler for almost any bill. The dance is colorful and interesting, while the singing is a decidedly agreeable vein.

Clark and McCullough in "Scratch as Scratch Can"

Radio Pictures 20 mins.
Good Slapstick

Clark and McCullough's rough-house slapstick shows to good advantage in this one. The boys are picked up on the street and assigned to sell insurance to a tough customer. Their methods make for a series of laugh situations which, while not new, are surefire stuff. They crash into the prospect's house and after breaking up a statue trying to wrestle, the ends on and, through some trick photography, they emerge about two inches high. There are only a few slow minutes in the comedy.

"Backfield Strategy"

(Football Thrills Series)

Columbia 10 mins.
Good

A sequence in which Knute Rockne explains a trio of shifts is one of the highlights of this number in the football Thrills series. Another enhancing feature is the use of a wide screen, which adds considerably to the effectiveness and clarity of the demonstrations. Slow motion is used to good advantage and the explanatory talk is interesting. Teams shown in the course of the action include Notre Dame and Southern California, Tennessee and Florida, and Holy Cross and Harvard.

"Jack and the Beanstalk"

Paramount 6 mins.
Fair Catoon

Nothing specially out of the ordinary in this animated. The title just about explains what it's about, the hero of the action utilizing the beanstalk to ascend up into the clouds and rescue the girl from the menacing clutches of the giant. Art work and score are okay.

Edgar Bergen in "Free and Easy"

Vitaphone 5905 7 mins.
Fair

Another in the series of short comedy skits in which Edgar Bergen, the ventriloquist, and his dummy are featured. The slim story in this number has to do with the pair going in search of some dough on which a crystal gazer has given them a bum steer, and the course of the yarn takes in from hobnobbing to the classy southern winter resorts. Material in general, however, does not hold up as strongly as previous shorts by Bergen, although it should prove fairly satisfying.

Ruth Etting in "Words and Music"

Vitaphone 1298-9 21 mins.
Okay

Comedy with music in which a young song writer runs foul of a crook in the same biz. Under the pretext of collaboration, the shyster steals the lad's hit song, but it all works out happily in the end, thanks to the youth's more sophisticated sweetie, Miss Etting, who delightfully and some of the lines are really funny.

"The Eyes Have It"

Vitaphone 1282 10 mins.
Pretty Dull

Edgar Bergen, ventriloquist, plays an eye specialist with his wise-cracking dummy as his patient. The third person in the picture is an active nurse who merits the interest of said dummy. As far as ventriloquism goes, the work is fine but the picture as a whole becomes tiresome.

Robert L. Ripley in "Believe It or Not"

Vitaphone 5301 8 mins.
Very Interesting

Robert L. Ripley takes his audience to northern Africa in another intensely-interesting tour of historic spots. The material is generally new and certainly fascinating. No doubt the subject would be additionally effective providing more detail was furnished in connection with the various points of interest visited.

Krazy Kat in "Bars and Stripes"

Columbia 6 mins.
Fair

A fairly amusing animated based on a combination musical and military idea. First Krazy trots out a company of musical instruments, which go on parade, and then the fiddling horns begin to spout cannons at a supposed enemy. The music is lively.

"You Don't Know What You're Dooin"

Vitaphone 5603 7 mins.
Poor

Just an ordinary animated song cartoon in the "Merrie Melodies" series. Has nothing about it to lift it out of the commonplace rating.

Ruth Chatterton in “ONCE A LADY”

Paramount

80 mins.

GOOD ALTHOUGH AT TIMES SLOW DRAMA WITH CHATTERTON AS PERENNIAL MAIN ATTRACTION. NICE FOR THE LADIES.

Without Ruth Chatterton this picture might have been truly bad, but cleverly directed and the star herself gives a performance which is distinctly outstanding. The story is that of a Viennese lady who weds a staid young Englishman and his family breaks up the marriage. In the meantime a daughter has been born. When the crisis in the marital situation occurs the husband turns the wife out and she returns to Paris to become a lady of more or less, mostly less, virtue. Years later her daughter, blocked in her desire to marry a poor young man, leaves home and starts to go on the loose in Paris. When her mother steps in and, without explaining the logic of it, her will is dead, saves the girl and engineers her toward marriage with her sweet, but ambitious, granddaughter. This is competent with Jill Esmond, playing the daughter, particularly fine.

Cast: Ruth Chatterton, Ivo Novello, Jill Esmond, Suzanne Rasmond, Geoffrey Kerr, Doris Lloyd, Herbert Bunston, Gwen Meredith, Louis Hayward, Theobald von Eltz, Claude King, Lilian Rich. Director, Guthrie McClintic; Authors, Ruth and Conrad Aiken; Camera, Robert landscaping, Zoe Akins, Solomon Haffenstein; Di-

At last they have broken away from the routine stuff and put some originality and quality into it. The western. Major credit must go to Fred Allen for his fine work on this. With his job of introduced a girl with stronger yarns which now have an intelligence. The story takes off with the young man working himself into some hilarious and original characters. A train of a good Mexican actress. The picture has a definite appeal.

“FRIENDS AND LOVERS”

MILDLY EFFECTIVE RACKETEER STORY CAST HANDICAPPED BY POOR MATERIAL.

There's not much about this picture that is very different from the usual run of hoopla and racketeers. The story is that of a girl who is a racketeer, who takes over the racket, but the kid is only won over instead of killed, and, after the big shot has missed the racket mob meets his doom at the hands of the wife, whom he had lured to his apartments. The plot has no special kicks, and due to the weakness of the material, the cast is never able to register very heavily.

FAIR DRAMA OF RICH BOY—POOR GIRL ROMANCE WITH PARENTAL INTERFERENCE, WITH KID ACTOR AS HIGHLIGHT.

This is just another rehash of the familiar situation wherein the millionnaire's son marries an honest girl of shady parentage, resulting in parental opposition but eventual victory for true love. It's a rather obvious story, the outcome being visible before the second reel, and consequently it doesn't get very deep under the skin. Ben Lyon is the second reel, and consequently it doesn't get very deep under the skin. Ben Lyon is the second reel, and consequently it doesn't get very deep under the skin. LIGHT COMEDY-DRAMA OF THE RACETRACK THAT WILL PLEASE POP AUDIENCES.

What this Thrillodrama lacks in thrills and drama is made up in laughs that are provided by a clever script. Glenn Tryon, who plays the part of a smart aleck salesman, and Stepin Fetchit, as a droll, lazy and good-for-nothing stable boy. Tryon, who has had a glimpse of the “one girl,” decides to quit the house-to-house canvass professional for better and bigger things. His boasting leads him into trouble and scorn, but also leads him into a card game with some professional gamblers, whom he cleans and wins a race horse of which he has previously boasted being his. In the end he is caught up in the usual intrigue and a mixup at the paddock that helps to work up a climax. The picture finishes with a horse race that is won by the stable boy with the usual enthusiasm. For the not too discriminating popular crowds, however, the picture should prove fairly satisfying.

FAIR MURDER MYSTERY WITH LYNN HARDING IN FINE PERSONAL AND RAYMOND MASSEY GOOD AS SHERLOCK HOLMES.

This Conan Doyle detective story stands up well with its predecessors although it depicts a more modern Holmes than either screen or story is wont to show. Raymond Massey has made no attempt to match in his make-up, the Sherlock that was originally created by the author. However, Massey is an excellent actor and Lynn Harding plays a very villainous villain, and does it well. The story concerns a mysterious murder case that Holmes endeavors to calmly unravel. One young girl is killed, then being no trace of the murderer, the second also is in course of a similar fate and appeals to Holmes for protection. Suspicion is immediately centered upon the girl's stepfather who eventually is charged and killed by the serpent he has used to kill his victims. Many clues are given, although the suspense is cleverly sustained.

“MISBEHAVING LADIES” with Lila Lee, Ben Lyon
First National 65 mins.

GOOD FAMILY PICTURE WITH SMALL TOWN COMEDY AND CHARACTERIZATION THAT WILL PLEASE AS A POP NUMBER.

This is a light number that will break no records, but it is a wholesome story with some fine comedy characterizations by Louise Fazenda and Lucien Littlefield in a small town setting. Lila Lee is the girl who left the home town when a child, grew up in Europe and married a prince who died. The story concerns itself with her return to the home town, out in the Midwest, with Uncle and Aunt Petrie, the whole populace ready to welcome her. She arrives incognito and is mistaken for a seamstress and the story carries on the role. This leads to some humorous complications and near scandal with her uncle and her old boy acquaintance. The comedy characterizations by Louise Fazenda and Littlefield make this very human and laughable. Just right for the family trade.

“OPERAL BALL” Protec Trading Corp. 75 mins.

PLEASING GERMAN LIGHT COMEDY WITH VIENNESE SETTING GETS LAUGHS WITH CLEVER SITUATIONS.

A Greenbaum-Emelka production, featuring Ivan Petrovich, Liane Haid and Georg Schuenzel, and directed by Georg Schuenzel, is a farce comedy vehicle, and it is very clever and amusing. With a very competent cast and nice settings in a rity society and diplomatic atmosphere, it gets over with plenty of laughs. Petrovich as the husband of Liane Haid is detained on diplomatic business so that he cannot attend the Opera Ball in Vienna. His wife decides to go alone and secretly, taking her maid. There she has a flirtation with Alexander, a friend of her husband’s she has not met, also in diplomatic service. She is masked, and he does not know her identity. He follows her to her home, and to save herself from discovery she has gone in wear her clothes and impersonates her. Then developments come thick and fast with clever and amusing complications. English titles are inserted on the scenes to aid those who do not speak German. A pleasing number.

Cast: Ivan Petrovich, Liane Haid, Georg Schuenzel. Otto Wallich, Betty Bird, Emmy Amberg; Director, Max Neufeld; Authors, Max Neufeld, Jacolyn Amberg; Adapters, same; Dialoguers, same; Editor, not listed; Cameraman, Otto Kastner. Direction, good. Photography, very good.

“COSI E LA VITA” (“Such Is Life”) Thalïn Production 50 mins.

FINE ITALIAN AUDIENCES, HAS PLENTY OF HEART INTEREST AND DRAMA.

This all-Italian feature unfolds as the familiar triangle situation but with a new twist. A wealthy husband is obliged to leave his attractive wife and baby girl in the care of his best friend while he sets off for America. When he returns, the wife has an extra child, a boy, who has been given off to charities. Years later, after the mother has died, the boy and girl fall in love not knowing they are brother and sister. When the father sends the boy away, the boy vows vengeance and, in seeking to shoot the father’s choice for son-in-law, he adopts the next morning lies and under very dramatic circumstances, the old nurse reveals the truth, that with the girl resigns herself to her father’s choice. Cast is uniformly good, especially Miriam Battista, famous as a child star, and who gives completely sincere performance. Apparently no expense was spared to make this amusing production. Sets are all attractive.

Cast: Acaelo Dekeko, Adriana Dorl, Eduardo Clavel, Piero Niel, Auguste Merlotti, Miriam Battista, Vannette Van and Frank Albr.; Direction, Eugene Rodey; Authors, Armando Cenamann; Dialogues, Eugene Rodey; Adapters, same; Cameraman, Frank Zuchor; Music, Pio Fantoni; Direction, good. Photography, okay.

“IRHE HOEIT BEFEIHIT” (“Her Highness Commands”) United Artists 90 mins.

ENJOYABLE GERMAN TALKER WITH A MYTHICAL KINGDOM BACKGROUND.

WILLY FRITSCH AND KAEFETE VON NAGY GOOD.

A pleasing blending of music and humor hold up the interest in this German-made film until the very end. The story of Nagy as told by Marie Christine and Willy Fritsch as her lover from the royal guard, give excellent performances of the cast fits into the amusing spirit of the picture. The story tells how the princess and the officer attend a ball incognito. They meet and fall in love without knowing each other’s real positions. The officer is late for parade and is reprimanded by his captain. The princess, who is watching from a window, sends him a note from the previous night and immediately has him made a captain. Later she has him made a major, then a colonel, a general, and finally personal adjutant to Her Royal Highness. In the end she breaks her engagement with a neighboring kingdom and elopes with the soldier.

Cast: Willy Fritsch, Kiefer von Nagy, Rose Bassett, Paul Hare, Hermann Heidemann.

Roxy

The Roxy stage ball features an “Armistice Memoranum”, very effectively staged behind a scrim, with the boys in the trenches on both sides, and finishing with an allegorical bit with Martha Atwood singing. The stage show is very interesting, including two scenes. The first is the Sheik’s Tent, with the dancing girls, the singing ensemble, Patricia Bowman and Clair Kramer features. Bowman does a symbolic dance before the sheik. The second set shows the same of a fort on the desert, opening with the Lazaed Company, a family of 12 acrobats, doing some spectacular formations. Comedy tumblers, Mills and She, are on for some clever stuff. The Roxy concludes with a military drill in Legionnaire costumes.

In many theatres using low intensity Reflecting Arc projectors, National SRA Carbons are satisfying the demands for a higher level of screen illumination brought about by the introduction of sound, color and larger screen image.

National SRA Carbons permit substantial increase in arc current and provide an intense crater brilliancy. This powerful crater light is focused on the aperture plate in a field of even intensity. Liberal latitude in positive crater position assures uniform illumination of screen.

The greatest volume of light available from the low intensity mirror arc projector is obtained by the use of National SRA Carbons. This is satisfying to both theatre manager and projectionist. The steady brilliant screen illumination they provide is equally pleasing to the patron. And——two satisfied patrons pay for the carbons used at each performance.

Sold exclusively through distributors and dealers. National Carbon Company will gladly cooperate with the producer, exhibitor, machine manufacturer or projectionist on any problem involving light.

ANTI-CENSORSHIP STAND HELPS SALT LAKE MAYOR

Salt Lake City—Louis Marcus, former prominent theater operator, who won by a wide margin in his candidacy for Mayor of this city, was aided considerably by largest acoustical engineer in his campaign by his stand against censorship. Marcus, who becomes Salt Lake’s first Jewish mayor, defeated the present Mayor, John T. Bowman, a Mormon. The Welfare League campaigned against Marcus, charging that he opposed censorship of certain films. This agitation is conceded to have helped instead of hurt Marcus.

a square deal under present checking conditions. With many of the checkers getting only a few days' work a week, and being paid about $4 or $6 a day out of the $7.50 which the agency charges the distributor, the tendency on the part of these employs to proposition theater mangers is great. In one instance it has been determined that, out of an average of $250, only $100 was reported the exchange, the other $150 being split by the exhibitor and checker.

By RALPH WILK

HOLLYWOOD

RADIO PICTURES has completed shooting on "The Dove" and the untitled Mary Astor-Ricardo Cortez picture based on a story by Louis Weidzenkorn. There are now in the cutting room.

Paramount has assigned Frances Starr and Frances Dee to "Second Chances," Paul Lukas and Marjorie Gateson to "No One Man," and Stuart Erwin and Stanley Fields to "Two Kinds of Women.

M-G-M has engaged Jean Harlow for the feminine lead with Walter Huston in "City Scente," which Charles Brabin will direct; and Roland Young has been added to "Counter," in which Robert Z. Leonard is directing.

RKO Pathe has signed Ian McLaren for the Ann Harding picture, "Prestige," and Hans Joby will appear in the new Helen Twelvetrees picture being directed by Ralph Murphy.

Columbia assignments of the last few days include Ralph Bellamy and Hattiecel Hobbs for "Forbided," and Harry Todd and Robert Ellis for "Justice Rides Again." Lucy Beaufort and Armand Kalif for "Blonde Baby," and Joan Marsh and Natalie Moorhead for "Yellow," which J. Francis Dillon will direct.

Charles Middleton, Nat Pendleton, Edward Piel, Otto Yamioka, Evelyn Sellbie and Anna Chang are recent additions to First National's "The Honorable Mr. Wong.

Educational has signed Harold Grayson's Hotel Roosevelt orchestra for a Mermaid comedy being directed by William Goodrich. Phyllis Crane also has been signed for a Mermaid appearance. Al Christie is back in harness as a director on "For the Love of Fancy".... Billy Hornebeck, Mack Sennett's chief editor and cutter, has returned from a tour of Europe.

Radio Pictures has placed Suzanne Fleming under long contract... George Frank, Tiny Sanford and Gertrude Astor have been added to "Chi Chi and Her Papas"... Art Goebel, Frank Clarke, Leo Nomis, Arnold Grey and Arthur Houseman are additions to "Lost Squadron."

The Boston Bruins, four times winners of the American Hockey Professional Championship, have been engaged for the fourth in the Bill Cunningham Sports Review series, according to Howard C. Brown, who, with Curtis F. Nagel, is producing the series for Educational.

Bryan Foy has completed the fourth of his "Monkeyshines" series of comedies for Columbia release. The newest short is titled "The Jazzbo Singer." The cast is composed entirely of monkeys and in this particular subject a Mammy singer has the title role, Lou Breslaw directed.

Our Passing Show: Tom Mix, Babe Ruth, Christy Walsh, Edward Everett Horton, W. Frank Harlang, Eileen Creelman, James Ashmore Creelman, at the Wampas meeting; Frankie Albertson, Joan Marsh, Al

Cohn, Mervyn LeRoy, Ken Maynard, George Rogers, Jimmy Starr, John Darrow, Rochelle Hudson at the Coconut Grove.

The University of Southern California Dramatic club will present "First Night" on Nov. 10. The play was written by Fred Rath, member of the Paramount writing staff. It was shown on Broadway last season.

Walter Byron is playing an important role in "The Feathered Serpent," which is being made by Columbia. Byron recently appeared in "The Yellow Ticket" at Fox.

Melyn Douglas, New York stage favorite, who played opposite Gloria Swanson in "Tonight or Never," in the same role that he created on Broadway, is playing opposite Ann Harding in "Prestige." Mervyn LeRoy directed "Tonight or Never," while Tay Garnett is directing "Prestige."

John Francis Natteford has completed the screen play and dialogue for "File 113," which M. H. Hoffman will produce for Allied Pictures, with Chester Franklin directing.

Dorothy Christy has rejected a leading role in "Mrs. Moonlight," a musical comedy, which will be produced by the Shuberts. She believes that an absence from pictures at this time might injure her screen career. She is playing the role of a "gold digger" in "Podge," at Universal.

"Cain was the first villain and Mr. Hyde the worst," it was declared by B. P. Schulberg, managing director of West Coast production for Paramount, in discussing the production of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

Vivienne Osborne, who is under contract to Paramount, will soon start work on her third talking picture. She recently completed the leading feminine role in "A Husband's Holiday" and prior to that production, which was supervised by Polly Young, she played in "The Beloved Bachelor."

Stephen Roberts, former comedy director who recently joined Paramount's directorial staff, has been given a new contract.

Here and There: Mr. and Mrs. George Arliss, Al Christie, Lois Wilson, George O'Brien, David Howard, Nat Goldstone, Bert Hazzon, Lew Lipton, Irene Dunne, Charles Butterworth, William Z. Gibb at the Hotel Roosevelt Blossom Room; Louis Stevens and Peter Milne lunching at the Excelsior.

Howard Bretherton has been signed to direct two pictures for Monogram. His first assignment is "Police Court."

Warners Bros. has bought the Mary McCall story, "The Gold Fish Bowl," for Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.

Jack Murphy, juvenile, has returned from a trip around the world.

VIRGINIA COURT RULES

ly obtained an injunction to stop the union in turn seeking dissolution of the injunction. The court, however, entered an order continuing the ban on picketing.

Denying any merit in the defendants' contentions that both operations is clearly a two-man job and two men are necessary for the protection of patrons, the court stated that While film is highly inflammable, and high-powered lamps are used in the projection of pictures, extraordinary means are provided for protection against fire, and the court cited many theaters in Virginia and elsewhere, where only one man is employed in the projection booth.

"When one considers," said the court, the thousands of motion picture establishments in the land and the infrequency with which fires break out in houses provided with standard equipment fireproof rooms, the menace of fire becomes practically negligible. In such circumstances, when a fire does occur, experience has shown that it is confined to the fireproof room and is quickly extinguished.

The court held that the action of the defendants in picketing the Colony and the publication of the theater as "unfair" is inconsistent with any reasonable view that such action is justifiable as a measure of self-protection for the picture operators or for the safety of the public, therefore the real purpose was to intimidate and coerce the theater management into yielding to the will of the defendants.

Col. Geo. C. Cabell and Bertram Nusbaum, attorneys for the defendants, expressed the opinion that the suit would be appealed.

COMING & GOING

JOE KANE, RKO Pathe film editor, arrives in New York this week from the coast to do the final editing on "Suicide Fleet." E. L. ALPERTON, Warner-F. N. general sales manager, who is making a tour of the Washington zone with ANDY SMITH, is accompanying him. J. SEARS, western sales manager, who was with the company in the Alamo, returned to Los Angeles two weeks ago. LYDA ROBERTI left New York yester day for Hollywood to work in a Paramount picture. C. C. PETTJOHN of the Hoy's office has arrived at the Coast from New York. ARTHUR COHEN, managing director of Paramount Players Canada, has returned to the city after a home office conference. WALLACE BERRY is in New York from the coast. WILLIAM FETTELSON, general counsel for Tiffany, has returned from a seven-week tour of Cincinnati, etc.

ADOLPH ZUKOR is on the route to the Coast from New York. RICHARD ARLEN and JOBYNA RALSTON arrive in New York tomorrow.

CLAUDETTE COLBERT is expected back from Hollywood on Sunday.

lian H. English was elected to the new office of chairman of the board, and H. B. MacArthur, formerly member of the finance committee in place of English. A meeting of the finance group will be held later, at which time it is expected Hertz will be named chairman of that committee.

Directors again declared a quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent in stock, equal to 1-40th of Dec. 31 to stock of record Dec. 4.

Recount on Sunday Vote

Asked by E. Liverpool

East Liverpool, O. — A recount of the Sunday show vote, which was officially reported as a 20 ballot majority against Sabbath performances, is being asked. Under the law, the recount is to be made within 10 days. Meanwhile theaters plan to run on Sundays.

In St. Clairsville, previously reported as having lost, official count discloses that Sunday movies were legalized. With Balleire also voting favorably, this leaves East Liverpool as the only town in which the vote went against the theaters.

New Indie Distributor in Conn.

New Haven, Conn. — Incorporation papers have been filed for Vine-Apple Films, Inc., to distribute and deal in motion pictures. Author-ized capital is $50,000, with $1,000 paid in. Incorporators are Israel H. Vine, Noah A. Weiner and Philip Trupp.

Ufa's Buffalo Opening

Buffalo — Nicholas J. Basil, owner of the Hollywood, which was contracted to show Ufa films exclusively, announces that the new policy will start soon with Emil Jannings in "Der Grosse Tenor."
Midnight Shows for Salt Lake’s Unemployed
Salt Lake City — Leading local theaters, including the RKO Orpheum, Paramount, Capitol, Victory Rialto and Gem, will give midnight shows on Nov. 25 for the unemployed. It is planned to offer 30,000 tickets at 50 cents, with theaters selling one-third and civic organization disposing of the rest. Theater committee includes Joseph Lawrence, Harry David, Fred E. Hamlin and Harry Golub.

Mickey Mouse Stage Show for Roxy
Tying in with Walt Disney’s cartoon star, the Roxy will put on a Mickey Mouse stage show within six or eight weeks. Characters will double for those who appear in the short. Fanchon & Marco have successfully tried out a Mickey Mouse unit, which is deemed one of the biggest draws these producers have ever put out. They are planning to make a second Mickey Mouse unit for the road.

RKO Pathe Office Shifts
Interchange of offices and amalgamation of several RKO and Pathe departments will be in full swing today. Offices of Lee Marcus and Neil Bepinet will hereafter be on the 16th floor of 1560 Broadway. Export, accounting, contract and poster departments are in the move. Ted O’Leary, former eastern general sales manager for RKO Pathe, and Sam Machnowitch, accountant, are no longer with the company.

“Dreyfus Case” for Fabian Houses
Warner-Fabian Circuit has closed a deal whereby “The Dreyfus Case,” Columbia release, will have representation in its 38 theaters in the metropolitan district.

Theater Robbed of $5,000
Springfield, Ill.—Robert Cook, assistant manager of the Orpheum was held up early yesterday by two men wearing halloween masks. The robbers escaped with $5,000.

Baltimore Boosts Prices For Unemployed Benefit
Baltimore—Downtown first-runs will boost prices to $1 for the ben-efit shows to be given Nov. 22 in aid of the unemployed. Only one three-hour performance will be given by these houses. All will include vaudeville. Loew’s Valencia and the neighborhood houses will run continuous from 2 to 11 P.M. Arnold Stoltz is in charge of ar-rangements.

SET RULES ON NEGATIVE IMPOSSIBLE, SAYS VINCENT
(Continued from Page 1) would be seriously handicapped if it was declared. He deplored exorbitant bidding for players and producers as an important factor contributing to current production costs. Minor cutting of admission prices, Vincent believes, will not have a satisfactory effect on theater grosses. In his opinion it is better to ef-fect a substantial reduction with the expectation that more customers will be drawn into houses by what appears to be a genuine bargain from the standpoint of prices.

"Strictly Dishonorable"

Put number 10 on the report card of Universal for putting one of the crucial tests of the season. They not only took this tale of the stage and transferred it to the talking screen without losing any of its highly entertaining value, but actually improved upon the New York production in cast, scope and presentation. Paul Lukas, Sidney Fox and Lewis Stone, as the key characters, offer probably the finest bit of team-work of the season. The direction of John Stahl is excellent. The thin-ice scenes have been handled with masterful skill. All of the delightful twinkle and charm of the original lines and situations are there without the slightest bit of suggestiveness. "Strictly Dishonorable" is definitely the most sophisticated screen fare. It is not built for the kids. But—it is modern entertainment of the most intelligent sort, and as such, should have little trouble in clicking everywhere.

Second Fire This Year

At Loew's Lincoln Sq.

For the second time this year, the Lincoln Square Arcade Building, in which is located Loew's Lincoln Square theater, at Broadway and 65th St., was the scene of a spectacular fire when flames originating in the basement of the building yesterday afternoon developed into a four-alarm fire. Prompt action of theater officials made it possible to empty the theater without anyone being hurt. The fire was under control within an hour, but heavy smoke continued for some time. The structure had just recently reopened for business after being rebuilt following last January's fire.

"May I ask your attention for one moment. It is seldom that I have occasion, as Manager of this theatre, to come before you. You have just witnessed an advance description of 'The Sin of Madelon Claudet'. Until you see the picture you cannot know what a wonderful picture awaits you. In all the 20 years of the silent picture's existence, in all the 4 years of talking pictures there has been nothing to equal 'The Sin of Madelon Claudet'. I have been in the motion picture business for many years and I have seen hundreds of pictures. I have never been so thrilled by any picture as I have been by 'The Sin of Madelon Claudet'. I most sincerely and earnestly state that it is the one picture of this year you must not miss!"

Congratulations to George Walsh, Divisional Manager of the Comerford Circuit. His idea, used so successfully in Scranton and Wilkes-Barre, appealed so much to D. J. Chatkin of Publix, that it is now in use over that circuit playing "Sin of Madelon Claudet".

A New Screen Star

When an actress in her first venture on the screen gains an unexpected place in the first rank of motion picture stars, it is an occasion worth of note by a public to whom the likely chance offers so much the most popular form of entertainment.

A personal preview of "The Sin of Madelon Claudet" inspired a excitement to a point which the staff of this publication and the management of the Strand Theatre consider unaccountable. Miss HELEN HAYES, who plays the title role in this picture, is considered by many to be one of the most promising of the younger generation of actresses. Her first picture stands as a mark in the annals of the screen, an achievement not excelled by any one of the renowned actresses of former action or actresses: this is magnificently in a role which marks the gauntlet of remarkable human achievement. From light comedy to the dramatic strain, it is all there in the picture presented today by Manager Cosgrove of the Strand.

"The Sin of Madelon Claudet" is from the play "Lullaby," a gripping portrayal of the humanity of sacrifice inspired by Mother Love. Miss HAYES bore the title role in the stage play with great distinction, and in the direction of the film she was able to maintain that same distinction, carrying the story from the stage to the screen.

It is impossible to describe all the detail that has been put into this picture, but let it suffice to say that the story is one of sacrifice.

TIMELY TOPICS
A Digest of Current Opinions

The Lowdown On the Film Biz

Here are a few facts about the movie business which may or may not know and in which you may or may not interest: Whenever you hear of some big Hollywood star going on a tour of "personal appearances," usually in connection with the showing of his latest picture, you may be reasonably sure that this star is just about through as a popular attraction. The "personal appearance" is usually the last gasp. When you see a picture advertised in a lurid manner, with such phrases as "daringly frank." "sensational exposure of the vice trust" or "flaming passion behind office doors," you are entitled to assume that the picture is disappointingly innocent of dirt. When a film does contain dangerously sexy elements, its sponsors are usually careful to soft-pedal that fact in their advertisements. Similarly, when you hear repeated statements from some big movie magnate to the effect that business with him has never been better, that his current productions are cleaning up in all the big cities, that his program for the coming season is certain to achieve record grosses, then you have ample grounds for the guess that business with him is rotten. And, above all, whenever the movie moguls announce en masse that they have decided to abandon gangster pictures (or musicals or so-called society dramas) in deference to public protest, you may take my solemn assurance that for it that their decision was not inspired by claramourous public protest but by unmistakable evidence of acute publid indifference. —Robert E. Sherwood, Bell Syndicate

EXPLOITETTES
A Clearing House for Tabloid Exploitation Ideas

New Development In Style Shows

A NEW order of style show just given in Alliance, O., made so big a hit that it is worthy of being copied. It consisted of holding the exhibition out-doors and the merchants who participated in it found that it was possible to attract thousands of people by this means where formerly they were only able to draw hundreds when these shows were given in their shops. The idea of the outdoor shop is credited to Ray Wallace, manager of Warners' Morrison theater. As originally planned, the style show was to be a combination affair given by the merchants in their shops. Wallace disliked seeing the exploitation possibilities of the shows get away from him and suggested that the merchants combine and give one big show in the open air in front of the City Hall. The Morrison theater, by the way, fronts on the City Hall square. He proffered to loan the merchants a drop curtain and to supply spot and flare lights. The manager's suggestions were accepted by the merchants and the combined open air style show attracted great throngs. Wallace had loud speakers erected at various points and at times announced to the crowds the attraction at his house. The result was that at the conclusion of the show the crowds flocked to the Morrison and he registered turn-away business on the day.

inventories, noncurrent receivables of the radio and record division. During the year charges of $2,475,515.62 were made direct to surplus, representing depreciation of the plant and equipment of the radio and record division and loss on other capital assets.

Out for income for the year, before charges, decreased to $36,371,383.05 against $52,340,301 the previous year while amortization and other deductions decreased to $4,828,512.66 against $7,036,851 last year. Surplus was reduced to $223,747.46 against $110,075,597.97 the preceding year. Assets now stand at $213,875,425.68, compared with $230,185,444.43 last year.

The six largest stockholders, President H. M. Warner said in part:

We are of the opinion that, owing to the special income enjoyed in the preceding fiscal year and owing to changes in operating policy, the losses from the radio, record and music divisions will be minimized for the future.

For the year ended August 31, 1931, net earnings available for all interest, having interest requirements on the Optional 6 per cent Convertible Debentures, Series D, 1939, after depreciation and amortization of all fixed properties, was $8,684,173.30, approximately the same as in the consolidated interest charges for the period.

Your Board of Directors at a meeting held on Oct. 19, 1931 approved the recommendation of the Preferred Stock at $55 per share and recommended that the stated capital of the Common Stock be set at the nominal figure of $5 per share. This will not change the status of either the Preferred or Common stockholders as the difference between present capital and the new stated capital will be transferred to the surplus account. Until the time the Preferred Stock Company has always capitalized these shares of stock received the consideration received therefor. In setting a fixed stated value for the Preferred Stock we are not doing away with surplus, we are merely following the practice adopted by many other large corporations.

Neither your Company nor its Subsidiaries have any bank loans. As of Oct. 31, 1931.

FAMOUS STARS OF FILMDOM (Women), by Elinor Hughes. L. C. Page & Co., Boston. $2.50.

Interesting biographical sketches of 15 of the leading feminine players of the screen make up this attractive little volume. The author, who happens to be the managing editor of the Boston "Herald," has made her sketches entertaining in a human interest way, rather than biographical, and consequently the collection makes a very readable volume for the fans as well as for film folk themselves. The actresses represented are Constance Bennett, Ruth Chatterton, Claudette Colbert, Dolores Del Rio, Joan Crawford, Bebe Daniels, Marlene Dietrich, Marie Dressler, Kay Francis, Greta Garbo, Janet Gaynor, Anna Held, Mary Pickford, Norma Shearer and Gloria Swanson. An autographed photo of each one is included. It may be open to dispute that the list selected by Miss Hughes embraces, as she claims, the "famous stars" who are "most constantly and most successfully in the public eye." Certainly the names of Nancy Carroll, Clara Bow, Marion Davies, Billie Dove, Dorothy Mackail, Barbara Stanwyck and some others have figured much more consistently in theater marquees over the past five years. However, the author has anticipated this objection somewhat in a foreword where she indicates that subsequent volumes along the same line are in prospect.

Although this volume is devoted largely to a discussion of the legitimate stage and the motion picture, the writing, acting, little theaters, dramatic classes, producing, criticism, etc., it also takes in some of the highlights of motion picture developments of recent years. For the student of theatrical entertainment in general, it is worth reading.

TO-DAY’S BIG EVENT

AS SEEN BY THE PRESS AGENTS

"Jean Harlow is a fine equestrienne and the only exercise I take is an early morning gallop on the outskirts of Hollywood." —Columbia.

SHORT SHOTS from EASTERN STUDIOS

By HARRY N. BLAIR

FANNY WATSON, accompanied by her sister, Kit’y, comprising the famous Watson Sisters’ team, will leave for a 40-week tour of the vaudeville circuit immediately upon completion of “In the Family,” sixth of the two-reel “Girl Friends” comedies which she is making with Thelma White, at the Vitaphone studios. The story was written by Stanley Rauch and is being directed by Alf Goulding, James C. Morton and Jessie Busley again appear in supporting roles.

Norman Foster, screen actor and husband of Claudette Colbert, is co-author with Harry Hamilton of "Savage Rhythm," a play of the popular "Belles on Broadway" series, planning to produce shortly. Miss Colbert is now visiting with Foster in Hollywood, prior to starting "Confession," for Paramount, at the New York studio.

Sam Sax, head of the Vitaphone studio, has signed Burr Caruth, stage player, for the role of "The Colonel" in the two-reel special "George Washington," now being filmed in the nation’s capital under the direction of Arthur Hurley. Caruth’s role is second in importance to that of Clarence Whitehill, Metropolitan Opera star, who portrays George Washington.

No production at the Paramount New York studio this week. However, three shorts are in preparation for next week, which will complete this season’s schedule. First is "Knowmore College," starring Rudy Vallee, another is Ethel Merman in "Irene," both of which will be directed by Aubrey Scotto, and the third is "Counsellor," which Eddie Cline will direct. Frank Tours is directing the musical end of the first two.

Dean Cole is sound man and Jay Rescher camera man on the special two-reel picture which Vitaphone is making in connection with the George Washington Bi-Centennial celebration. Dick Willis, make-up chief, is also a member of the staff now making exteriors in and around Washington and Mount Vernon.

Joe Santley, who used to direct at Paramount’s New York studio and has more recently been active in Hollywood, was among those whose shortopinions with George Póole and George Miller, the most threatening contenders.

In the interests of realism, not one of the 47 players appearing in Hal LeRoy’s first Vitaphone feature, "High School Hoofers," is over 20. Le Roy himself, although already a veteran of the industry, is only 19, and Eleanor King, who is the same age, appears opposite him.

Sammy Lerner and Sammy Timberg have just completed another short, with music, for Paramount. It is called "Knowmore College," and Rudy Vallee will be starred.

TO MAKE NATIONAL MOTION PICTURE WEEK A WEEK OF REAL THANK-GIVING

Says—

MAURICE CHEVALIER

TO THE Theatre Owners of America, who I hope are my friends for many months now:

I have been hearing about hard times. I hate to listen to that kind of talk. So do you.

I’d rather sing about happy days being here again.

All of us have been hurt by the depression, but we of the motion picture industry have not suffered as much as others. Thousands of men and women who have supported our theaters—our theaters—for years are now walking the streets seeking work—any kind of work.

Those same men and women who have brought us success now need our help and we should give it to them.

The other day, Mr. Will Hays wrote me about a tremendous plan for National Motion Picture Week (from November 18 to 25) and I liked that plan. Each picture theater has been asked to give one special benefit performance of the proceeds of which will go to an authorized local unemployment relief agency.

Fully realizing its duty in this emergency, the motion picture industry stands solidly behind this great idea.

We of Hollywood are trying to make good pictures for you to show—pictures which will bring back that twinkle to the public eye and give everyone an optimistic spirit. They will help end hard times.

Please, friends, let us make National Motion Picture Week a week of real thanksgiving for the men and women who need our aid.

In avant, chers amis!

Sincerely,

MAURICE CHEVALIER.

SAMUEL RAPHAELSON is completing the screen play for Maurice Chevalier's next Paramount picture, "One Hour With You."

RKO Pathe announces Nancy Drexel as Tom Keene's leading woman in "Partners." by Donald W. Lee, and Myrna Kennedy in addition to the Constance Bennett picture "Lady with a Past."

During the filming of Mack Sennett's "The Lynin' Hunter" at a zoo, one of the extras was asked to enter the cage of a lion. "Sorry," he replied, "but I won't do—I'm not a Christian."

Louis Brock, producer of short subjects for RKO-Radio, has discovered that Tom Lees, one of his writers, is a contributor to the "Saturday Evening Post." The stories, as they appeared in the Post, were titled "Greened Pig," "For Dear Old Dublin" and "Dinny at the Bat."

Harold Hecht, who is directing the dance sequences in "Chi Chi and Her Papas" at RKO Radio, learned about terpsichore from George White, Albertina Rasch and the Metropolitan Opera, for whom he danced and directed.

Ralph Spence contributes the following simile: "As thick as 'peeve books' about Hollywood."

Adela Buiuffton is one of the most prolific writers on the Coast. She is writing the screen play and dialogue for "Hi-Speed," which Columbia will make with Buck Jones as the star. She also wrote "Frightened People" and "Ghost City," starring Tom Keene, for RKO-Pathé, and is also the author of "Forgotten Women" and "Arm of the Law," which were made by Tre Carr for Monogram.

Through Associated Management, Cecil Cunningham has been engaged for a role in "Mata Hari," at M-G-M, while Priscilla Dean has been signed for the role opposite William Parnum in "Law of the Sea."

Joe Boy, who produced "Hollywood, the City of Dreams," a Spanish picture, for Universal, will make a series of personal appearances in Mexico City this month. Boy is starred in the picture, which was directed by George Cronz.

Irving Milliken, studio manager at Toe-Art, had never seen a football game until he attended the University of Southern California-Stanford contest.

Olive Drake is writing the screen play for "Montana Rider," which will star Tom Keene. Fred Allen will direct.

Tay Garnett has completed the screen play for "Ten Minute Eggs," which he wrote with N. Brewster Morse, playwright and scenarist. Garnett has written five screen stories this year and is also the author of "In the Land of Nod," which will be published by Horace Liveright.

Gerald L. G. Samson, former French newspaper correspondent, acted as technical director on "Frankenstein."

David Howard recently returned from the Grand Canyon, where he filmed very interesting backgrounds. He and his unit lived in location for two weeks without seeing a truck or an automobile. Their train consisted of 110 mules and the trail they had to cover was hardly over a yard wide. Grand Canyon railroad officials were so impressed with the scenes that they have the shots in all their exploitation.

Before departing on a brief vacation, Richard Wallace is supervising the cutting of his latest directorial achievement, "Tomorrow and Tomorrow," which Paramount produced with Ruth Chatterton as the star.

George Archainbaud and his entire troupe have departed for San Francisco to film exterior scenes for "Exposed," which he is directing for RKO.

Graham Baker, having completed his Universal assignment, has declined a long term contract and plans to free-lance for the present.

Howard Estabrook has completed the first draft of his original story, "Frontier," which radio plans to produce soon.

Evelyn Knapp has been given the feminine lead opposite Joe E. Brown in "Fireman Save My Child," now being cast for production by First National.

All good actors are victims of stage fright, according to Stuart Walker, Little Teacher, exponent, who is directing "The False Madonna." He describes stage fright as "an electric nervousness that, when properly controlled, spurs the actor on to artistic heights."

Harrison Carroll of the Los Angeles "Herald" has discovered that an old-fashioned windmill still stands in the center of Hollywood. We know of more than one that only stands, but walks—around the studios.

George O'Brien, who has completed "The Rainbow Trail," for Fox, may duplicate his Oriental tour of last year after the holidays.

"I FIND THE FILM DAILY YEAR BOOK A NEVER FAILING SOURCE OF VERY VALUABLE INFORMATION ARRANGED IN A WAY THAT I CAN GET THIS INFORMATION VERY QUICKLY" opened the ballot boxes, counted the votes, and announced the winners of merit awards for the best achievements in the past year as selected by the Academy’s membership of more than 700.

JESSE L. LASKY

Principal honor guest of the occasion was the Hon. Charles C. Van Doren, Vice-Presidential candidate of the United States. Others among the invited notables included Will H. Hays, Governor James Rolph, Jr., of California and a group of about 150 members of the American Newspaper Ass’n. Also among the important speakers on the program were M. C. Leevce, new president of the Academy; Conrad Nagel, William C. De Mille and several more. Lawrence Grant was master of ceremonies.

Interest in this year’s balloting on the part of members of the Academy and the public has increased in the four years that this event has been in progress. In the first eight days of voting more than half of the membership of 700 had filled out and mailed the ballots, all of which were kept sealed until last night’s banquet.

Arrangements for the gala dinner were handled by a committee headed by Harry Rapf and including Lawrence Grant, Reginald Barker, Nathan Levison, Julian Josephson, Albert Lewis, Arch Reeve, Joseph Johnson, Miltie Lewis, Donald Crisp, Arthur Edison, Frank Woods, Clinton Wunder and Howard Strickling, M. C. Leevce also assisted in the arrangements.

STARTING six months ago, we've been repeatedly inviting you to "Keep your eyes on Tiffany Pictures." Because Tiffany Pictures are going somewhere. We knew it then. Now you have the evidence by which you, too, may know it.

It has often been said that it is in the burning test of depressions that successful enterprises are made. Certainly the steady forward march of Tiffany Pictures in face of this year's trying conditions is an outstanding example of what careful thinking, careful planning, proper man-power, hard work and courage can do.

 Dependability in delivery; consistency in box-office quality! They tell the story. Such pictures as "Hell Bound," "Women Go On Forever," "Murder at Midnight," "Leftover Ladies" and, coming soon, the greatest of them all, "X Marks the Spot" . . . . . . these are the answer!

There's box-office power in Tiffany Pictures' Quality Group of features. That's why they're playing first run in every big key center in the country. That's why they're playing with increasing regularity such great circuits as Publix, Warner Bros., RKO, B. & K. Midwest, Universal, Loew's, Fox, Fox-Skouras, Hughes-Franklin. And there's steady business building strength in the KEN MAYNARD and BOB STEELE Westerns.

Tiffany Pictures are an outstanding value for showmen. Their performance of the last few months is your insurance. It is good business to sign that contract today.

By JACK ALCIAOTE

Pathe News marks the 21st anniversary of Pathe News, the pioneer newsreel. Founded in 1919 by Charles Pathe, it was released originally in Europe as Pathe Journal. In 1910 it migrated to the U. S. A., under the name of Pathe Weekly. In recent years it has been known as Pathe News. Those guiding its destiny are President Courtland Smith, General Manager Jack Connolly and Editor Edward Percy Howard. Few outfits in the industry can point to a constructive, pioneering and continuously successful a career as this same internationally welcome Pathe News. We doff our cap to a quality, slightly outworn by the depression, to this fighting cock of a newsreel that has kicked around but would never stay licked.

By this time, or thereafter, every exhibitor should have a copy of the "Give-Ilm-A-Lift" press book, covering national motion picture week for local unemployment relief. It goes into the situation fully, is brimming with excellent exploitation ideas and is the product of the best brains in the Industry. The time is short, Nov. 18 to 25 is the week designated. Every man and woman in the industry is expected to do his or her duty. No cause is more important to the welfare of these good old United States. If you have not received this press book, write or wire this.

PARAMOUNT INCREASING PRODUCTION IN ENGLAND

London—To provide facilities for turning out British pictures well in excess of the quota requirements, Paramount is tripling its production space at Elstree in association with British & Dominion Film Corp. Production under the new layout is expected to be in full swing by December.

Connely, Whelan, Fields Leave Radio Pictures

West Coast Bureau, THE FILM DAILY
Hollywood — Myles Connely, supervisor, and Tim Whelan and Joseph Fields, writers, have resigned from Radio Pictures.

Doing Their Bit

At a contribution to unemployment relief, employees of Loew's and M-G-M will donate one day's pay, with the money going to the town in which they are employed, President Nicholas M. Schenck told THE FILM DAILY last night. The money is payable in two installments, at the employee's option.

FRANTIC SEARCH IS ON FOR NEW TALKER TALENT

Probably never in the history of pictures has the Broadway stage been so finely combed for talker talent, in the opinion of several Eastern production executives interviewed by THE FILM DAILY yesterday. There are a number of players who possess photographic appeal, but lack the necessary training to warrant sending them to the Coast.

Wunder Quits Academy; Cowan Assumes His Duties

Hollywood — Executive Secretary Lester Cowan of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences takes over the duties of Executive Vice President Clinton Wunder, who has resigned to enter the religious field. The office of Executive Vice President is abolished.

RKO Houses Bar Kids From "Frankenstein"

Children under 12 years old will be barred from RKO theaters during the showing of Universal's "Frankenstein," according to orders sent to all RKO managers yesterday. Because of the nature of the film.

Aftermath of Union Controversy Being Felt by Chicago Theaters

Samuel Goldwyn Giving Waitress 'Find' a Break

Adelle Bailey, the child's waitress recently picked by Eddie Cantor as a screen candidate, has been approved by the Samuel Goldwyn staff and turned over to Jane Manne, prominent dramatic teacher, for instruction. Meanwhile the candidate continues in her job at Child's, probably believes in safety first.

Chicago—Failure of theater attendance to improve following recent settlement of operator controversy is puzzling independent exhibitors in this area considerably. Instead of the expected pickup, business actually is off nearly 15 per cent. Opinion of several exhibitors is that the "war" scared away a lot.

Continuing Group to Ask Equipment Firms for Rate Reduction

An attempt to effect a reduction in service charges on reproducing equipment is understood to be planned by the exhibitor continuing committee. Sales managers of the national electrics will be approached on the matter, it is expected. Exhibitor leaders say that equipment now requires servicing once or twice a month as compared with considerably more frequent treatment a year or so ago.

B'WAY BUILD-UP FOR STARS URGED BY FRANK WALKER

Building up of new players and stars through extended runs on Broadway would be of tremendous help to houses which subsequently play their pictures, declared Frank C. Walker of the M. E. Comerford circuit in an interview with THE.

All Except Paramount
In Canadian Co-op

Toronto—With the single exception of Paramount, all American distributing companies are working with Associated Theaters, Ltd., in coperative buying under Oscar R. Hanson, who is now in New Haven. Hanson is understood to have pointed out to Paramount exchange-agreements that the company is playing ball with a similar cooperative in the United States, the Detroit theater organization. Seventy Ontario theaters are now enrolled in Associated Theaters.

Holdup Men Get $4,000

Lafayette, Ind. — Armed bandits kidnaped John Hammer, manager of the Mars, Luna and Family theaters, while he was leaving a restaurant with his wife, and forced him to call the treasurer of the houses, after which the holdup men made away with $4,000 from the Mars safe. The houses belong to Fourth Avenue Amusement Co.

Von Bechtolsheim in 16 mm. Field

W. von Bechtolsheim has organized Film Featurettes, Inc., distributing 82 100-feet subjects on Theaterscope, films made from Ufagrams and are now being handled by 70 dealers throughout the country. Von Bechtolsheim was identified with UFA for five years.

Hays Men in Chicago

Chicago—C. C. Pettijohn of the Hays office stopped off here for a day on his way to the Coast. Jos. I. Breen, also of the Hays office, was in Chicago on business for a couple of days.

Tuscaloosa, Ala.—A resolution sponsored by the Fathers of the Pastors Union has been referred to the city commission asking the calling of a referendum on motion picture shows in this city. Pictures are now running Sunday under the auspices of the American Legion which receives 15 per cent of the receipts for charity.

Bellevue, O.—John Stoll, owner and operator of the Rialto and Lion theaters, died recently at his home here. Stoll had been in poor health for a long time, but his death was unexpected. He was 53 years old.

Mrs. Stoll will continue to operate the Lion. The Rialto was recently leased to Bert Rickert.

Vidalia—C. A. Luke, former assistant manager of the Ritz, Brunswick, Ga., has assumed his new position as manager of the Pal here. Luke has been connected with theaters in various parts of Georgia for a number of years.

Inverness, Fla.—The Valerie has closed again, leaving Inverness without a picture show. The two theaters here have not been known to stay open much more than a month at a time during the last three years.

Mt. Union, Pa.—Oscar Stiefel has leased the Shapiro theater here from J. S. Shapiro. The new owner also operates theaters at Lock Haven and Meyersdale.

Lake Charles, La.—Fire which broke out in the Palace damaged the stage end of the building to the extent of approximately $3,500.

Pittsburgh—Independent Photoplay Co. of 1930 Port St., one of the smaller independent distributing organizations here, closed last week. C. E. Reamer has managed this exchange for many years.

Hartwell—Management of the Strand here announces the reduction in admission prices at the theater. Tickets will be 35 cents on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday; Saturday, 25 cents; children, 10 cents.

Devon, Conn.—Saveria Gilornado has leased the Devon to Joseph Correlli for one year.

Madison, Fla.—Hobson Johnson recently opened the New Ritz here.

Goings to the Dogs

Cleveland—Three Louw houses here, the Granada, Circle and Liberty, are giving away 45 puppies this month to boys and girls in a contest tied up with attendance at one of the houses. Four pups are awarded each Saturday matinee at each of the theaters.

ALONG THE RIALTO WITH PHIL M. DAILY

FILM FAIRY Tale—Once upon a time there was a pupp'il infant that was adopted by the entire nation and they fed it so well that it grew to be a great giant and the giant repaid the people by making Moving Pictures that were Very Entertaining so with the people's patronage the giant grew very rich and built a series of million-dollar palaces throughout the land to show its pictures and in order to live up to these palaces, it had to make million-dollar spectacular productions.

EVERYTHING WAS lovely till one day the giant hit on the idea of adding Sound to the Silent pictures thereby destroying the Glamour and Illusion it had built up about the actors in the stories on the Silver Screen for you see, the actors were just Shadows on a screen sort of Idealized and Glorified gods and goddesses whom the people worshipped the same as they do all their gods whom they have never been able to get too intimate with and the day came when the Sound the giant killed the glamour and illusion that transported the people out of their humid lives and made them believe they were looking at something Ideal and Enchanting for how can gods and goddesses remain enchanting when they talk like ordinary mortals? the real gods always remain Mysterious Unheard that's the reason they're Gods.

SO WHEN the giant saw his gods and goddesses he had created Slipping badly, he decided to build them up again as Extraordinary Human Beings and sent out to the newspapers reams of stories about these Stars, as he called them, telling every little intimate thing about their past lives and how they had grown to be re-plendent, dazzling personalities; these frail mortals like the rest of us, changed overnight into Geniuses by the fairy wand of Publicity; and the giant even had these Stars make Personal Appearances and Applauded pictures which had last shown of Glamour and Illusion that had formerly made them Worshiped and Adored and the people read about the Stars and saw them in person, and realized of a sudden, Why, they're just ordinary mortals like ourselves! Weak humans, their lives filled with follies, scandals, mistakes, and the people were Disillusioned.

THEN CAME the Great Depression millions of people were out of work suffering in actual want and the giant fed these suffering people with pictures of Extravagant banquets, furnishings and gorgeous gowns and million-dollar vacations in part of the Stars' yachts, mansions, airplanes, trips abroad and expected the suffering people to take all this and LIKE it or see these pictures and kill every one and to cap it all, the Stars are now grabbing off Extra Publicity talking at ritzy luncheons to help the unemployed the suffering people who had MADE them stars by their patronage.

Then THE giant began to realize that he, too, was Shrinking just like the puppet Stars he had created shranking from lack of the people's support; but there's one thing the giant can do: if he wants to Come Back create a lot of New Stars but keep them Illusive. Vague, Mysterious kill off all the intimate stuff about them and clothe them in a halo of Glamour and KEEP them there: that's what has kept Greta Garbo glamorous and a Success simple, isn't it?

NEWS of the DAY

New Orleans—Working on 18 subjects reflecting many types of activities in and around New Orleans, Webber Hall, cameraman for the Fox Movietone News and Hearst Metroton, is in the city. Hall and Ed Fernandez, his sound technician, will be here several weeks. Their Columbus Day "Fiesta of the Race" was made in the patio of the New Orleans art school. He is now working on "shots" of sugar cane, of cotton, of shrimp, of athletic activities and others.

Los Angeles—Warner Bros.—First National exchange here, which covers considerable territory and is considered one of the most important in the country, is now in the charge of N. H. Brower. He succeeds Harry Lustig, resigned. Brower was transferred from Seattle, where he held a similar post in the Warners exchange there. L. Oxtoby, one of Brower's assistants in Seattle, has been added to the branch management there.

Wauwatosa, Wis.—The Tosa has been opened under the direction of R. J. Baldwin. It is the city's first theater and has a seating capacity of approximately 500.

St. Louis—Kenneth Hammond, formerly Publix traveling auditor in the Minneapolis territory, is now assigned to the St. Louis territory.

Sheboygan, Wis.—Paul Fox has taken over the management of the Grand here. The theater has been redecorated and new sound equipment installed.

Fort Mill, S. C.—The Majestic has been purchased recently by Rochelle Patterson from the Fort Mill Savings Bank. Patterson plans to begin operation of the theater at an early date.

Milwaukee—Articles of incorporation have been filed here by the Elite Amusement Corp. Signers of the articles are Harold Shapiro, Sol J. Kohn and Norma L. Kohn.

HOLLYWOOD

TOM GUBBINS, one of the best known and most in-ter-acting of Hollywood's film colony and an aide to directors in the production of more than 100 motion pictures during the last 16 years, has been assigned his first role as an actor. He was selected by Josef von Sternberg to portray the part of a Chinese officer in Marlene Dietrich's next Paramount starring picture, "Shanghai Express," in a cast headled by Clive Brook, Anna May Wong and Warner Oland.

Priscilla Dean has been added to the cast of "The Law of the Sea," Monogram melodrama featuring Rex Bell, Sally Blane, Ralph Ince, William Farnum and Eve Southern, scheduled to go into production this week at the Monogram studios in Hollywood. 1. E. Chapinwill produce under the supervision of Trem Carr. Rex just finished a starring role in "Forgotten Women," a story of Hollywood extra girls, with Marion Shilling, Beryl Mercer, Virginia Lee Corbin, Carmelita Geraghty and Ethel Gordon.

Having completed "Tomorrow and Tomorrow" for Paramount, Richard Wallace, accompanied by his wife, is planning his annual visit to New York.

Ricardo Cortez was signed this week by Paramount for an important role in "One Man," film version of the Rupert Hughes novel to be produced at the company's Hollywood studios under direction of Lloyd Catten. Carole Lombard and Paul Lukas have been signed in starring roles and J. Arthur Rank is handling the project. Dorothy Mackaill, Joseph Cotten, George Barbier and Arthur Pierson.

Frank Lloyd is due back here this week from his trip abroad.

* Betty Gable has been borrowed from United Artists to head the supporting cast for Tom Tyley in his latest Monogram western, "Gal-ling Guns," now in production. Others in the cast are Stanley Humphayne, Al Bridge, D. W. Wood, John Elliott and St. Johns. Warner Noiler will direct from the story by Wellyn Stotman. Arch Stotman is cameraman.

Billy Franey, Bobby Nelson, eight year old boy actor; Carleton King, Fred Burns and Victor Potel have been added to the cast of "Partners," RKO Path's new western picture starring Tom Keene. Fred Allen is directing.

Getting one of his biggest opportunities since going to Hollywood from the New York stage, James Crane, son of the late Dr. Frank Crane, will have an important role in "Two in One." Announcement was made by Paramount. He will appear with Marlene Dietrich, Herbert Farnum and patent Wong. Gilbert and Irving Pichel in the dramatic comedy of New York life being directed by William C. de Mille. The screen play, by Benjamin Glazer, is based on E. Sherwood's "New York City,"

Aaron May Take Hollywood

Alfred E. Arons, former general manager of the A. L. Frelanger ther-al organization and father of Al Arons of Arons and Freedy, musical comedy producers, has been looking over the Hollywood theatre on Broadway at 52nd St., apparently with a view to putting musical comedy into it. The other dozen other producers have had their eye on the house, due to its favorable location.

Band Held Over, Prices Raised

Chicago—Mary and her platinum blonde orchestra has helped the Embassy b. o. so much that they are being retained indefinitely. Saturday and Sunday scale at the house has been advanced from 35 to 40 cents.

Closing One Fremont House

Fremont, O.—Publix-Great States has taken over the Fremont and will close it. The new Publix house, the Paramount a 1,500-seat, opens soon. Irwin Solomon, formerly assistant manager for Publix in Toledo, will manage the house.

Closing Sioux Falls Exchanges

Sioux Falls, S. D. — Local exchange of Universal, M.G.M. and RKO are reported being closed, and their territories divided between Minneapolis, Omaha and Des Moines.

"Morals for Women" for Broadway

ON E big trouble—with combines—in most instances—are the ones that carry expensive items—in their overhead—that are not included—in the expenses of individual firms. The low-salaried rank and file—who are eliminated—in a merger—only seldom know the big boss. On top of this—the flexibility—that is lost—by the affiliation—makes the combine much—more valuable—in turn—from upheaval when it becomes necessary—to make quick changes.

MIDNIGHT pre-views—are breaking out—in all parts of the country.* In most cases—they are designed—to pull extra trade—on the last night—of one picture—by throwing in—the new feature—but the actual result—is not proving—to be very profitable—in the long run It has been found—that midnight audiences—are pretty tired—as well as more or less sleepy—when the picture—is to get across—unless it is unusual. As a result—the average reaction—is unfavorable—or negative—and this means—lots of bad advertising—by word of mouth.

Don’t be impatient—if that upturn—is not yet evident—in the movie field. According to precedent—pickup in trade—by the theaters—follows other lines—by two to four months Old legit managers—and theater syndicates—found this rule—a very safe guard—for several decades.* One explanation—of the slight delay—is that in hard times—folks will spend—a few bits for a show—a whole lot sooner—than they will spend—the same sum—for an automobile—but the very minute—good times return—their first thought—is to replenish—their wardrobes and such. Therefore—the theater—which is about last—to feel depression—because it costs little—and the populace—in gloomy periods—marks time a little—on prosperity—it makes up for it—soon thereafter.

An interesting sidelight—on the low percentage—of kid attendance—at movie theaters—is supplied—by L. S. Gleason—of “Open Road for Boys”—a juvenile publication. According to Gleason—taking in children—from eight to eighteen—the potential audience—in the United States—is 26,000,000—and if the theaters—are drawing only—a small part—of that number—it is because—the pictures produced—for the youngest—are not the type—to interest more* Than 26,000,000—also indicates the possibilities—for increasing—juvenile business—are big enough—to make such effort—a profitable venture.

From clinical evidence—in a three-year study—of Sing Sing inmates—Dr. Louis Bernal reports—that criminals are made—faulty functioning—of endocrine glands—wont that be just too disconcerting—to the reformists—who have had us—almost believing—that crime is influenced—by the moon Pitchers.

that an exhibitor didn’t know the contents of a contract signed by him, and that furthermore the film industry was too much accustomed to try to trickily agree to terms. The Judge also held that non-reading of a contract was no excuse and that neither was there any weight in the contention that pressure had been used in getting the exhibitor to sign the contract. Herbert T. Silverberg represented the distributor in the case.

BOBBY WATSON will have the comedy role in “High Pressure,” William Powell’s new starring picture which is now under production at the Warner studios. He is also a member of the cast of “Manhattan Parade,” in which Winnie Lightner and Charles Butterworth will be headlined. Among the prominent players in the cast supporting Powell are Evelyn Brent, George Sidney, John Wray, Guy Kibbee, Evalyn Knapp, Polly Walters, Frank McHugh and Luis Alberni.

Hal Mohr is photographing Constance Bennett’s new RKO Pathé starring picture, “With You a Past.” It is his second picture with the star, in which he photographed her recent production, “The Common Law.”

Andre Luguet has been signed to a long term contract by Warner Bros. He appeared with John Barrymore in “The Mad Genius.”

Marion Nixon will play a leading role in Fox’s “Charlie Chan in the City.” Ralph Morgan, Broadway stage star, is another addition to the large cast, which includes James Todd, Herbert�, Walter, Alexander Kirkland, Charles McNaughton and Thomas Kirkwood. The picture is ready to go into production under the direction of John Blystone.

Lilian Bond, Warner-Frith National featured player, is the latest addition to the cast which will support Joe E. Brown in “Fireman, Save My Child.”

Warner Baxter will play the principal male role in “Salesman Jake,” which will go into production with Joan Bennett in the title role shortly after Miss Bennett returns to the Fox studio following her engagement in New York. Alexander Kirkland will also be seen in this adaptation of Paul Murray’s play. Raoul Walsh will direct.

R. William Neill, director, has been placed under long term contract by Columbia. He has been assigned to “The Feathered Serpent,” Edgar Wallace story.

Joan Bennett, who is under contract to Samuel Goldwyn for two future pictures, may be teamed with Ronald Colman again in his next vehicle to be decided upon when he returns from Europe in January.

“Good Deeds” Series

Pagano and Townley Celebrate

Enrie Pagano and Jack Townley are celebrating their first anniversary at the Educational Studios. Pagano and Townley are a new thing in teams, the former specializing in plot, story construction and continuity writing, the latter in dialogue calculated to tickle the ribs. The past year the boys have written together twenty original stories and continuities.

As soon as Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., completes his current starring assignment for First National in “Union Depot,” he and his wife, Joan Crawford, will set out for their annual visit to Manhattan.

With “Preige” swinging into production at the RKO Pathé studios under the direction of Tay Garnett, Carmelita Geraghty has been signed for an important role, as has Creighton Hale. Already in the cast supporting Harding are Adolphe Menjou, Marjorie Main, Guy Basset, Ian MacLaren and Rollo Lloyd.

Howard Bretherton, director, and Douglas Doty, writer, have been assigned by I. E. Chadwick, Monogram associate producer, to prepare the next Monogram melodrama, “Police Court.”

Allen Vincent, leading man in the New York stage production of The Vinegar Tree, has recently returned to a leading role by contract. Pagano has been assigned the first screen role in “Second Chances.” Charles ‘Buddy’ Rogers, Miss Shannon, Frances Dee, Richard Bennett and Charlie Buggles are previous selections for the cast of “Second Chances” which is from a play by Lewis Beach and is directed for Frank Tuttle.

Bill Cody, Monogram western star has returned to Hollywood from Amarillo, Texas, where he concluded more than a month of personal appearances throughout Texas and Oklahoma.

Constance Bennett in “Lady With a Past” has gone into production at the RKO Pathé studios with Edward H. Griffith directing. The star is supported by David Manners, Merna Kennedy, Astrid Allwyn, Albert Conti, Blanche Frederici and Nella Walker.

Vivienne Osborne and Arthur Pierson have joined the cast of Paramount’s “Three Kinds of Women.”

Arthur C. Bromberg of Atlanta, southeastern district manager for Monogram Pictures and head of five southern exchanges, arrived in Hollywood last week by air to confer with W. Ray Johnston, Monogram general manager, J. H. Rikfik, Boston exchange head, and Trem Carr, production head, concerning next year’s sales program.

The cast of the “Jazbo Singer,” fourth Bryan Foy “Monkyshines,” in this series of animal comedies Columbia is releasing, is composed entirely of monkeys. A monkey singer has the title role. Lou Broslow directed.

Fred Kohler is playing the role of the heavy in “Bad Timber.” Bill Boyd’s next starring production for RKO.

Monte Vandergrift, who has a prominent part in Tim McCoy’s “Shot Gun Pass,” a recent Columbian release, is a descendant of the original Dutch settlers of this country. His grandfather was one of the founders of the State Oil Co., the U. S. Steel Corp. and built the first industrial town of Vandergrift, Pa.

Robert Emmett O’Connor has been signed for Paramount’s “Two Kinds of Women,” featuring Miriam Hopkins, Phillips Holmes, Wilmer Gibson and Irving Pichel under the direction of William C. de Mille.

George Archainbaud, director of the current Louis Weitzenkorn race drama as yet untitled, co-featuring Mary Astor and Ricardo Cortez, returned to the Radio Pictures studio with his troupe from Tanforan, Cal., where final scenes of the picture were filmed.

H. B. Warner and Walter Byron have important roles in Columbia’s “Feathered Serpent.”

Fred Newmeyer has been signed to megaphone the third of the Liberty shorts short feature produced by the Van Beuren Corp. for Radio Pictures under the supervision of Nat Ross. The third production of this Van Beuren series is titled “Double Decoy,” from the Liberty Magazine story by Roberta Yates.

Two of the screen’s most famous “doublings” get back on their own account in Torchy Twins the Trick,” the third in the new Educational-by-Yaslow Co.” before which Dowar, who is a perfect double for Greta Garbo, and John Peters, who has often been mistaken for Eric Von Stroheim, appear in prominent roles in support of Ray Coe, the Torchy of the series. In the cast are Myron Heene, Edmund Breese, Franklin Pangborn, Cornelius Keefe, Armand Kaliz, Adolph Raine and others.

William Selter has been assigned the direction of the next Wheeler and Wooley starring vehicle for Radio Pictures “Girl Crazy,” scheduled to go into production immediately, according to an announcement made by David O. Selznick, in charge of RKO production. This will be the third film Selter has directed entertaining the audience. The musical comedy success was adapted to the screen by Edward Walsh, with additional dialogue by Joseph Fields, Tim Whelan and Alfred Jackson. Dorothy Lee is the leading feminine role, and Kitty Kelly and Joseph Herbert in the other principal roles.

Grady Sutton was signed by Paramount for the past week for a role in “Second Chances.”

Edna May Oliver will leave Hollywood for a two weeks’ vacation in New York following the completion of her latest starring vehicle for Radio Pictures, “Ladies of the Jury,” now being filmed with Lowell Sherman directing.

“Shopping With Wife” replaces “Let’s Go Fishing” as the title of the new Mace-Bennett-Andy Clyde just completed. Lending support to Clyde in this comedy is Arthur Stone, comedian in his own right. Geneva Mitchell, ex-Pelles girl, is Clyde’s new leading lady.

“Pop Goes the Weasel,” is the title of Charles “Chic” Sale’s next starring two-reel comedy for Radio Pictures, according to Louis McCabe, short subject producer. It is an original story by Ben Holmes and will be directed by Mark Sandrich. “A Hurry Call,” Sale’s latest comedy, was completed last week.

A Model Arrangement

When Mrs. Ruth Russek, social light and wife of Harold Russek, noted department store owner, was offered a part in "Wayward," Nancy Carroll's next picture for Paramount, she arranged for Barbara Sheldon, who was also considered for the part, to work as a model at her husband's store, rather than to crowd somebody out of a job as a result of her screen aspirations.

"Cloudy With Showers," a current Broadway stage hit, is mentioned as among the feature pictures scheduled for early production at Paramount's New York studio, with Fredric March and Nancy Carroll co-featured.

Burnet Hershey refuses to reveal the title of the script which he has just completed for the fourth of the S.S. Van Dine Vitaphone series for fear he will give away the setting of the murder mystery which he predicts will be the most novel ever seen on the screen. Donald Meek and John Hamilton will again be featured with Arthur Hurley directing.

Herb Hayman, Vitaphone's newest casting director, has been in show business for 20 years as producer, vaudeville agent and, since 1919, in the film end of things.

"The Struggle," D. W. Griffith's latest production, is finally edited and preparations are now being made for an early release. It is rumored that D. W., having demonstrated to his backers that he still has the old knack, is getting ready to make another.

Hurling, the old Tipperary game, is demonstrated in a forthcoming issue of Vitaphone's "Sports Slants." It was recently filmed at Innesfail Field by the Tipperary Team.

Production has just been completed at the Brooklyn Vitaphone studio on "The Season's Greetings," a one-reel special intended for the holiday season. Vitaphone's popular stars, accustomed to the leading role in their work before the cameras, all helped with bit parts toward making the picture. These stars included Ruth Etting, Robert L. Ripley, Thelma White, Fanny Watson, Ted Husing, Joe Penner, Billy Hayes and the other leading members of the Booth Tarkington Juvenile Stories, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Norworth.

‘Touchdown’ Hero Scores Upset; He Loses Game and Wins Girl

Screen Version of Wallace Novel, With Real Football Stars, Defies Traditions

By Everett B. Morris

Believe it or not, a football moving picture in which the hero does not score or make possible the winning touchdown in the last minute of play is about to make its appearance on New York screens. As a matter of fact, the film defies all Hollywood pigskin tradition by having the hero’s team lose the game in the final, fleeting seconds.

The climax, though, is still happy. The hero passes up victory, but thereby wins the girl and regains the respect and admiration of old pals who feared that his craving for victory would prove his downfall. “Touchdown,” adapted from “Stadium,” a recently published novel written by Frank Wallace, who learned about it for a living on the sports pages of metropolitan journals, left a little knot of sporting writers, watching a pre-view in the Paramount projection room yesterday afternoon, with the impression that it was the best football film that ever came out of the studio.

A Straightforward Story

Wallace, drawing on a background in contacts with football greats and their ways, has fashioned a straightforward story that apparently has not been tempered in the usual “movie” manner to avoid running the feelings of those who believe that all is pure and sweet in intercollegiate football. He has been fortunate, too, in the cast, and in the pains the producers took to give the football scenes the ring of authenticity. No football man need cross his fingers, put his tongue in his cheek or ingenuously reach for his hat when locker room or playing, field scenes unfold.

The reason is apparent. Richard Arlen, who is Dan Curtis, the Mid-West All-American who becomes a proselyting, victory-made coach, used to play a little football in his pre-college days at a small college in Minnesota. Gus Smith, the piano mover turned from his truck to play halfback under Curtis at L. and M., and sacrifice a knee to his coach’s lust for triumph—is none other than Bob Hall, a weight man on the University of Southern California’s championship track team and one of its current crop of football stars.

Young Gehring, whom Curtis sends to the locker room instead of into the game when all he needs is one of his bombing punts to clinch a 7 to 6 victory, is another who sweated in a college uniform—Charley Starrett, a tackle at Dartmouth some years back. These former collegians have good parts in the film and to this inept eye bring realism in roles that would have suffered in the hands of the usual run of screen football actors.

Football Without Hokum

Tom Lieb, Russ Saunders, Morley Drury, Roy Riepels and a lot of others whose names are synonymous with football on the Pacific Coast have their share in making the action scenes look like real football.

If you like football with all its drama and color and some of its unbelievable scenes machine-minded without most of the hokum that has spoiled previous efforts to bring the game on the screen, you ought to enjoy “Touchdown,” although “Safety” might have been a more accurate title in more ways than one.

Vallesen Curtain Control has high and low speed

Akron, O.—A new curtain control is being known as the Aero-Speed Control and was said to have a curtain speed of 228 feet per minute and a slow speed of 40 feet per minute, as well as operating at any speed between these limits, has been brought out by the Vallesen Electric Co., Akron.

By a simple change of two parts, it is declared a new speed can be obtained and the unit can be used for an entirely different purpose. With the use of this device, huge curtains can be operated by remote control from an electric push-button switch which is installed in the most convenient location.

The device is operated by a single push-button, is noiseless, compact and will not cost the company.

Light Intensity Measured By New Camera Invention

Development of a new motion picture camera with a feature for determining light intensities, enabling the cameraman to maintain all exposures no matter how varied may be the lighting conditions, to a constant negative density, has been announced by M. Lasky, inventor, and is being marketed by the Graphometer Corp. of New York.

Light intensities of the device, which is small and compact and adaptable to Bell & Howell or Mitchell cameras, are obtained by direct meter reading and with its use any desired light effect can be gauged before photographs are taken with rapid accuracy. The photographec accuracy of the device, the inventor claims, makes it especially adaptable for color work.

Cassil Moves Headquarters

St. Joseph, Mo.—Frank H. Cassil, formerly located in Kansas City, has removed his Sono Equipment Corp. headquarters to the Rialto theater, this city, which he operates.

ERPI Busy in Northwest

Minneapolis—Local office of Electrical Research Products is reported as being kept busy with sound equipment installations in this territory. Recent contracts reported include: Crescent, Shakopee, Wis.; Crandon, Crandon, Wis.; Pearl, DePere, Wis.; Gem, Shakopee, Minn., and the new theater in Thief River Falls.

NEW THEATERS

Minneapolis—Lew Kopman, owner of the Nile, is planning the erection of another theater in the same neighborhood.

Traverse City, Mich.—Mrs. M. E. Hansen of Goshen, Ind., has purchased the building, formerly occupied by the Dreamland theater here and plans to rebuild it into a modern theater. Koenig Construction Co. of this city has been awarded the contract.

Evelyn, Ia.—Wehde & Scholder, operators of several houses in this territory, plan the erection of a theater here.

Glen Lyon, Pa.—Contract for the erection of a theater here for Sandor Engel, at an approximate cost of $50,000, has been awarded to Dominic Gurnari, Miller St., Luzerne, Pa.

Englewood, N. J.—M. & R. Reality Co. of Paterson has set aside $50,000 for the construction of a two-story brick theater building in this city.

Ideal Chairs Installed By Continental Accessories

Ideal Theater Chairs have recently been installed by Continental Theater Accessories Inc., at the following houses: Lido, Fordham Road, New York; Town, Philadelphia; Garden, Princeton; Stanton, Philadelphia; Davis, Scranton; Europe and Wayne-Palace, Philadelphia, and the new Scarsdale theater, Newhall, N.Y., which opens on Monday.

White Opens New York Office

Demonstration and sales office, under the direction of L. H. Smith, have been opened in the Paramount Building, New York, by the White Engineering Corp., manufacturers of the White Safety Control with automatic changeover. The company's headquarters are in Philadelphia.

Hall & Connolly Develop New High Intensity Lamp

A radically different high intensity projection lamp for amperages from 75 to 200 amperes has been developed by Hall & Connolly, New York, manufacturers of projection equipment and are lamps, according to Theodore Hall. The new lamp embraces a number of innovations in principle that will appreciably reduce the handling and facilitate operation, it is stated.

Surprise Bag Giveaway Offered by Universal

An interesting bid, said to have been found very successful in attracting juvenile patronage, is a surprise bag being offered exhibitors by the Universal Toy & Novelty Co., New York.

The bag is 7½ inches by 10½ inches, with the name of the theater printed on one side. Contents consist of a toy and candy. There are also a limited number of coupons placed in a few of the bags which entitle the recipient to a grand prize worth about a dollar. These grand prizes are placed on exhibition in advance to incite interest.

Appointed Vendola Representative

Cleveland—Max Shenker has been appointed representative for Vendola Corp., New York manufacturers and dealers of candy vending machines, for northern Ohio. He will make his headquarters in the Film Bldg., this city.

O'Neill Made Store Manager

Detroit—J. D. O'Neill, formerly district manager of National Theatre Supply Co. here and in St. Louis, has been named store manager of the McArthur Theater Equipment Co., this city.

Rewind Pulley

Cleveland—A rewind pulley that is said to be the latest of space collar of reel shaft, is being marketed by the Best Devices Co. of this city.

ALTERATIONS

Minneapolis—Joe Choron of the Metro, who is taking over the lease of the Globe, will install new sound and make other improvements.

San Francisco—The Parkview has been taken over by John Phillips and installation of new projection equipment and sound apparatus along with other improvements will be made.

Dallas—King Studio has been awarded the contract for complete remodeling of the Ritz, Hughes-Franklin house here. The theater will be closed around Dec. 15 and work is expected to be completed for opening by Christmas.

Lee, Mass.—Elizabeth Formento, who recently purchased Carey's theater here and renamed it the Park, plans extensive alterations to the building.

Berkeley, Cal.—About $20,000 is to be spent for alterations and remodeling at the Lorin by the Kaliiski-Harband Theater Co., owners and operators of the house.

Booth Engineering Service Specializing in design and construction of projection booths, Irwin D. Rathbone of New York is offering motion picture exhibitors a complete Booth engineering service. One of the recent theaters to be completed with this engineering service is the Central, Melrose Ave., New York, formerly known as the American.

Synchromedia Booklet

Rochester, N. Y.—A booklet, thoroughly describing in text and photographs, Synchromedia sound heads for Powers, Simplex and Motograph De Luxe projectors and the Synchromedia model 10 said to have been designed and built especially for small theaters where lower priced equipment is desirable, has been issued by the Weber Machine Corp. of this city.

HUMAN, TEAR-JERKING COMEDY DRAMA ENHANCED BY TWO GRAND PERFORMANCES. GUARANTEED BOX-OFFICE ENTERTAINMENT.

King Vidor has taken a frail, homely story and invested it with human and frequently throbbing touches. It's another version of the familiar theme: the youthful hero turns to crime, is caught by the law, and loses the woman he loves. But Vidor's presentation of Tjiuana, Beery's ex-wife, the boy's mother, wants to send him away to a school and the pug, breaking his own heart, tries to save him, but is caught and goes out. But the youngsters runs away and returns. Finally, in a fight through which he hopes to raise enough money to educate his son, Beery, hopelessly outclassed, is fatally injured. There's no love story in the picture outside of parental love.

Cast: Wallace Beery, Jackie Cooper, Joe E. Brown, Anna Rochard, Edward Brophy, Hale Hamilton, Jesse Scott and Marcia Mae Jones.

"GOOD ENTERTAINMENT FOR ANY AUDIENCE. CLEAN-UP FOOTBALL DRAMA WITH A SENSATIONAL CLIMAX AND EXCELLENT COMEDY." A-class picture.

This adaptation of the stage proof success brings to the screen all the humor, subtlety and charm for which it received a high rating on Broadway. The main characters carry the burden of the piece in masterful style, while Director John Stahl has contributed an outstanding piece of work. The story, which is ultra-modern and highly sophisticated, has been handled with deftness and subtlety. The comedy situations and humorous dialogue are given full value and will make any audience laugh out loud. The story concerns an opera singer and lady killer, Paul Lukas, who meets his match in Sidney Fox, a beautiful young Southern girl. Lewis Stone in the part of a retired judge gives one of the best portrayals of his career. Remainder of the cast is also first class.

Cast: Paul Lukas, Sidney Fox, Lewis Stone, George Meeker, William Riccardo, Sidney Toler, Carlo Schipa, Samuel But ts, Alfred Lunt.

"GOOD ENTERTAINMENT FOR ANY AUDIENCE. CLEAN-UP FOOTBALL DRAMA WITH A SENSATIONAL CLIMAX AND EXCELLENT COMEDY." A-class picture.

Here's a picture which is censor-proof and entertaining all the way. It's suitable for showing any day and has a strong appeal for youngsters who are enthusiastic over football. Story concerns a football star who, upon becoming coach at a small university eleven, laps out a career in which he intends to become famous at all costs. He is signed by a larger college and falls in love with the daughter of his backer. The girl's brother is badly hurt in a big game and it develops that another ingrate man is trying to kill him. Rather than shatter the boy's dreams by telling him he's through with football the coach keeps him in on the squad but out of the game. Consequently he loses the most important contest of the season and the team the next year. The players are competent for their roles.

Fox.

"BUILT AS A WILD WEST VEHICLE, IT GIVES HIM GOOD BITS THAT WILL PLEASE HIS FANS." A-class picture.

They had a tough time trying to model a vehicle to fit the peculiar Will Rogers pattern of humor and all the way he was trying to get over his quaint homespun humor. But they went to rather great lengths in one of those imaginative Will Rogers stories with Rogers acting as the American ambassador, and disrupting the entire royal court with his lack of dignity. He arrives in the midst of a revolution, and thinks they are saluting him. He discovers the king has been exiled through a double cross on the part of a prince who is plotting to seize the throne. There is the boy king, whom Rogers pales around with, trying to mesh his lasso, and talk American slang. Then Rogers is framed in a combination of situations by the arch plotter King, and so on through a lot of artificial situations to a happy fairy tale ending.

Columbia

Interesting

This issue of Walter Futter's "Curiosities" contains the usual items of interest. One is made up of some shots of an airplane junk yard, where the wrecks of numerous planes are stored. Several other items are worth while.

"The Kick Off"

(Boy Friends Series)

M-G-M

Good

This is one of those football comedies wherein the leading comedians get into the game and do the wrong thing at the right time, and as a result cause considerable laughter with their nonsensical canter. In this story, a gang of racketeers kidnap the coach and try to force him to throw the game. Instead he phones the team and tells them to win. Racketeers at the field force the leading player off the team and send in two worthless substitutes. Of course the team wins but not until many very funny situations have been worked out.

"Tropical Ceylon"

(FitzPatrick Traveltalk)

Vitaphone 1261
Interesting

A trip through the unique little island of Ceylon is excellently photographed and graphically described by James A. FitzPatrick. Fine shots of the native at market and in his home. It usually interesting sequence concerning elephants and their work, help to give this short a high rating. Other fine scenes include the care of native cattle and the feeding of thousands of birds. It is above the average travel talk.

"In Your Sombrello"

with Billy Wayne and Josephine Borio

Vitaphone 1262
Nonsensical

There is hardly a bright spot in this short of a newspaper reporter who is captured by Mexican bandits and who after much slapstick stuff and meaningless procedure, escapes. The reporter is freed from his cell by a native girl, who PUTS him in a ruck that has driven into the prison yard. The truck is filled with canned goods but each can is some smugged ammunition. They drive out of the prison confines and while escaping throw the cans at their pursuers, causing many explosions but little laughter.

"Nomad in Germany"

Dr. Alexander Singelow 12 mins.

Okay Travelogue

Most of the shots in this travel subject have to do with post-war activities of the Fatherland. There are scenes of the Allied evacuation of the city of President Von Hindenburg reviewing troops and partici-pating in other ceremonies, and some more in the military line along with some furthering of the peace treaties.

"Stormy Seas"

(Flip the Frog Cartoon)

M-G-M

Usual Stuff

Flip the Frog goes through the usual animated cartoon antics on a ship at sea. A storm comes up and he saves a girl on another boat which is sinking.

Vierer Kabarett-Film der Ufa

German Vaudeville

Ufa

A good offering for houses in German-speaking neighborhoods. The film shows several vaudeville acts in a cabaret setting. Although in German, the songs should please anyone. About the only thing wrong with the film for English speaking audiences is a mistress of ceremonies who gives over-long introductions to the acts.

"The French Foreign Legion"

(Magic Carpet of Movietone)

Fox

Fine

An unusually interesting slant on the Foreign Legionnaires, who are shown on the march, at work on the construction of a railroad across an African desert, and many other activities through the medium of their own band organization, and in a few other activities, nearly all of them quite different from the fictional conception of the Foreign Legion. The short has double value because of this authenticity, and makes a fine subject both for entertainment purposes and as an educational item.

Charlie Chase in "Hasty Marriage"

M-G-M

21 mins.

Fair

Majority of the action in this short takes place aboard a street car, where custard pies are thrown around generously and slapstick stuff predominates. Charlie Chase takes the part of a suitor who is disliked by his sweetheart's mother, who meets the approval of his father who is a motorman. Charlie's rival is a "spotter" for the street car company and is continually threatening to fire the girl's old man. In the end Charlie wins the girl and a fat check from the company for injuries that he doesn't receive.

"Liquid Air"

General Electric

7 mins.

Interesting Industrial

This is an interesting visualization in which one chap shows another some of the things that can be done with a concentration of elements known as "liquid air." A container, about gallon size, holds the solution, which pours off a sort of steam. Anything dipped in the can is brought out in hand frozen stale. A rubber ball and a Turkish towel are among the objects used. Aim of the short apparently is to bring home the idea that the electric company has a miracle laboratory at work on scientific developments for furthering the efficiency of life and its labors.

Thelma White and Fanny Watson in "Of All People"

Vitaphone 6102

20 mins.

Poorly Comedv

Plenty of action comedy is contained in this Thelma White-Fanny Watson subject, and it ought to prove a dividend hit at your local fill. Fanny is a hotel telephone operator who hooks a rich guest into coming to her. But he's a duffer, and his lowbrow family grab all the food. There is pie-throwing and other slapstick that will keep audience happy. In the final scene is Thelma White's picture, with Thelma not having a lot to do as the girl friend of Fanny's brother.

Moss Empire Building
Huge English Circuit
London—An announcement is expected in the near future from R. H. Gillespie of the Moss Empires that his company is to acquire an interest in more than 100 legitimate and film theaters which is intended to run, along with the 40 houses in the present Empires circuit, as talking picture houses. The deal has been under consideration for some time and if it is carried through it will make the Moss Empires circuit one of the three major talking picture circuits in Great Britain. Moss Empires recently added 10 theaters to its circuit, bringing the total of its houses up to 40. What arrangement for films would then be made is not clear, in light of the recent Kinematograph Renter's Society’s assertion that it would not trade with any booking combines.

Feodor Chaliapin Forms
Own Company in Paris
Paris—Feodor Chaliapin, Russia’s world-famous grand opera singer, is to appear in a series of talking motion pictures. He has formed his own company and under the name of Societe des Films Chaliapine and will produce screen versions of the most celebrated and spectacular of Russian operas with himself in the leading roles.

Paris Has Children’s Theater
Paris—The first motion picture house for children in Paris has been opened at 84 Boulevard des Batignolles where pictures of an educational interest for children of the Paris schools will be shown.

Tobis Forms New Company
Berlin—Tobis and Polyphon have founded a new company under the name of Tobypolypolyphonfilm G.m.b.H., for the production of foreign versions of sound pictures.

New French Newsreel
Paris—Messrs. Grignieff, Feldmann and Reginald Ford are collaborating on the production of a new French newsreel which will be shown over the Ford circuit and everywhere.

Czech Patent War Ends
Prague—A recent meeting between the Czechoslovak Exhibitors’ Association and Klangfilm, an agreement was reached which ends the patent war, which is similar to those existing between Klangfilm and the German Exhibitors’ Association. For a single payment of cash, Klangfilm undertakes to withdraw all pending lawsuits against exhibitors and to admit all the reproducing apparatus installed at the date of the signing of the agreement.

Anglo-Canadian Deal
Covers 30 Films a Year
London—Anglo-Canadian Distributors have signed a contract for the distribution of the entire Gau- mont-Gainsborough and British Lion product throughout Canada. About 30 pictures a year are involved in the deal, which will run for a term of five years. The contract was signed by S. W. Smith, went into immediate effect. Anglo-Canadian also controls the British and Dominions output for Canada.

Pathé-Natan Drive
For English Markets
Paris—Pathé-Natan, which is making an English version of “Arline,” has decided to embark upon the production of English-speaking pictures on a large scale, these to be English dialogue versions of its French features. Paul Caillé is directing the English version of “Arline” at Joinville, with Elizabeth Bergner and Percy Marmont in the leads.

Italy Abandons Multi-Linguals
Rome—A new company of Italian talking pictures are to be produced, according to a well-authenticated report here, for the reason that it is difficult to obtain suitable personnel and that the expenses of production are greater than the chances of financial profit.

New Calcutta House Opens
Calcutta—The new Plaza theater, which opened recently with the Tulullah Bankhead picture, “The Tarnished Lady,” is the latest of the Madan Circuit houses to install RCA Photophone sound reproducing apparatus.

Ufa Opens Two New Theaters
Saarbruecken, Germany—Middle European Theaters, controlled by Ufa, has added two more to the chain of houses—the Union, to be known as the Ufa-Palast, and the Kammerlichtspiele, both of this city.

Niblo to Direct for Hakim
London—Erik Hakim has signed the American director, Fred Niblo, to direct the three productions which he is to make here for M-G-M, practically assuring an American distribution for the three pictures.

Max Alabdent Filming for U. S.
Berlin—“Die Schlacht von Bade-munde,” Max Alabdent’s new Ufa picture, will be shot in America despite its purely local setting. He has made a big hit here and the actor has consented to its American showing.

“Blue Angel” Runs Year in Paris
Paris—A record run has been established by the Emil Jannings picture, “L’Ange Bleu” (“The Blue Angel”), which has been running here at one theater for a year.

Roxy
The stage revue is in five parts, opening with “Shepherd’s Dream,” an idyllic bit nicely staged. Arthur Mahoney as the shepherd boy awakes from a dream to find a fairy princess visiting him on a crescent moon, lowered from the skies. Patricia Bowman is the princess, assisted by the ballet. The Maxellos, a tumbling quintet, do some hazardous acrobatic feats with snap. The Ruxettes appear in an atmospheric routine, the Chain Dance, doing a lockstep number in a prison setting. The Hall Johnson colored singers sing Negro chants and spirituals. The finale has the Roxettes and ballet on the background as the singers deliver a final chant.

Capitol
An Oriental note is contained in the current stage show at the Capitol. The presentation is an Arthur Knorr production titled “Jade,” and among the featured artists are the Kikutas, popular Japanese troupe; Ross and Edwards, Rodion Trio, and Sanami and Michi, with the Chinese Hall Girls adding their usual tschpisorean treats.

Paramount
There’s crackerjack entertainment on the stage at the Paramount this week in a Boris Petroff show labeled “Stardust.” Bing Crosby, in his second week, gets over strongly, with the real smash of the presentation is the Mills Brothers Quartet, negro entertainers, who score loudly. Harriet Hctor and her ballet, especially Miss Hctor, help matters considerably. Armida, dancer and singer, is another diminutive but pleasant element. At the Friday performances Richard Arlen and Regis Toomey, in the flesh and blood, took a bow and were greeted enthusiastically.

“OVER THE HILL” IS OVER THE TOP AND STILL RISING

By FLORABEL MUIR.

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 6.—When Fox made “Bad Girl,” all the cinemaland authorities on pictures said it couldn’t be topped this year for box office. “You can’t make two a year like that one,” was the consensus of opinion. But since seeing “Over the Hill” they’re all changing their minds. Because it looks as though Winnie Sheehan has rung the bell again.

Mae Marsh marks her return to the screen with a magnificent performance. She squeezes tears out of your eyes over and over again and, when in the next scene you get so you defy her to play on your emotions any more, she keeps right on doing it down to the last scene and makes you like it.

Then they have Jimmie Dunn, that master tear jerker, in this one too. And does he make your heart turn somersaults? Well, wait and see.

Henry King is the fair-haired boy around the lot because he gave the public “Merely Mary Ann,” which is cleaning up, and now tops himself with “Over the Hill.”

FIGHT ON U. S. RENTALS

PLAN OF BRITISH GROUPE

London—A strenuous fight against rentals charged independent theaters by U. S. renters will be waged by the recently formed Film Industries Cooperative Society, Ltd., headed by A. S. Comyns-Carr, Will Evans and Sir Ernest Gordon Craig. It is charged that 200 of Britain's 3,000 independents have gone bankrupt because they must pay a higher percentage than the circuits.

Dearth of Small Houses

Hampering Foreign Policies

Shortage of suitable houses with small seating capacities is understood to be one major obstacle toward the showing of foreign language pictures throughout the country. Limitation of audiences interested in foreign dialogue generally makes exhibition of these pictures in large houses impractical, it was pointed out.

Small Number Have Automatic Changeover

Seattle—In a discussion of the two-man-in-a-booth situation by members of Allied Amusements of the Northwest at the annual meeting here it was brought out that only three exhibitors out of 60 present had automatic changeover equipment. Whether 1,000-foot or 2,000-foot reels are easiest to operate was discussed with no special result, although it was generally agreed that the fire hazard in operating 2,000-foot reels is negligible.

RCA May Hold Enough Stock

To Assure Recapitalization Plan

Radio Corp. of America is understood to hold about enough RKO stock to assure its recapitalization plan going through despite objections of minority stockholders. At the special meeting to be held Dec. 10 for the purpose of voting on the plan, the objecting stockholders, represented by Emerson and Sperling, attorneys, are expected to fight the move on the grounds that many of these holders are not in a position to pay the $5 assessment per share called for in the plan.

In changing all RKO stock to Class A, giving one share of the new issue for every four now held, and offering $11,600,000 of 10-year 6 per cent debentures and 1,740,000 shares of common stock, each stockholder is entitled to buy, for $5 plus accrued interest, $5 principal amount of debentures and three-quarters share of common stock. Those who transfer or fail to exercise subscription rights, which expire Nov. 23, will own one share of common for every four previously held. With the 1,740,000 shares expected to be required in connection with issuance of the debentures, the 600,000 shares in exchange for present A stock and 125,000 shares for B stock, there will be approximately 2,465,000 of new common stock outstanding.

Juvenile Theater Adopting 35 MM

Dissatisfied with its 16 mm. projection system, the Juvenile Theater, headed by David Mavity and located at 82 East 75th St., is planning to reopen soon with 35 mm. projection. If this project goes over, the theater of similar type, catering to juvenile audiences, will be welded into a circuit of national proportions.

Paramount's New York Studio

Turning Out Foreign Versions

In addition to regular features scheduled for production during the winter, further activity has been added to the Paramount New York studios in the form of foreign versions with super-imposed titles in Spanish, Portuguese, Dutch and Japanese. The schedule provides for about the same number of Japanese versions as Spanish and Portuguese, but in the case of Dutch pictures only those requested for showing in Java and Holland will be made.

Neighborhood Houses in San Antonio Are Taken Over

San Antonio—W. G. Underwood of Dallas, who recently acquired the Palace here after disposing of his interests in the Robb & Rowley theaters, has taken over three more local houses, the Uptown, Highland Park and Harlandale, as the latest step in the building up of a new circuit. The theaters just acquired by Underwood and associates from John T. Wilson of Community The-

Jacksonville, Fla.—For the first time the Florida, a 2,200-seat house, has experienced the happy sensation of a waiting line. It was brought about by the United Artists production, "Street Scene," which is packing them in.

Paramount's 1932-33 Schedule Not to Be Reduced, Says Lasky

Paramount will not reduce its program for 1932-33, Jesse L. Lasky told The Film Daily yesterday. He expects that the company will make 65 features, the same number scheduled for release this season.

Paramount has no plans for closing its New York studio, Lasky stated. The next Claudette Colbert vehicle goes into production at the plant Jan. 4.

2 Ken Maynard Specials Added to Tiffany Lineup

West Coast Bureau, THE FILM DAILY

Hollywood—In addition to the series of eight westerns in which Ken Maynard will appear on the current Tiffany program, two special outdoor productions starring the Western cowboy hero have been added to the Tiffany lineup, it is announced by Sam Bischoff, production chief. Maynard already has made six in the series of eight.

Picketing of Ochs Theaters Is Charged to Rival Circuit

Culture of Writers Urged by Joe Jackson

Developing of promising new writers as a means of assuring the industry of quality story material was urged by Joe Jackson, Warner First National writer, in an interview with The Film Daily yesterday. He believes that the screen will secure its best material if authors are induced to write directly for pictures. Jackson feels there is a swing back toward wholesome stories and away from sophisticated yarns.

Origin of the "Brotherhood of Motion Picture Projectionists," which terms itself a union, will be probed when Lee A. Ochs brings nine pickets into magistrates' courts today and tomorrow on disorderly conduct and other charges in connection with the picketing of four of his theaters. He will allege that a certain independent theater operator is also using heralds and one-sheets in an effort to injure his business.

Three More Sound Patents Obtained by Roy Pomeroy

West Coast Bureau, THE FILM DAILY

Hollywood—Patents on three new sound inventions have been obtained by Roy J. Pomeroy, who will place them on the market immediately. They include systems for correcting acoustical deficiencies in theaters, eliminating distortion of sound track and removing all background noises.

HARLEY CLARKE AT FOX

Chase banking interests in their fight to wrest control of the Fox organization from the Clarke group. Both sides are understood to have agreed that this is the battle for the company, inasmuch as Clarke does not have the time to give the necessary attention to both his usual interests and Fox.

With the change in presidency, it is expected that the Clarke men will be eliminated from Fox, whose board of directors now represents control by the utility chief. This change has been sought for some time by the Chase group, which is understood to have offered $110,000,000 in the Fox organization and would like to take the lead in the administrative affairs of the company.

None of the interested parties contacted last night would make any statement. The only comment obtainable from the Tinker headquarters was that the news was "a bit premature."

Present directors of Fox, in addition to Clarke and Tinker, include Albert H. Wiggin, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Phillip R. Clarke, Frank O. Waters, Matthew M. Moffett, Matthew C. Brush, C. W. Higley, Winfield Sheehan, David K. E. Bruce and Paul Kramer. Sheehan is the only film man in the group.

ELISSA LANDI, Fox star, who is due in New York today with her mother aboard the Manhattan, leaves in a few days for the coast.

PICKETING OCHS HOUSES

LAID TO RIVAL CIRCUIT

Kingsbridge, Ochs yesterday with signs stating that they do not employ members of the "Brotherhood of Motion Picture Projectionists" and declaring that Ochs "wants peace with a carcass-controlled union."

Ochs secured the arrest of nine men engaged in picketing and they were ordered held in jail amounting to $100 each for hearings.

Ochs yesterday told THE FILM DAILY that he tried to persuade an independent circuit operator now having difficulties with Local 308, Operators union, to settle with them rather than experience a costly battle. He believes that this suggestion led to the picketing of his houses.

A LAST CALL!

Your Help Is Needed

Ten thousand theatres throughout the country, including every one of the theatres of the leading circuits, have prepared for benefit shows during National Motion Picture Week, proceeds to go to the relief of local unemployed. A marvelous response from an industry that never fails to do its share in an emergency!

But, marvelous as is this response, it is not enough until every theatre in every community where there is distress has responded. Can you say, "I am doing my share?"

If you have not planned your benefit for the relief of local unemployed, there is still time—if you act NOW.

For any information wire the chairman of the Motion Picture Committee for your district:

VIRGINIA LOOSENS UP ON CENSORSHIP

'Sfamily Night' Programs Are Proposed in Memphis

A Menace — from without

By JACK ALICOATE

While considerable doings take place within the motion picture cottage, down by the railroad tracks, it might also be well to watch for signs from the Literary without, that the little old house might not catch fire and burn down while all are looking the other way. To be a little more explicit: We have observed that the Governor of the great commonwealth of Virginia, perhaps in playful mood, has just recommended to his learned legislature a tax on motion picture theater grosses. He optimistically estimates that some $1,000,000 could be raised annually through such a tax. Perhaps the good Governor knows exactly what he is about, and then perhaps again he does not. We might respectfully suggest that he give the economic aspect of the industry at least a quick once over. In our humble opinion the good Governor is suggesting the one course sure to close up most of the theaters in his excellent State.

Here is a problem. More acute this year than ever. This State taxation business. It is that compelling, that it should have the consideration, without delay, and immediate aggressive action of every branch of the industry. It is not unlikely that under the holy name of unemployment relief politicians, far and wide, will attempt to saddle unjust tax burdens on picture houses. No part of the country should allow itself to be caught in this net of vicious tax legislation through the lack of aggressive and adequate preparation of its case.

This industry, self-propelled and in noble spirit, is doing its full share to help the unemployed. While leaders of other lines were floundering with indecision, the motion picture industry was standing up to its mark.

12 Features A Year Planned in Australia

Melbourne—At least 12 features a year are scheduled by Efftee Film Productions, Ltd., first Australian talking picture producing project, which already has turned out three pictures. About $100,000 is to be spent on a 10-reel feature, "The Sentimental Blake."
“Rich Man’s Folly”

A picture that is always interesting and frequently gripping is this Paramount release dramedy in which George Bancroft back into screen circulation. Based on a Charles Dickens story, the picture has been intelligently made and Director John Cromwell has invested it with human and dramatic touches. Bancroft is thoroughly believable as the shipbuilder who sacrifices his family for wealth and power. And he receives adequate support from the rest of the players. This picture ought to register well at the box-office.

newspaper financial editors yesterday that both RKO and RCA will welcome any feasible arrangement for the financing of the company that may be worked out at the meeting, held in Kahane's office, was for the purpose of clearing up any questions that have arisen publicly since the announcement that the companies, unless re-financed, will go into receivership.

Regarding changes in operating and production costs Kahane stated that theater operation costs had been cut $20,000 to $90,000 a week during the past 10 months and that the average cost of production per picture has been reduced to $425,000.

Directors of RKO hold about 10,000 shares of the company's stock, 5,000 shares are held by RCA directors, 1,500,000 shares are held by brokers representing several thousand individuals and the remaining 1,000,000 shares are held by small holders, according to Kahane.

ten months, this is regarded as a most unusual occurrence, and is taken to indicate less fault-finding by the censors in this state, until now about the most merciless in its handling of pictures.

• • • WE WERE casually looking through that book containing nothing but reproductions of ads on "Suicide Fleet" turned out for RKO Pathe. . . . and something about the setup caused us to analyze it more closely. . . . then it suddenly dawned on us there was a Complete Campaign of newspaper advertising . . . column, quarter and half-page . . . . nothing remarkable about that, you say . . . . but the remarkable fact was that it was all PuFF stuff without a suggestion of Blah . . . . with an entirely different sales appeal in every layout . . . . and the copy was boiled down to a minimum of words . . . . and therein was the Secret . . . . those woolen generators have varied layouts and have tried to miss . . . . as a Naval commander's message of a sea disaster . . . . these ads had caught the Spirit . . . . the essence of the picture's theme . . . . and slammed it over unerringly . . . . with instant appeal to the box office. We like them from Galveston . . . .

• • • SO WE ups and grabs our hat and rushes over to talk to A. P. Waxman about it . . . . here was a chap who had successfully accomplished what we are striving to do every day . . . . get over a Message crisply, entertainingly . . . . with a Minimum of Words . . . . and within an hour we had absorbed more Advertising Logic than we can cover in six columns . . . . but we'll try to pass along the gist of it . . . .

• • • THERE IS a very definite policy in back of these De Luxe Editions of Pathe ads on features . . . to incorpo- rate in every ad the ideas and experiences of the circuit experts who know the individual conditions and requirements of the theaters in all territories . . . . so when the rough copy comes from the artists, Mister Waxman contacts such men as Joe Punnett, Jules Levy and Jack Hess at Arkayo . . . . Moe Silver and Dave Weshner at Warners . . . . Gabe York, Joel Swenson and Carl Moss at Fox . . . . Oscar Doob and Joe Vogel at Loew's . . . . and Messrs. Dembow, Netter, Skouras, Edwards and Mayer at Publicx . . . . and the Consensus of Opinion governs the final layout . . . . or if the copy is not up to snuff, an official Advisory Committee on every picture whose services by the year would cost a million.

• • • HERE IS a practical Ad Servicing for every theater . . . . the circuit booker gets his first impression of the pix as he views this ad layout manual . . . . and switches the product from Class B to Class A in many instances . . . . or from the first to the second half of a split week . . . . and that, boys and girls, means Dough to the producer . . . . more than justifying the Ad Servicing System . . . .

• • • FOR THE theater manager and exhibitor, the Serv- icing Plan is a boon . . . . it becomes his Advertising Agency supplying his specialized requirements . . . . no hit or miss here . . . . any variety of Appeal he needs for his community . . . . often giving him in a two-column cut what a quarters- page ad couldn't beat . . . . and then again, impressing him graphically with the need of a Splughe with a big ad where it left to itself to him would have run his usual column stuff . . . .

routine affair, concluding in formal announcement yesterday for the presidency and the election of Harley L. Clarke to chairman of the board. In announcing the action of the directors, Clarke said:

"I have been hoping for some time that Mr. Tinker would return to the company, for his ability and skill have been missed. It has come during an exciting period in the film industry and business management with the approval of the management and directors. Mr. Tinker continues his connection with the Interstate Equities Corp., which has participated in the present financing of Fox Film.

Tinker issued a statement reading:

"I have been interested in the affairs of Fox Film for some time. Mr. Clarke and I have been friends for many years. With my resignation, the company's film presence will be distinctly lessened. I am looking forward with pleasure to a reunion with friends and associates."

The New York president, who formerly was head of Chase Securities, now holds directorships in the American Railway Express Corp., an affiliate of the American Express Co., and in the Long's Bank, the management of the Associated Press, and the Mercantile Publishing Co.

BANKING AFFILIATIONS

Banking affiliations of Fox are not expected to undergo any change under the new setup. It is likely that Tinker may give way later to a new president from the active film ranks.

Program of 52 Features a Year Is Being Continued by M-G-M

“Touchdown” Tops Year At New York Paramount
All attendance records of the New York Paramount for this year have just been broken by “Touchdown,” a football picture, which is being held a second week. In its first five days, the Paramount film played to 75,000 persons. This is the first holdover at the Times Square house since the “Skippy” holdover last April.

M-G-M will stick to its 52-features-a-year policy during the 1932-33 season, President Nicholas M. Schenck told THE DAILY Film Daily yesterday. He stated that if “Flying High” clicks the way he expects, M-G-M will make a few more musicals. Schenck believes that the company owes it to picturegoers to provide them with musical entertainment on the screen.

WEEKLY FILM DIGEST

Every Sunday—A standard 12-page issue departmentized. The reviews of features and shorts, in this issue, are unsurpassed.

THE FILM DAILY is recognized as a leader in the field of motion picture publications. Fourteen years of serving an industry with daily news has put this publication in a class by itself. Exhibitors the world over have been using THE FILM DAILY reviews of features and short subjects to help them in their bookings for years, realizing that they are of exceptional value to them. THE FILM DAILY presents news of the industry in such a manner that he who runs may read. In this business where time is so valuable, short snappy news items which give the reader the news, without a lot of superfluous text matter to wade through, make a publication of added value to the reader. THE FILM DAILY news is accurate. There are correspondents of THE FILM DAILY in every important city in the world. When people subscribe to THE FILM DAILY they get news when it is news and in this ever changing industry one cannot afford to wait. Subscribers who have been subscribers for years and years find that this publication is indispensable to them.

An All Year Service,
By far, THE BEST BUY OF THE
HERE is a volume which has no equal. Everything pertaining to the motion picture industry can be found within its covers. This important volume which runs well over 1,000 pages each year contains a showman's manual of 32 pages of ideas which are practical. The ideas are not just theory, they are ideas which have been used to satisfaction. They are so grouped and arranged so that no matter what type of picture an exhibitor is playing, he can find stunts which will help him sell his picture to the public. The Year Book contains a complete list of theatres throughout the country, circuit or individually owned. A list of more than twelve thousand features released since 1915 together with review dates and distributors' names. A complete list of all features released during the year with all data, such as players' names, directors, etc. A buying guide that is unsurpassed, giving names and addresses of all important equipment venders listed under products handled by them. Personnel of all major producing and distributing companies. Addresses and officers of important societies. A summary of arguments against censorship. Censor boards and their personnel. The ten best pictures of the year. A financial section showing the financial structure of the major companies. A foreign section which gives you a survey of the foreign field. These are only a few of the many subjects of interest found within its covers. THE FILM DAILY YEAR BOOK is also given free with a year's subscription to THE FILM DAILY.
Seven films ever seen on the screen is contributed to the Warner Vitaphone George Washington Bi-Centennial film, which will shortly be released. Clarence Whitehill, Metropolitan baritone, aided by the expert makeup of Dick Willj, fulfills every conception of the character.

"The Brooklyn Close Up," the first magazine dealing exclusively with theater and motion picture news, to be published in that city, will make its appearance on the newstands December 7. Several stage and screen stars are said to have been signed for articles.

The Paramount Public ping pong champions, namely, Fredi Gregson and Don Laurie, have had their title vacated by the Ping Pong Committee and the trophy has been impounded because of their steady refusal to meet worthy contenders. It is rumored that the attitude of these two die-hards is prompted by a number of humiliating defeats which they have recently suffered in unofficial matches. Neither could be reached for a statement up to a late hour last night.

George Offerman, Jr., stage and screen veteran at the age of 14, has just returned from Detroit where he was featured in a commercial feature made by the Jam Handy Co. for General Motors. Offerman recently appeared at the Paramount New York studio in "Personal Maid."

Claus Fleming, narrator, and Curtis F. Nagel, producer, are in New York to handle the sound recording of "Wild West," latest of the "Romantic Journeys" series which Educational is releasing.

 Short Shots from New York Studios **

By HARRY N. BLAIR

Arthur Tracy, known to millions of radio listeners as "The Street Singer," soon will make his motion picture debut in a Paramount Screen Song built around "Russian Lullaby," one of Irving Berlin's greatest compositions.

What is undoubtedly the greatest impersonation of George Washington ever seen on the screen is contributed to the Warner Vitaphone George Washington Bi-Centennial film, which will shortly be released. Clarence Whitehill, Metropolitan baritone, aided by the expert makeup of Dick Willj, fulfills every conception of the character.

"The Brooklyn Close Up," the first magazine dealing exclusively with theater and motion picture news, to be published in that city, will make its appearance on the newstands December 7. Several stage and screen stars are said to have been signed for articles.

 A FILM FACT A DAY **

Out of 1,500 theaters in Argentina, approximately 530 are now wired for sound.

 PHANTOM FAME, or The Anatomy of Ballgaho, by Harry Reichenbach, in collaboration with David Freedman, Simon and Schuster, New York. **

Any showman who picks up this book to scan it for helpful ideas in the line of exploitation will soon forget that mission and become lost in the fascination of a series of adventures and achievements that hold the reader pretty much spellbound from start to finish. The fact that the astounding incidents are true only adds to their fascinating flavor and the lively, straightforward style in which they are related should easily disarm any possible skeptics.

After a short introduction relating some of his early boyhood and how he came about the profession of press-agentry, Reichenbach traces his amazing career by telling about some of his most famous exploits in the art of attracting public attention. He gives the inside story of many of his stunts in behalf of film stars, producing companies, stage attractions, motion pictures, and various other persons, articles and businesses, and some of the yarns so fabulous that it is a tossup whether the reader is more astonished than entertained. But either way, the volume is a choice piece of reading. It will interest and stimulate anyone, and press agents of today should find it a very effective tonic when they feel them selves in a rut.

 Deals for Poli Circuit Fail to Materialize **

New Haven — Although several important theater operators, including Skouras, have looked over the Poli circuit with a view of acquiring it, there are no deals under way at present to indicate that the houses will leave the Fox fold.

Ordered to File Briefs

In Sam Fox Music Suit

Judge Cottle of the State Supreme Court has given Sam Fox Music Co. and the Music Publishers Protective Ass'n until Nov. 30 to file briefs in the action instituted by the former to enjoin John G. Paline, trusteed and agent for the society, from making payments of funds received from Electrical Research Products to publishers, and asking for a receivership for the fund.

Paline yesterday said that Sam Fox wanted him to make disbursements to publishers using only the titles of compositions as the basis for distributing the money. In order to prevent any publisher from having an unfair advantage over another, Paline declared, he feels that he should have information as to the compositions themselves.

TO-DAY'S BIG EVENT

AS SEEN BY THE PRESS AGENT

"Although Wallace Smith, the RKO scenarist, has never carried a walking stick in his life, he has an insatiable hobby for acquiring them and his assortment includes more than 50."
The Whirlpool and "Phantom Fame"

By JACK ALICOATE

We have never been able to acclimate ourselves to the Hollywood system, representing as we do, at least in our minds, a dirty-go-round, that becomes more and more galling every year. We have, however, a sympathetic understanding of the derivations of some of the woes of many independent producers who are caught in this whirlpool of Hollywood headaches, and in a system which they find it impossible to escape from. Contrary to the opinion of some who think little and talk much, Hollywood is not composed entirely of idlers. The best showmanship in the industry has been able to do even in the last 20 years are centered in a true outlet of the coast but has turned out many fine, creditable, movie-making pictures. Hollywood will have the day pull itself out by its own bootstraps. Economic principles are very imperative. In the mean-while, it would be more charitable to those who shun criticism to have a constructive answer. The industry wants to know how it can help itself. Not at its worst. Every executive in every business that we talk to has several answers to that.

Trend Toward 'Art' Doing Harm, Says Paramount Studio Chief

West Coast Bureau, THE FILM DAILY

Incume Tax Department Disallows Merger Expense
Washington—An income tax deficiency claim of $8,415.67 is involved in a dispute between the Internal Revenue Department and Motion Picture Capital Corp., which, in 1929, merged with Investors Equity Co. of Jersey City. Motion Picture Capital deducted from its income tax the expenses incident to the merger, amounting to $40,464.83, the claim of $3,729.42 paid to list new stock issues on the New York Exchange, $10,440.50 representing the expenses of new issues, and $11,710 representing fees occasioned by the merger. The department refused to allow these deductions, and a petition was presented to the Board of Tax Appeals for review.

Stock Company Helps Okla. City Situation
Oklahoma City—Since opening of the Warner Player's stock company, at the Warner, formerly on a film policy, other local movies have benefited by getting the picture trade that used to go to the the tribute, which is building up a largely new clientele. The stock is doing well so far and Warners expect to hold it through the winter, George Henger, publicity executive.

LOEW BOARD IS LINKED WITH FILM SECURITIES

(Copied from Page 1)

D. E. Pomeroy and H. M. Rice on the Loew board of directors, Nicholas M. Schenck, president, indicated that he would recommend to the board at the next meeting a reduction in the bonuses paid to Schenck and David Bernstein. It was brought out last year that Schenck last year received a bonus of $274,000 in addition to a weekly salary of $1,100 from Loew's and $1,000 from M-G-M, while Bernstein received $168,000 bonus and $800 weekly from Loew and $125 weekly from M-G-M. The bonuses are fixed each year by directors and consist of a percentage of profits. Marcus Loew established the system in 1926. Rubin said that the board was commenting on the report of the沙龙 that the bonuses were being awarded at the M-G-M studios and that salaries of employees not under contract had been reduced, although there had been no cuts for officials. One faction of stockholders felt the officers were entitled to their bonuses in view of the excellent showing they had made in operations over a period when most other companies were suffering big losses.

Alice White in Jersey City

Alice White opens at the Stanley, Jersey City, today, coming from the Hotel Ambassador in St. Louis. Following her Jersey City date, Miss White, who is now in New York, will play the larger houses in Washington and Pittsburgh.

Tennessee Tax Looms

Nashville—Gov. Horton, in a recent statement, indicated that he will ask for additional taxation against theaters when the special session of the Tennessee Legislature convenes.

COMING & GOING

CARL LAEMMLE left New York last night for Universal City. A slight rear- arrangement of his plans took him and his secretary, Jack Ross, to Washington. He will be met in Chicago the following day by Paul Kohner and Frank Mastroi, who will accompany him for a preliminary visit to Chicago.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS, Jr., and his wife, Helen Crawford, who arrived in town on Wednesday night, remained for a week.

LIL DAVOGER will sail from New York for Germany next Monday with her Scotch band, the Albert Ballin. She will be accompanied by her husband, George Wint, actor and director.

A. PULLOUGH of Peerless Pictures returned from the coast today.

GUS SHAEFFER, Paramount Berlin representative, is expected in New York next week.

JAMES TRAVIS, Canadian general manager for Educational, leaves for Toronto tonight.

he was indicted by the Ontario Court for making statements derogatory of the film industry. A similar statement is used by Hess as his basis for his pending action against P. J. Harrigan.

Nizer said yesterday: "The action brought against the Churchn on and Guy Emery Shipley has reference whatever to Mr. Hess' position as general attorney for the Hays organization. It was brought by him in protection of his splendid reputation of long standing as lawyer."

Excavation is Completed

For Radio City Theale

Excavation was completed yesterday for the 3,600-seat motion picture theater which will be erected in Radio City, according to an announcement made by Todd, Robinson & Todd Engineering Corp., and Todd & Brown Inc., architects and builders. Steel for the structure has been delivered and construction will start by the end of next week. Excavations were also completed yesterday in the vicinity of the Palace and the 31-story NBC building. Excavation for the 7-story NBC building was two-thirds finished.

The picture house will face Sixth Ave., between 45th and 46th Sts., with the International Music Hall a similar position between 50th and 51st St.

Dallas Wins Big 4 Sales Drive

Allied Film Exchanges of Dallas won the Big 4 Star-Spangled Sales Drive which terminated on Oct. 31. J. T. Jud, Inc. of Indianapolis won second place and All Star Features Distributors, Inc. of St. Louis, finished third. Six days' operating cash prizes were awarded to end of the three winners among the Big 4 distributors.

Big 4 Westerns in Spanish

Spanish versions of Big 4 Westerns, first and second series, will be distributed throughout Spanish speaking countries, it is announced by Tom Guinan, sales manager for Big 4.

studio. The trouble, says Schulberg, is that a wrong interpretation of the word "hokum" has spread around and today there is just con tempt for it on the part of a class that is being 'arty' with disastrous results.

"The type of story that captured and held audiences and made the film industry what it is today was the human, understandable story with lovable and real characters, as opposed to the artificial and sophis ticated," Schulberg states. "To reach the hearts of the masses we must be simple and direct."

"We are in the motion picture business, and a motion picture" is what the public wants and is going to have. "Dictionaries define 'hokum' as 'any word, act, business or property, used by an actor, that succeeds in arousing audience appro val.' I contend that it is film dom's duty to continue to write lines and scenes and interpret and play them in such a manner as to win audience approval. If that be 'hokum,' make the most of it."

Premiums Oust Dual Bills
In Sections of Canada

Inefficiency premiums with admis sion tickets are being used to suc cessfully supplant the double-feature draw in all Canadian prov inces except Quebec. James Travis, Canadian general manager for Educational told FILM DAILY yesterday. Premiums consist of plated tabl eware, household utensils and dressing table novelties costing at the most 11 cents each and leaving the new admission 10 cents on the recent admission price. According to Travis, Quebec is sticking to the double feature programs without any prospect of change in the general pol icy. Travis leaves for Toronto to night.

Italian Film for Cameo
"Fra Diavolo," Cines Pittaluga production distributed here by Transcontinental Pictures, opens to morrow at the SO Cameo for a run. The picture has been such a success abroad that French and German versions already have been made and an English edition is now being recorded.

THEATER SERVICE CORP.
ADDING 62 SALESMEN

of these business films in the last few days brought a flood of favorable reactions. The films also receive an enthusiastic reception at a special projection room showing yesterday.

"Screen Broadcasts" present a series of adroitly prepared scenarios, with action sequences, in color and appropriate musical accompaniment, relating to the business advertised. Following the descriptive scene, there is a brief flash of the local advertiser's credit line. An unusual note is provided by clever double exposures and animated titles. About 30 different classifications of business, such as jewelers, dry cleaners, hardware stores, radio dealers, candy shops, coal dealers, etc., are included in the TSC 1931-32 production schedule. Each classification includes from one to 12 different and distinct kinds of films. The pictures have been produced on a class scale that should make them acceptable in the best houses. More than 5,000 theaters already have arranged for the showing of "Screen Broadcasts," and additional houses are signing up daily.

Theater Service Corp. has divi sional offices in all parts of the U. S. The company also will start next month using color in its Fashion Guild films, shown in cooperation with prominent stores.

Turkey Restricts Film Imports
Washington Bureau of THE FILM DAILY

Washington—Importation of motion pictures and films in to Turkey is being restricted by governmental decree to specified quotas, the Department of Commerce is informed. The quotas apply to imports for all countries and will be filled according to the dates of arrival of the goods.

New Manager in Hackensack
Hackensack, N. J.—W. Osborne has taken over the managerial reins of the Kacre, Warner house. He succeeds G. McKenna.

HOLLYWOOD

WILLIAM BAKEWELL will play his first heavy character role at Christmas time when he impersonates Santa Claus at a Christmas party to be given for a group of children at the home of a relative in Beverly Hills.

Ray McCarey is becoming an authority on midgets. He directed "Pee Eats," an "Our Gang" comedy, in which Major Mike, the smallest man in the world, and Tony Laurence, another midget, appeared.

Sarah Y. Mason, who wrote the screen plays and dialogue for several screen successes, is writing the screen story of "Zelda Marsh," the Charles G. Norris story, which will go into production shortly at Columbia.

Tully Marshall and Karen Morley have been cast so far in the John and Lionel Barrymore vehicle, "Arsene Lupin," which has gone in work at M-G-M under the direction of Jack Conway. Miss Morley has the feminine lead.

Geoffrey Shurtleff of Paramount has returned from a three months' stay at the Paramount Jayville, France, studio. While in Europe he also visited U.S. and other studios.

Victor Schertzinger's enormous living room in his palatial home resembles a conservatory of music. Almost every known musical instrument has its place there, the RKO director being an accomplished musician as well as composer.

George Archainbaud's recently directed RKO production, "Hilda," is proving a hit in England and France, although reports received by local studio executives, Archainbaud just completed the "Exposed."

"The Pocatello Kid" replaces "Fighting Mad" as the title of Ken Maynard's new Tiffany production. Marcoline Day plays opposite Maynard in this western, which was directed by Phil Rosen.

Rowland Brown, it is rumored on reliable authorities, may shortly sever his connections with Universal. His original story, "Doorway to Hell," which he also directed, received the second highest number of votes at the recent Academy dinner.

One of Wallace Smith's magazine contributions appears in the last issue of "Cosmopolitan." Smith is understood to have conceived and written the article in five hours.

One night back in 1934 Mack Sennett attended the old Morocco Theater and saw Harry Gibson for the first time. Result—Harry was signed on a long-term contract by the comedy chief, and the number of comedies that he has appeared in since is too long to mention.

Fred Burns will play another sheriff role in RKO Pathe's "Partners."

Mike Donlin is just as capable an actor as he once was a baseball player, according to Ray Garrett, RKO Pathe director. Donlin, Garrett believes, never plays two roles similarly, giving to each one he attempts exactly the shading it demands.

William Bakewell is the proud possessor of one of the most valuable footballs in the world. Such famous names as Knute Rockne, Louie Wolfheim and other prominent men adorn this pigskin.

Rowland Brown, Universal director, was at one time a leading wrestler in the East, deserting the professional ranks for a role in a Broadway production.

Simile—As hopeless as an amateur trying to sell an original story.

Pat O'Brien and Mae Clarke, who scored their first big screen hits in "The Front Page," are playing the leads in "Final Edition," which Howard Higgin is directing for Columbia. Ralph Block is supervising.

Paramount assignments: Adrienne Ames and Claire Dodd for "Two Kinds of Women," making the tenth role this year for Miss Dodd...Virginia Hammonds for "No One Man," directed by Lloyd Crrigan from the script of Sidney Buchman and Agnes Brand Lebby, adapted by Percy Heath.

Virginia Lee Corbin, a blonde, becomes a Brunette in Tiffany's "X Marks the Spot" in order to contrast with the blonde Mary Nolan and the golden-haired Sally Blane.

Hal Roach has started the latest ZaSu Pitts-Thelma Todd comedy, "Stir Up," under the direction of Gil Pratt...Grady Sutton of the Boys Friends was loaned recently to Paramount for "Second Chances"...George Robert Phillips McFarland, who answers to the name of Sonny, is an addition to Our Gang.

Rosco Ates will appear in M-G-M's "Freaks," playing the role of a female impersonator.

Fox assignments: Minna Gombell for "Dance Team"; Charles Farrell will have the lead in "After Tomorrow," under the direction of Frank Borsage, with Donald Meek, Barbara Robbins and Josephine Hull also signed for this picture...Risë Hall will appear next in "Disillusion," original by William Anthony McGuire, to be directed by Kenneth MacKenna...Edwin Justice Mayer added to the writing staff.

Florine McKinney of Ft. Worth, T-X, has been signed by Paramount. She is a singer and dancer.

By IRENE THIRER.

These half dozen pictures were favorites in the silent days; would have rated four stars if we had been handing stars out at the time. Of the six, only "Tol'able David" has taken talkie shape. Its sound version wasn't as good as the silent Bartholomew picture. But you liked Richard Cromwell three stars worth in the talkie. Didn't you?

If the other five movies mentioned above haven't yet reached the audible cinema, they have contributed to it, anyway. When you see "Over the Hill" (once a patent itself) at the Roxy you'll be watching the combined efforts of folks who contributed to the six super-special history makers to which we've called your attention.

Mae Marsh Back.

Mae Marsh, playing the role of Ma in the new talkie, was one of the most important players in "The Birth of a Nation" and "Intolerance." She was, in addition, a star in her own right for many years, with a long list of successes to her credit. She left the screen at the height of her career to marry and become a mother. And now she is back, for good. Since "Over the Hill" she has been assigned to roles in "Devil's Lottery" and "Governor's Lady."

Henry King, the director, adds "Over the Hill" to a list that includes "Tol'able David," "The White Sister," "Stella Dallas" and other box-office magnets.

Seitz the Cameraman.

John Seitz was cameraman for all of Rex Ingram's best productions including "The Four Horsemen," "Scaramouche," "The Prisoner of Zenda" and "The Conquering Power." He did the job on "Over the Hill."

Robert Haas, art director, worked with Henry King on all his productions, even going to Italy for the filming of "The White Sister," "Scaramouche," and "Romola," with Dorothy of the Gish sisters. Also, Haas added decorative value to "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," "Sentimental Tommy," and "Peter Ibbetson," all silent versions.

James Kirkwood, who plays the role of Pa in "Over the Hill," was one of Mary Pickford's first directors. Besides directing, he has played leads and character roles for years.

James Dunn and Sally Eilers are the newcomers. They and the sound men were not associated with pictures 'til back when. However, they're noted for "Bad Girl," a this year super-special. And the soundman, Eugene Grossman, is the very one who super-imposed the sound work on the film of Lindberg's return from France. So he's considered pretty important.

Past Hit-Creators Made "Over the Hill"

GOLDHAMMER PROMOTED TO EASTERN SALES POST

L. E. "Nicky" Goldhammer, for several years in charge of the Warner branch in Minneapolis, has been promoted to metropolitan manager for Warner-Frist National in New York, starting Monday, it is announced by Andy Smith, eastern sales manager. Joe Vergeslich will manage the New York exchange, with Harry Decker in charge of the Brooklyn division and George W. Madsen handling New Jersey.

Two More Exchanges Dropped by Universal

Universal has eliminated two more exchanges, reducing status of these offices to shipping points. With the Butte exchange practically closed, bookings in this territory will be handled out of Salt Lake City. Suspension of general activities in Iquus Falls results in throwing of his business into the Minneapolis ranch. Closing of the San Antonio exchange, recently announced, transfers its activities to the Dallas office.

"ART" AND "HOKUM"—reverting periodically to fundamentals

By DON CARLE GILLETTE

When B. P. Schulberg—made the assertion—that films of today need a good dose of old-fashioned hokum—-he certainly prescribed the right medicine—for this sick child.Before reading further—-pull out your Webster—and digest the meaning—-of the word hokum—which will give—a little job—to some high hats.In its popular sense—-hokum simply means—-getting audience response—by various devices—-known as sure-fire.But every so often—-nature sends forth—a crop of 'moderns'—-who moan about art—and sneeze at hokum—-with

Plans Already Completed For Ten Houses—Will Seat 300 to 500

Los Angeles — Hughes-Franklin Theaters will build miniature theaters in fifty western cities, it is announced. Plans are practically completed for ten of the houses, seven in California cities, one in Phoenix and one in Dallas. They will seat from 300 to 500.

PUBLIX ESTABLISHES OGDEN, UTAH, DISTRICT

Ogden, Utah—Publix has established a district manager's office here, with Fred E. Hamlin in charge. The new office will serve the Paramount, and Orpheum here, the Orpheum and Idaho in Twin Falls, Idaho, and the Paramount in Provo. Hamlin also continues as Salt Lake City division publicity director, although he will make his home here.

Stanley Co. Reports Profit of $1,711,251

Net profit of Stanley Co. of America, subsidiary of Warner Bros., for the year ended Aug. 29 amounted to $1,711,254.20, before taxes, against $1,366,992.29, after taxes, in the previous year. Income for the period was $7,381,647.12, against $7,578,381.55 the year before.

Three Cheers!

That "Over the Hill" exercises a strong emotional appeal with its old home sentiment was attested at the opening performance of the Roxie yesterday, when the audience broke into big applause on three occasions, and gave it a big hand at the conclusion. And weeps and sniffs all over the house. The Fox picture expects to stay at the Roxie for three weeks.

the result—that good old drama—starts going highbrow—up into the clouds—out of reach and sight — of the man in the street.

THEATRICAL history—tellingly illustrates—the foregoing principleFirst of all—take the leg—drama—and trace it back—to its palmy days—when 10-20-30 millers—toured all the country—and did big business—by giving the folks—blood and thunder—which sentiment—and direct plots—which all classes—could understand*Then the smash brigade—started in—to elevate—the stage offerings—until the drama—became highly sophisticated—as well as immoral—and the musical shows—which used to specialize—in opera bouffe—turned to tinsel drames—disrobbed women—and smutty blackoutsAt the same time—that grand institution—the vaudeville stage—began getting away—from genuine variety—and in its place—song-and-dance flas和谐t—started running wild—while comedy acts—the real backbone—became scarcer and scarcer.

THAT was the time—when motion pictures were not yet suffering—from ‘arty’ pains—so the public—flocked to them—in welcome reliefBut since the coming—of the talkies—it seems that history is about to repeat—unless the tendency—is checked at once*It is necessary—ever so often—to get back—to fundamentals—of common understanding.*When one entertainment form—puts itself beyond—the appeal of the masses—some new form—will come along—and take its place—by meeting the millions—on their own level.

AND if you want—current proof—of the foregoing argument—see “Over the Hill”.

Passes for Previews
Considered by Publix

Free previews, with admission passes given to “lucky” number holders during the preceding week, are being considered by Publix. The move has been brought up due to lack of substantial business for previews and with the hope that lucky number performances will stimulate “mouth-to-mouth” advertising for the current attractions.

Rollo Lloyd Writes, Directs and Acts

Rollo Lloyd, prominent New York stage director and actor, after assisting on the adaptation of "Prestige," the Harry Horrey story which is now in production at RKO with Ann Harding as the star, will have an important role in the picture. He will also assist Director Tony Garnett with the direction of the dialogue.

"Beauty is staying in Hollywood," according to Marion Gerig, who is directing "Ladies of the Big House" for Paramount. "The growth of realism has demanded real-looking people and not the glorious beauty that once held sway on the screen. Personality, too, still is in demand." * * *

Three new Educational comedies were completed this week. At the Educational studios production was concluded on "Torchy's Night Cap," fourth in the Torchy series, and "Keep Laughing," the third Mermaid. In the Torchy, Ray Cooke and Dorothy Dix head a cast which includes Dorothy Appleby, Richard Purcell, Elaene St. Maur, Edmund Breese, Franklyn Pangborn and Edward McPhail. Edie McPhail and Jack Shaw are featured in "Keep Laughing," whose cast also includes Monty Collins, Phyllis Crane, Bryan Washburn, Richard Malaby, and others. The famous Harold Grayson Hotel Roosevelt Blossom Room Orchestra makes its screen debut in this comedy, which was directed by William Goodrich. The third comedy to be finished this week is Mack Bennett's "The Potsville Champion," directed by Leslie Pearse, with Babe Stafford assisting. Harry Gribbin is featured, while Nate Pendleton, contender for heavyweight wrestling honors, and Babe London appear in principal supporting roles.

After three consecutive pictures with Paul L. Stein, Constance Bennett has another director for her new RKO Pathé production, "Lady With a Past." He is Edward H. Griffiths of "Holiday" and "Rebound" fame.

SHORT SHOTS from EASTERN STUDIOS

By HARRY BLAIR

Hugh O'Connell, stage and screen comedian, who appeared with great success in such pictures as "The Smiling Lieutenant," "Secrets of a Secretary" and "Personal Maid," is winding up a two-year run of "Once in a Lifetime," in which he created the principal role of that of Dr. Lewis. The show is now playing in Boston, after which O'Connell will return to New York.

Vitaphone employed an entire symphony orchestra for the background of The Symphony Murder, the fourth of the S. S. Van Dine series, adapted by Burnet Herrick, Vitaphone staff writer.

Larry Kent, head of Paramount's short subject production, is expected back from California next week. Kent attended his parents' golden wedding anniversary in San Francisco, following which he went to Hollywood for conferences with West Coast officials.

Audio Cinema has completed the scoring of one of Erpi's educational films, under the supervision of Philip Scheib, musical director. The picture is as yet untitled.

Vitaphone Vitamins: Notes of the George Washington picture — Ed Sullivan routing up the east at 5:30 each morning and seeing that everybody got to bed after each day's shooting. — Senator Tidings congratulated Ackerson, Skidmore,等. and Doran, prop men, on their efficient work. — Arthur Hurley, director, must be a friend of the weather man. — Sunny skies all week.

Richard Arlen and Regis Toomey play host to the fan and metropolitans, press on Tuesday afternoon, at the Warwick hotel. A record attendance attended to the popularity of the two men, who are teamed in the enormously successful "Touchdown."

E. M. Newman, globe-trotter, author and lecturer, who has been cirving the globe for over 40 years, is spending most of his time at the Warner studio these days, whipping into shape a wealth of material gathered during his recent six months in Spain, France and other Continental countries.

Rudy Vallee's father, Charles Vallee, paid a visit to his famous son during the making of "Knowmore College" at the Paramount studio. He brought along news that back home in Westbrook, Me., they are so proud of the crooning saxophonist that they have named a square after him.

Fanny Watson of "The Girl Friends" series, after watching a series between Vitaphone 6 pictures: George Washington and A. J. Herbert as Alexander Hamilton, announced that she is a direct descendant of George Washington through her grandmother whose name was Amanda Hamilton.

Dick Willis, Vitaphone make-up chief, was kept busy supplying wigs for both the men and women appearing in the George Washington film. The only exception was Grace Van Auster, who plays the role of Martha Washington and whose natural hair is a beautiful snow white.

Aubrey Scotto has completed the direction of "The Rookies," featuring Tom Howard, last of this season's Paramount shorts product.

Marguerite Allen, English stage actress, plays the feminine lead in "The Symphony Murder Mystery," latest of the two-reel S. S. Van Dine mysteries, produced by Donald Meek and John Hamilton are again featured, with Joseph Henabery directing.

Richard Arlen is rehearsing for his first role at Paramount's New York studio, all his previous pictures having been made on the coast. The picture is "Wayward," in which Nancy Carroll, most of whose work has been done in the East, is starred. Pauline Frederick, who made numerous silent films here, returns to New York for a supporting role.

Helen McCallough, wardrobe mistress at the Warner Vitaphone studio, is being congratulated upon her work in securing authentic costumes and accessories for the George Washington Vitaphone special, Clarence Whitehill, in the title role, had no less than five costume changes.

A three-reel picture featuring the Westminster Choir of Ithaca, N. Y., with Homer Rockeheaver as soloist, has been completed at the RCA studio here, with Harold Godse directing and Dal Clawson in charge of camera work.

Twickenham Studios Producing 3 for P.D.C.

London — The Twickenham studios have closed a contract with Reginald Smith of F. P. D. Co., Ltd., to produce three feature pictures for that company.

Rene Claire Remaining in France Paris — Rene Claire has completed his new production, "A Nous La Liberte," and denies that he is going to America to direct for any American producing company.

British Censors Pass 127 Pictures London — During September the British Board of Film Censors passed 127 motion pictures as against 202 for September, 1930. Of these, 90 were silent, against 54 a year ago. No silent feature productions were listed at all this September; a year ago there were 22.

Blattnerphone Novelties Hit London — The Blattnerphone, which records and reproduces sound, music and voices in full view of audiences, is a screen novelty that is expected to find favor among British Cinemas. The Maxwell A.B.C. organization has signed the novelty for its biggest English theaters.

 Argentine Film Tax Proposal Buenos Aires — The director general of internal revenue has proposed to the Argentine minister of finance that a tax of 10 per cent on the gross income of foreign motion pictures be placed in effect, in stead of the 20 per cent tax policy. It would avoid the opening of special accounts in the custom house for detailed control of every imported film.

Carnival" a Hit in London London — British & Domincans Films Corp., has a big success in its Matheson Lang picture, "Carnival," which was shown here for representatives of the press recently, and then went into the Tivoli. Supporting the star are Dorothy Boucher and Joseph Schildkraut.

British Lion Reduces Capital London — Justice Eve in the Chancellor Division has confirmed the reduction of the capital of British Lion Film Corp., Ltd., from £3,500,000 to £581,916. The reduction in capital equals, approximately, British Lion's loss of £463,836. The loss is born by holders of preferred and deferred stock.

PARAMOUNT DROPPING FOREIGN VERSIONS London — Paramount is discontinuing the production of foreign versions in its European production. Paramount's foreign units will continue making French productions, but these will be original productions of French stories and not versions of pictures previously made in English. The Paramount schedule of ten Spanish talking features and three in German has been completed. Twenty French features are planned at Joinville in the next six months.

Two Way Street" Finished London — "Two Way Street," Nettleford production directed by George King for United Artists distribution has been completed. Sari Marita is starred, with Harry Wilcox as the villain.

Prince of Wales Film London — "Our Farmer Prince," the motion picture made on the Duchy of Cornwall, the Prince of Wales estate, has been completed and shown to the Prince. The showing is for the life of the Prince on his various farms, including the gosh farm at Helford, it is 4,000 feet long.
SPECIAL SOUND DEVICES MARKETED BY GOOD-ALL

Ogallah, Neb.—Introduction of four special sound reproducing systems, a fully A.C. controlled amplifying cabinet adapted for use with any sound on film system, an all A.C. operated public address system for automobiles, a completely new and different sound head for use with the Elysee automobile, and a public address system designed exclusively for use in funeral homes, has been announced by Ger-Bar Electric Manufacturing Co. of this city.

Equipment of the sound reproducing section for Powers projectors include a fully A.C. controlled cabinet, a large seven tube main amplifier, and a 10 in. air column for stage reproduction equipped with a giant electro dynamic unit. The device is said to be very compact and will be sold for a cash price of $850.

The A.C. public address system for automobiles is simple in operation and is for use in advertising programs by theater managers in town and cities.

The control cabinet, which is all A.C. and adaptable for use with any sound system, is being offered at an exceptionally low price, the company states.

Marigean to Be Europe's Finest
Paris.—The new Theater Marigean, now nearing completion on the Avenue des Champs Elysee, will be Europe's finest motion picture house when it is completed. It will have two complete sets of RCA Photophone standard size sound reproducing equipment in the projection booth. It is a composite pattern of some of the most elaborate film houses in the U. S., and will seat 2,000.

Makes Rapid Installation
Middlesboro, Ky.—The service department of the Electrical Research Products maintained its record speed when the Manning theater here, under the management of Charles O. Brown, gave its regular evening show less than 24 hours after a devastating fire had damaged the projection booth so badly as to necessitate a replacement of practically all the sound equipment. Equipment was rushed from St. Charles, 80 miles away.

Air Conditioning Booklet
A brochure consisting of photographs and text describing its system of air conditioning, along with a partial list of recent installations, has been issued by the Tiltz Air Conditioning Corp. of New York and Los Angeles.

PHOTOPHONE DISTRIBUTING IMPROVED VICTOR DISC

With a market of approximately 4,000 theaters employing the disc method of sound reproduction, RCA Photophone has begun the distribution of a new type of disc record which has been developed and perfected by the Engineers of the RCA Victor Co. in Camden, N. J.

Known as the Victorola Record, the important features claimed by the company which makes it superior to the old style of shellac records are: the reduction in size from 16 inches to 12 inches in diameter, the pronounced reduction in weight from 24 ounces to four ounces, its flexibility and durability, improved tone quality and a minimum of surface noise.

The company states that 90 per cent of the producers have arranged to record their product on this record.

Armour to India for Photophone
Calcutta.—Reginald Armour, the foreign department of RCA Photophone is on route here to remain for the next two months. He will confer with HVM Gramophone Co., Ltd., Fathe India, Ltd., and Indian Theaters, which are RCA's representatives in India, Burma and Ceylon.

New Ship Wired by W. E.
Before leaving on its maiden trip around the world, the new S.S. President Coolidge of the Dollar Line, largest ship built in the United States, was equipped with a complete Western Electric talking picture reproducing equipment and a public address system for sound amplification.

WESTON CORP. DEVELOPS
NEW PHOTOELECTRIC CELL

Newark, N. J.—A new photoelectric cell, to be known as the Weston Photronic Cell and said to be different in construction, utterly simple and yet low in cost, has been announced by the Weston Electrical Instrument Corp. of this city.

The new cell, it is declared, employs a highly light sensitive disc which transforms light energy directly into electrical energy without the use of any auxiliary voltage. Its response to light variations is instantaneous and sufficient current is developed to operate directly Weston relays without the use of auxiliary apparatus or any battery. It delivers about one microampere per foot candle of light intensity. When exposed to direct sunlight, the output is approximately 5 milliamperes.

The cell resistance from about 1,500 ohms for 10 foot-candles light intensity to about 300 ohms for 240 foot-candles intensity.

Enclosed in a moulded black bakelite case 2¾ inches in diameter and one inch in thickness, the new cell is fitted at the bottom with two connection prongs which fit into the standard U. X. radio tube socket. It is ruggedly constructed and is so simple in design that there is nothing to get out of order, the company claims.

Patents New Camera Device
Crowley, La.—Cyrus Underwood of this city has patented a device for cameras that prevents making double exposures.

Device Holds Picture Steady
Chicago.—Ger-Bar double bearing movement, a product of the Guerico and Barthol Theater Equipment Co. of this city, when installed on a single bearing Simplex, will make for steadier pictures and smoother running.

72% Replacements by W. E.

More than 72 per cent of the Western Electric installations in the British Isles during the last 12 weeks were replacements of other equipment, according to a survey completed by T. P. Drew, Western Electric's Sales Manager in the British Isles.

Garver Kurrent Charger
Claimed Highly Efficient

Union City, Ind.—Sales of the Garver Kurrent Charger, a product of the Garver Electric Co., of this city, have been reported on the upgrade during the past few months, according to the company, due to the equipment proving highly satisfactory as a producing unit for any low intensity lamp. Designed to operate with the very least maintenance cost possible for any theater where low intensity reflector and flood lamps are practical, the device is quiet in operation, does not interfere with sound system or radio and is ideal for low intensity projection, the company claims.

STAGE LAMPS

HIGH intensity lighting units, properly designed, give excellent service—spotlights, floodlights, strip lights, scrollers, or any other form of lighting apparatus used on the stage—also color frames, connectors, and miscellaneous stage lighting supplies.

REVIEWS OF SOUND SHORTS

Clark and McCullough in
"A Melon Drama" 20 mins.
Laugh Riot Producer Louis Brock and Director Mark Sandrich have turned out two Laugh numbers in which Clark and McCullough have appeared to date. It moves fast and the comedy bits are all sure-fire. The comedians play the roles of private detectives, with Bobb Clark going in for comic playing on the side and thereby drawing a flock of tomatoes from the fruit stand keeper across the way. Just as they have been playing a prank on the man, McCullough has lifted a watermelon and hid it inside his belt, the amateur dicks get a job to protect the owner and is to try to stop the thief. The watermelon contains a time bomb and was to have been thrown into the judge's home. Then follows the funny adventures encountered by the lad which is that the melon contains a bomb. The laughs are fast and solid. Will click anywhere.

Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy in "Come Clean" 20 mins.
M-G-M A Hovel
From start to finish this comedy is filled with screamingly funny gags and some of the best "nagging". The boys have handed out this year. The story contains several ludicrous situations that are side-splitter. The Laurels visit the Hardys in the country and suddenly develop a desire for some ice cream. While out for the refreshing stuff, a girl attempts suicide by jumping off a bridge. Hardy tries to save her while Laurel stands dumbly on the wharf. The story ends with a chase and some up-and-down elevator stuff that is sure-fire. It is a real laugh-getter.

"Across the Sea" 10 mins.
Educational
Pleasing A Romantic Journey, with Claude Fleming conducting his narrative journey through the islands of Hawaii. Featured are a group of native singers. The scenic shots are very beautiful, all done in Multicolor, and the entire story is a real romantic atmosphere, and well handled throughout.

"Bosko's Soda Fountain" 5 mins.
Vitaphone Good Cartoon
A better than average musical cartoon. Bosko is depicted as a soda fountain clerk who can mix drinks in many novel and acrobatic ways. The action is lively and the musical accompaniment is good.

"The Lorelei" 7 mins.
Educational Good Cartoon
"The Lorelei" is a Paul Terry-Toon, with the animated hero doing a burlesque of the famous "Lorelei," being vamp by the sheriff, and by avoiding some hiccups in his story he makes his way through some hectic adventures in a terrific storm. A German quartet singing the "Lorelei" adds musical atmosphere. Good animated technique.

Frank Orth in
"The Victim" 8 mins.
Vitaphone Very Funny
Frank Orth is seen here as a husband and father, and his wife has a problem for him, which he does not have a practical solution for. This proves to be the straw that breaks the camel's back, and Orth's character is forced to accept the situation and try to make the best of it.

"Curiosities" (No. 27) 10 mins.
Columbia Good
"Curiosities" is an interesting half dozen or more subjects included in this issue of Walter Fuller's curiosities. First scenes of a ship-salvaging industry on the west coast, then Palestine and the land where the Ark is supposed to be buried, a butterfly farm, a musical automaton, and several other items. The running talk is by John P. Cuthbertson. It's an engrossing reel that should fit nicely into any bill.

"Half Holiday" 21 mins.
Educational Very Good
A Mack Sennett comedy featuring Andy Clyde as the hapless husband who goes wild with a pal and two vamps. But the Saturday afternoon party at the beach proves a flop when the real sweethearts of the girls appear and make the things very uncomfortable for Andy and his pal. Then the wife arrives and carts him back home to mow the lawn, again a mess and subdued husband. It is cleverly handled, with snappy gags, and Andy Clyde as usual is a delight. This one gets over easily as a sure laugh-getter.

"Smith and Dale in
"Where East Meets West" 20 mins.
Musical
Another topnotch comedy starring the sure-fire Hebrew comics, Smith and Dale. This time they sell out their New York business and go west to buy a ranch and settle down in the peace of the open spaces. But what they run into, between hard-pressed ranch hands and other western commotion, is far from peaceful and quiet. The incongruous situation of the two Yiddishers and their dialect in a western locale is funny in itself, and on top of this there is plenty happening all the time to maintain lively interest and keep the laughs coming one after another.

Krazy Kat in
"Hash House Blues" 6 mins.
Columbia Good Cartoon
In the role of a dancing waiter in a restaurant, Krazy Kat hands out another batch of his amusing antics in this animated subject. It is well up to the average of such shorts and will serve its purpose as a filler very nicely.

"Screen Souvenirs" 8 mins.
Concealed Swell Humor
Another revival of bits from early motion pictures with humorous running comment. After showing some of the earliest films of 1900, in which Howard Taft, William Jennings Bryan and Theodore Roosevelt figured, and a shot of Guglielmo Marconi giving wireless telegraphy to the world in 1901, the short turns to a travesty of the early autos, bathing suits and film director. The amusing contrast it presents with the present day makes the reel richly entertaining in a comedy way.

Lillian Roth in
"Puff Your Blues Away" 8 mins.
Fair Musical Skit
Lillian Roth's singing of "Puff Your Blues Away" is the principal bit in this skit, which has not been built around the idea suggested by the title. It takes place in a night club setting, where a young chap who has just dropped a wad of dough in the stock market comes on for some diversion. But the Wall St. victim can't get his mind off his losses, until he gets a square look at the attractive gigolo in the white girl in the person of Lillian Roth, who cheers him up pronto with her smile and singing. But it turns out that Lillian is only a temporary incident in the life of the lad, who later turns up with another girl, leaving Lil to sing her own blues away. Though lacking a punch, it is a fairly diverting piece of fancy.

Charlie Davis and His Band in
"The Jazz Reporter" 7 mins.
Interesting Novelty
In a newspaper room setting, with members of the band as editors, reporters, etc., Charlie Davis and his gang provide a musical novelty that is interesting mainly because of the double-exposure in which shots representing news flashes are spotted here and there, accompanied by appropriate musical bits. The shit moves fast and its brevity makes it a good filler.

Ted Husing in
"Sportsclats" 10 mins.
Vitaphone Fair Sports Number
Champions of various fields of sport are presented in this issue of Ted Husing's "Sportsclats," which shows the athletes doing their stuff while Husing delivers running comments. Slow motion and still sequences are employed to illustrate the discussions, which should prove quite interesting to the sport fans but only fair stuff for general audiences.
"OVER THE HILL"

In 1 minute.

IT'S IN BY A MILE, WITH OLD HOME HEART THROB STUFF AND SENTIMENT AND PATHOS THAT HAVE 'EM WEEPING AND AIN'T NOTHIN' LIKE IT.

When you can get the women sniffing right through the pathetic sequences, and everybody applauding, to the point of mass imitation at the close, as they did at the Roxy, then the picture is definitely in. Mae Marsh gives one of the most touching performances of the year, a typical mother of a small town family suffering and worrying and living on her snowbound husband, and in late life when adversity hits her, she gives one of the most touching and beautiful performances of a sweet old lady that probably has ever been screen. Henry King has done a fine hit of work, making every scene in the picture live and sympathetic, never overplaying his hand. It hits some highly tense and dramatic moments, and yet is laced with near-humor. Henry Sharp's father gets his from the enraged son, the audience broke out several times in applause. James Murray as the wife and Charles Lane as the father completely

"CYCLONE KID" with Buzz Barton, Caryl Lincoln, Francis X. Bushman, Jnr.
Big 4 40 mins.
FAIR WESTERN THAT DOESN'T DEVELOP ANYTHING UNUSUAL BUT SHOULD PLEASE THE OUTDOOR FANS.

This one follows the regulation formula of the heavy who finds oil on the rancher's property and tries to force the latter into selling his land. Buzz Barton, as the owner's son, spoils the plot through his hunches. Nothing new about it, but it should get by with the western fans. The heavy, when he finds oil on his property, sends the ranch foreman, who says the rancher's cattle in an attempt to force a sale. The boy gets on the rustlers' track and his father finds out. By the time the kid is able to get a telephone message to the sheriff, the rancher is killed. Buzz and Francis X. Bushman, Jnr., ram the foreman, track the rustlers, and the heavy is killed trying to escape. Buzz's sister and the foreman are married and set out to develop the oil.

Cast: Buzz Barton, Caryl Lincoln, Francis X. Bushman, Jnr., Lee McKee, Fred Adams, Nolla, Silver Hair, Blanche Whiteford. Director, J. P. McGowan; Author, George M. Davis; Assistant Director, John F. Logan; Recording Engineer, George S. Hutchings.

"DIE SCHLACHT VON BADEMENDE" ("Battle of Bademünde")
74 mins.
GERMAN FARCE COMEDY. A LITTLE GIRL AND A HUNDRED NUMBER THAT MOVES BRIGHTLY AND GETS A LOT OF LAUGHS.

This is a very light offering made for the German market. It gets along with a lot of skylarking and nonsense between the sailors of a battleship and the members of the port city, a pretty girl, a beautiful beach. They are trying to make the place a famous watering resort by promoting the mineral water there, but it is so bitter that everybody chokes on drinking it. A sailor and soldier have all sorts of encounters over the affections of one of the girls of the resort. This is slightly reminiscent of the Hollywood gag of the two doughboys fighting a la Slim Summerville. It is a tough go for the lady's love. There are some bright bits on the beach in the evening, with every sailor parked in a sun-bathing covered chair with a girl. Then some good sequences on board the battleship, with a lot of good fun and some splendid comedy. Plenty of good comedy touches.

"FRA DIAVOLO" ("Buster Broke"")
Transcontinental Pictures 78 mins.
FINE ITALIAN DIALOGUE DRAMATIZATION OF OPERA WITH TINO PATTIERA'S VOICE ACTING OUTSTANDING FEATURE.

The beauty of its scenic background, the heights to which Tino Pattiera's voice carries, and the clever acting and direction throughout, blend this opera into one that promises to be a hit. Diavolo, handtied chief of the revolutionists. A reward of 40,000 ducats is on Diavolo's head. The men are out to capture him, but through a clever ruse, Diavolo masquerades as a visiting ambassador and attains protection given at the Palace. Diavolo is finally captured but with the end of the revolution, he is set free and returns to his charming little girl, Olga, and the heavy is killed trying to escape. Buzz's sister and the foreman are married and set out to develop the oil.

Cast: Buzz Barton, Caryl Lincoln, Francis X. Bushman, Jnr., Lee McKee, Fred Adams, Nolla, Silver Hair, Blanche Whiteford. Director, J. P. McGowan; Author, George M. Davis; Assistant Director, John F. Logan; Recording Engineer, George S. Hutchings.

The Roxy stage show is titled "The Elements," with the scenes divided by Earth, Wind, Fire, and Water, and a finale, Sunrise. Mostly atmospheric stuff, with a quartet of trapeze artists in the first, the ballet in the second, with Harrison and Fisher in an adagio number. Earth shows a black hill in the dim light, with the Hall Johnson Singers grouped on it chanting a negro spiritual. Fire is spectacular, with the hill transformed to a spouting volcano, cleverly achieved through the effects of a flame lamp, waving her drapes on top, and the Roxyettes below in red costumes. Patricia Bowman is splendid as the Flame Goddess. The finale shows the entire ensemble on the hill lit up with sunshine, also an effect produced by costumes, movements and clever lighting.

We find it necessary to refer to the Year Book very frequently for information concerning various features, and would not be without this valuable publication.

T. L. Shields, Mgr., Grand Theater, Columbus, O.

In the course of a year, I find this volume a most handy asset. It is the most comprehensive survey of the picture industry that I have ever run across.

Harry Sear, RKO Albee, Providence, R.I.

We do not know of anything that could be added to make the Year Book more complete.

F. T. Welker, Mgr., Wausau Theater Co., Wausau, Wis.

The Year Book is a wonderful volume, and a necessity for one who wishes to keep up with this ever-changing business. I find it very helpful at all times.

Albert L. Frie, Keith's Georgia Theater, Atlanta.

We have a high regard for the Film Daily and expect to continue our subscription.

Gay Mears, Mears Theaters, Kansas City, Mo.

Words cannot describe this wonderful Year Book. It's a gem, and should be on the desk of everyone who is in any way interested in the motion picture industry, regardless of what branch of work he is in. It has been invaluable.

Even in the small towns, we find the Year Book of great value, so much so that we dare not be without it. I frequently refer to my Year Book, always finding the information I desire.

E. L. Winters, Jr., Playhouse Theater, Statesville, N.C.

The data which your Year Book contains should prove a "Gold Mine" to busy exhibitors.

David Napper, David Sniper Theaters, Portland, Ore.

The Year Book is our official guide book. It would be impractical to be without a copy.

Herbert Stuart, Gen'l Mgr., Fox, New England Theaters.

Year Book great! Use it very frequently.

F. E. Lyden, Hamilton Theater, Dexter, Mass.

We have occasion to refer to the Year Book a great many times a year.

George Fischer, Managing Dir., Milwaukee National Capital Amuse.

Have found the Year Book to be most informative, and in many instances, invaluable.

Paul Mohr, Metro Theater, Dallas.

I can certainly appreciate the time you have spent compiling such a complete edition.

T. L. Thompson, State Theater, Dallas.

What would we do without the Year Book?

The Year Book is certainly complete in every detail, and will be a great aid to us when making up our daily programs.

C. C. Wilson, Happy Hour and Rivoli Theaters, Cresenon, Pa., & Wilson Theater, Tyrone, Pa.

The Year Book has found a definite place in the world of showmanship.

R. C. Hertz, Advt., Mgr., Midtown Theaters.

I have gotten so that I depend on the Year Book as my one source of reliable information.

Frederick L. Herron, Foreign Mgr., Hays Organization.

I am seeing the Film Daily Year Book started very soon after it was launched, and during all of that time it has proved to be a real investment in the office. The Year Book is one article that is kept constantly on my desk because I have occasion to consult it very frequently.

L. C. Gage, Fairmont Theater Co., Fairmont, Minn.

The exploitation section built upon exhibitors' ideas, will receive my special attention. I know it will be a great assistance to not only me, but to anyone in the line of exploitation.

William E. Mick, RKO Madison, Brooklyn, N. Y.

For a number of years I have found the Year Book a never failing source for complete and accurate information on most any phase of this business.

H. D. Buckley, Vice-Pres., United Artists.

The Year Book is complete in every department.

Frank Whitbeck, Universal.

I think not only grows bigger each year, but gets better, too.

Walter P. Wanger, Paramount Publicity.

The Year Book looks bigger and better than ever.

Sid Seader, M-G-M.

I am sure the 1931 Year Book will prove a real investment to the exhibitor.

Nicholas M. Schenck, Pres. M-G-M.

It is my opinion that the Year Book will be a never failing source for valuable information to buyers and users of motion picture equipment throughout the field for many years to come.

A. S. Samuels, Pres., Enterprise Optical Mfg Co.

It is indeed a complete, comprehensive and perfect guide.

Cecil B. deMille.

The 1931 Year Book is the most comprehensive and complete edition which you ever issued.

C. E. Depinet, Gen'l Sales Mgr., First National.

I find the Year Book a never failing source of very valuable information arranged in such a way that I can get this information very quickly.

J. L. Laskey, Ist V.P., Paramount Publicity.

We have constant reference to the Year Book for the valuable and complete information therein and I am well pleased with this volume.

Joe Brandt, Pres., Columbia.

The 1931 Year Book is the best yet.

William Massie, Masco & Co., Inc.

I find the Year Book to be a mighty fine volume and one I shall probably refer to often.

Sidney R. Kent, Paramount Publicity.

I could not get along without the Year Book.

N. L. Manheim, Export Mgr., Universal.

The 1931 Year Book is a real studio necessity.

B. P. Schulberg, Managing Dir. of Production, Paramount Publicity Dept.

I am absolutely convinced when I tell you that you have no conception of the number of times we turn to it during the course of a day.

Archie Reigh, Coast Publicity Dir., Paramount Publicity.

The Year Book has become an integral part of the industry. Its usefulness is unlimited.

Sam M. Morris, Vice-Pres. Warner Bros.

The Year Book certainly is now a world-wide picture information institution.

F. Wynne Jones, Pres., Ufa Films.

I am sure the 1931 Year Book will prove useful throughout the year.

Joe Schenck, Chairman of the Board, United Artists.

The completeness of the Film Daily Year Book stamps it in my mind as the most valuable volume that can be found on anyone's desk in this business.

Lee Marcus, Pres., RKO Pathé.

I consider the Film Daily Year Book standard equipment.

A. W. Smith, Jr., Division Sales Mgr., Warner Bros.

It is just naturally check full of things I want to know about, especially if authentic information is hurriedly required.

George A. Blair, Eastman Kodak Co.

It is without question the finest Film Daily Year Book ever gotten out and I am very glad to have it in front of me at all times.

James R. Grainger, V-P., in charge of Distribution, Fox Film Corp.

This summary of information on the industry will be a valuable addition to my library.

I cannot tell you how often I use the Year Book as a reference, and how useful it is to me.

J. M. Burton, V-P., & Gen'l Counsel, M-G-M.

I dare say no executive in the industry could get along without the Year Book today, for it surely is a ready reference and I might add that you have succeeded in making it bigger and better than ever.

David Bernreiter, V-P. & Tres., M-G-M.

The Year Book is a pipkin-check full of real constructive information.

Fred C. Osmoby, Gen'l Mgr., Metro Goldwyn-Mayer.

The Year Book is the most complete thing of its kind that I have ever seen.

N. G. Hatrick, Vice-Pres., Cosmopolitan Prods.

I must say I find the Year Book very interesting.

Bert Mack, Capitol (N. Y.) Theater.

The 1931 Year Book is by all means the greatest of all year books.

The 1931 Year Book is even finer than your previous editions.

B. P. Fineman, M-G-M Studios.

You have no idea what a useful book the Year Book is, and which much in demand it is by everyone in my department.

Paul Gallick, Dir. of Publicity, Universal.

The 1931 Film Daily Year Book is certainly a houndiger. It is an encyclopedia, if there ever was one.

David Bader, Universal Studios.

I don't know what we would do without this valuable encyclopedia on motion pictures.

N. D. Golden, M. P. Division, Department of Commerce.

I don't know of any year book or volume comparable in any other industry and I know that we have been very fortunate indeed in having this work handled by you in such a wonderfully successful way.

Charles H. Christie, V-P. & Gen'l Mgr., Christie Film Co.

I think that the Year Book is indisputable.

Carl E. Milliken, Sr., Hays Organization.

The list of theaters which have been, plainly, attractively presented, is a fine addition to the book.

Frank Walder, Mgr., May Organization.

The Year Book is an indispensable reference volume on the entire industry, to be found on every desk used throughout the entire year.

Walter E. Eberhardt, Electric Research Prods.

The Year Book's range of information is evidently greater than has been undertaken heretofore.

E. C. Bentley, Dir. of Publicity, American Seating Co.

The fund of information the Year Book contains is of inestimable value to anyone in or connected with the motion picture industry.

J. H. Gallagher, Dir. of Public Relations, Columbia.

The Year Book is a most valuable and readable reference work.

Sol A. Rosenblatt, Attorney.

What else can you expect from your organization? I would probably have been more surprised if it were not so splendid an issue as it seems to be.

The Year Book is a splendid piece of work and contains much valuable information which I am glad to have so handy.

Robert L. Hess, Gen'l Mgr., Heywood-Wakefield Co.

The Directors' Annual and Production Guide is something, which to my mind, no one connected with the industry can afford to be without.

Roger S. Brown, Daily Argus-Leader.

I want to tell you that I think the Directors' Annual is a fine, complete, comprehensive and fascinating addition to motion picture trade lore.

I think your Directors' Annual and Production Guide for 1931 is a very fine job and contains plenty of information useful to all departments of the business.

Russell Holman, Paramount Publicity.

The Directors' Annual is a valuable adjunct to any film library.

The Directors' Annual is a true reflection of the highness of the motion picture industry and must be of inestimable value to producers.

Harold B. Franklin, Pres. Hughes Franklin.

The Directors' Annual is excellent and undoubtedly will perform a real service in furnishing the trade with helpful information.

You have eclipsed anything heretofore published.

P. C. Merrill, Gaile Bros. Co.

The Directors' Annual is an invaluable work of reference and very welcome addition to the source books in my office.

It is the finest Year Book you have yet published.

Sol M. Wurtzel, Fox Film Corp. Studio.

There doesn't seem to be a single phase of the motion picture industry that is not covered thoroughly.

I consider the 1931 Year Book a very valuable facet and one of the indispensable uses to which.

Alfred Werker, Fox director, is saying "silence" to his newest "actor," but is receiving little attention. The "actor" is two weeks old and is Al's first child.

William Jeffrey had been in Hollywood barely 48 hours when he was selected for an important role in "Grand Hotel," which will be presented at the Belasco Theater by Belasco and Curran. Jeffrey, well-known stage player, has been in Eastern productions since his last appearance here in "Eyes of the World."

Tay Garnett and his unit, making "stage," will go to Ann Harding and make exteriors at Venice, Fla.

Mark Sandrich has directed numerous features and short subjects during the past few years, but has never had to make a re-take yet as an added interest he is now directing "Pop Goes the Weasel," which is being produced by Louis Bjork for RKO release.

Here and There: David Selznick and Jules Levy lessening at RKO; Pandro Berman and Martin Cooper conferring at RKO; John Roberts, the "Champ."

dios. Hammans will devote much of his attention to speeding up the new Tiffany product. Preparatory work for "Continental" has been completed by the Hammans studio staff under Samuel Bischoff, and this picture will probably get under way before the camera while Hammans is there. Shooting will also start on Mack Sennett's Moran and Mack special during Hammans' stay, as casting of this picture and preparatory work are about finished.

Conferences with E. H. Allen, operating head of the Educational Metropolitan studios, regarding Educational's short subject product and the industrial pictures work of Educational Talking Pictures Co. Ltd., will take up most of the rest of Hammans' time.

land gets from 3 per cent to 10 per cent kids during the week, and 50 per cent on Sunday in the neighborhoods. Atlanta downtown runs get much less than 5 per cent, against 16 to 15 per cent in the neighborhood.

On the coast the figures run even below 3 per cent. In Denver first runs the best showing was 15 per cent, with neighborhoods getting from 10 to 40 per cent. Pittsburgh reports a range of 5 to 15 per cent.

Other sections run about the same, with fluctuations governed by locality, day of the week, type of picture, etc. Most districts report lower attendance below what it should be, in account of insufficient pictures of the right sort, and too many over-dubbed and over-simplified films.

ALONG THE RIALTO

WITH PHIL. M. DALY

○ ○ ○ THE SALES driving force of Warner-First National has been intrusted to young men...young in years but seasoned with experience...there is Eddie Alperson, general manager of the distributing organization...Andy Smith, Eastern general sales manager...and Grad Sears, Western general sales manager...all under 40 years...these men have all grown up with this outfit...they know the problems of the field as well as the home office operations...having been coached along under the watchful eye of Sam Morris...a promising setup...a threesome who have played together through several years...and know the value of team work...and now if they will let this combination of first-line pluggers remain intact for a reasonable time...it's logical to expect that they will stage a march down the field with the rest of the Warner-First Nash team...if the current football history furnishes any criterion...and after all is said and done...isn't a seasoned lineup of men who know each other's style of play just as important in the film biz as on the gridiron?

○ ○ ○ WILLIAM PROX, prexy of Theater Service Corporation, is celebrating his 16th year in the business of turning out advertising films...Mr. Johnson is a pioneer in the game, having started down in New Orleans...his organization is now producing those nifty "Screen Broadcasts"...done with cunning and class...that take the curse off the advertising film bug...and transform them into genuine Entertainment.

○ ○ ○ YA CAN'T stop a real showman with Pep and Young Ideas...take Frinestence Charlie Andress, one-time theater man out in Great Bend, Kansas...also a former circus exec, etc...who at 50 years, married to a gal of 27...now exhibits a bouncy boy to a startled world but Charlie was once a Magician...which may explain everythin'...

○ ○ ○ SOME MUGGS have all the luck...there is Jimmie Englem of Engemee publicity...and the other mite when drivin' over to a danceant at a speakeasy...several of the boys framed it so he was left to pay the taxi fare...so Jimmie took it all in good part...also the fare coupon which the Five Boro taxi people were handing out for the free trip contest and darned if he didn't win the trip to Bermuda with it.

○ ○ ○ AND ANOTHER film gent tried his luck with the Paramelee taxi crowd...he bought 600 shares of their stock and thereafter he'd wait hours for a Paramelee to come along...and one morn he was goin' down to his brokers...and he waited 20 minutes for his favorite bus...and when he got to the curb board the stock had dropped three points!...now he yawns that it doesn't pay to be Loy.

○ ○ ○ HERE'S LUCK to Alez Moss, who has opened an advertising agency at 185 Madison Avenue...Alez hasn't got the Camel account...yet...but he's willin' to walk a mile for it any time...meanwhile he could probably prosper with Columbia...and why shouldn't an agency headed by a film publicity gent get film accounts?

The average attendance of 11,920 daily for five sound pictures like "Second Time Around," "The Beaver," and "Great Day," has been surpassed by the statistics of the three films of Paramount on Broadway which this week is celebrating its Fifth Anniversary. The statistical records show that 27,230,000 people have stepped up to the box office and planked down coin of the realm since November 1929, when the house threw open its doors. It was very interesting to know what percentage of those who were patrons the first few weeks are still regular attendants of the percentage of transients and how many come from out of town and most interesting of all, what percentage were intrigued into the theater by the mellifluous, luring tones of the Barker as they passed along Broadway bound on some other mission.

** ** ** **

That's something we've never seen elucidated in print. Is, or is not, the Barker a direct promoter of Immediate sales to any appreciable extent, or is his value found in general missionary propaganda, instilling into millions of minds the near his voice the subtle messages of "Here is the Paramount, a mighty convenient place to find entertainment whenever you want it. Why go elsewhere and we are rather inclined to the latter belief. For, say what you will, the strategic position of this theater at the world-famous Crossroads gives it a tremendous advantage over every other Broadway theater. We've been forced to scramble for advantage over several of our competitors and evening performances ever since the opening week... and expect to do so for the next five years... so, whatever the reason, Paramount Broadway certainly has a lot on the ball and on this occasion of its Anniversary, it has earned the felicitations of every true New Yorker... as one of our Old Established Institutions... where dams, dubs, debs, Distinguished Democrats and Disillusioned Republicans side by side... a common meeting ground for all with a common purpose... to be Entertained.

** ** ** **

And meanwhile... 11,000 miles from Broadway, Ernest Schoedsack writes from Peshawar in the hill country of India, where he is working a film that probably regale this bunch above one of these days... showing that filming of "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer" is pretty exciting. "Only a few months ago 10,000 Afirids came down from the hills around Khyber Pass and besieged the town... snipers lay in the high standing crops and fired into the cantonments... just an incident in months of arduous, dangerous work... to make a film to entertain folks for a brief hour... on blase, bored and flatbait Broadway.

** ** ** **

Every theater manager should read that splendid article on Warners' Sound and Projection dept in the current issue of "The Screen on the Air," the house organ... and listen to Frank E. Cahill, Jr., the organizer and manager, tell about getting the most out of his sound equipment... it's Practical... C. A. Neeper, sales manager of the Harold Lloyd Corp, is passing out cigars in honor of the arrival of a daughter named Marie Beverly at the Woman's Hospital, New York.

** ** ** **

At the Roxy benefit show for unemployed filmers, Fanchon Simon of Fanchon and Marco, will help stage the performance with some of her talented performers. While Albertina Raschi will do the same for the Leo Brecher Plaza benefit Saturday noon... Now we suppose all you gals and boys in the film world will be looking for the joyous ceremony of wishing as you yank the turkeys' wishbone on Thanksgiving... and a happy thought to wish for... is something to be thankful for... tush, tush.

Short Shots from New York Studios

By HARRY N. BLAIR

Clement Williams has rejoined the Paramount New York studio's art department after being loaned to D. W. Griffith as art director on "The Struggle," which Griffith recently completed.

William K. Howard ran into a streak of bad weather while in New York to film exteriors for his next Fox picture and finally gave up in disgust. The day after he returned to the Coast the sun came out strong and has been very much in evidence every day since.

"Detectives," fourth of the Booth Tarkington juvenile series, is now in work at the Brooklyn Vitaphone studio under the direction of Billy Hayes. Billy Hayes, seven-year-old Penrod, will have Ray Collins and Lucile Searl as his screen mother and father.

The "Wayward" company, under the direction of Ted Sloan, spent Thanksgiving with Lloyd Hamilton, L. I., making exteriors, supplying the denizens of that hamlet an unexpected thrill in seeing Nancy Carroll and Richard Arlen at close range.

Two shorts, one a two-reel musical called "Cheer Up," and the other "Believe It or Not," with the creator, Robert L. Riple, go into production today at the Brooklyn Vitaphone studio. Riple's pictures will be the 16th short he has made for Warner Bros. and will be directed by Al Goulding.

Change in production schedule put Eddie Cline, not Aubrey Scotto, in charge of directing Tom Howard in "The Rookie" at Paramount's New York studio.

Pre-releasing "Her Majesty, Love," First National's "Her Majesty, Love," starring Marilyn Miller, originally scheduled for general release Dec. 26, will be pre-released Dec. 15 as a result of requests from exhibitors, the company states.

AT 1931 PRICES...

MAGNIFICENCE at the Cost of MediocritY . . .

The Majestic makes its strongest appeal on its unmatched location, superior arrangement and size of rooms, and the sumptuousness of its ultra-modern appointments. That all of this is available at rentals such as are asked for ordinary apartments makes an added attraction to living on the "sunny" side of the Park.
Three Cheers!
That "Over the Hill" exercises a strong emotional appeal with its old home sentiment was attested at the opening performance at the Roxy yesterday when the audience broke into big applause on three occasions, and gave it a big hand at the conclusion. And weeps and sniffles all over the house.

"OVER THE HILL"

It's in by a mile, with old home heart-throb stuff and sentiment and pathos that have 'em weeping and applauding.

When you can get the women sniffing right through the pathetic sequences, and everybody applauding in a genuine demonstration at the close, as they did at the Roxy, then the picture is definitely in. Mae Marsh gives one of the outstanding performances of the year, a typical mother of a small town family slaving and worrying and making a fuss over her young brood, and in later life when adversity hits her, she gives one of the most touching and beautiful performances of a sweet old lady that probably has ever been screened. Henry King has done a fine bit of work, making every scene in the picture live and breathe with humanity, and never overplaying his hand. It hits some highly tense and dramatic moments, and in the scene where the hypocritical father gets his from the enraged son, the audience broke out several times in applause. James Dunn and Sally Eilers team beautifully. The rest of the cast is strong.

Director, Henry King; Author, Will Carleton; Adapters, Tom Barry, James Fetherson; Dialogue, Jule Kroll; Editor, Frank Holli; Cameraman, John Setz; Recording Engineer, Eugene Gressman.

Notice to the Sound Picture Industry

Present day sound pictures utilizing photographic film sound records are essentially dependent upon several early and important inventions of Messrs. Engl, Vogt, and Massolle. These inventors are German scientists who did pioneer work in this field, and were the first to produce and publicly exhibit successful film sound records.

The attention of the sound picture industry is directed to the following U. S. patents covering certain of these inventions now owned by American Tri-Ergon Corporation.

1. Patent No. 1,713,726, Vogt, et al., granted May 21, 1929. This is the patent popularly known as the “flywheel patent” and it relates to certain methods and apparatus for uniformly moving the sound record film under the control of inertia, either in recording or reproducing machines utilizing sound controlled light in translating the sound to or from the film. This patent also relates to the photoelectric cell when used with such reproducing apparatus, as is now the general practice.

2. Patent No. 1,825,598, Vogt, et al., granted September 29, 1931. This patent relates to the process for producing combined sound and picture film by photographing the sound and pictures on separate films so that they may be developed separately, and then printing both records side by side on a single film. This process, as you know, is very extensively used in the industry. This patent was recently granted after prolonged litigation on priority with Dr. Lee DeForest, in which the Court affirmed the Patent Office decisions in our favor.

Attention is invited to the patents themselves for a fuller understanding of their scope.

Applications for other early and important inventions are still pending.

Producers, exhibitors, and manufacturers utilizing any of the inventions of said patents are hereby notified and warned that they will be held liable for all profits made or damages arising from their infringements of said patents.

Infringement suits have recently been instituted under these patents against representative concerns in the industry. Further suits will be brought, if necessary, against infringing film producers and theatre operators and against manufacturers of infringing apparatus, for the purpose of restraining all unlicensed use of these inventions.

Licenses under these patents may be acquired under proper conditions. The object of this notice is to acquaint the industry with the situation in order that further liability for unlicensed use of the inventions may be avoided.

Shorts Minus Showmanship
Examination of movie advertising in the newspapers of 50 different towns around the country, picked at random recently, showed only 24 theaters, or barely half, advertising their shorts by star name or title. In many instances the line: "New reel and Short Subjects," was the only credit given to the surrounding bill of anywhere from three to six shorts. As far as it was possible to ascertain, the majority of programs had subjects with decidedly exploitable possibilities.

New Bell Sound System
Will Be Tested Dec. 9

First public demonstration of a new system of recording and reproducing, developed at Bell Laboratories, will be conducted Wednesday, Dec. 9, at a meeting of the N. Y. section of the S.M.P.E. in the American Broadcasting Engineers Bldg., 33 West 39th St., Leopold

Six Committees Formed
To Work For 'Chain' Law
Six committees, embracing organization, ways and means, finance, legislative, advisory and publicity, to work for enactment of a "chain" store tax in New York on the same order as the Indiana measure, have been formed by the New York State Independent Retail Merchants' Ass'n. Fear that the Indiana measure, recently upheld by the Supreme Court, may be extended to theaters has caused considerable apprehension among exhibitors in that state.

One-Pound Sound Camera
Paris—Andre Gournier, young French engineer and inventor, has patented a sound recording apparatus to light that it weighs but a pound. The need for a motor truck on outdoor locations will, it is claimed, be done away with by this invention, which is said to register sound clearly without any interference.

organized troops—are combing the globe—for travel material—to be converted—into shorts—and this doesn't count—the numberless cameramen—who are perpetually gathering these international bits.

THE little secret—of the whole thing—is that the public is keenly interested—in actualities—especially when they are presented—in more or less—dramatized form—Few things can beat—the human element—for gripping attention—Take those traveloggers—"Floyd Gibbons' Supreme Thrills"—or Mack Sennett's "Wrestling Swordfish"—or "Adventures in Africa"—or "Olympic Champions"—proceed to analyze—their fascination—and you'll discover—it is the human angle—the dramatized realism—that puts them over.* The same principle assures the success of the current flood of sport subjects—and those novelty items—"Believe it or Not"—and "Strange as it Seems"—all of which—when you come—right down to it—are just an extension—of the perennially popular—newspaper idea.

But as usual there is danger—of overfeeding the public—with the same diet—particularly on sports—and straight travelogues—As a balance wheel—and to offset the overload of dialogue—in other pictures—the crying need—at this moment—is for a bigger quantity—of action comedies—including especially—reliable old slapstick.

EXHIBITORS in many parts—have not yet become—shorts conscious—in the right degree.* Some theater owners—don't know the value—of short subjects—as a b.o. stimulant—because they have never—exploited them properly.* There are times—when the public—only needs to be sold—an idea—to be made to realize—how good it is.* But if the exhibit—is not sold on—there's not much chance—of his audiences—ever finding out—that a variety of brevities—is far more satisfying—than a second feature.

Double-Feature Houses May Lose Protection

Times usually drop the extra feature. This applies only to the independent theaters at present, but is likely to involve others. The matter is expected to come to a head soon and may eventually be brought up before the Hays office.

Dispute Over Washington Pageant
In reply to dispatches from Washington yesterday (Friday) to the effect that Arnold Kruckman, director of the National Capital Commission, had arranged for a pageant to be held in the nation's capital next June, George Gerhard of United Artists, who sent out the original story following conferences with Kruckman, stated that copies of the entire correspondence between Griffith and the Commission are in the U. A. files. Throughout the correspondence the Commission took the initiative in soliciting Griffith's service, Gerhard says.

close contact with the general situation. At the present rate of double-featureting it is estimated that within another few months about 50 per cent of the houses now on a dual bill policy will have to discontinue it for lack of feature product. Already the scarcity of features has reached the point that even talkers of the earliest era must be revived to supply the second feature, and in the majority of instances this has unfavorable results.

Inquiries on shorts have been showing an inclination to pick up, the exchanges report, and a good part in sales is believed to be in the offing.

More exhibitors are suggesting that shorts be given a little more notice, lest the public be unnecessarily raising the price. It is contended that, if subjects are very short, the great number required to put out a program makes the cost prohibitive, and that too many very brief subjects are not enjoyed by an audience as much as a moderate number of full length.

New Bell Sound System Will Be Tested Dec. 9

STOKOWSKI, director of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, will address the gathering in this connection.

The new system is a development of the "hill and dale" or vertical control type perfected by the late Thomas A. Edison in his first phonograph. The device, it is claimed, makes possible reproduction of music as played by the largest orchestras with a quality and naturalness never before possible. H. A. Frederick, president of Bell Laboratories, demonstrates and explains the system. Ammirers greater than those used in the largest picture houses will be utilized at the demonstration.

COMING & GOING

EDGAR WALLACE, English author signed by Radio Pictures, arrived in New York on Friday.

STUART WALKER, Paramount director, is on his way from the coast to New York to look over the current Broadway plays. He returns to the studio on Christmas Day.

WALTER GOULD, Central American representative for United Artists, is in New York for conferences with Arthur W. Kelly, studio president and treasurer of the company.

EDITH ELLIS is back in New York from Hollywood, where she has been writing for pictures.

Marilyn Miller, first National star, leaves the coast Sunday for New York.

Conrad Nagel and Joan Marsh, M-G-M, have arrived in New York for a two-week vacation in eastern houses in a sketch by Eugene Wood, who also is in town.

Roger Montez, Los Angeles attorney who handles much of the film work, is in New York.

Stanley Whiteley of B.I.P. has returned to New York from Europe.

form on a small screen or through a peephole has been an accomplished fact for some years now. Broadcasting of elaborate outdoor events so that continuous images can be observed at distant points in satisfactorily large size and large size simultaneous with the action, judging from the problems which science must yet surmount, is years away.

"The reliable range of any television broadcasting station that now seems commercially practical is roughly one fourth the service distance reached by sound broadcasting stations or about one sixteenth the reliable service area covered. There is no known feasible way of sending television programs of the sort that are likely to hold public interest over existing telephone wires as it is now done in national radio broadcasting through affiliated network stations. It will be some years until we use wire transmission is put into effect, therefore, the area to be covered by television broadcasting any program from one studio is considerably reduced and the number of receiving sets reached, which is the vital economic factor for consideration by advertisers and others who produce and pay for the programs, is minimized."

25 Italian Musical Shorts On Transcontinental List

Twenty-five musical shorts made by the Cines-Pittaluga studios of Rome have been received for distribution here by Transcontinental Pictures, American agents for the Italian producing company. All of the shorts have music and singing, and some also have dancing. One group, consisting of "Dominic alla Fontana," "Viliones of Naples, Sorrento and Capri," and "Romagnola," No. 1, was shown recently at the RKO Cameo in conjunction with "Terra Madre," while "Cortegiani di Romagna," "Songs of Sicily" No. 2 and an "Italian Newsreel" compiled by Dr. Paul R. De Villa of Transcontinental were shown last week at the Cameo with "Fra Diavolo."

Diversified Program is Warmly Welcomed by Moviegoers

Chicago—Adoption of the "revue" idea in presenting short subjects was tried out with surprisingly favorable results at the past weekend by Frank Gordon, manager of the Wicker Park Theater. In a letter to Max Stahl, manager of the Educational branch office here, Gordon tells about this experience as follows:

"Just want to let you know that your first review program played Tuesday and Wednesday of this week went over big—holding them out in the rain Tuesday night and just as big Wednesday.

"Not only BIG at the box office, but BIG with the audience, who certainly enjoyed many of them. Many of them stopped and told me it was the best show they had seen since taking regular shorts, and it sure was gratifying, as the only thing I hear when new shorts are shown is: "Oh, boy! That time is it.'"

"Am sending copies of advertising material used and from now on Tuesday and Wednesday nights will be established your special 'Wicker Park Review' nights."

"Thanks for the idea and for the cooperation in putting it over, though to be frank, I think much of it when you sold it to me, in the face of being surrounded with five other houses all using double and triple features. If these reviews continue to go over like the first one, good-bye double features and good ridin'."}

Babe Ruth Completes Five Baseball Shorts

Babe Ruth has completed five baseball shorts for Universal and is on his way back to New York with his wife. This is Ruth's first experience with the moving picture camera. Ben Stoloff, who was detached from the Tom Mix unit to direct these shorts, was extremely pleased with Babe Ruth's screen personality and his aptitude for taking screen direction. The tentative names of these shorts are "Babe, Slide," "Babe, Slide," "Just Pals," "Perfect Control," "Over the Fence" and "Girls Will Be Boys.'"

Big Names and Novelties Bring Favorable Reactions

Adoption of several new ideas in the making of Paramount shorts this season has resulted in the company's one and two-reeler meeting with a more favorable reaction than any other short subject program ever produced by the company.

First of all Paramount signed for these comedies stars of the same magnitude as those engaged for work in full length features. Ethel Merman, Rudy Vallee, Burns and Allen, Smith and Dale, Irene Bordoni, Tom Howard, George K. Arthur and Karl Dane, Al St. John, Ford Sterling, Johnny Burke and a host of others who have made their marks in various fields of entertainment were employed for the short subjects and as much care taken in producing such pictures in the development of more pretentious vehicles.

Perhaps the most unique idea of the year resulted in the development of a series entitled "Screen Souvenirs," which takes audiences back into the dawn of the motion picture. Disclosing to them Theodore Roosevelt, Thomas Edison and other public figures as they looked and acted in the first years of this century, bringing back to memory great news events of the past and, making picture goers hark with delight over recreations with "appropriate" sound accompaniment of the first attempts at motion picture making.

Another stunt which bids fair to make the Talkartoon one of the outstanding Paramount comedy series was the elevation to stardom of Betty Boop, the dashing sultry Betty Boop, the dashing sultry Betty Boop, the dashing sultry Betty Boop. Betty has even broken into the fan magazines and been interviewed over the radio since receiving her new honor.

The Paramount Pictorial, although conceived last season, reached full development this year, providing ten minutes of unique entertainment off the beaten track. Music, dancing, travelogues, big game hunting, interviews with famous personalities—nothing is outside the scope of the Pictorial.

The fifth innovation was the introduction of well-known personalities as master of ceremonies for the monthly "Screen Songs" produced by Max Fleischer's studio for Paramount release. The original Mr. Shean of "Gallagher and Shean" fame, Cab Calloway of the Cotton Club and Rudy Vallee are among those who have appeared in these one reelers. So successful was Rudy in inducing audiences to follow the Bouncing Ball and sing with the characters on the screen that he has been signed to do a series of his favorite numbers for "Screen Songs."

Cines Short, "Belfries of Italy" Rome—Mario Serandrei, brilliant young Cines director, has made a 25-day motor tour of Italy, filming notable church towers for a short subject, "Belfries of Italy," which Cines Pittalunga will soon release.

30,000 Independent Cameramen

In the collection of material for his "Travelogues" series released by Columbia, Walter Fuller is in touch with about 30,000 independent cameramen located in all parts of the globe according to Jack Cole of Columbia. These men are cut loose to shoot not only the scenic beauty of a country, but anything that appears to lend itself to humor. The subjects are then cut into sequences and running comment is provided by J. P. Medbury.

New Comedy Production System Is Instituted by Hal Roach

By HAL ROACH
President, Hal Roach Studios

Our studios recently inaugurated what I consider the most forward in comedy construction and production since the advent of sound pictures. I refer to our alternating directorial system and our innovation of placing more big names in all pictures.

The alternating directorial system provides two directors for each of our five comedy units. While one director is engaged in the production of a picture which he has previously prepared, the second director is preparing, in conjunction with our staff writers and gag men, the story for the next production of that unit. This results in each story having the benefit of at least four weeks of preparation in advance of actual shooting schedule. This keeps all five units working with no time lost because of unfilled scripts. The directors are assigned to the five units comprised of Laurel and Hardy, Max and Dora, Su Pitts and Thelma Todd, Charley Chase, Our Gang and The Boys.

Our new policy of putting more big names in all comedies means that various comedy stars under contract will appear in the supporting casts of pictures with other stars in addition to starring in the units with which they are already identified. Laurel and Hardy, for instance, appear with Pitts and Todd in one of their pictures; Thelma Todd will appear with Charley Chase in his next. The effort will thus be to utilize our players so as to inject the utmost entertainment value into all comedy releases. It is only because of the large number of stars under contract to us that we are enabled to do this.

Right now, more than ever, comedies are being given greater credit for their true worth. I believe that exhibitors are beginning to appreciate that good comedies will build a show of greater entertainment value than it is possible to produce through double featuring weak features pictures. It is this fact that inspires us to redouble our efforts to produce the finest comedy product that it is possible to create.

M-G-M Sport Subjects Tied With Olympic Games

Special advertising and exploitation accessories are being prepared by M-G-M for the last five releases of its series of 12 Sport Champions. These five subjects all feature outstanding American athletes and world champions who are expected to play leading roles in the new Olympiad to be held at Los Angeles next Summer.

Through the special arrangement with the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States and the American Olympic Committee, these five releases of the Sport Champions Series are enacted by the outstanding athletes of the nation in their respective fields of sport. In view of the fact that these pictures feature so many headline names of interest to sports writers of newspapers and to newspaper readers, plans are now being laid to enable exhibitors to play up the showing of the subjects to the utmost advantage. The campaign will include special heralds, special press material designed to register in newspaper sport pages, posters, newspaper ad mats and various other accessories.

Gaumont Producing Series of Travelogues

London — Gaumont Company is making a novel series of travel subjects which take in all parts of the world—"Up and Down New York," "Calling on Cairo," "Heart of a Nation," "Top of the Old World," "Dutch Treat," "Boston Common and Proper" are the titles of the first six.

The one-reeler releases will be made on schedule.

Fall Hunting Season
Favors Spotlights

Photographically speaking, the 1931 Fall Hunting Season has been the best in memory and the various units comprising the Hit Parade and Spotlights Staff are taking full advantage of the ideal weather conditions, rushing every bit of equipment available into the fields to join hunters throughout the land in following game trails and shooting with camera and lens the various species of wild life.

Units are now operating in Northern New York and Canada, where deer and moose are now in season, and also throughout the Southland where hunters and dogs are searching out feathered game species in great numbers.

Jack Eaton is supervising production of the Grantland Rice Spotlight Series for the RKO Van Buren Corp.

Football Series Popular

Prints on Tiffany's "Football For The Fans" series, released by Educational Inc., have been booked absolutely solid throughout the country. One of the reasons for the enormous popularity of this series is the fact that there are practically 100 per cent prints per subject available on this series than are usually available on one-reel series.

Dialogue Slows Up Shorts
Says Lew Lipton of RKO Pathè

Hollywood—Action as it pertains to advertising, enhances the motion picture comedy on the screen is recovering its robust health after suffering for two years as the result of a severe and well placed kick from the box of sound-mad producers and directors, according to Lew Lipton, in charge of producing the RKO Pathè comedies.

"The attack which was considered, and probably intended to be fatal at the time, was only a minor injury, which extensive and lavish use of dialogue has practically cured," says Lipton.

"The past year era in motion picture comedy development was acclaimed a low fellow when an English accent and polite drawing room comedy made its appearance. Movement went overhead and only the ears got the breaks. If you were slightly deaf, your opportunity to laugh was practically nil. Today the lowly slapstick is again in demand of the situation and there seem more or less to hate it.

"It took several years to discern that people move and that humor is not entirely oral. During the past few months we have produced nearly a half a hundred two-reel comedies at RKO Pathè and in these we have carefully balanced the action and dialogue giving the action a share, the better break. We have taken a comedy situation which is funny to the eye and placed dialogue with that to catch and enhance it. You cannot successfully photograph a stage comedy for motion pictures. Both action comedy and dialogue comedy have been given a try and found lacking in the proper ingredients for modern audio-visuals. Dialogue comedy is slower for a group of people used to the old type of speedy comedy and of course no audience would accept only pantomime comedy in this day of sound."

London—Basil Dean reported on his return from a visit to America that American motion picture producers were seriously considering reducing their output, and he foresees in that fact unprecedented prospects for British films. "I foresee very soon," he said, "a trek back

M-G-M’s Shorts Lineup 63% Finished

57 Subjects in Various Series Already Completed

With the receipt in New York of five subjects which are now being edited and previewed in various studios, M-G-M’s short feature program for 1931-32 will be 63% complete. The Hal Roach Studios, with a total of 40 comedies to deliver to M-G-M, has completed 23. M-G-M’s own studios, on the schedule for 21 releases, has completed 19, while subjects due from other sources, including the James A. FitzPatrick Travel-Talks, Harry Lauder, and Flip-the-frog animated cartoons are complete to the extent of 15 out of 29.

Among Hal Roach’s five comedy units, ZaSu Pitts and Thelma Todd have just completed “On the Loose” and are now putting the finishing touches on “Seal Skins” under the direction of Gli Prati. The Roy Acuff fans are working on the release follow “The Kick Off.” “Readin’ and Writin’” has been completed by Our Gang, and their next story is now in work under the direction of Robert McGowan, “The Tobacco Kid,” starring Charley Chase, bears completion, while Laurel and Hardy have finished “Helpmates,” which follows “Any Old Port.”

James A. FitzPatrick this week completes two additional releases of his series of 13 Travel-Talks, “Greenland, the Melody Isle,” and “London, City of Tradition.”

At the M-G-M Studios, the series of 12 Sport Champions having been completed, the rest of the series of six Fisherman’s Paradise subjects are now being whipped into shape. M-G-M’s own fishing expedition into deep sea waters has resulted in the addition of several thousand feet of thrilling pictorial action between monsters of the deep and the champion fishermen of the west Coast. “Piscatorial Pleasures,” now nearing the printing stage, will be the fourth release of the series.

7,000 Drawings in a Fleischer Cartoon

In the production of a screen cartoon, 100 artists and technicians produce 15,000 hand-made drawings of which 7,000 are used and approximately seven to eight thousand discarded, according to Max Fleischer, originator of “The Magnet’s Dream” and “Talkartoon.”

“From eight to nine weeks are required to complete a cartoon and the whole thing is run off in the theater in less than seven minutes.” Fleischer declares.

“Although seven minutes may seem to be too short a space of time to warrant so much thought and labor,” the cartoonist continues, “it is really considered a long period in the amusement field. To convince yourself of this, assume that you are about to entertain an audience for seven minutes with an act and before your audience you are to be as entertaining and amusing as possible. Take out your watch and put on your act. Believe me you will have had the time of your life if you have plenty of time to hum and haw, blush, choke up and probably run out of ideas.”

SPORT SUBJECTS DOMINATE U’S FINISHED SUBJECTS

Out of 40 short subjects on the new program that have been completed so far by Universal, 17 are sports reels, covering football, baseball and basketball. The others include 16 two-reel comedies, five Shadow Detective series and two Strange As It Seems.

Three serials also have been finished by U.

In work now at Universal City are two two-reel comedies, one sports reel, one Shadow Detective, one Strange As It Seems, one Oswald cartoon and one serial.

RELEASE OF 15 SERIES STARTED BY T. P. EPICS

Talking Picture Epics has made a substantial beginning on its 1931-32 short subject program. Prints representing 15 series of novelty shorts are already in the 30 exchanges of the company. The subjects include:

Four Dr. Raymond L. Ditarms series, three Great American Cities, for Hal Roach. Comedies, two Character subjects of strange lands, two Lowell Thomas “Drifting Around” series, eight Intimate Interviews with stars, seven Wanderlust travel series, two Ghosts of Other Days series, one American Scenes, two “Let’s Go Places” series featuring Emma-Lindsay Squier, two Wild Life series, two Al Al comedies, one Dramalogue, one Big League Baseball series, two Bag of Tricks series, two Million Memories series.

T. P. E. reports that the double feature practice now in vogue has created an unusual demand for its program of short features, which are shown as added attractions with Hollywood product. This series includes the American Legion official pictures, 3 reels; “Monsters of the Deep,” 5 reels; Carveth Wells in “Hell Below Zero,” 3 reels; “Bali- nese Love,” 3 reels; “Around the World on the Graf Zepplin,” 5 reels; “Today and Yesterday,” 3 reels; “Seeing Australia,” 2 reels; “Bird Islands of Peru,” 2 reels; “Bottom of the World,” 4 reels; “The Break-Up,” 5 reels; Gifford Finch’s South Seas Expedition, 2 or 6 reels; “Wild Men of Kalihara,” 5 reels; “Lost Gods,” 5 reels, and “Across the World with Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson,” and “Hunting Tigers in India with Commander George M. Dyott,” served as serials.

The company is now recording its six-reel subject on Mexico featuring Emma-Lindsay Squier and John Bransby, which is being edited so that it can be served either as a six-reel feature or a serial of three sections.

In the Candid Camera series, one has been released, titled “Hollywood Beach Colony,” and five are to come. Five out of 12 Prof. Clippy’s travelogues also have been finished.

TWO SPECIALS ARE ADDED TO VITAPHONE SCHEDULE

Two shorts which are being released as specials were filmed during the past month by Vitaphone. “Season’s Greetings,” a holiday number, is declared to be one of the most novel shorts ever turned out at the Vitaphone studio. In its cast are several of Vitaphone’s headliners in a most unusual setting that is quite in keeping with the spirit that prevails during the Christmas and New Year’s holidays. The players include, Thelma White, Fanny Watson, Robert Rippy, Janet Reade, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Norworth, Ted Hasing, Billy Hayes Vitaphone’s Penrod, Ray Collins, Lucille Sears and Betty Shoal.

The second special, a two-reeler on which Vitaphone devoted more than usual effort, is “Washington the Man and the Capital” which is to be released early next year in conjunction with the Washington Bi-Centennial Celebration being sponsored by the Washington Chamber of Commerce. For the title role, Vitaphone engaged Clarence Williams, a Metropolitan Opera Company star. Whitehill’s striking resemblance to George Washington, together with his acknowledged ability as a masterful character actor and his life long interest in George Washington, has resulted, according to word from the studio, in a most impressive two reeler. Many of the scenes in this patriotic special were filmed in Washington, D.C., Vernon and Georgetown and the production is authentic in every detail.

In the Liberty Short Stories series of 12 one-reelers, three have been completed and two have been finished. Completed are “Stung,” “Ether Talks” and “Double Decoy,” while “Endurance” and “She Held Him” are in production. In Amedee J. Van Beuren’s production unit, five Tom and Jerry cartoons and series of half-reelers have been completed. They are “Wot a Night,” “Polish Pals,” “Trouble,” “A Jungle Jam” and “A Swiss-Tick.”

Parisian Newspapers Own Film Theaters

Paris—Paris newspapers are getting into the exhibition business. The “Journal” owns a newsreel theater; “L’Intransigeant” owns Les Miracles, one of the finest theaters in the city; and now “L’Ami du Peuple,” rival of “L’Intransigeant,” is going to build a theater on the Grands Boulevards on the site of a big department store which was burned down last year. It will be but 200 yards from the big film house that Halik’s is building.

49 Vitaphone Subjects
Completed in 1st Quarter

Keeping well ahead of its production schedule, Vitaphone has completed 49 short subjects in the first quarter of the current season. Of the entire season’s program of 104 shorts, 114 are scheduled to be produced in the Brooklyn studio. The other 50 are being handled on the coast, where Leon Schlesinger is producing two series of cartoons. “Looney Tunes” and “The Merrie Melodies,” for Warner Bros. There will be 13 releases to each series. Two series completed at the Burbank studio are the Betty Jones series, “How I Play Golf,” and “Adventures in Africa.” Although both were scheduled ready and released, they constitute part of the current year’s product.

To date Vitaphone has completed and shipped to the exchanges 39 shorts in the series, 40 on one-reelers and 10 two-reelers. The two-reelers are: S. Van Dine Detective Stories, “The Clyde Mystery,” “The Wall Street Mystery,” “The Week End Mystery.”

Broadway Brevities: Ruth Etting in “Words & Music.”

Dr. Rockwell in “Relativity & Religions,” “Girls Friends Comedies with Thelma White-Fanny Watson: “Big 13,” “Of All People.”

Pepper Pot Series: Edgar Bergen “The Eyes Have It” and “Free & Easy,” Marjorie Beebe, “Hot News Margie” and “Cigars-Cigarettes.”

VICARIOUS

DEFINITION: made or performed by Substitution

1 T WAS a queer brainstorm that stuck the movies with the advent of the talkies, the idea that a world full of people would be content with purely vicarious amusement—pictures of other folks doing things—just that and nothing more.

 Flesh-and-blood entertainment is always popularly participated in by the audience, which can and does make its reactions felt by the performer, and therefore is not wholly vicarious.

 The public does not like an exclusively mechanical program.

 Millions are clamoring for restoration of Living Music in the theatre.

 They have registered their wishes in every possible way.

 To continue deceiving them their desire may destroy their interest in the theatre.

56 Educational Shorts Completed

23 Two-Reel Comedies and 33 One-Reelers are Finished

Twenty-three two-reel comedies and thirty-three one-reelers under the Educational Series for the 1931-32 program have been completed. The total number of releases for the entire year will be 52 two-reel comedies and 82 single reellers.

In the Mermaid series, "Up Pops The Duke," "Once A Hero," and "Keep Laughing," are now a part of the Torchy series of six, "Torchy," "Torchy Passes The Buck," "Torchy Takes The Trick," and "Torchy's Night Cap," in all of which Ray Cook and Dorothy Dix play the leads, have been completed.

Al Christie has produced "The Freshman's Finish," "Girl Rush," and "For The Love of Fanny," in the Vanity Series. "Tamale Vendor," "Queenie of Hollywood," and "Moonlight and Cactus," the first and third featuring Tom Patricola, and the second with Virginia Brooks, Rita Flynn and Jeanne Farrin, are the three Ideal comedies that have been completed.

"Aladdin's Lamp," just finished, is the tenth in the series of twenty-six Terry-Toons. Curtis F. Nagel who, with Howard E. Brown, is producing the Romantic Journeys for Educational, recently completed recording on "The Lost Race," which is the eighth in the series. Mr. Brown recently finished "He-Man Hockey," an ice hockey subject which is the fourth in the Bill Cunningham Sports Reviews which they are also producing. The first three in the series are "No Holds Barred.

Thalians Kid Football

Animated by the unusual interest which has been created in motion picture theaters by such pictures as "The Spirit of Notre Dame" and the football shorts, the Thalians have produced for the Universal program their own football pictures. With 40 players, 100 players, Bryan Foy has produced a humorous take-off on football that is a fitting wind-up to the most football conscious season that moving pictures ever experienced. This is "Hollywood Halfbacks" and will be released as soon as time will permit the exchanges. It was finished last week. "Rugby Hollywood," the second Thalian short, will be released in January.

Exploitation Value of Series

BY SAM SAX
Head of Vitaphone Studio

Producing shorts in series gives the theater the opportunity of developing and building up definite following for each of the series, something that cannot be done when a different writer and a different star is responsible for each short.

Thus the theater can afford to spend more in advertising their shorts. The initial expense becomes justified if one considers that the cost is spread over 12 or 13 shorts in the series.

The fact that Vitaphone sales to date have increased fully 100 per cent, is due in a large measure to our production policy.

According to Homer Hoyt, Vitaphone's general sales manager, it is easier now to sell an exhibitor a series of 12 S. V. Dines, 13 Booth Tarkington juvenile stories and 13 "Ripley Believe It or Not" than it was to sell him three individual shorts. The exhibitor finds it simpler to set his supporting program when he buys in series. He knows that every four weeks he will have another Van Dine, etc., for his patrons, the series means something better than a feature picture and a grab-bag supporting program. The patron knows the type of entertainment he is going to see, and we at the Vitaphone studio: most likely believe we have been able to gauge, with some degree of accuracy, the patron's taste in shorts.

Vitaphone is Making Good Use Of Exploitation Possibilities

Vitaphone is making the most of the exploitation possibilities of its short subjects, which, owing to the fact that the entire program is being produced in series and features many popular big names, readily lend themselves to this phase of showmanship.

"Believe It or Not" Tie-ups

For the "Believe It or Not" series, Vitaphone affected a tie-up with the Hearst newspapers and other newspapers publishing Ripley's "Believe It or Not" cartoons. The newspapers publish a review of the short in the same paper with the cartoon and then daily thereafter on the same page, as long as the short plays, a box announcing that Ripley's "Believe It or Not" Vitaphone short is now at the so-and-so theater. In addition a tie-up has been effected with all bookstores selling Ripley's "Believe It or Not" books and the theaters.

Tarkington Series stunt

On the Booth Tarkington series, in addition to a bookstore tie-up, the theaters are following Vitaphone's suggestion for the first release "Snakes Alive." The theaters have placed a five-gallon bottle of water containing a horse's hair in front of the theater and in drugstore windows. Over the bottle is a printed sign reading, "Peers says, If you leave a hair from a horse's tail in a bottle of water for two weeks it will turn into a snake." Be Sure to See 'Snakes Alive,' a Booth Tarkington Juvenile picture and see what happens.

S. V. Van Dine Contest

Getting a local newspaper to print a synopsis of the current S. V. Van Dine picture and then having the readers send in their solution to the mystery, is one of the exploitation stunts being used in conjunction with this series of two-reelers. For the 25 best solutions, two tickets for the show are awarded.

One-Sheets On Series

Elaborate one-sheets for each of the separate series are being supplied to exhibitors by Vitaphone in addition to the daily tie-ups being used for the shorts in the same series, with individual posters for each of the "Big Star" comedies. A comprehensive plan which the name of each new short is given the exhibitors, thus informing the patrons, that the short on the program is another of a series. Black and white stills for lobby display are available for each short.

"Travel Talks" Booklets

Vitaphone is also distributing to the theaters an eight-page booklet dealing with E. M. Newman and his "Travel Talks." In this booklet, given a brief biography of the Travel Talker, his accomplishments, what he means to the theater and exploitation suggestions for cashing in on the "Travel Talks." Booklets.

Special Book in Colors

Another nest exploitation item is a 14-page booklet, printed in two colors, listing the various series being produced by Vitaphone together with a brief background description of the star of each series, with reviews of shorts already released. This booklet entitled, "Vitaphone Gives You the Edge," furnishes the exhibitor with a quick picture of what he is offered.

Another instance of billing a "name short over a feature."
HOLLYWOOD FLASHES

By RALPH WILE

MACK SENNETT has signed John A. DeWeese, veteran Be- ston stage player, for his new comedy, "Pottsville Palooka," according to announce by Walter Jinger, casting director.

William Bakewell, who appeared in Fox's "White Potatoe," has been assigned by that company. Sol Wurtzel has picked him for a featured ju- ror role in a picture not yet titled.

Leo Forstein, musical director at Warner-First National studios, re- seated "Pagan Moon," an M. Wit- nark & Sons musical number, as the Damon Tiernan role, "Safe Hell," the new Dorothy Mackall picture.

With Constance Bennett back on the RKO lot following her marriage, "Lady With A Past" is nearing completion. Zdena Sion has the task of finding a romance role in the picture, "The Gay Hardt," which also num- bers among its principals, Bert Sahr and J. Kerrigan who will direct.

"Human Targets," announced as Buzz Barton's second starring ve- hicle for Big 4, replaces "Hard Pan Palm," Barton is on a hunting trip in the California mountains and will return shortly to start this ac- tion film.

Ralph Morgan has been given an impor- tant role in Fox's "Disorderly Conduct," which is scheduled for immediate production. Other players include Spencer Tracy, Ralph Bellamy and Sally Richers, under the direction of John Compton.

Columbia has added Ethel Wales and William V. Mong to "Makers of Men," formerly called "Yellowfin," in which Jack Holt and Richard Crom- well are teamed.

Warner Bros. has assigned Arthur Caesar and Houston Branch to direct "Mendel," for Joe Smith and Charlie Dale, with Myron Selby directing. Louise Closser Dale and Bert Davis have been added to George Arliss' supporting cast in "The Man Who Played God."... William Powell's "High Pressure" will be finished this week.

Another 5 & 10 Find!

Speaking of the song writer who found "a million dollar hit" in "5 & 10," Hol Roach is re- ported considering a long-term contract for Dorothy Feinburg, author of "Sister Mary Louise." It is said to have been discovered by Phyllis Haver in a 5 & 10.

SHORTS FROM EASTERN STUDIOS

By HARRY N. BLAIR

JARRY KENT, who returned Thursday from his trip to the Coast, states that Paramount shorts will continue to be the same, as far as he knows. The quality of the one and two reel product and their technical basis on which they can be made has, besides the added factor of available Broadway talent, are all points in favor of the New York studio.

Much speculation about the new studio, N. J., which RCA is said to be backing. If present plans go through, conditions in the East will take a decided spurt after the studio starts getting.

Vitaphone's next S. S. Van Dyke murder mystery will have a studio production as one of the principal characters. Of course, he gets bumped off in the end.

Complete cast of "Wayward," now in production at the Paramount studio, is as follows: Nancy Carroll, Richard Arlen, Pauline Frederick, Dorothy Stickney, Burke Clarke, Margalo Gillmore, Sidney Easton and Alice Hegeman. Howard Estabrook is directing, with Wm. Steiner, Jr., in charge of camera work and C. V. Tuthill monitor man.

J. Charles Alan, formerly an assistant director at the Warner studio, is on the technical staff of the "Hauliet" production which Norman Bel Geddes is presenting here.

An unconfirmed rumor has it that Ernst Lubitsch will shortly return East to begin preparations for a picture at Paramount's New York studios. His proposed "Lieutenant" here last spring at which time he expressed himself as being well pleased with working con- ditions in the East.

Cigarette manufacturers anxious to open up a new market are urged to see the new Robert Ripley short which reveals among other unbelievably accurate characteristics a cat that smokes cigarettes. The cat's name is Carmenita and she is owned by Serge de Toulouf, proprietor of the "Dog Kennel," an unusual Russian cafe. Her owner states that she smokes three cigarettes daily and prefers Luckies.

"Footlights," one of the most elabor- ated two-reel musical shorts ever produced at the Warner Vitaphone studio, has just been released. Sam Sax says it's better than "Angel Cake," which, up to now, has held the palm. Barbara Newberry, the Giersdorf sisters and Russ Brown are among those featured.

Congratulations:

Reviews of The New Short Subjects

Marjorie Beebe in "Hot News Margie"
Vitaphone 5903
7 mins.
Good Comedy
Marjorie Beebe takes a lot of wall-o-lop in this story about a newspaper comic strip. As a female reporter assigned to get an intimate story on football star, Marjorie manages to slip away unnoticed, but the story she maps out is quite a fascinating one. It is slightly square, but it's amusingly funny. The story is one of those that could have been made into a feature, but it's better left as it is. Beebe is very good, and the rest of the cast is equally good.

"Kiddie Genius"
(No. 1)
Picture Classics 8½ mins.
Good Novelty
Five young prodigies, each unusually proficient in his or her chosen form of entertainment, make this one of the more interesting shorts of the year. The stars include Colleen Moore, a singing, dancing girl, who is really a star in her own right. The other stars include a boy who can play the violin, a girl who can play the piano, a girl who can sing, and a boy who can recite poetry. The shorts are very amusing and the kids are all very talented.

"Out West Where the North Begins"
(Musical Poem No. 1)
Picture Classics 9 mins.
Beautiful
Magnificent views of the Canadian Rockies are shown in this musical poem. The music is lovely and the scenery is breathtaking. The shorts is well worth seeing for its musical beauty and its stunning views.

"Bless the Ladies"
with Slim Summerville
Universal 17 mins.
Laugha Galore
In this comedy, Slim Summerville and his partner, Eddie Gribbon, escape from the police and go to the beach for a swim. There they encounter a pompous individual who becomes the object of their attention. In the end, their victory only leads to plenty of unhappiness. Meanwhile, the boys pile up laughs with their unusual antics and funny mugging. It's a laughable reel.

Benny Rubin in "Guests Wanted"
RKO Pathe 18 mins.
Plenty Laughs
Benny Rubin, as a vaudeville performer, inherits an hotel out in California, and is at his best in this one. So he takes his band and actors along to help them. They fill the posts of bell boys, chefs, waiters, etc., resulting in some good laughs. There is a lot of action as the various hands pull their lines in the performance of their duties. Benny advertises that they are a special band, and in order to get the patronage, the boys perform a number of tricks and stunts. The guests sure in, and start to tear the hotel down searching for the boys. A riot is declared, and with plenty of holies, and Benny Rubin gets over laughs in bunches.

"Canti di Romagna"
Transcontinental Pictures 7 mins.
Fine Italian Singing
Another good round of vocal ensemble work from the Cines Pittalunga studios. The songs are tuneful and they are presented with a touch of humor by a large chorus of men and women. Two of the men, who are the two leads, have especially good voices, and the set in which the singing takes place is a restful moonlight scene.

Mr. Lauder in "Nanny"
M-G-M 8 mins.
Good Entertainment
Harry Lauder again is seen on a stage appearing before a typical audience that laughs at every spoken line. The song in this picture is Lauder's famous "Nanny" song and breaks the serious tone of the film with a delightful Scotch humorous touch.

"Bosko's Fox Hunt"
Vitaphone Fair Cartoon 6 mins.
A Looney Tune that follows the familiar routine but is mildly entertaining. Bosko and his gang go fox hunting, but there is a lot of chasing through the woods, across ponds, around trees, etc., with the fox coming out best.

"Mickey Mouse"
in your marquee lights means heavier returns at your box office. Astute managers have proven this.

"Canti di Romagna"
Transcontinental Pictures 6 mins.
Good Singing Number
An Italian short from the Cines Pittalunga studios of Rome. It is a charming pastoral setting, with a lovely setting and the singing of a man and a woman who are well known for their singing talents. The music is very pleasant and the film is well worth seeing.

Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy in "Helpmates"
M-G-M
20 mins.
Slapstick Riot
While Hardy's wife is away he stages a wild party at his house, breaking into her hotel and allowing the rooms to be ravaged in terrible condition. Hardy receives a wire that his wife is returning so he proceeds to help fix up the place. Laurel is willing, but he is through the house looking for the woman. Plenty of slapstick stuff will make anyone and everyone laugh. The comedians work hard and get a laugh as they put over the laughs. Hardy takes some hard knocks and is continually being soaked with water from different sources. It's one long laugh.

Our Gang in "Peeking in Pekin"
with Slim Summerville
Universal 20½ mins.
A Rib Tickler
Director Harry Edwards has provided this comedy of the Marrying in China with a production back ground more lively than the average release. The story concerns a young couple, with his father, Sergeant Eddie Gribbon, who are continually quarreling over their making proclivities. A Chinese princess is about to be married. Slim not only makes love to all the bridesmaids, but in the end steals the bride. There are some very funny situations, which, coupled with clever dialogue, make this worthwhile short for any program.

"Strange As It Seems"
(No. 15)
Universal 9 mins.
Fine Curiosities
The first subject in this John H. Novotny series is devoted to the methods employed by miniature ship builder in placing their models in a necked bottles. They then sink them in the circulation of blood in the web of a frog's foot, complete the reel.

"Cowboy Cabaret"
RKO Pathe 7 mins.
Live Art Cartoon
An Aesop Fable, proving a good burlesque on a frontier day out West. The hero finds himself in a saloon where various entertainers sing the old ballads, murder the punch lines and make tears to tears or to throwing haw glasses. The finale has the true outlaws coming onto the stage. The gang is too smart for him. Good animation, with lots of tricky and good work.

Good Stuff
With a cast of 39 well-known layers headed by Johnny Harron, his comedy should click everywhere. While waiting for a modern to cook, Johnny becomes disgusted with the cail fire department, so he decides to form a team of actors and challenge the firemen. The night before the game, the firemen are to answer a score of false alarms sent by Betty Compson, who anxious to have her actor friends in. Scenes of the game are fine and funny. In the cast are Priscilla Lane, Mary Brian, Marjorie White, Ryan Washburn, Johnny Mack Brown, and Franklin Pangborn, his picture should prove box office stuff.

Fast Comedy
A Gay Girls comedy, featuring the MacCloy, Marion Shilling and erudite Short. Harry Tyler is a real world who strings one of the girls along. Later one of them gets a job as professional correspondent to stage an act in a hotel room to get his divorce, and then the fun starts when the wife appears. A lot of funny business at a drunk in another room, and some comedy gags. It is a smartly mated one. It is well gaged, nicely seeded, and has the stuff the crowds have in these comedy shorts.

"Through the Ages"
RKO Pathe

Entertaining
A very interesting Vagabond Adventure, showing a trip through Mexico in the neighborhood of the town of Colima Opens with a bull fight, then on through the town with unique shots of interesting sights. The life and customs of the natives are shown, living as primitives as they did centuries ago. The best sequence is the finale, showing the ruins of the burial grounds of the ancient Toltecs, who were conducted by the Aztecs. These mounds are unearthed, and some quaint and curious pieces of pottery uncovered, with strange idols and toys that reveal a lot about the civilization of this long-past Mediterranean. Elmer Clifton delivers an interesting narration throughout the various scenes.

Good Kid Stuff
In this release, the children spend their first day at school. Most of the kiddies are willing to learn and pay attention, but one lad, who doesn't want to be president but wants to be a motor man, defies his parents and his teacher and tries to go it alone. In school he plays many pranks and tricks so that the teacher will send him home. Alone by himself, the child tries to fish but the voice of conscience continually urges him to return to the classroom, which he does. Action is fair and comedy, in some parts, funny. Kids will like this one and grown-ups will appreciate the cleverness of the leading juvenile players.

Very Good
After some waterfront scenes, showing William Powell and Carole Lombard departing on their honeymoon voyage to Honolulu, the return of Bebe Daniels, Dorothy Mackaill, Warner Baxter and others from the same island resort, and the arrival of Alice Joyce, Florence Vidor and others, Ralph Staub moves his snapshot camera to the banquet hall of a big party given in honor of Fanchon and Marco. With Benny Rubin as a sort of master of ceremonies, Individual appearances are made by Fanchon, Marco, Governor James Rolph, Jr., Myrna Loy, George Sidney, Groucho Marx, Ed Wynn, and others. Benny and his dog are shown with their many friends, and the Meglin Kiddies, who do some numbers. A very good reel of its kind.

"Warner-First National Select French Players"
By J. H. MICHET

London—Formation of the much discussed (but newly named) Film Industries Co-operative Society, Ltd., sponsored by Wilf Evans, Major Gale and Sam Borney, aroused such determined opposition from British producers and distributors and from American distributors in the United Kingdom, that its existence was foredoomed. The Kinematograph Renters Society came out solidly against the co-operative scheme, and doing so it is obvious that it would not deal with any booking combine.

John Maxwell, chief of British National Pictures, asserted that the scheme of the F.I.C.O.S. was a big political offensive to gain control of the British film industry, to dictate what firms shall continue to exist and what profits they shall receive, if any.

Emelka-Osso Joint Product
Berlin—Emelka and the French Osso company are to make two productions jointly, at the Gesellstagst studios near Munich, in both French and German. They will be directed by Augusto Genina and Carmine Gallone.

Hugon Forms New Company
Paris—Andre Hugon, motion picture director, and Eura Algay, Romanian banker, are forming a company, capitalized at $400,000, for the exploitation of films. Their headquarters will be in Paris.

46 M-G-M Features for Australia
Sydney—M-G-M will release 46 features in Australia this season, it was announced by Managing Director N. Bernard Freeman at the recent sales convention.

Vandal & Delac-dVenloo Agreement
Paris—to reduce expenses and simplify distribution problems, Vandal & Delac are reported to have reached an agreement with P. J. deVenloo by the terms of which Vandal & Delac will suspend their distribution activities, handing over their business over to deVenloo. Production schedules of both companies, it is reported, will be carried out jointly.

Soviet Slows Up
Moscow—There has been a marked decline in Soviet motion picture production during the past year. Only 63 features were made and 77 educational films. Production costs, given at 1,500,000 roubles, is one of the reasons for the decline. It is stated that 50 per cent of the persons engaged in the Russian film industry have been discharged.
"THE DECEIVER"  with Ian Keith, Lloyd Hughes, Dorothy Stahns, Natalie Moorhead  Columbia  67 mins.

GOOD BACKSTAGE MURDER MYSTERY WITH CLEVERLY DESIGNED SUSPENSE, WELL ACTED BY A FINE CAST.

Some good old murder mystery entertainment is to be found in this backstage drama. It has a neatly conceived plot, calculated to conceal the identity of the murderer until the very last moment. The ending of a very capable cast, ably directed by Louis King, adds to the value of the story. Also, there is plenty of action. The yarn revolves around a prominent actor, played by Ian Keith, who combines his Lothario activities with those of the weak females who write him love letters. On the night that he is to murder 10 grand from a society woman, he falls for the weak woman, at the same time digging a third girl with whom he has had an affair, the actor is found dead in his dressing room. The mystery is half a dozen, but the real killer is finally detected by a clever trick.

Cast: Lloyd Hughes, Dorothy Stahns, Ian Keith, Natalie Moorhead, George Byron, Rockliffe, Greta Gynt, Martha Mansfield, Dollis Kay, Dewitt Jennings, Angela, Harvey Clark, Sidney Fracy, Hal Halli, Coln Campbell, Nick Cartwright.

Director, Louis King; Authors, Bella Maclaren, David Loewe; Editor, Jack Cunningham; Dialogue, Jo Owen; Photography, Gene Havlick; Camera-man, Joseph Walker; Recording, Edward Ferguson.

Direction, fine. Photography, fine.

"SEAGHOST"  with Laura La Plante, Alan Hale Peerless  73 mins.

WILD MELODRAMAS WITH SEA ATMOSPHERE HAS PLENTY OF COLOR BUT LITTLE PLAUSSIBILITY.

The best part of this one is the cast, which is a strong one. The ship story is quite well told.

Alan Hale is the husky captain hired to get a strongbox from a liner sunk by a submarine. He and his men sail for the German submarine captain who sunk the liner. Then develops a lot of intrigue and fighting between the captain, his mate, the German captain and the lawyer. All pretty mixed up and confused, and finally winding up into an undeclared war between Hale and La Plante.

There is a tricky lawyer in back of the expedition, trying to grab off the fortune for himself. One of the divers turns out to be the German submarine captain who sunk the liner. Then develops a lot of intrigue and fighting between the captain, his mate, the German captain and the lawyer. All pretty mixed up and confused, and finally winding up into an undeclared war between Hale and La Plante. Hale and I fact the cast are ahead of the material.

Cast: Laura La Plante, Alan Hale, Claude Allister, Clarence Wilson, Peter Erskelen.

Director, David Loewe; Editor, Gene Havlick; Adaptors, William Nigh, Jo Von Rennebo; Dialogue, same; Editor, Thomas Pershing; Camera-man, Sidney Hee; Recording Engineer, E. L. Topf.

"SUICIDE FLEET"  with Bill Boyd, Robert Armstrong, James Gleason, Ginger Rogers RKO Pathe  80 mins.

FULL COMBINATION OF COMEDY AND NAVAL ACTION WITH SPECTACULAR STUFF BUILDING THRILLS AND SUSPENSE.

Done with the full cooperation of the U. S. Navy, which put every fac- tor in play to give the public its money's worth. Wellington Rogell, this ranks as one of the best Navy spectacles ever made. The action shots of the destroyed fleet and the battleships themselves are powerful kick, as impressive as if a newswoman cameraman had caught the actual engagements during a sea battle. The story is adroitly worked into a theme where Bill Boyd, in charge, is sent out on a suicide mission; all to save the U. S. navy flotilla steaming up to top speed for a grand finish. Gleason and Armstrong furnish plenty of comedy relief, with Ginger Rogers the sentimental lure.

Director, Albert Rogell; Author, Com- missioner, Albert Rogell; Editor, F. Lipton; Dialogue, F. McCullough; Engineer, J. E. Evans; Sea Polite; Sound Recorder, D. A. Cutler.

Direction, showmanship. Photography, excellent.

"A DANGEROUS AFFAIR"  with Jack Holt and Ralph Graves Columbia  76 mins.

VERY AMUSING MELODRAMATIC COMEDY OF HANDBAR MILITARY MYSTERIES WITH HOLY AND GRAVES IN EFFECTIVE TEAMWORK.

In a revival of the spooky murder melodrama that was the rage a few years ago, Jack Holt and Ralph Graves turn in a piece of teamwork that is satisfying entertainment in itself, not counting the amusement contained in the story. Holt is a police lieutenant and Graves is a newspaper reporter who is building him up with headline stories. Nevertheless they are all ways scrapping good-naturedly. Some big stuff comes their way when a clan of fighting heels gather in to be entertained in a hot spot, and they read the will of an eccentric relative. The rest, except for variation in plot, is pretty much along familiar lines; its a variation of the setting, nearly all the way, and at the finish, Graves gets the girl who inherited all the dough.

Director, Edward J. Sedgwick; Author, Frederick, R. D.; Editor, Melvin; Camera-man, Joseph Walker; Recording Engineer, no credit.

Direction, lively. Photography, fine.

ENTERTAINING COMEDY IN SEMI-COLLEGE SETTING WITH JOE E. BROWN ROUSING PLENTY LAUGHS IN SAP ROLE.

Based on the successful stage play, "The Poor Nut," this comedy presents Joe E. Brown in a some what different role for him. As a sappy college student with an in- fallibility complex and a crazy for botany, he is required to give a characterization that is quite re- strained in comparison to his usual activities, which he nevertheless manages to handle pretty well, a regular flow of laughs. Having been given to in that he is a big frat and track man at the college, Joe is egged into taking part in the field meet. After some mishaps, he brings home the winner, overthrows his inferiority complex, and walks off with the girl who was instrumental in his trans- formation. In addition to the comedy, there is a love story of two romantic situations. The heroine role is very nicely played by Ruth Hall.

BOY REPORTER MAKES GOOD AGAIN IN ACTION STORY CRITICALLY INTERGUE MIX WITH COMEDY TOUCHES.

One of the good old standbys a vived, with the dumb but willing o reporter going out and uncovering the criminal after the editor fired him, saving the girl's faith from political defeat, and winning the girl. Regis Toomey is the reporter, and Sue Carol the girl. The is another girl who is squealing the big political boss after he given her the air, so they kid her and kill the district attorney. He cannot tell what he has learned.

Then Toomey takes the girl to yacht, gets her story, fights his way back with the murderer and deliver her to the editor, who is holding the presses, knowing that the lad will come through with the story even though the dead-line has passed. The key of the story is a rum that makes newspaper man laugh, but the crowd will probably go for it. And it does.

Joa CRAWFORD in "POSSESSIBLE" with Clark Gable...

SURE-FIRE AUDIENCE W.O.W. OAN CRAWFORD AT HER BEST IN DRAMATIC ADULT STORY WITH HARRIS CLARK GABLE.

Directed for the box-office. Joa CRAWFORD has never done better work than in this picture. And with Clark Gable playing the lead, it is an ideal story for the film actress.

This film is a small-town girl with ambitions. The story is about a young lawyer with a good sense of justice. He loves her, but won't marry her. When she realizes that she stands in the way of his being elected governor, she breaks with him under the pretense of marrying his girlhood sweetheart.

At a political rally at which he speaks, she has framed a demonstration against him, and the girl practically reveals the fact that Gable has been keeping his wife. Action brings about a reconciliation.

This scene which sounds highly implausible, has a convincing capacity for the viewers. The story is interesting and the roles are effectively enacted.

Director, Clarence Brown; Author, Edgar L. Knoblock; Adapted from the novel by H. Berliet; Dialogue by, A. G. A. Dunlap; Director, Bertram van Meller; Editor, Byron Robinson; Cameraaman, Julian W. Hunter; Recorder, George J. Turner.

Direction, good; Photography, fine.

"IN LINE OF DUTY" with Sue Carol and Noah Beery.

L.A. M.A. OF NORTHWEST MOUNTED POLICE WITH GOOD CAST THAT SHOULD PLEASE THE AUDIENCE.

Although this melodrama of the Canadian wilds moves along in an all American fashion, the actor plays several situations where the suspense holds attention. Action and dialogue are somewhat stilted.

Love sequences are handled in fair manner and will likely please the ladies in popular priced houses. The story concerns James Murray, a Northwest Mounted Policeman, who is detailed to "get his man". The fugitive, Noah Beery, is wanted for murder. While in Beery's territory, Murray discovers that Beery is nursed to health by Sue Carol, Beery's daughter. The young couple fall in love and eventually Murray is faced with the problem of either helping Beery and losing Sue, or being a traitor to his commission. It all comes out well in the Swedish tongue and cast does its best with the fair story.

Cast: Sue Carol, Noah Beery, Francis McDonald, James Murray, Ralph Clanton, Frank Seder, Henry Hall.

"SHELL OF THE SLUMS"

Action Pictures

STORY OF REGENERATION MAKES GOOD FAMILY PICTURE AND CARRIES OVER MORAL WITH LOVE INTEREST AND ACTION.

This is a sort of variation on the old "Miracle Man" plot, with the hero coming out of jail seeking revenge and saving a girl from being used but saved from himself by a girl's love and the kindly ministrations of the people around him. Action is well directed for the neighborhood, and the family drama makes its wholesome moral told with plenty of action and a pleasing love interest. William Collier, Jr., as the ex-jailbird, is out to get the fellow who framed him. He meets up with the former sweetheart of the other, by delivering him to the police. Blanche Mehaffey, the girl, gets herself a job, as does her suitor to begin. The hero is helping an old man running a gospel mission and flop house for the down-and-outs. Then comes the business about the baptism and action and some old hoke sentiment that touches for the grand finale. A large number for uncertain audiences.

Director, Frank Strayer; Author, W. Scott Donald; Adapted by, Daniel G. Lenz; Dialogue, same; Editor, Byron Robinson; Cameraaman, Jules Dassin; Recorder, Engineering, James Stanley.

Direction, satisfactory; Photography, fair.

PLEASING SWEDISH PRODUCTION WITH TUNEFUL MELODIES, PRETTY GIRLS AND COMEDY TOUCHES GETS OVER.

Here is one that the Swedish audience will go for in a big way. It has a sort of musical comedy plot with a revue atmosphere, and is bright and cheerful throughout the footage. The plot is inconsequential, starting with a factor, his wife and daughter, visiting Stockholm to see the sites of the capital. After that the doings are centered around the musical comedy troup, who jump from one plot to another, and manage to keep the entertainment keyed up with a variety of scenes, principally at a seaside resort. Here are seen a high bishop, a bunch of dancing girls, frolicking around and keeping the footage bright and alive. Even at the finishing time, very tuneful numbers are interjected and an occasional song. The cast includes many well known favorites of the Swedish stage. Fine scenic shots hold a lot in the outdoor scenes.

ALL-SPANISH PRODUCTION OF OLD CALIFORNIA IS AMAZING IN ACTION AND STORY TREATMENT.

This one may prove okay for un-critical South American audiences, but there are plenty of other foreign films being shown in this country. It rates a poor produce-tion, as it is apparently made entirely directed, with a weak story loosely put together, and indifferent acting. The action takes place in the days of the old Spanish governors back in Southern California. The tyrannical governor finds himself in the midst of a rebellion, and is out to get one of the ringleaders. There is a senorita who is trying to save her father from the Governor's wrath, and being the standard leader of the rebellion. He saves her life in a runaway, and she is so surprised that she is supposed to turn over to the Governor. Then love folows, all sorts of intrigue, and in the end of action the story is frequently for some community singing. Too loose to rate serious attention.

"SURRENDER"

with Warner Baxter, Leila Hyams.

DULL AND DRA G FY FILM SET IN PRISON CAMP ATMOSPHERE LACKS ANY TRIVIAL NO PARTICULAR POINT.

This is an adaptation of a French play, "Axelle," which was written in 1927, by the author of "Cache-cache," an old political cartoon, telling how superior war was in the French military. The great portion of the atmosphere is in a German prison camp, centered around a wireless operator who is held on charges of being a spy, and several comrades imprisoned with him. He is detailed to a nearby castle to do work, where he falls in love with the girl of the castle, engaged to the old colonel's son. Then gradually she falls in love with the young man, and the pair roam around, wondering what can be done about it, seeing that she is betrothed to one of her countrymen, and likewise. The story does hold to the ending.

Greatly uncertain is the plot and the markings, confounding the audience, and the cast is satisfactory, with the exception of the hero.

Direction, handy-handed by material. Photography, fair.

"SICROCO" (La Rose Du Soul)

ALL-ARABIAN FILM WITH NATIVE CAST AND DIALOGUE PROVIDES COLORFUL NOVELTY FOR ARABIC AND FRENCH AUDIENCES.

This is a production made in Morocco by a French company with all local materials, with actors from their native language throughout.

French titles are included, so that the picture can thus an appeal not only for the Arabic and Assyrian colonies in the United States, but also for French audiences. The film makes no pretensions to elaborate production, but is nevertheless an interesting offering in that it is an adaptation of the novel of the same title which was written by a young author.

Filmed in the last time in any film presenting the Arabian desert, the sheiks and the customs of the Moroccans as they actually are, the film shows many with a young outlaw, and the son of the old sheik, who was a sheik. The hero is finally his adopted but then it escapes the boy of the hero.

The Arabian hero is a charming, and the hero has real histrionic talent.

THEATER EQUIPMENT

HIGH INTENSITY SWITCH IMPROVES CARBON USE

Chicago — A special 200-ampere knife switch by W. E. mounted in a steel box of approved construction and arranged for two-step control, permitting operator to warm up carbons in the first position of the switch, which is 50 amperes, and then to throw it in second position for full load thereby, eliminating excessive pitting and blowing out of the carbon crater, is being marketed by the Chicago Cinema Co.

The switch box is equipped with a tool shelf for holding pliers, screw drivers, etc., and has switch holes for mounting timer switches that may be wired for controlling auxiliary switches, the company declares.

EXHIBITS ALLOWED 10 YEARS TO PAY FOR EQUIPMENT

Sydney—State Government of N. S. W. has put through a law that payments of debentures for W. E. equipment will be spread over 10 years instead of three as before. Although this will hurt W. E.'s annual income, there is no real loss as the whole of the money must be paid in 10 years plus interest.

The N. S. W. Motion Picture Exhibitors' Association is also planning further legislation to secure relief from film hire. An interest reduction act, which has been passed, will also give exhibitors relief where effected by mortgages, hire purchase agreements, or demands to meet dividends on preference shares.

ULTRAPHONE ADDS 3 ENGINEERS

Minneapolis—Before leaving for Chicago to assume charge of the company's new branch, Ted Karatz, general manager of Ultraphone Sound System, announced the appointment of three additional engineers of the company's staff. They are: Stanley Hughes, Russell O'Toole and Henry Koldo. Karatz stated that heavy increase in demand for Ultraphone equipment necessitated the addition of the new engineers.

IMPROVING SCREEN ILLUMINATION

Good projection depends largely on the type of projection screen in use and the condition of same. We find many projection screens insufficiently illuminated. It must be remembered that as the size of the picture is increased the amount of light necessary to maintain its brilliancy per unit of area increases rapidly. The projected picture is often increased in size without taking into consideration that more illumination will be required.

Many theaters are equipped with low intensity lamps, small motor generators and insufficient wires to permit using current at the projector arc; this preventing proper screen illumination.

A poorly illuminated projected picture will cause eye strain to the average patron. Many people avoid the motion picture theater because of eye strain. The only way to improve this situation is to install the proper equipment, so that the screen illumination may be increased.—R. H. McCullough, Fox West Coast Theaters.

LINEN CO. LAUNCHES NOVEL GIVEAWAY PLAN

A new linen giveaway plan for theaters that is said to be meeting with great success as a patronage builder has been launched by the Linen Co. of New York.

The plan, which covers a period of 24 weeks, consists of a seven-piece dining room set, six-piece bedroom set, three-piece vanity set, two half pillow cases, four fancy guest show towels and a five-piece bridge set. All the pieces, it is said, are made of 100 per cent linen pure linen trimmed in cluny lace, making one complete ensemble matching in color and design.

Although the company has only been in operation a month, over 50 houses, in which are included RKO, Consolidated, Cocalis-Springer, Randforce and many independents, have contracted for the plan; it is stated.

KLEIGL SIDEWALK PROJECTOR

For projecting announcements and other messages upon the sidewalk, from a show window, lobby of the theater, or other location within the building line, a projector consisting essentially of a small stereopticon, furnished complete with lens, dia-screw-base lamp socket and eight feet of lamp cord with attachment plug, is being offered by Kleigl Bros., Universal Electric Stage Machine Co., of New York. It accommodates a 100-watt G-25 lamp and uses slides 2½ inches in diameter with stenciled lettering or stenciled design.

IMPROVEMENTS, PRICE CUTS ANNOUNCED BY RACON ELEC.

Radical improvements in its horn units, giving more powerful and better response as well as increasing efficiency and attaining what is said to be the nearest thing to the human voice yet produced, are announced by the Racoon Electric Co. of New York, manufacturers of unit horns and sound equipment.

A reduction in prices on the complete line has also been made.

CLEVELAND—Going Heavy on Premiums

Cleveland—L. T. Cook, distributor of Manufacturers Sales Ass'n of Alliance and Limoges China Co. of Sebring, makers of theater premium china, states that he is now serving 20 theaters here with dinnerware sets for free distribution.

Baltimore N.T.S. Branch Moves

Baltimore—Local branch of National Theater Supply Co., N. C. Haefele, manager, has been moved from the former location on Gay St. to a new showroom and office at 417 St. Paul St.

KLIEGL-TOBIS INSTALLATIONS

Berlin—As of Oct. 1, there were 508 Kliegl-Tobis sound equipment apparatus installed in 45 German cities with more than 100,000 inhabitants. Berlin is in the lead with 240 sets; Hamburg next with 52 sets; Munich third with 32 sets.

Thanksgiving Cheer for the B. O.

Universal really had something to be thankful for last week. It was a flock of telegrams on "Frankenstein" business. Fred S. Meyer of Milwaukee wired that the first week broke every box-office record at the Alhambra and the second week was starting out even bigger. Niedt's of Cleveland said it opened to the best business in the history of the Hippodrome. Nancy Goff of Detroit reported that a riot squad had to be called after the house had filled in 45 minutes and an even bigger crowd was still waiting outside. Duke Hickey of the Boston Keith said it beat all opening and daily records there. J. Matt Skrezy of Omaha wired that the Orpheum had its longest lines in more than a year. Other wires were in similar vein.

Pat O'Brien and Mae Clarke have been signed by Columbia for "Flinch Edition."

Cast of "Old Man Minick," Edna Ferber story, has been completed by Warners. Sale heads the list, supported by Louis Wilson, Dierk Moore, Earle Foxe, Ralph Harwood, Alan Dwan, Merv Byloe, David Wellborn, Robert Beale, Ben Holmes, William Robyns, Charlie 14, Noel Francis, Maude Ethorne, Zita Moulton, Elsa Peterson. Archie Mayo will direct.

Eddie Clayton and Ward Bond will have roles on Columbia's "Maker of Men," being directed by Edward Sedgwick.

Filing of the latest M-G-M Boy Friends comedy, "Love Pains," was completed last week at the Hal Roach studios. Dorothy Ward, brunette beauty selected from a group of five girls tested for a part in the film, may receive a long term contract for her work. The group at present consists of Mickey DuBasil, Grady "Alabama" Sutton, David Rollins, Betty Bolen and Mary Korn- man. James Horne directed the picture.

Columbia's next Buck Jones special, which is the work of "Justice Runs Again," has been permanently named "One Man Law." Lammar Hillery directed. In the cast are Shirley Grey, who plays opposite John Harry Todd, Robert Ellis, Richard Alexander, Henry Sedley and Murdoch McQuarry.

Clause Allister is in London appearing in the first of three Erik Hakim productions for M-G-M.

Hallwell Hobbes and William Davidson have been added to Columbia's "Feathered Serpent."

Audrey Ferris, who not so long ago was being groomed for stardom, is one of the bovvy of beauties in "The Love of Famous," new educational-Vanity comedy.

Lindsay MacHarris, a well-known figure in radio land, was signed for the role of an announcer in Paramount's "Two Kinds of Women." MacHarris is production manager for KHJ. He recently completed parts in Ruth Chatterton's "Miss Vermont and Tomorrow."

Leon Lance has joined Jerry G. Mayer, artists' representative. Lance recently returned from Europe where he established working connections with representatives in the chief centers of dramatic and motion picture activity. He signed long term contracts with Camilla Horn, Gustav Froehlich and others.

William C. de Mille's old slouch hat, which is as much a part of his equipment on the set as Ernst Lubitsch's ceiling light or Victor von Stroheim's cane, is at the cleaners. While directing a scene in "Two Kinds of Women," de Mille removed the headgear for a moment and threw it on a chair. It fell into the floor and a new property boy threw it into a can of refuse and splinterings. De Mille retrieved it in the nick of time and when property man apologized, remarked: "Young man, they've been trying on your old hat" part in a feature production. This is Joe Hackey, who plays Isaac in "Over the Hill." He is 14 years old and a student in the Bancroft High School.

claimant with the Federal Trade Commission against U. A. on charges of violating antitrust and other laws, wrote an open letter asking the company to retire from business. Replying to the blast, Lichtman said in part: "If the ridiculous and ill-tempered state- ment is based on fact, we will not only have a small minority mistake our silence for influence, but we wish to go on record emphatically in denying the charges listed.

As a matter of fact, I have been authorized to assert that since the opening of the present letter a number of exhibitors who attended the meeting have openly expressed their total lack of sympathy with the action taken.

"Although we market a comparatively small number of pictures, United Artists is operating a business larger than any other distributor in the world. With no exhibitor has the most of distribution entered into a trade. Every exhibitor knows that the only basis for film rentals is the quality and drawing power of a picture, and that he has the right to his own judgment of this picture. It is United Artists, for we have requested over and over again that they make an end to the defrauding of distributors without penny, and not one penny less. The only sure way to have these policies that values being as intangible as their not so difficult to find an exact figure as in any other business. We deny that there is any hatred between exhibitors of the country and United Artists, and, of course, that there is not an active and positive attitude as to the distribution of pictures. This will do one great service, it tends to regulate film rentals that will work as automatic machinery.

I am afraid that the gentlemen responsible for the statement issued by the M.P.T.O. and other concerns, that there is no coal miners, that the United Artists and the sales policy and every other phase of its business has been set by them. Actually owning the business, they perhaps are best qualified to judge whether they should discharge the business at the request of a few disgruntled gentlemen."

RECEIVERSHIP SUIT SPURS RKO FINANCING PLANS

The Operation
... and other things
— By Jack Alcoate —

Contrary to spread-eagle headlines it is not at all likely that the full scope of the Hollywood operation will be broadcast from the house tops. We do know, however, that deadly drastic measures are being prescribed by the travel-clinic of executive consultants for the resuscitation of the studios. The word is put out by Hays on the job and Dr. or, Dr. Schenck, Dr. Warner, Dr. Wood, Dr. Larraine, Dr. Hammons and other specialists at the studio side, there is hope for complete recovery. Perhaps several operations will be necessary. If the good doctors insist on slicing, why not take Hollywood’s politics, high and system. While they are the job they might as well make complete.

Some 25,000 union men, stage hands and operators are voting this week on the plan President William H. Canavan to get a wage cut of from 10 per cent to 15 per cent, to be in effect at the start of the new season of December 1st. Here is a fine gesture on the part of Mr. Canavan as capitalist in entertainment and the present pressing economic problems of the exhibitor. The vote should help considerably in the present about-face movement of the industry.

New Machine Records

Film Audience's Emotions

Chicago—A new movie machine called the Polygraph, a variation of the lie-detector, demonstrated Wednesday in the projection room of the Film Exchange during the showing of "Frankenstein," has Film Row agog. The machine acts as a check on the emotions of a motion picture audience, recording accurately every thrill felt by the subjects, according to Phil Reisman. The test was supervised by Col. Calvin H. Goddard and Dr. Leonard Keeler of the Crime Detection Laboratory of Northwestern University. The machine records the psychogalvanic reflex of the person to whom it is applied.

Consolidation of the Radio Pictures and Pathe studios will result in working capitally of RKO being reduced and savings approximately $2,500,000 being effecte in the next four months, and the net earnings of the company will cut $3,500,000 from the division during 1932, Brown stated this year also will omitted. Speaking on the RKO refinance plan, Brown declared that despite haltingly, plans committee consisting of RKO officers, none had been submitted, ne there is any definite indication the one will come forth, and meanwhile expectations are Gerard's action in their hands by holding back proxies. He added:

"RKO feels that the company working on the proposed new deals and stock is conditioned upon the approval of stockholders. The approval is not the only source for the company for several departments of administration necessary to preserve its existence."

"It has been called to my attention that stockholders are in no condition to transact business. The outstanding stock is standing in the name of brokers while, an account of the board of directors of the New York Stock Exchange that they procure the consent of the owner before giving a proxy, are unable to do so by proxy because of their inability to communicate with the company office.

Regarding production, Brown said, "we have had bad pictures. That is true. But we are actively working on them."

COMING & GOING

SAMUEL GOLDWYN is due in New York from the coast Monday morning.
NIGEL PERKINS, the player signed by Douglas Fairbanks, is on her way to the coast.
EDWARD G. ROBINSON, First National's lead, accompanied by his wife, GLADYS
LOVJ, is due to arrive from Hollywood today for a short rest before beginning work in his next picture. They plan to visit Canal and Park and will sail within the next week.

HARRY ROSENQUEST, of the Vita House sales saloon staff, left yesterday for a trip through the South, during which he will outline to the various branches the nature of the coming short subject release.
Among the cities to be visited are Chicago,
Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Des Moines, Kansas City, St. Louis and Omaha.

 LET'S GO back down Memory Lane to 1914

the scene is the famous "Hefflich's Hall of Avenue in West Hoboken ... just across the Jersey City heights line... here the boys and girls flocked every Sunday night for their picture show ... for it was the only theater open on Sundays in that section ... the theater was located above a saloon and they put on a Special Show on these gala occasions ... and tilted the price to two bits ... for besides the pix they gave a melodrama on the stage lasting a half hour ... even in those days they found out that flesh shows could help a plethora and in those days they were most palatables.

  MANAGING THIS emporium of entertainment was none other than Ben Blumenthal later of Haring & Blumenthal ... and here in old Hefflich Hall Ben learned all about showmanship ... and not a wavy Ben was on these Sunday nites ... playing to packed houses ... and one Sunday his house staff all got pie eyed at a Hoboken picnic ... and Ben had to double as cashier, usher, doorman and technical effects man for the big stage meller he's had banker's cramp in his fingers ever since from seophon'in up the quarters that rolled over the till ... it was the begining of the Blumenthal millions, so wotthe'llle.

  AND THE picture show was incidental the mob came to cheer and hiss the meller featuring such Pathé celebs as Crane Wilbur, Gwendolyn Pates, Bill Cavanaugh and Octavia Handsworth Octavia's hubby was a Pathé director ... the film company allowed them to go out and pick up a few extra smackers ... so this was the inception of the Personal Appearances of picture stars.
Bill Cavanaugh, the heavy who did most of the heavy meller work, collected five hundred dollars, so figure what the others got ... but was fun it was for everybody.

  THIS COMPANY of players gave a half hour of Extreme, Exotic Meller ... on a stage about two by nine feet ... Mister Cane would chose the villain, Mister Cavanaugh, in every act ... for you must know that these were the days when the public demanded a run for their dough ... so the hero and heavy were out there throwing each other around the stage ... taking a lot'a real falls and bruises ... while Ben Blumenthal backstage was creating the finest effects of rain, thunder, lightning and sandstorms ever heard across the boards ... and the hectic doings on the tiny, wobbly stage created so much dust in the small hall that they had to pass out Smith Brothers cough drops to the audience ... to keep em from choking to death and when it was all over, everybody piled down to the saloon below and lapped 'em up till all hours of the morning ... yezziz, they were the Happy Days.

  HERMAN WOBBER, the popular Paramount Publix executive on the Pacific Coast, takes issue with the assertion of the Capitol that the very first theater radio program was broadcast from that house in 1922. Mister Wobber has the historical data to prove that as early as 1920, the California in San Francisco was regularly broadcasting orchestral concerts ... but in those early days of broadcasting, reception was so poor that it probably took two years for the Frisco program to reach New York receiving sets ... hence Major Boves was technically correct in claiming to be first

A Digest of Current Opinions

The Solution of Sound Problems

An exhibitor's sound problems are manifold. Probably the greatest among his problems is, that ol' debil, Acoustics. Millions of dollars have already been spent upon "cures" with only indifferent results. All sorts of products are offered. Let us name only a few of them: "Padding," tie, blocks, discs, plaster, drapes, carpets, seats ... ad infinum; any one or a combination of which, naturally amount to a considerable investment on the exhibitor's part, with no assurance that his sound will actually be to his entire satisfaction. It really does seem silly to charge an auditorium to suit the sound, when the sound can be easily corrected to suit the auditorium. Does it not?

Sound research has now progressed sufficiently to study its characteristics under certain given circumstances and it has been proven conclusively that no existing theater auditorium need be treated in any form to enable true and life-like reproduction of dialogue motion pictures.
Neither need an auditorium be entirely filled with sound volume to bring about the correct optimum time of sound, or to reach extreme side seats. A lot of the other carefully adhered to fallacies have also been exploded within the last eighteen months.

RECEIVERSHIP SUIT SPURS RKO REFINANCING PLANS

Dec. 10 meeting, new pleas for protection last night by the opposing factions.

On the application for receivership filed in Baltimore because RKO is Maryland corporation, Judge Albert S. J. Owens signed a show cause order returnable Dec. 22. Boyd charged excessive expenditures, payment of too high salaries and mismanagement.

Hiram S. Brown, commenting on the action last night, said:

"While we have not yet seen the papers filed, we are informed that the proceedings are brought by the stockholders of only 300 shares and that, nevertheless, we are given ground that the corporation is unable to meet its present indebtedness and that it has been mismanaged. We are confident that the charges of mismanagement cannot be sustained. The ability of the corporation to meet its financial requirements will depend on putting into effect the refinancing plan submitted to stockholders. The bringing of receivership proceedings should emphasize to all stockholders the necessity of forwarding proxies immediately so that the refinancing plan will be carried through."

It is also understood that RKO will make an effort to have the unissued action set aside. Statement issued by the Protective Committee said in part:

"While we do not regard the application for receivership as likely to be successful, we feel that it makes it imperative for all stockholders to send their proxies at once to be used at the meeting on Dec. 10, as the need for the curtailed financing, which the Committee recommends under its modified plan of operations of the financing plan, is obvious to the committee."

'Rexy' Not Doing Ziegfeld Show

Concerning a report that Samuel L. "Rexy" Rothafel would produce a forthcoming Ziegfeld stage show, "Rexy" yesterday stated to Film Daily: "Absolutely, no. I have never discussed the matter with Mr. Ziegfeld nor with any one else. The report has no foundation whatever. I am not going to produce anything but my end of Radio City."

SHORT SHOTS from EASTERN STUDIOS

RAY COZINE, Paramount director, has been placed in charge of all notes made for the East and West Coast studios. Cozine made the original tests on Claudette Colbert and Kay Francis, among others.

The Norwalks have completed the third, now under construction, series of six "Naggers" comedies for Warner Vitaphone, making a total of fifteen. This latest is called "The Naggers Spreading Sunshine."

"Alice in Wonderland," feature film recently made here with Charles Levey, has been officially released at the Roxy and has been shown at a special children's performance to be held this Saturday morning in the Roxy theater.

Harold Levey, who served as musical director at the Warner Vitaphone studio for the past three years, has recently resigned to devote his entire time to composition and radio work.

Harry M. Baldwin, who formerly served as secretary to Monta Bell when the latter was in charge of production at Paramount's New York studio and who has more recently been acting as assistant director to shorts, is now occupying his previous quarters as secretary to Bogart Rogers, associate producer.

Jack Haley is rehearsing for a Vitaphone short authored by Stanley Rous, staff writer, also responsible for "High School Hooper," featuring Hal LeRoy and "The Naggers Spreading Sunshine," with the Norwalks.

Clever atmospheric effect's conceived by Sam Sax's staff of experts give an unusual tone to the latest Horace Heldt one reel musical film, "Wake the Wind," to be shown in the Warner Vitaphone studio.

Al Wilkie, publicity head at Paramount in New York, will divide his time between the studio and the main office publicity department, working under Earl Wingart. C. N. Odell of the main office will alternate with Wilkie in his studio duties.

Mervyn LeRoy, flanked by his assistant director, Gordon Hollingshead, is planning to film next week several East Side scenes to serve as background for "Mendel, Inc.," the Warner Bros. picture starring Joe Smith and Charles Dale of the Avon Colony Four, which is to be directed.

conducted it so that a private loan or the underwriting of a public offering of securities is now an imprombility, and that the management has also contrived to put the corporation in a position so that a refinancing is impossible at any time unless a total or limited amount of financing is secured."

The alternate plan, which is said to reduce by half the amount the stockholders will have to subscribe to the debentures in order to protect their equity in the corporation and calls for only 50 per cent of the total subscription to be paid at the time of subscribing, follows:

1. That the Corporation's management pledge itself not to use more than $5,000,000 of the proceeds of the sale of the debentures for the payment of the present or future obligations of the Corporation, in excess of the $6,000,000 or secured gold notes of the Corporation.

2. That the Corporation pledge itself that thirty days prior to a call for the final payment of subscributions to debentures, a call shall be made for the redemption of a proportionate share of the debentures so that the call price would be paid if the Corporation should default in the payment due from any stockholder under his agreement.

3. That by Jan. 1, 1932, expenses of the Corporation other than depreciation, interest and dividend, and provision for federal and state income taxes and dividends on the preferred stock of the subsidiary companies shall be reduced to 75 per cent of the total income of the Corporation.

4. That the Corporation give its cooperation and support to the formation of a stockholders association to the end that a Committee be appointed to supervise the sincerity of efforts made under 1, 2 and 3.

Exactly half of this year's Universal product will be released by Jan. 1, says Reisman, who expressed enthusiasm over the pictures to come from this locale. The Murder in the Rue Morgue, Walter Huston in "Law and Order," Slim Summerville and "The Unexpected Father," Back Street, "Marriage Interlude," The Impatient Maiden," "Oh, Promise Me," "Cohens and Kellys in Hollywood," and others. Carl Laemmle, Jr., is personally selecting the remaining productions on the schedule. He said, "I was tremendously pleased at the confidence and enthusiasm of the splendid production organization that he has built up. I have the utmost confidence in it."

try," he says. "Despite the incidence of mismanagement, back breaking executive costs, the relations racket, home office meddling and countless other abuses, the productive talent has managed to supply product that took in enough money at the box-office to pay the bills. We should leave the solution of the production problem to the men who created it. To the heads of the companies who inflated salaries by raiding the talent of their competitors, by permitting the idea to go abroad that the wealth of this business was limitless — these men should solve the problem. Independent exhibitors should confine their attention to buying films carefully, keeping down expenses and giving their state and national leaders adequate and proper organization support."

Snakes in Theaters

Birmingham — Coolness on the part of Bert Gilbert, manager of the Galax, averted a riot when a snake was found in the theater. Occupants of the crowded house made an attempted rush for the doors when a woman let out a scream. This is the second time in a week that such an incident has occurred. The Galax is non-union and has been attacked several times with tear gas and stench bombs.

address at the first annual convention here this week. Through efforts of the association in legislative committee, the association for censorship has been greatly defeated, Judge Walker told the gathering of about 100 exhibitors. We believe only through the public as its response is measured at the box-office, he declared.

M. A. Lightman, president of the M.P.T.O.A., concurred with Judge Walker and said state censorship would never prove desirable or effective in controlling the type of pictures presented to the public. Only public support of better pictures could dictate this, he stated.

Sunday shows were upheld by William McGraw, Dallas county district attorney, who said the closing of theaters as a consequence leaves thousands of persons looking for something to do and thereby increases violations of law and order.

Further efforts by the government to tax theaters, it was pointed out, would bring about such decreased attendance that the outcome would be disastrous and the government itself would lose by it.

Judge Walker was reelected president of the T.O.P.A. Other officers named were: A. O. Englebreth, Georgetown; Arthur A. Keyes, Quanah, and W. J. Wooten, Corpus Christi, vice-presidents, and S. Melche, Dallas, secretary. Board of directors are: C. H. DeWolf, San Saba; W. G. Leavel, Dallas; M. H. Gwynn, Terrell; Stanley Swift, Cameron; A. T. Muller, Seguin; W. M. Shields, Tyler; W. J. Wooten, Houston; E. H. Patton, Kerrville; H. C. Tidball, Fort Worth, and J. Lemke, Waco.

HARVEY B. DAILY, special sales representative for Educational, arrived in Pittsburgh on Friday on the first lap of a trip that will also take in Cincinnati, Cleveland, Atlantic, Atlanta, Charlotte and Washington.

LESTER F. SCOTT, general sales manager for Mascot Pictures, returned to New York on Friday from a nationwide tour of the circuit.

MILTON H. FELD is due back in New York this weekend from inspecting Public operations. R. J. O'DONNELL and GASTON BUREAU are now on a three-week tour of the circuit.

- - - MEBBE THERE'S something in this outside criticism about our advertising chiefs taking their ad-writing too seriously after all...so let's adopt a carefree, happy, whimsical style in our newspaper picture ads....here is some sample copy that might be used as the formula for the New Advertising Technique....first we get the Public interested by raising a Doubt in their minds that we HAVE A Picture....the rest is easy...to wit:

- - - HAVE WE A Picture?....We wonder
It would be a wonder IF we had a picture....The director says we have A Picture....! But of course he WOULD say that....We, the producers, are open-minded on the subject....Accidents will happen, even in Hollywood....Maybe the director is right....He's been wrong so many times before....Won't you decide the problem for us, dear Public?....Come and see the picture....Be a sport....Take a chance
- - - Of course you will have to risk your money at the box office....but isn't life itself a risk?....So what's one more little risk?....And supposing we REALLY have a picture?....What a thrill you'll get!....What a thrill we'll get!....It will be so terribly thrilling....Or just Terrible?....Who knows?....Who cares?
It's all in fun, anyway....The picture only costs our $278,349 to make....A Mere Trifle....And if it's a piece of cheese, won't you try something a little different?....So you can't lose....You either Thrill at our Unexpected Success....Or Laugh at our Failure....Wott'll more do ya want for your money?

- - - THE AMPAS got a break when the metropolitan newspapers featured Roxy's talk about Radio City plans at the luncheon last Thursday....the press agency organizashe furnished the forum for one of the most Important Pronouncements of the year....from a gent who only talks when he has a Real Message....after that talk, we figure AMPA prestige has gone up about 1,000 per cent....and anything that helps AMPA, helps EVERY publicity man in the biz....never forget that......so it's a rather dumb play to spoof a talk that means so much to so many of us....or are we just Oldfashioned in our ideas of what constitutes Good Journalism?

- - - IN SPITE of the fact that Arkayo officials frankly acknowledge the product has been below par....it is significant that the RKO theater profits this year are touted to exceed by $500,000 the net of the previous year...so why not give due acknowledgment to the theater division managers....and theater managers....who have so gloriously gone over the top?....what could they have done with a Real setup?

- - - DURING THE rainstorm a few days ago, a young exploitationer in United Artists received his notice....he opened his pay envelope....he read the sad news....looked out at the rain, and opined...."Well, they provided the Griffel Touch, anyway!"....just a Film Philosopher.

- - - RUMOR MARKET....the outlook for all you boys and girls is very, Very GOOD....production companies are being squeezed together....oldtimers are being squeezed out on the street....there are a few more squeeze plays in the offing....ya pals squeeze your milt, look sorry, and say....."Not a chance, kid, to help ya. Merry Chrismuss!"

Bryan Foy Making Four Series

Bryan Foy is finding a producer's life much more hectic than his recent profession— that of directing four series of pictures at the Sunset studios, which he recently purchased. So Foy is one of the busiest lads around here.

Chevalier's current starring picture, "One Hour with You."

Airline Judge's first role under her new contract with RKO-Radio is the insurend lead in "Girl Crazy," which William A. Seiter will direct.

Arnold Lucy is playing the role of the deacon in "Alias the Doctor," which stars Richard Barthelmess, with Michael Curtiz directing.

Our Passing Show: Dudley Murphy mortoring to the Paramount studios; Rudolph Fasbinder and Abe Mayer chantering at Metropolitain; Jed Buell busy at Mack Sennett's.

All trailers made in the future by Leon Schlesinger of the Pacific Title and Art studio, will be scored with an individual musical background.

Richard Rodgers and Lorenz Hart, well known song writers and composers of the music for the recent Broadway musical hit and who have been signed by Paramount to write the music and lyrics for "Love Me Tonight," Chevalier's next starring vehicle after "One Hour With You," are expected in Hollywood soon to begin work.

Del Lord is directing "Speed in the Gay Nineties" for Mack Sennett. Andy Clyde is starred, with his supporting cast including Barney Oldfield, Hubert Bilis, Helen Mann, George Grib, Bobbe Dunn and others.

Tallulah Bankhead is due here the coming week from New York to prepare for her next Paramount picture, the title of which has not yet been chosen.

Albert DeMond contends that if the screen is to be supplied with a sufficiency of material, more people must be induced to turn from their hobbies. He feels that too many ambitious writers are looking to the weird, the unorthodox and the improbable for their plots, whereas the best stories are to be found near at hand in every day life.

Another story for Educational's "Hollywood Girl." Comedies is now in preparation under the combined auspices of Ernie Pageno and Jack Townley, writers, and William Goodrich, director. Virginia Brooks, Rita Flynn and Dorothy Granger will be the three Hollywood girls in the new opus.

"Torchy Raises the Auntie," the fifth in the new Educational-Torchy series, has been completed by C. G. Burr. The Torchy principals—Ray Cooke, Dorothy Dix, Edmund Breese, Franklyn Pangborn—are supported by Elia Stevens, Charlotte Jane, Patsy Bellamy and Charles Saxton.

Ned Sparks will have an important role in the talking picture version of "The Miracle Man," to be produced by Paramount. He will portray the character of the pickpocket called "Tramp," in the story by Monte Dumont in the silent version of "The Miracle Man" 12 years ago.

John Wayne has been cast as the star of "The Man in Manhattan," which is being produced by Paramount for release in the next June.

Buck Jones has started "High Speed," his latest western for Columbia. Ross Lederman is directing.

Florina McKinney, the 16-year-old singer who recently ended her studies in high school in Fort Worth, Tex., to begin work in motion pictures in Hollywood under contract to Paramount, will make her film debut in Maurice Chevalier's "One Hour With You," and Randolph Scott, the Orange, Va., youth who was signed by Paramount as a featured film player a month ago, following two years of stage roles on the Pacific Coast, is to make his debut as a picture player in "The Miracle Man."

Loretta Young again has had to postpone her trip to New York on account of demands of the production schedule at the Warner Bros. studios.

Edward Crandall, Nora Lane, Cornelius Keefe and Josephine Johnson are the latest additions to the cast of "Disorderly Conduct." Eight of the most popular Fox players, Linda Whiting, Spencer Tracy, Ralph Bellamy, Sally Eilers, Allen Dinehart, Welden Heyburn, Ralph Morgan and Claire Mayo are at work on this comedy. John Conidius, Jr., is directing.

Harold Lloyd will head the golf tournament committee of the Agua Calientes Club in the $15,000 open meet Jan. 12-15.

"Men of Chance" is definitely set as the final title of Radio Pictures' rackets drama filmed under the working title, "Exposed." The film features Mary Astor and Ricardo Cortez, George Archainbaud directed an original story by Louis W. Siegel.

Elizabeth Wilson, New York fan magazine writer, has arrived here to report on the "Screenland Weekly," published by the "Screenland" interests in New York.

"Almost Married" has supplanted "Circumstances" as the title for the picture, which Dorothy Heming has just completed for Fox under the direction of William Cameron Menzies. Featured with Miss Heming are Ralph Bellamy and Alexander Kirkland. Robert Maudlin and Maria Alba are in the cast.

G. A. Metzger, one of the executives of the new Roxie theater, Los Angeles, is in the East, scouting additional talent and acts for the Roxie.

Marion Gering, directing Sylvia Sidney and Gene Raymond in "Ladies of the Big House," bucked a stonewall during the filming of jury scene for the picture. In the interest of realism, a male juror, fresh from a recent Los Angeles trial, was put on the movie panel. Eleven bit players who were with him on the job were Miss Sidney and Raymond guilty of the crimes. The real juror agreed with the Raymond conviction, but refused to convict Sylvia. Director Gering had to send for an actor to take the role.

Columbia has added Mary Doran and James杜兰 to "Final Edition," and Boris Karloff and Claude King to the new Jack Holt picture, a part which service story not yet titled.

Sylvia Sidney, Robert Coogan, John Wray and Tyrone Power will be featured with Chester Morris in Paramount's talker version of "The Miracle Man," which Norman Taurog is to direct.

SAM SAX is so impressed with the work of Rita Lane in Vitaphone’s "The Symphony Murder Mystery" that he has had all scenes in which she appears clipped from the film and sent to Jack Warner. Miss Lane is a 25-year-old Russian girl who recently arrived here after appearing on the screen in both England and Germany. She is somewhat on the type of Evalyn Knapp whose work in a Vitaphone short won her a Warner Bros. feature contract about a year ago.

- Milton Cohen has returned to the Warner Vitaphone studio in charge of voices.

- In spite of general conditions, a large percentage of the Paramount staff located in the East are enjoying steady work, most of them in the news field.

- Futuristic settings, designed by Frank Naezmy, studio art director, are a feature of Vitaphone’s latest two-reel musical, “Cheer Up,” which boasts a cast of over one hundred.

- What promises to be a decided novelty has been completed by Motion Picture Classics in the form of an operetta based on the famous children’s story, “Puss in Boots.” The film was made at the Ideal studios with Nat Shilkret orchestra supplying the musical effects. Camera crew consisted of Frank Zucker, Charles Harten and Buddy Harris.

- Edward Senz, Paramount’s make-up chief, has a set of Cooper-Hewitt lamps installed which bring out the slightest imperfection allowing for a uniformity in make-up heretofore impossible under ordinary lights.

- For the first time in some months, a Paramount feature being made at the New York studio will have a complete song included which was composed especially for the picture. Nancy Carroll will sing “What’s the Difference,” by John Green and Edward Heyman, Paramount staff composers, in “Wayward,” which Ted Soman is directing. Frank Tours is in charge of musical effects.

Gamayor-Farrell Japanese

A version of the “Man Who Came Back” with Japanese dialogue synchronized to the performances of Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell, has been showing on the coast. Many who saw it declared it so bad--or so striking that it would be easy to believe the stars really do talk Japanese.

Four for M-G-M on Broadway

M-G-M has four features currently showing on Broadway. They include the $2 run of “The Champ” at the Astor, “Ben Hur” at the Lafayette, “Possessed” in its second week at the Capitol, and “Cuban Love Song” at the Roxy.

In a radio broadcast over 13 stations, Mrs. McGoldrick, reporting for the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae, spoke at length on the subject of her work in Vitaphone Bi-Centennial film, “Washington—The Man and the Capitol.” The speech was printed in 103 newspapers and sent in mimeographed form to 783 clubs throughout the country.

- Arthur Elits, who edited “His Woman” and other Paramount features, has been placed in charge of cutting “Wayward,” featuring Nancy Carroll and Richard Arlen, now in production.

- Dick Willis, Vitaphone’s make-up expert, has been presented with a make-up box designed especially for use in a recent location by Mr. L. M. Hart, Norworth, who recently completed the 15th edition of their “Naggers” series of comedies.

- Jack Haley, musical comedy juvenile, has attracted so much favorable comment by his work in Vitaphone’s “Success” that he was signed for two more. The first is “The Imperfect Lover.”

- Eddie Ryan, juvenile actor, who has appeared with success in numerous stage and screen plays, will be featured over Station WJZ on Sunday during “Children’s Hour,” from 9 to 10 A. M.

- What is claimed to be the toughest looking bunch of extras ever to appear at the Warner Vitaphone studio were hand-picked by Herb Hayman, casting director, for “The Naggers’ Spreading Sunshine,” which tells the story of a soft-hearted lady and her misguided benefactions. Such former puppets as King Solomon and Tommy Madden were included in the group.

- Everybody’s raving about that spiro baby in “His Woman,” a six-months-old baby can steal a picture from Gary Cooper and Claudette Colbert he’s got to be good which is mild praise for this amazing child.

- Ed DuPar, Vitaphone’s head cameraman, has introduced a new style dolly (portable camera) which is mounted on rubber tires and so constructed that it is possible to move the camera through doorways and around corners in a manner not heretofore possible.

- George Offerman, Jr., 14-year-old stage and screen veteran, has a role in Vitaphone’s “The Imperfect Lover,” starring Jack Haley.

Practically all of the numerous stars now in New York are expected to attend the gala opening of D. W. Griffith’s “The Struggle,” next Thursday night at the Rivoli theater. Among those who will probably be on hand are Joan Crawford and Doug Fairbanks, Jr., Lillian Tashman and Edmund Lowe, William Haines, Claudette Colbert, Nancy Carroll and Richard Arlen.

Vitaphone’s staff of writers is busy preparing bigger scripts for bigger and better shorts. Rauh and Glenn Lambert collaborated on "The Naggers’ Spreading Sunshine," which tells the story of a soft-hearted lady and her misguided benefactions. Such former puppets as King Solomon and Tommy Madden were included in the group.

Phyllis Dare, prominent English stage actress, stopped off to visit the Paramount New York studios as the guest of Frank Tours, musical director, en route from Hollywood to London, for the Christmas holidays. Miss Dare was at one time known as the most photographed lady in England.

- Pauline Frederick, for the first time in her long film career, has donned a white wig for her role in “Wayward,” and the effect is very flattering. Miss Frederick has renewed acquaintance with numerous studio workers with whom she was associated here in the old days.

- An interested spectator at Vitaphone’s Bing Crosby auditions Wednesday, during the shooting of the opening scenes of “The Imperfect Lover,” the “Big Star” comedy with Jack Haley, was Judge Joseph V. McKee, acting mayor of New York in the absence of Mayor Walker.

As It Should Be

Only one feature-length picture is permitted on any one program in Germany. Cut-rate tickets and lots of them. The movie houses draw on their show and nothing else.

"BLONDE CRAZY"
with James Cagney, Joan Blondell
Warners Bros. 73 mins.

AMUSINGLY CLEVER STORY OF RACKETEERS TRYING TO OUTDO B. O. STUFF WITH PLENTY LAUGHS BUT WEAK CLIMAX.

Barring the finale, which is too obviously contrived, this is a pretty good con game, featuring playing meted out to the crooks, is a lively, continuously interesting and unusual affair, and the pieces of entertainment, it is in the wisecracking vein that has made James Cagney popular, and his latest performance is calculated to maintain that popularity. He plays the part of a slick small-town hotel bellhop who goes in for booze-peddling and other money schemes on the side. Team up with a classy new girl empleado by Cagney and they invade the bigger cities and continue their game of making money from other wiseys and suckers. This time they are aboard the Cagney, driving him to outright robbery, and then Joan falls for a nice young broker, whom she marries. The next year, when Cagney is fed up with the racket, Joan returns to him, her marriage having failed.

Cast: James Cagney, Joan Blondell, Louis Calhern, Noel Francis, Guy Kibbee, Raymond Milland, Polly Walters, Charles Levinson, William Burrell, Peter Kerkez, Maude Eburne, Walter Pidgeon, Nat Pendleton, Roy Del Ruth; Authors, Kober Glassman, John Bright; Adapts, same; Dialogues, same; Editor, Ralph Dawson; Cameraman, Sid Hickox.

GRIPPING ADULT ENTERTAINMENT. GRUESOME, CHILL-PRODUCING AND EXCITING DRAMA OF A MAN-MADE MONSTER.

A nightmare of entertainment that will leave you along with the grossly photograph is so superb. Colin Clive, a medical student, invents a monster by infusing the brains of a criminal into a body composed of corpses. A murderous monster is the result. Before Clive and his friend manage to exterminate the monsterity, he murders the latter and goes on the loose, terrorizing the countryside. A monster-hunt is launched and does what it wishes, capturing Clive and takes him to his windmill-laboratory. He flings Clive to the ground and dies him, and then goes on fire. Clive lives for a happy ending with Mae Clarke. The performance is all right. The real monster picture.

REVIVAL OF OLD CLASSIC WITH SOUND STILL A GREAT PICTURE CARRYING AUDIENCE WITH BRILLIANT STUFF AND TENSE DRAMA.

Here was one they could bring back without any spotlight. At the end of the first afternoon performance, when I brought in the heavy fall, audience reaction was distinctly favorable, even though dialogue was lacking. Sound effects greatly enhance the big dramatic mob scenes, especially in the chariot race and the gallery sequences. It is a timely holiday offering, with the Biblical story, and scenes from the early life of the Christ, especially the scenes in the Manger, the Three Wise Men, the Star of the East, etc. All holiday meat. The dramatic story is too well known to require detailing. The tremendous mob scenes and spectacular effects still carry an imposing kick. Especially the chariot race, which packs an awful punch, is the most thrilling sound scene, especially the hand-to-hand fight between the Barbarian hordes and the Roman soldiers in the arena. Ramon Novarro as the hero, Ben Hur, is the name to play up. Should sell big with the new generation who haven't seen it.

"THE FRENCH LEAVE"
Talking Picture Epics 65 mins.

BRITISH FARCE COMEDY WITH WAR SETTING MAKES LIGHT AND PLEASING ENTERTAINMENT WHERE THEY LIKE ENGLISH ATMOSPHERE.

An adaptation of the stage play, by Reginald Berkeley. Produced by Famous Players, this is one of the best of the British style of comedy, that will get over. From American standards of a farce comedy, the tempo is too slow. However, the situation are quite funny, and the plot is rather ingenious. The pretty young wife of an English captain uses her husband in his billet behind the lines in a little French town. She poses as the daughter of the French woman occupying the house where the British officer has his meals with its Colonel and a junior officer. The fun comes when the Colonel and the other officer both fall hard for the supposed French mademoiselle and the husband has a tough time trying to explain his intimacy with her. A great deal of presen several occasions. Works up to a good comedy climax with the girl being rescued, and Madeleine Carroll as the girl has plenty of charm and good looks.

Cast: Madeleine Carroll, Sydney Howard, Alexander Knox, John Lawrence, John Ireland, Sydney Paget, John Standing, Jack Byron, Mary Reilly, Douglas Fowley.

SWELL COMEDY-DRAMA COMBINING HUMAN INTEREST AND COMEDY DONE MOSTLY IN FRENCH DIALOGUE.

Several distinct angles of go entertainment are embraced in the absorbing story with a tropic background. In addition to the story of the tropical girl, there is a strong supporting of nine-months-old baby, some humorous antics by the colored carri. There are Hiram Harrington, Sidney Easton, and plenty of acting with a corresponding minimum of talk. Gary Cooper, as captain of tremp freighter, finds a desert baby just as his ship is about to leave a tropical port. He adopts the kid and hires it a domestic now, and Boss, the girl, Claudette Colbert, to take care of the youngster. Claudette, in reality a stranded entertainer, desperate to get back to the States, is recognized by some of the crew, who make a play for her. One m't's goes to work. Interesting Dramatic Sketch

This is the first picture of General Sardina’s war story serial based on the “Liberty” short stories. It presents a murder with the prisoner apparently hanged on a hanger, then found to be an illegal and punishable with death, getting through on manslaughter, which carries a lighter sentence. The story is shown in positive agreement except for one man, a dumb hick to whom the lawyer has been chiefly dressing his oratory and who holds out for manslaughter, the climax comes with a surprise kick when the trial jury finally votes manslaughter—and the goof tells the lawyer that he won them over to that verdict, whereas they were for acquittal. Raymond Hatton is the dumb boy, and Maurice Black plays the accused. A popular periodical appearance of a reporter, seeking drunk for no reason at all, brings developments of the case.

with Bobby Jarvis and Eloise Taylor

10 mins. Entertaining

A scrapping couple win first prize in an essay contest on happy married life. The prize is a free trip to Paris for the two, in the French language. The young husband and wife are kept busy placing tips in palms at are held out to them at every turn. Everybody gags the two for attendants a “peddler of French post cards” which turn it to be scenic views of New York. Usually they get even, when the life, unable to get her evening gown back from the tailor because she has a no more, catches a pajama party into an evening dress accessory and a tracts the attention of an orderly, who sorts over $2,000 for the right to copy the model. Non-musical, but entertaining.

“The Menace of Guatemala”

10 mins. Interesting

A trip through a town in the mending shadow of the great active volcano, Agua, in Guatemala. The face of the native Indians is shown, creating an existence as primitive as that of their forefathers several centuries ago. Ford Bond is the narrator, with his lively and withered laugh, and Leonard Mitchell. An unusual travel picture of Central America with one very interesting studies of native types.

Dr. Rockwell in

“Relativity and Relatables”

Vitaphone

18 mins. Good Comedy

Dr. Rockwell, the rapid-fire stage comedian, is shown here as a relativity expert, a man who is under suspension from a laboratory and invades a college, where he engages in a string of laughable gags with a professor, followed by some action in which a group of the students participate. There is a fast slapstick finish, including even some old reliable pie-throwing. Highly amusing entertainment all the way.

“Screen Snapshots”

Columbia

14 mins. Okay

Usual interesting shots of screen personalities caught more or less informally in Ralph Staub. Included are the Wampas Baby Stars of 1931, Lew Ayres and Bakewell on the football field during making of “Spirit of Notre Dame”, Benny Yon at tennis; Irene Dunn, Mitzi Green, Robert Coogan, Joan Crawford, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Taylor Brooklyn in a prison bit; Gloria Swanson, Clifton Webb and various others caught at a Hollywood premiere. Accompanying them out of Miss Swanson, the running commentator says that she is “still heart whole and fancy free,” which gives away the age of the reel to the many fans who have been reading of Miss Swanson’s recent marriage.

Horace Heidt and His Californians

Vitaphone

10 mins. Fast Musical Novelty

Action and tuneful musical selections, presented in novelty style, make this an entertaining number from start to finish. The boys not only escape from an army camp but also handle out some pleasant singing. Meanwhile the camera is going through kaleidoscopic changes that inject special interest in the proceedings.

“The Week-End Mystery”

with Donald Meek, John Hamilton

Vitaphone 6203

17 mins. Detective Yarn

Third in the series of S. S. Van Dine Detective stories. Presents the usual killing with no apparent clues to the murderer or motive. Donald Meek, as the detective, does a good job in working out the case.

“Mediterranean By-Ways”

(Newman Travel Talk)

Vitaphone 5704

9 mins. Good

A good subject of its kind. It starts with scenes of Morocco, including Arabian sidewalk cafes, snake charmers, markets and other typical scenes of Morocco, and goes on to give a brief view of Sardinia, Malta, Athens, Sicily and a glimpse of Mt. Vesuvius. The accompanying talk is interesting.

“Kitty from Kansas City”

Paramount

8 mins. Novely Cartoon

A Max Fleischer cartoon with Rudy Vallee doing a song as part of the animated plot. It is a clever combination of the cartoon characters, with Rudy worked into the developments as he waits for the hero to be delivered to the railroad station. His song is all about the dumb sweetie from Kansas City, and Rudy appears disguised as an old timer with a mustache and brown derby.

Robert L. Ripley in

“Believe It or Not”

Vitaphone 5821

8 mins. Interesting

Robert L. Ripley creates and maintains the usual keen interest in this assembly of oddities. The group includes a Japanese statesman who lived to the age of 308, a strange fish with legs, a book of Omar Khayyam’s “Rubaiyat” contained in a finger ring, a house built entirely of playing cards and the haunting apartment of Jack London in his native city of Atlantic City. The latter, whether intentional or not, will give many the impression of being an ad plug, since considerable footage is given over to keeping the trade-mark name in view.

Hal Le Roy in

“The High School Hooper”

Vitaphone 1312

10 mins. Good

Hal Le Roy, one of the dancing sensations of the season and at present with the Ziegfeld “Follies” on tour, is presented in a skit showing him as an awkward high school boy who overcomes his inferiority complex and takes honors as a dancer in the school’s show. One of the lad’s feminine classmates, on whom he is sweet, aids in giving him courage to go in and win. The love interest is good for a little amusement, but it is Le Roy’s lively handling of his feet and legs that send this number over to applause.

“Hare Mail”

(Oswald Comedy)

Universal

6 mins. Good Cartoon

Oswald plays the part of a real hero in this comedy. While selling papers he hears screams from a nearby house. Investigating, he finds the villain then wearing a golden-haired beauty. A battle ensues. The girl is captured by the robber. The old saw mill stunt is pulled to add to the effect, and the earth then comes out of solution. Oswald goes for help. The reel ends with an airplane chase. Gags are good and laughs aplenty.

Rudy Wideoeft in

“Darn Tootin’”

Vitaphone 6103

9 mins. Fine Musical Novelty

A lot of good entertainment has been packed into this short. In addition to the mellow harmony emanating from Rudy Wideoef’s saxophone there is a torch song number, “I Apologize,” by Dixie Lee, and a sensational acrobatic dance by Lucille Page, with the latter rousing some ah’s and oh’s. In addition the skit has been given a fanciful production background, revolving around a saxophone-harass father who sneaks into his son’s bedroom, grabs the kid’s sax from under the bed, and buries it in the backyard. The instrument sprouts into a gigantic counterpart, with the various entertainers popping out of it and proceeding to do the stuff, which enters the old man so much that his antagonism to saxophone is overcome.

“The Land of Islam”

Ideal

10 mins. Unique Travel

A very interesting trip through Morocco, presenting some scenes of the land of the Moors never before filmed. Arthur Hale, the radio announcer, is the narrator. He takes us through the queer little narrow streets, and shows us in detail the life of the natives in all its varied aspects. Ally Carrick prepared the film, and it makes unusual entertainment interested in unusual sights in foreign lands.

“Hitting the Trail for Hallelujah Land”

Vitaphone 5604

7 mins. Neat Cartoon

A better “Missie Melodie” than the average animated cartoon that has been coming along lately. It has an amusing little plot yarn, involving some heavy melodrama on a river boat, with the villain being sent up against the circular saw for the climax, and both the drawing and the synchronized sound are up to snuff.

2 New Broadway Films Slated to Hold Over

Universal's "Frankenstein," which opened at the Mayfair on Friday to S.R.O. despite extremely bad weather, is slated to hold over for another week at least.

"Blonde Crazy," Warner picture with James Cagney and Joan Blondell, will be held over at the Strand, where it has been going great guns since Thursday night.

Novelty Next

West Coast Brn., THE FILM DAILY

Hollywood—As a result of the tremendous success being encountered all over the country by Universal's weird thriller, "Frankenstein," and the favorable remarks emanating from the M-G-M studios over "Tarzan" and "Freaks," other studios are looking around for novelty material off the beaten path. Likelihood of another "cycle" is not very probable, as the novelty to come is expected to make production more or less an oddity of its own.

Penn. Censor Board
Toughest of Them All

Philadelphia—Pennsylvania's censor board is making 50 cent, more eliminations than any other group in the country, according to a checkup made by the board of managers of the M. P. T. O. Here, although friendly relations exist between local exchanges and the censors, publishers feel that the board is inclined, in various instances, to continue the policies of the old board. The censors will not seek to pass on pictures shown privately on Sunday nights, it is reported.

Protective Committee Agrees
On Plan for RKO Refinancing

New Superimposing Idea
Called Big Improvement

Fears of receivership for RKO were dispelled early yesterday when the Stockholders' Protective Committee agreed to support the corporation's refinancing plan to be voted upon Dec. 10. All that is necessary now is for enough proxies to assure the required vote for the plan. Under the accepted plan it is expected subscribers will be required to pay only the $2.50 a share at time of subscription.
Marchetti Sees Salaries Gradually Being Adjustable
Reduction in executive and star salaries will automatically adjust itself, in the opinion of Roger Marchetti, Hollywood lawyer, on a business trip to New York. Excessive salaries, out of line with prevailing conditions, will in most cases be reduced by mutual consent of the principals involved rather than by pressure. Contracts, as drawn up now, allow producers many ways in which to cancel, and those fortunate enough to be under contract are not enough to realize this and will take the cut with good grace, Marchetti believes. Besides acting as lawyer for many stars, such as Bing Crosby, Beatrix Miller and Jeanette Lorri, Marchetti also combines the functions of business agent, an arrangement which he says is becoming increasingly popular with the stars.

More Than Program Fillers

PARAMOUNT SHORTS
Hollywood Flashes

By RALPH WILK

GEORGE ARLIS’ new picture, "The Man Who Played God," went into active production today at Warner Bros. studios under the direction of John G. Adolfi. The film is based upon a story by Gouverneur Morris which was later made into a stage play by Jules Eckert Gooden for Otis Skinner. In Arliss' support is cast a star-studded cast of Wilton Harper, Ivan Simpson, Bette Davis, Louise Closer Hale, Andre Luguet, Donald Cook, Wade Boteler, Paul Porcelli, William Janney, Alexander Iconkoff and Michael Visaroff.

Helen Jerome Eddy and John Halliday have been added to "The Impatient Maiden," completing the cast of the Universal picture being directed by John W. Noble.

Columbia has assigned Gertrude Pedlar, and Wilfred Noy to "Forbidden" ... The next Tim McCoy western, "The Texas Sheriff," goes into week this week under the direction of Lambert Hillyer ... Jean Harlowe's new picture has been re-titled "Three Wise Girls," instead of "Blonde Baby."

A batch of assignments have just been handed out at Universal City. Tom Reed was commissioned to re-adopt the New York stage play, "Oh Promise Me" by Howard Lindsay and Bertrand Robinison. Edwyn A. Keppel, who directed "Nice Work," got the assignment to produce "Piranello's" play, "The Marriage Interlude," and Robert Florey, who has just directed "Murders in the Rue Morgue," was assigned to adapt H. G. Wel's novel, "The Invisible Man," to screen technique.

Tim McCoy in "The Fighting Marshal," which Ross Lederman directed, will be released this month by Columbia. In addition to McCoy, the cast includes Dorothy Gulliver, Mary Carr, Matthew Betz, Pat O'Malley and E. Le Saint.

Columbia Broadcasting Company yesterday gave the millions of friends of Tom Mix an opportunity to hear his voice far above the opportunity that Universal is giving him in talking pictures. One minute of the California Melodies national hook-up hour was devoted to a cheerful little speech of gratitude from the sick bed in Hollywood Hospital, where Mix is recovering from his operation and the desperate peritonitis attack which set in immediately.

Warner Bros. has signed Maurice Watkins to do the screen play and dialogue of "Eight to Five."

Short Shots from New York Studios

By HARRY N. BLAIR

GLENN LAMBERT is author and director of "The Wise Quacker," a comedy acted entirely with ducks, which has just been completed at the Vitaphone studio for Christmas release.

John Litel, who has a prominent role in "Wayward," the Nancy Carroll-Richard Arlen vehicle now in production here, was decorated with a Croix de Guerre for distinguished service in the World War.

James C. Morton dedicates his usual comedy role for a straight dignified part in "The Imperfect Lover," a Vitaphone comedy.

George Fossey, chief cameraman at the Paramount New York studios, is being congratulated on his election to the board of directors of Cameramen's Local 641.

David Mendoza, who has been appointed musical director of the Brooklyn Vitaphone studio to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Harold Levey, came to the Vitaphone studio from Warner's Bur-bank studio, where he was attached to the musical staff. While in Burbank, Mendoza wrote the scores and conducted the orchestra for "The Mad Genius," and "Svengali," in both of which John Barrymore was starred. Prior to his entry into the films, Mendoza worked as musical director at the Capitol in New York for nine years. Last spring, he acted as guest conductor of a 216-piece orchestra at the Paramount.

William Clark in Milwaukee

Milwaukee—William Clark, formerly with Fox Midwest in Green Bay, where the circuit closed two of its theaters recently, has been named assistant manager of the Garfield, local Fox neighborhood house, succeeding John Matis.

MANY HAPPY RETURNS

Best wishes are extended by THE FILM DAILY to the following members of the industry, who are celebrating their birthdays:

Ten Years Ago

When Will Hays entered the Motion Picture Industry in January, 1922, there was but one motion picture daily newspaper and that was THE FILM DAILY. Already five years old it had established a reputation for independence, service and complete coverage.

By that time the FILM DAILY YEAR BOOK was already acknowledged the STANDARD reference book of the industry. It has grown bigger and better each year since then. Publication reputations, like those of individuals, are built upon accomplishment.

To-Day

Impartial observers refer to The Film Daily as the foremost representative publication of the motion picture industry and characterize the 1200 page annual Film Daily YEAR BOOK as the finest book of reference, not only in motion pictures, but any other industry.
NEWS OF THE DAY

Dallas—Arthur Koebnick, formerly with M-G-M, has been re-engaged by the Metro sales force by S. Lowens, general sales manager, and C. E. Kressnick, district manager.

Philadelphia—Herb Given is handling Classic Pictures in this territory, working out of the Masterpiece exchange which is handling distribution for Classic.

Providencia—RKO has closed the Victory, downtown first-run house, to reopen after the first of the year. Extensive repairs are planned.

Denver—W. A. Haeflinger, recently manager of the Brunswick branch here, has been added to the Warner salesmen.

Detroit—William F. Mainland has formed the Movie Memoirs, at 2000 Litchfield Avenue. The company will film personal movies for private individuals, using 16 mm. films.

South Lyons, Mich.—The Temple, closed for some time, has been sold to the Rev. A. H. Frost, who are reopening the house.

H. A. Janecky Joining Comerford Milwaukee — H. A. Janecky has resigned as manager of the Warner here to join the Comerford circuit in the East. He is succeeded by E. H. Payne, former manager of the Capitol, Chicago, and before that with RKO here.

New Policy for Roger Sherman New Haven—Starting Christmas the Roger Sherman, Warner de luxe house, will add vaudeville. It is planned to build up programs of feature pictures, Vitaphone shorts and eight act specials supplied by the Warner Artists’ Bureau.

Viola Cooper on Expedition Viola Irene Cooper, play broker, has signed in charge of motion picture pictures on an expedition to Greenland, scheduled to start next June, with Captain Johansen in charge. The principal object of the expedition is to obtain some unusual polar bear shots. Captain Johansen acted as leader on Commander Byrd’s expedition to Little America.

16 Philly Exhibitors Versus United Artists

M.P.T.O. of Eastern Pennsylvania, So. N. J. and Delaware held here Friday, the following letter was sent to Al Lichtman of United Artists.

Dear Mr. Lichtman:

As Allied Film Distributors of Philadelphia, we wish to express our protest to you, and the counsel of the organization:

1. It is the practice of your organization to let any exhibitor place a poster on the theatre premise. Your reply to our open letter of protest of the refusal of your company to remove these posters, or to discontinue the same, is so through with inaccuracies and untruths as to have no secondhand, that we feel sure that in the exercise of executive of considerable reputation in the trade press.

There were present at the Nov. 27 meeting of the Board of Managers of this organization:

Among those will hand you the names of exhibitors most representative and most conservative in the territory—men whom you know personally to enjoy the highest reputation for honesty and fairness. The vote of these exhibitors is the use of your organization.

The United Artists Corporation to quit the distribution field was not a popular choice on the floor of the NAWA. A number of our company ever heard upon the floor of an exhibitor’s meeting, expressing his Views.

The frantic attempt of your local representatives to reach ‘reach’ solution by dividing the cake to suit you and after the meeting, with tempting bait in the form of a promise as to new releases, but if we are happy to prove, proved futile, the fact is, that a number of the exhibitors present desire to maintain their independence, perhaps even to the point of opposition to your organization, was a strong point in their favor.

The resolute stand of your organization to maintain a policy which will be an added inducement for exhibitors to become members of the organization.

The meeting of the Board of Managers of this organization.

We are happy to report that the agreement with exhibitors with legitimate grievances.

You will recall, Mr. Lichtman, that two years ago, this organization had composed a similar protest to the trade but was prevented from issuing it by your definite assurance at a three-hour conference in Philadelphia that $100,000 had been set aside by your company to adjust the complaints of exhibitors. We regret that you have again been guilty of this, and that at our conference, this is the only basis for your agreement.

A word from the exhibitors may be appropriate.

It is the consideration and a clear case of overselling is shown, the film company presumably accepted or rejected.

We are willing, however, to rest our case with the exhibition that has been. To date, we have not substantiated or denied.

As for the general contents of your statement, we quote from United Artists products are right, then those of every other film company must be wrong. Here again we are willing to rest the case upon the exhibits of exhibitors throughout the nation whose dealings with the trade are without exception of the highest standard. We are also willing to cease the activity of the persons who have left them disillusioned, embittered and hopeless, and to permit the methods and policies which are the cause of our complaint.

We would welcome the appointment of your representatives, Mr. Lichtman, who are sure to have full knowledge of the situation, and the other exhibiting members of the exhibitors, in whose fairness we have implicit faith.

Al Lichtman, when asked for a statement yesterday, declined to discuss the statement further.

OPERATORS’ LOCALS VOTE AGAINST SCALE CUTS

26 Features Scheduled by Universal for Next Season

Lineup for 1932-33 to be As Big as This Year, Says Laemmle, Jr.

East Coast Bureau, THE FILM DAILY Hollywood—Universal expects to produce at least 26 features for 1932-33, Carl Laemmle, Jr., told THE FILM DAILY yesterday. This is the same number as for the present season. A good deal of story material considered suitable for the new lineup already is in hand, says Laemmle.

STANDARD RELEASE PRINTS EXPECTED BY FEB. OR MAR.

Standard release prints conforming to the new specifications will be ready for general use in February or March, it is indicated by progress being made in the matter by the Academy of M. P. Arts and Sciences. Exact date of effecting the new plan is contingent upon ability of the studios to furnish prints.

Lester Cowan, executive secretary of the organization, has transmitted to the Coast the projection requirement for 1932-33.

New Company Planning Production in Ft. Worth

Port Worth—J. F. Smith, formerly of Hollywood, has leased a large downtown building here which will serve as a studio location for his recently organized Premier Pictures. He is casting now for a four-reel comedy and also plans to produce advertising shorts. C. R. Herring is production manager.

Staggering Employment

Cleveland—To avoid the hardships that would result from elimination of personnel in merging the RKO and Pathe exchanges, Branch M. Hitz has instituted a stagger plan, giving each one an occasional week off. Roy O’Robin and Jack Schmitzer are special representatives.

“Frankenstein” Blazing B. O. Trails

Breaking all opening and week-end records of the RKO Mayfair by taking in slightly under $33,000 in three days, and with other houses throughout the country reporting S.R.O., broken records and sell-outs, Universal’s “Frankenstein” is on its way to becoming the biggest money maker of the season. At the Mayfair the picture starts at 10 a.m., with the last show beginning at 1:30 after midnight. Crowds were so thick over the week-end that it was necessary several times to stop selling tickets. Joseph Plunkett, while on the coast recently, saw rushes of the picture and predicted it would be a sensation.

Television Not Ready Says Report to Congress

Washington Bureau of THE FILM DAILY

Washington—Television has not yet reached the point where the Federal Radio Commission will recognize commercial possibilities in visual broadcasting. It is stated in the Commission’s report submitted to Congress yesterday.

“Arrowsmith”

“Arrowsmith” is a great picture. It opened at the Gaiety Theater last evening for a Broadway run. It is the screen edition of the widely read Sinclair Lewis novel that had the distinction of being awarded both the Pulitzer and Nobel prizes. The story is Sinclair Lewis at his best, vivid, ironic and picturesquely tragic. The dialogue is human and astonishingly convincing. The direction of John Ford is outstanding. Ronald Colman, Helen Hayes and Richard Bennett, in a lesser role, form the highest bar cast of the season. No story could be commonplace in their keeping. In “Arrowsmith” work is a thing of winning, brilliant and breathlessly real. It is a Saga of the Ages production, a United Artists release. We predict that "Arrowsmith" will make its mark as one of the really great pictures of the year.

Frankenstein...a picture and a thought

Frankenstein

By Jack Alicate

A Story and a Moral on the Universal lot during our recent trip to Hollywood, we predicted in this space that it would be the outstanding thriller of the year. It has proven itself to be a smash. Everywhere it plays, receipts are skyrocketing. We were even more intrigued the second time we saw it. Funny that it should conjure up hazy thoughts of this very business. Starting modestly, growing furiously, spreading and competing dangerously until it became so unwholly in battling its first period of development that its entire structure was in danger of toppling. At that, "Frankenstein," the picture, will no doubt do its share toward slaying the Frankenstein picture bugaboo.

The Fall of an Exploitation a great many letterers of unusual interest these days from motion picture editors and critics of newspapers all over the country in connection with The Film Daily Ten Best Pictures of 1931 poll. Most of them ask a question for the startling lack of originality and aggression in motion picture publicity and exploitation. Some say it is one of the serious causes of lack of patronage. We are neither a publicist nor an exploiter, but we pass the thought along to those masters of the art of bringing-them-in that are being criticized for not doing it.

Soap and Hair Oil Perhaps we are just an old so-and-so in becoming even slightly irritated about it, but we do think the most uncalled

Still the Show Business

By HAROLD B. FRANKLIN

There is a time and a place for everything, including efficiency; but efficiency means merely getting the most for the least. In our case it means not the least cost show, but the best show. There is no possible compromise with entertainment. I can make pictures for a song and run theaters for a couple of nickels but nobody will like them. The irreducible minimum for our product is entertainment; and the top theaters hospitable warmth and charm; for our exploitation, the most active and aggressive kind of what we call showrooming. These things cannot be bought by weight or measurement, nor have they any true value in half measures.

I am fearful for what may happen, if we attempt to over-organize this business of ours to a point where we run smoothly, efficiently—but too quietly. It is an old axiom that nobody ever put on a good show without a lot of headaches. The most successful theaters have the most confused back-stages. To interest people in amusements we must amuse them, by making the best use we can of amusing and entertaining people, and by the same token they must be handled by people who understand and know their values.

We’re still in the show business. We must still put on shows. We better put on good ones. We will have to make that our business and forget all the other details that have begun to crowd in to take our minds away from the one simple job that is ours.

For publicity in the world-wide sale that derived by film stars lending their names and phizogs to advertisements for soap, cigarettes, hair oil and suspenders. And the top-liners are the worst offenders, too. To us, it is pretty cheap stuff and far from the spirit of dignity that exist, at least among the highest strata of screen folk.

OF • BY • AND • FOR • THE Motion Picture Industry

A complete, competent advertising, art and publicity service that plugs a gap or gives you its creative ability one hundred per cent.

CLIENTS BENEFIT FROM A RELIABLE, WELL-KNIT ORGANIZATION OF EXPERTS FOR WHICH THEY PAY ONLY AS THEY GO

Out of the new era has come one of the most unique services in this ever-shifting industry. Our creators of advertising, art and publicity are functioning smoothly and efficiently as an independent unit that is at the call of any company or individual. And when such service is needed—without worry and overhead and headaches when you would call time out. Send us in for one play. Keep us in harness for the duration of your special campaign or as your permanent department. No matter which it may be, you'll have a team geared to the spirit of your task, capable of crashing on to your goal. Costs in keeping with the new era. Fresh, vigorous sales slants applied to your merchandising.

FROM SOUP TO NUTS
We'll take care of the idea, the illustration, the copy, the type, the cuts—all the way or any part of it. We'll follow your direct instructions or work your entire campaign. We'll do the legwork or the headwork. Clear your desk and we'll decorate it with a first-line job—Johnny on the spot as to deadline and Jake as to technique and originality.

YOU GET THE AGGREGATE OF OUR EXPERIENCE
Several among our personnel have held executive jobs with the major motion picture companies. Others have been runners-up. Most have had an unusual background, travel, training, color and all that stuff. Thrown together by the depression, the members of this Company have stuck, added to their experience, applied their background to the new era. Clients derive the benefit of the organization in its entirety, showmanship proven by the Company's output of trade ads, pressbooks, sales letters, etc., etc.

er than two years before, on Dec. 31, 1932. Although he gave no details or hints as to where the levies are to be imposed, and it is generally assumed that efforts will be made to have the usual amusements contribute their share, the movies are expected to be prepared to present their case in such a way that they will escape undue burdens.

Anti-trust law modification, also advocated by the President, would eliminate some dark clouds overhanging the film industry.

Establishing of an emergency re-construction corporation like the former War Finance Corp., and increased expenditures on public works, providing jobs for a large number, were among other constructive recommendations.

Speaking of the general outlook, the President declared that “the country is richer in physical property, in newly discovered resources and in productive capacity than ever before. The major economic forces and weaknesses at home and abroad have not been exposed and can be appraised, and the time is ripe for forward action to expedite our recovery.”

The Screen’s Field of Action

"Where the movies enter into an entirely new form of entertainment is in the successful re-creation of large-scale historic episodes. In the chain of story-telling of which scenes and settings are a part, there is no greater challenge to a director than to bring forward the action in the midst of scenes which depend upon the authenticity and brevity of acting and speaking within the scene. From the advent of adventure tales, the movies have become increasingly the entertainment medium for telling stories of adventure or for creating adventures in the lives of the audience. The entertainment business is definitely passing from the stage to the screen, leaving the true art of the theater a new freedom for development and a special audience of its own."

By RALPH WILK

DOROTHY HOWELL and Robert Riskin, prominent members of the Columbia writing staff, are writing a novel for a new production, which will mark Eddie Buzzell's début as a feature director.

Merian C. Cooper, newest associate producer at Universal, has resigned from his position and will go to several governments. He became interested in aviation during the war and organized the Polish aviation corps, leading it against Russia. He was captured and spent two years in a Russian military camp. Consistent with his adventurous spirit, he has been active in flying, which he has been doing through Central and South America.

Mary Nolan, who appeared in "File 113," has been given a long-term contract by M. H. Hoffman. Her first vehicle under her new contract will be "Vanishing Girl," which she will play the part of "Becky Sharp."

Jack Pickford, who has been in the motion pictures for the past few years, is back in Hollywood with his health restored.

C. C. Burr is all smiles. "Torchy," the first of his series of Torchy novels, is playing at Paramount, Los Angeles, and the Paramount, San Francisco, while "Torchy Passes the Buck," is at the Los Angeles, Torchy Turns the Trick" and "Torchy's Night-Cap" were previewed this week.

Edward Cahn, universal director, and Allen Rivkin and Frank Woolson, Universal writers, showed unsuspected ability as speakers at a meeting of the Los Angeles B'nai Brith lunch club, in which they spoke on the motion picture of tomorrow, while Rivkin's topic was "Broadway Green Writers." Woolson discussed contemporary writers as surgeons of literature.

A. A. Kline, playwright and scenarist, is en route to India, where he will gather material for a play he is writing. He will visit China, Egypt, Greece and other countries before he returns to the United States next spring.

Frank McHugh and Eric Linden are playing the role of "The Coward," warner vehicle for James Cagney and Joan Blondell.

Anton Grot has been assigned the art direction of "Alas the Doctor," the Richard Barthelmess picture which Michael Curtiz will direct for First National. Barney McGill is first cameraman and William Cannon is assisting Curtiz with the direction.

With the increased schedule at Monogram studios, Paul Malvern, former assistant director on westerns, has been appointed as an assistant director, covering material, according to announcement today by Trent Carr. Monogram will also take on the charge of westerns, while Charles A. Post, former production manager, will handle the melodramas.

George Archainbaud, contrary to a report, has not been apprized of an option renewal next year by Radio Pictures. The director's present contract still has several months to go and only recently he completed the making of "Men of Chance," which David O. Selznick has highly approved.

Victor Schertzinger, according to report, is writing a musical score for a big production to be made by one of the local studios. Schertzinger is a prominent musical composer as well as a director.

Rochelle Hudson's contract with Radio has been renewed for six months.

Roy J. Pomroy, who recently granted three additional patents on sound recording and reproduction devices, is expecting to be notified by the Patent Office that another patent on an important invention for taking photographs of sound pictures is due to be published.

Roland Brown starts work soon after the first of the year on the direction of John Barrymore in "Redman's Attorney" for Radio Pictures.

Loretta Sayers and Wallace MacDowd were added last week to the cast of "Evita," now making "a special," under direction of Paul Sloane, Robert Woolsey and Stromberg.

"Herbert Prior was a recent addition to M-G-M's "Arsene Lupin," with the Barrymore brothers.

Radio Pictures assignments: Emmett King, William Davidson and Nanette Lavori for "The Lost Squadron," adapted by Walter Smith and being directed by Paul Sloane; Robert Woolsey for "Tortoise."* * *

Mack Sennett has placed a new comedy under way. It is called "Caught in His Nighty," with many new and popular cappers including Arthur Stone, Helen Mann, Dorothy Granger, Luis Alberni and others. The new director, Clare Stewart, Burt White is directing.

Monogram Pictures has completed "The Ghost City," starring Bill Cody with Andy Shuford. Also cast are Helen Foster, Walter Miller, Kate Campbell, Charles Kline, Victor Moore, Edith Waldo and Jack Carlyle. Harold Fraser directed from his own story.

Wells Root is adapting "The Bird of Paradise," in which Dolores Del Rio will be starred by Radio Pictures under direction of King Vidor.

Paramount has assigned Kay Francis opposite Fredric March in "The Black Fox," to be directed by Letha Mendez. Donald Meek will handle the Broadway stage tenor, to be with Maurice Cameron in "One Hour With You."* * *

Gregory La Cava will direct Fanny Hurst's "Symphony of Six Million" for Radio Pictures.

Tom Tyler starts work within the next few days on his next Monogram picture, "Single-Handed Saunders."* * *

John H. Harris, the Pittsburgh theater man, and Lucille Williams, film actress, plan to be married in January or February. George O'Brien, Fox star, will be best man, and Mary Harris maid of honor.

British Co-op Exhibs Seek Deal With U. S. Distributors

Gordon Craig, British filmman, will soon come to America in an effort to persuade American distributors operating in Great Britain to sell to the exhibitor cooperative which leading English exhibitors have organized. Up to the present American exchanges, taking a same attitude as the Kinematograph Society, John Maxwell and others engaged in production and distribution, have refused to sell to his group.

Holdovers All Over

Besides setting many new gross records, Universal's "Frankenstein" is on the way to establishing holdover records as well. Up to yesterday there were five cities — Cleveland, Boston, Detroit, Washington and Milwaukee — on the list of holdovers for three weeks. Seven cities already are holdovers for a second week, with a good chance of a third. In Rochester and Providence the picture has moved to a different house for a second week, while in 10 cities the regular half-week booking has been extended to a week or 10 days.

Canavan May Quit If Rebate Plan Fails

A report in circulation along Broadway yesterday had William F. Canavan, president of the I. A. T. S. E. and M. P. financing deal that appears so tricky to him, declared the Senator, and he wants the Senate to delve deep into the situation to see if everything is fair and square and aboveboard.

“It seems to me,” Dill said, “that the RKO refinancing plan, providing that unless each stockholder sub-ny to the new stock he will have taken from him three-fourths of his present stock, which will be turned over to RCA as a bonus for taking up the stockholders’ subscription, is taking a dirty advantage of the poor fellow who has stuck but no money to put up, and that he is being put in the spot to lose all his holdings in RKO because of his misfortune and the financial power of RCA.”

RKO Officials Leave

For Baltimore Meeting

Officials of RKO, including B. B. Kahane, William Mallard, Herman Zohbel and J. Miller Walker, left last night for Baltimore with not quite sufficient proxies favoring the RKO re-financing plan to be voted upon at the special meeting today. Hiras S. Brown is expected to leave for Baltimore today with additional proxies received in this morning’s mail. If this does not reach him before 2 p. m. today, he will be voting by proxy with the majority of the stockholders who have already given their proxies.

A new dissenting faction cropped up last night when it was reported from Schenectady that 50 stockholders represented 10,000 shares had named V. W. Reynolds their representative to attend the meeting and oppose the refinancing plan.

Mrs. Caroline Kohl, big Chicago stockholder, also will have her lawyer present presumably to oppose the present plan.

RKO officials have been in New York for the past week attending the stockholders’ meeting and have been in the city for the past week attending the stockholders’ meeting and have been in the city for the past week attending the stockholders’ meeting.

Six more RKO theaters adding vaudeville acts

Six more RKO theaters will include five vaudeville acts in addition to the feature picture and shorts starting Dec. 26. The houses are the Downtown, Detroit; RKO Embroyd, Fort Wayne; Palace, South Bend; Regent, Grand Rapids; Keith’s, Washington, and the Sherman, Pittsburg, Pa.

E. M. Emerson leaves tomorrow on a tour of these cities to supplement personal campaigns now being carried on in connection with the change of policy. The houses have been running a straight picture policy.

Sinclair Lewis Lauds "Arrowsmith" as Film

Upsetting precedent in the reaction of a novelist to the talker version of his book, Sinclair Lewis has sent Samuel Goldwyn a highly laudatory letter of appreciation for the manner in which "Arrowsmith" was talkerized. The novelist also praised Sidney Howard’s adaptation and the acting of Roland Colman, Helen Hayes, A. E. Anson and Richard Bennett, adding that the film “comes off with every emotion I tried to do in ‘Arrowsmith.’”

In an interview with newspapermen, Sinclair also predicted a new era of adult motion pictures which will be made on the principle that not all cinemagoers are morons. He said “Arrowsmith” had not been written down to this level.

and also denied his allegation that the corporation is insolvent and unable to meet its current and maturing obligations. The Warner statement said further: "From the information at hand it is apparent that there is no merit to the charge and the allegations made in the petition are not true in fact. The basis of the petition is that the corporation cannot meet its maturing obligations. This is untrue as the company is paying all bills promptly and taking advantage of cash discounts. The company has no bank loans and has large cash balances. Former Federal Judge Hugh M. Morris of Wilmington has been retained to represent the corporation."

This follows the second receivership bill filed in Wilmington in a year against Warners. The first was dismissed when evidence showed that affidavits obtained from another bill were substituted. Endler goes on to allege that the company suffered bigger losses last year than reported that it has no bank credits because all banking connections were severed, that the Brunswick division of the company, which has big losses and is for sale at $8,000,000 less than purchase price, that preferred dividends are being paid out of surplus and not from earnings, that it holds contracts with stars at exorbitant salaries, that non-operation of many theaters has caused losses, etc. Annual stockholders' meeting of Warner Bros. is to be held here Monday.

15-REEL COMEDY IS PLANNED BY SENNETT

proposed production has been under way for some time at the Sennett studios, but it was only recently that actual negotiations were begun for the assembling of the east which Sennett hopes to make one of the most amazing in current picture offerings.

Negotiations are under way for the signing of such personalities as Clara Bow, Lupe Velez, Jean Harlow and Dorothy Burgess, combining four kinds of "It" in one production. For the male roles Sennett has proposed a line-up which includes Edmund Lowe, Rosco Atex, W. G. Fields, Andy Clyde and Moran and Mack. The supporting cast will probably include Mack Swen, Ben Turpin and Lloyd Hamilton.

The roadshow is planned as the biggest all-star comedy ever placed upon the screen, according to Sennett, who declares that he is more enthusiastic over the undertaking than any picture he has made in his 20 years of comedy producing. Questioned on the length of the production, Sennett said that it might run 15 reels or even longer. "When the public stops laughing, we will ring down the curtain, but not until then," he declared.

EFFECT OF TAX PROPOSAL MINIMIZED BY INDUSTRY

which was expected and has been reported from time to time, is on the verge of actual enactment now that the Finance bill has been passed by Congress that would saddle an additional burden on theaters at a crucial time, it was the opinion of interested men in the industry that the measure was not as bad as it might have been. Similar measures, state-wide in scope, have been and will be introduced in various Legislatures, now in session and starting early in 1932.

"Nothing unusual" was the way J. C. Pettyjohn of the Hayes office commented on the Mellon proposal, he pointed out that during the last regular session of Congress five were introduced.

"Commenting on the recommendations film executives generally pointed out that enacting of a plan such as proposed by Mellon would have the effect of placing a staggering burden on the theaters in a troublesome period. They expressed doubt that the measure would meet the approval of members of Congress familiar with the theaters' situation.

Among executives of major companies willing to comment on the matter was Col. Ed. A. Schiller of Hays' office, who said:

"Generally speaking, I do not believe it possible for the industry as a whole to absorb a 10 per cent ad admission tax. To add the tax to admissions might make prices prohibitive, and to take 10 percent off the grosses would not be possible in view of present conditions. In different situations and isolated cases it might be possible, but generally speaking, as did Secretary of the Treasury, I believe it would lessen business in the theaters."

Opposition by practically all interests included in Motion Picture, which takes in tobacco, automobiles, cigarettes, radios, phonographs, telegrams, cables, etc., is organized to harmonize with this fight that the film interests will put up against the added load, which totals some sort of compromise or total elimination is at least a possibility.

It was also pointed out that a lot could happen between the passing of the recommendation and the actual enactment of a law to put the tax on exhibitions that the levy would start July 1, 1932, and run for two years."

Celebs at M. P. Club

The Motion Picture Club is becoming more of a rendezvous for film celebrities when in the big town. Among notables present there last week were Will Haines, Georges Carpentier, Olsen and Johnson, Edmund Lowe and others.

Joe E. Brown is expected to finish "Fifteen," Save My Child," his newest First National starring film, in about a week, after which he will shoot "Till the First of the Year." Llly, Benton is directing the Brown picture, with a supporting cast that in- cludes John Kavanagh, Paul Kelly, Guy Kibbee, Richard Carle and others.

Arrus Productions’ cameramen photographing the third of the "Ghost of Other Days" series, noticed an old undertaker parlor near Tombstone, Arizona. They called in an effort to secure information regarding the surrounding "ghosts." As they walked in they heard the undertaker complain about the depression, so they asked the usual question, "How’s business?" "Dead," he replied, and "it was serious.

Lois Brock, producer of short subjects for RKO-Radio, has received the sixth and final story of the series starring Chieh Sala. It is an original, as yet untitled, written by Ben Holmes in collaboration with Mark Sandrich, who will direct.

The Kids ... and Christmas time

By Jack Alcoate

Never comes along a Christmas season that we do not gather together the younger ruling members of our household, supplement the gathering with some neighborhood junior social favorites, and act as the Man-From-Cook's in picking out the best Cinema Christmas program in town, of course presided over by old Kriss Kringle himself, for the entertainment, amusement, distraction and all around improvement of mind of this noisy but representative gathering of youngsters. Inasmuch as there are, without doubt perhaps, some twenty-five million additional kids within the confines of these patriotic United States whose minds, at least during his festive season, incline in the same general direction, it does strike us that the exhibitor who fails to make an enthusiastic play for this business is deaf, dumb and slightly blind in at least one eye.

Whenever you get the youngsters pulling for your particular show you are getting the loudest, most enthusiastic and persistent word-of-mouth advertising in the world. When these kids make up their minds it is usually made up as solid as the foundation of the Paramount building. And don't forget they carry along the older folks, too. Grandma, Aunt Sophie, Cousin Lou and all the rest.

There are a hundred and one motion picture subjects, some ordinary perhaps at any other time

RAILWAY EXPRESS JOINS IN FILM RATE REDUCTION

Railway Express Agency, Inc., has joined the Southeastern Express in reducing express rates on return film from exhibitors to film exchanges in Atlanta, Baltimore, Chicago, Cincinnati, Jackson- ville, Louisville, Memphis, New Orleans, St. Louis and Washington. The reduction is 50 per cent of the former rate, provided the film is sent both ways on one company's lines, and is effective Jan. 1. According to George F. Lee, vice-president of the R.E.A., the reduction is in the form of an experiment. If successful, it may be extended effect through the country. Lee also said that the cut in rates has been made to meet motor truck competition.

Goldreyer Will Handle

Two Conford Theaters

Alfred C. Goldreyer, manager and supervisor of the Concourse, Bronx, theater, owned by the Conford Amuse- ment Co., Inc., has just taken hold of the 1,200-seat theater which the company will take over shortly at Forest Park Road and Davidson Ave. Conford owns the building in which the Band Box theater is situated and upon expiration of the lease shortly it will be rebuilt into a modern playhouse.

The Concourse also is undergoing extensive improvements in the effort to make it one of the finest houses in the Bronx.

Favorable weather has expedited the building of several new Warner Bros. theaters, it is stated by Herman Maler, head of the construction department. The Warner in Ridgewood, N. J., is ready for roofing; the steel work for the Warner in Nashville, Tenn., and the big office building being erected in connection with it, has been completed; and excavation work has been completed for the office building for the Rialto and the theater in Mansfield, O., and bids have been asked on the construction work.

Dozens of Stunts Aimed to Increase Size of B. O. Lines

tendance. That the holiday slackness in theater trade can be overcome by the right kind of effort has been demonstrated particularly over the Publix circuit, which this year again has mapped out the most aggressive campaign of all.

Among the principal lines of activity being followed in going after the December business is to offer patrons special inducements to attend theaters. Extra attractions on weekday nights, mostly in the nature of promoted local talent shows, attractive give-aways and holiday book-ups, have been found productive of results.

Film bookings for the period are to be chosen for their holiday suitability as well as general box-office appeal, with particular stress on attractions that will bring in the kids during their Christmas vacation period.

Ticket-Selling Ideas An Important Factor

While a Yuletide atmosphere, Christmas trees, decorations, etc., are all good checking accommodations and other trimmings will serve to brighten up a theater and put folks in the spirit of the season, the most important thing is to work out ideas that will result in ticket sales. The Christmas tree can create cheer, but something else is necessary—local Follies, contests of various kinds, a double-truck, etc.—to bring the folks to the b. o. and everything must be planned to that end.

Bigger Ballyhoo Bringing Results

Theater ballyhoo during the pre-holiday weeks must be designed to meet the competition of the tremendous amount of other ballyhoo that is in progress on all sides at this time. Even the big houses, which for a long time have refrained from the more obvious forms of exploitation, are now adopting strong attraction methods and finding them profitable. Similar intensification is turning the trick for the smaller theaters. The public of late has become very much ballyhoo-minded and must be approached accordingly.

Different Stunt For Each Night

To cover the widest possible amount of potential patronage, a different stunt for each night of the week is perhaps the most effective plan. Ideas which can be utilized in almost any city include: Local talent articles going to relief work, and offering opportunity to have the mayor or other notable open the auction; school debates, home town night, American Legion night, dancing school review, country store, give-away night, Boy Scout tie-up, community singing.

A group of the best six stunts for special nights can be worked out and the same features repeated on corresponding days of the following week.

Cooperation from Local Merchants

Getting the cooperation of local merchants should be an easy matter, inasmuch as give-away nights can be designed to spur Christmas shopping. Several cooperative ads pages can be obtained in this connection. Arrangements whereby theaters will purchase a daily quantity of admissions for distribution to patrons also can be utilized to advantage.

Books of Tickets A Christmas Gift

Preparing books of admission tickets is a good Christmas gift idea. By plugging this feature, selling persons on the unusual acceptability of theater tickets as a present, and the many occasions of enjoyment that such a gift will provide to the recipient, these sales can be boosted considerably.

Attractive cards, in gold, silver or other colors depending on the face value of the tickets, can be printed. The easiness of almost any one to boast that he has a "pass" to a theater is one of the best avenues of approach in putting over this idea.

Increasing Holiday Ticket Sales

In addition to the practice of giving books of tickets or admission cards good for so many performances, both becoming more popular each year as Christmas gifts, five-wire exhibitors are now utilizing opportunities for disposing of extra admissions here and there around the holidays.

One good plan is to have merchants buy tickets, at regular box-office prices, to be offered to customers who make Christmas purchases amounting to $10 or more at any given trade outlet, but the merchants also will feature the plan in their newspaper advertising.

The many booster clubs now in existence throughout the country, such as the Mickey Mouse, Terry-Tooners, Mickey McGuire and other kid organizations, also can be utilized in promoting sales of tickets.

Special Campaigns To Bring in the Kids

As the holiday season presents a good opportunity for attracting kid patronage, some special effort in this direction is important. There is no better time for starting a serial. If the features booked are not likely to particularly interest the youngsters, it is an easy matter to build up the program so that the necessary type of shorts. Other desirable activity includes kiddie stage shows with local talent, harmonica contests, prize drawings and gift tie-ups with newspapers and merchants, sending of birthday or holiday cards or giving birthday parties, promotions through the ticket window, etc.

Among the give-aways planned are four automobiles, four radios, four electric refrigerators, two sets of furniture, a pair of pianos, five tons of coal, 10 electrical appliances, five jewelry prizes plus a $250 give-away prize on Christmas Eve. Proper exploitation of the event is being planned.

The Fairfax in Miami is calling the period from Thanksgiving to Christmas "Give-Away Month" and has a long list of items set, mostly outstanding of which is a holiday trip to Havana.

Other houses throughout the circuit are putting on similar stunts.

New Year's Blowoff

A good climactic stunt to top off New Year's Eve shows would be to stage a home-talent tableau containing a mock battle between Santa, Old Man Depression, and 1935 as Young Kid Prosperity. The bout can start at five minutes to midnight, allowing just enough time in which to make for big noise as the New Year is ushered in.

BIG DIVERSITY OF STUNTS BEING WORKED BY PUBLIX

Following up the success attained through intensive Christmas ballyhoo drives in past years, Publix is again conducting a concerted campaign to boost the December slump. Besides the wide diversity of "attract-a-nite" features applicable to almost any theater, many sections of the trade are going in for stunts of a big nature.

Probably the most comprehensive, give-away program planned in the South, is that now being initiated by Manager Beaver and District Publicity Director Beck at the Alabama, Birmingham. Give-aways every night in December before Christmas aggregating in value over $20,000, will, it is thought, rip the town open and definitely establish the city's standing place of entertainment in Birmingham.

Among the give-aways planned are four automobiles, four radios, four electric refrigerators, two sets of furniture, a pair of pianos, five tons of coal, 10 electrical appliances, five jewelry prizes plus a $250 give-away prize on Christmas Eve. Proper exploitation of the event is being planned.

The Fairfax in Miami is calling the period from Thanksgiving to Christmas "Give-Away Month" and has a long list of items set, mostly outstanding of which is a holiday trip to Havana.

In Lynchburg, Va., the three Publix theaters in the town will give away automobile away the night of Dec. 23.

In Pennsylvania and New York, theaters are putting on stage shows; local stock companies, merchants, jubilee weeks, Santa Claus parades, radio station glee clubs, baby contests, spelling bees, stage weddings, beauty contest, and style shows.

Other houses throughout the circuit are putting on similar stunts.

Holiday Street Stunt

If you can get the use of idle trolley cars, make a tieup with the telephone company to use them to ballyhoo your New Year's Eve show.

Plan the program as a lively affair, and then ballyhoo it with gay ban- ners on the street cars, which should be run not only through the town, but also as far as possible, in likely places.

"Champ" and "Ben Hur" Being Plugged by M-G-M

M-G-M is getting behind "The Champ," Jackie Cooper-Wayne Beery story, and its revival, "Ben Hur," now with synchronized score and effects. The latter especially is an appropriate attraction for the season and can be tied up with organizations and pushed for good attendance by any entering exhibitor.

Revival Week

M. B. Horowitz, general manager of the Washington Circuit in Cleveland, has been very successful with revivals to overcome the added sales resistance of pre-Christmas activities. He lets his patrons vote for the pictures to be revived. A sample, taken from the revival program being shown next week at the Heights in Cleveland Heights, follows: "Whoopie" and "Disraeli" Monday, "Morocco" and "Connecticut Yankee," Tuesday, "Holiday" and "New Moon," Wednesday, "The Millionaire," and "A Free Soul," Thursday, "Seed" and "Lightnin'," Friday, "Abraham Lincoln," and "Father and Son," Saturday, "Skippy" and "Daddy Long Legs.

Special Holiday Trailers by Nat'l Screen

Special holiday material has been prepared by the National Screen Service for Christmas release. Featured is the De Luxe Merry Christmas Greeting, an elaborate subject artistically prepared with a background of inspiring music and choral singing. For theaters desiring shorter trailers, a Junior Trailer has been made. The former is 208 feet and the Junior 111 feet. A De Luxe Happy New Year Greeting, a Junior New Year's Greeting and special trailers announcing New Year's Eve midnight shows have also been prepared. Clever animation and synchronization coupled with rhythmic music and snappy tempos are incorporated in all the releases.

Jackie Cooper's "Sooky"

Highlights Para. List

Paramount's sales force will tell you that no holiday program is complete without "Sooky," featuring Jackie Cooper, Robert Coogan and other juvenile players who appeared in "Skippy." Another Paramount picture said to have special Christmas appeal is "Husband's Holiday," featuring Clive Brooke, Vivienne Osborne and Juliette Compton.

Universal Finds Four Good For Holiday Trade

Eight Monogram Westerns For Christmas Playdates

Monogram releases will exclusively carry a Western flavor. Four starring Tom Tyler are: "Partners of the Trail," "Man from Death Valley," "Two-Fisted Justice" and "Galloping Thru." Co-starring Bill Cody and Wild West shows are the following: "Dugan of the Badlands," "The Montana Kid," "Oklahoma Jim" and "Land of Wanted Men.

Tiffany Featuring Two Western Series

Bob Steele, the handsome cowboy who appeals to the girls as well as to the boys, appears in "Near the Trail's End" and "The Nevada Buckaroo.

"Murder at Midnight," mystery drama, also is among the Tiffany pictures in release at Christmas.

Taking advantage of the Holiday school vacations as a favorable time to start the showing of a serial, Nat Levine, president of Mascot Pictures, has arranged for the release of one of his new serials, "The Lightning Warrior," with Rin-Tin-Tin, at this time.

"Exhibitors in planning their Christmas shows should bear in mind that the holiday weeks are particularly kid weeks at theaters," says Levine. "In addition, therefore, to whatever special seasonal shorts or features they choose on their Christmas-week programs, they will want to include a good serial. Christmas week is the best week of the year to open a serial, for the right serial will insure winter's demand of unusual kid patronage that is practically assured during this vacation period.

Chance for Extra Space In Newspaper Stories

There is no better time than the holiday season for getting extra space in the newspapers by supplying them with the right kind of press matter. This is the period when editors yearn for human interest stories of movie stars, their Christmas activities, making New Year's pledges, and so on.

Regular and special publicity matter, applying to the pictures booked, can be obtained from all distributing companies, and the wide-spread exhibitor will go after such material and make the most of it.

It is important to bear in mind that the human interest angle is of principal value in getting consideration for these stories. Editors, during these festivo weeks, will give more consideration to that point than to any other in their selection of copy.

Gold, Silver and Red

An ideal Christmas gift suggestion, especially adaptable for neighborhood theaters to the gold, silver and red pass card idea being exploited by the Little Picture House in New York. The gold card, costing $10, admits two persons to 10 different performances the Silver, at $5, is good for two persons at five performances, and the Red at $2, for two to any week day matinees. Each of the cards represents a substantial discount from the regular scale, making them attractive as a gift of long cheer at low cost.

Plenty Gay Shorts to Cheer Xmas Bills

Wide Variety of Subjects Available for Building Up Yule Programs

A gala array of short subjects suitable for Christmas release, with special appeal to the kiddies, is available at every sales exchange in the country. Not only are recent productions significant to the holiday spirit, but many shorts produced during the year may be booked, and many cases re-booked, to fill out the Christmas program. Plenty of cartoons, juvenile comedies, song reels and travel shorts with timely content or angles are on the bookers' lists. In many cases where exhibitors are playing a feature that in no way is pertinent to the holiday, the spirit may be aroused through the building up of a colorful short subject program around the main picture.

Vitaphone Strong On Christmas Subjects

Featuring its latest short subject production, "The Season's Greetings," Vitaphone is presenting more than a score of shorts suitable for Christmas programs. "The Season's Greetings" carries the story of a little boy and girl who on Christmas morning examine the toys left by Santa Claus. Billy Hayes, Vitaphone's Penrod of the Booth Tarkington Juvenile Stories, and Betty Schlar, the Marjorie Jones, are the children. As Billy Hayes picks up his first gift, a copy of Robert L. Ripley's new "Believe It or Not" book, it dissolves into an enlarged reproduction of the book and Ripley steps out. He tells a few "Believe It or Not" about Christmas and then steps back into the book again. Joe Penner pops out of a Jack-in-the-box, and then two dolls dissolve into Thelma White and Fanny Watson dressed in rompers, while another doll develops into Janet Reade who sings a specially prepared song, "Many Happy Returns of the Day." Ted Husing broadcasts the "Season's Greetings," and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Norwell add their bit of seasonal cheer.

Other Vitaphone shorts that will please both old and young and will fit the Christmas program are: "Red Headed Baby," an Merrie Melody cartoon in which several dolls in a toy shop come to life and dance for the old toy market; "One Good Deal," played by the famous Booth Tarkington juvenile characters; "Poo Lights," a two-reeler of songs and dances in which the Albertina Rasch dancing girls are featured; a colorful band short, "Darn Tootin!," starring Rudy Wiebert with his 21- foot Klaxon and "Shoe Hooper," with Hal Le Roy, the young dancing sensation of the "Follies," and a charmingly funny lecture by Dr. Kirkwood titled "Relativity and Relatives."

RKO Shorts Bring Santa To Screen

Santa Claus is the leading actor in several short subjects being released by Radio Pictures and RKO Pathé. "Santa's Tour Shop," an Audio Review, is available for the holidays. It shows Santa Claus making various toys and figures. All his toys come to life and have a merry party. Mickey's Helping Hand," featuring Mickey McGuire, has been built around a Christmas background and made especially for holiday release. It is a two-reeler and particularly suitable for the week. "Toy Town Tales," "Fairyland Follies," and the "Family Show," which are Aeops' adaptations to Christmas programs. Each carries a big appeal for the nursery rhyme characters coming to life and prancing with the famous Fables animals.

Juvenile Subjects On Paramount List

Several shorts particularly suited to Christmas bills are on Paramount's current release list. The test for holiday purposes are those featuring the Little Children's Trio and "Back Yard Follies." Song cartoons also present opportunities.

"A Christmas Party" is M-G-M's Special

Jackie Cooper, supported by Nor- nia Shearer, Clark Gable, Wallace Beery, Marion Davies, Marie Dress- ler, Ramon Novarro, Lionel Barry- more, Robert Montgomery, Polly Moran, Charlotte Greenwood, Cliff Edwards, Anita Page, Jimmy Durante and Lelía Hyams, stars in "A Christmas Party," claimed by M-G- M to be the greatest all-star cast short of all time. The picture also serves to bring Jackie Cooper's mother to the screen. In the story, Jackie gives a Christmas party for his football gang. The attendance swells as the holiday builds up over one of the largest M-G-M sound stages, with many of the satellites of filmdom playing the parts of waiters, Chimp comedies and animal stars.

Also adapted for holiday showing are the following M-G-M subjects: "Trader Hound, " a Dogville comedy; "Dogs in Dogs, " Our Gang comedy; "Hasty Marriage, " Charley Chase comedy; "Beau Hunks, " Laurel and Hardy four-reeler; "I Love a Las- sie, " Harry Lauder starred; "Ball, the Island Paradise, " a FitzPatrick Travel talk; "Whippet Racing," one of the Sport Champions series.

"The Holy City" Tops Ideal List

Ideal Pictures, of which M. J. Kandel is president, is featuring its ravelogue, "The Holy City," as specially suitable for Christmas programs. The short is a lecture-picture presentation of biblical subjects to people. Also on Ideal's holiday program is "When Winter Comes," a short on animals preparing their winter homes.

"There is a Santa," Says Imperial

William Pizor of Imperial Distribution Co. yesterday announced that his latest short, made specially for the Christmas holidays is now available for release. The picture is titled "There is a Santa Claus," and concerns a young lad and a Salvation Army Santa who find happiness in each other's generosity.

Chimps and Football Offered by Tiffany

Two of Tiffany's series of short features, released by Educational, recommended for presentation during the holiday season, are the Chipm comedies, which have been extremely popular with the kids, and the "Football for the Fan" series, still timely and appropriate for the holiday audiences.

T.P.E. Features

Snooky Comedies

"Snooky" monkey comedies, released by Talking Picture Epics carry a special appeal to the kiddies and grown-ups alike. Late release have been prepared for the holiday week and are now available at the T.P.E. exchanges.

Educational's List Is Long and Varied

An extensive and diversified va- rity of shorts for holiday bills is now available from Educational. Andy Clyde is recommended in "Shopping With Wife," "Half Holiday," "Tax Trouble," and others.

Additional Mack Sennett comedies calculated to please the youngster element particularly include: "All-American Kickback," "The Great Mystery," "First Fling," "One Yard to Go," Featuring Bing Crosby are "I Surrender Dear," and "One More Chance."

In the series are the two Tom Patricola subjects, "The Tamale Vendor" and "Si, Si, Senor," the Hollywood Girl comedies, and the all-fowl comedy, "A Fowl Affair."

The Torchy comedies, with the leading character a juvenile himself, are also recommended. Sports routines that combine thrills, action, and realism for the boys and girls in "No Holds Barred," "Inside Baseball," and "Canine Capers."

Lyman H. Howe's Hodge Podge series combines beauty and novelty. In this classification also is the Ro- mantic Journeys group. Mack Sennett Brevities, also recommended for the youngsters, are "Who's Who in the Zoo," and "The World Flier."

Children being avid readers of mystery yarns, the William J. Burns Detective Mysteries go over well during the holidays.

Cartoon Impersonations

Exploitation of cartoons included in holiday programs may be secured through holding of children's parties at which all attendants are required to dress in costumes depicting the car- toon characters. Prizes might be offered to the best representatives of the original characters. This can be worked on Mickey Mouse, Krazy Kat, Terry-toon, Aesop Fables or other cartoon characters.
SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS TRI-ERGON SOUND PATENT

he Patent Office, should be granted.

The invention involves a tiny photo-electric cell such as is in general use for reproduction of sound films, and granting of the patent gives to Tri-Ergon the right to demand royalties from all persons or firms now using its invention.

As many of the reproducing machines now in use by a number of the large film companies are involved in the disputed cell, it is expected that many million dollars will change hands as a result of this decision.

Justice Adkins ruled in a 24-page decision against the assertion of the patent office that the cell is merely a development or refinement of an existing invention, and held that the cell, as embodied in plans and specifications filed in the patent office, is entirely new invention.

The plaintiffs are Josef Engel, Hans Vogt, and Joseph Masole, all of Germany. They have controlled patents on the invention in Great Britain, Canada, Germany, Holland, Norway, and Switzerland. They claim that in Berlin in 1922 they gave the first demonstration ever given of talking motion pictures, utilizing photo-electric reproduction of sound.

American Seating Reports Loss

Chicago — American Seating Co. and subsidiaries report for nine months ended Sept. 30, net loss of $41,727 after depreciation, provision for extraordinary losses on bad debts and other charges, comparing with profit of $218,528 after charges, but before federal taxes in first nine months of previous year.

For quarter ended September 30, 1931, net loss was $250,987 after charges, against net loss of $84,315 in preceding quarter and profit before federal taxes of $379,923 in third quarter of 1930.

Magazine Stories for Big 4
Stories appearing in current action magazines will be utilized by Big 4 for the remainder of the company’s westerners on this year’s program, says John R. Freuler, president. Freuler favors the use of current material because of its modern slant, whereas adaptation of old stories or theme material usually is outmoded.

Eastern Radio Stations Want Coast Talent

Probably influenced by the Bing Crosby incident, Eastern radio stations are engaged in a feverish search for more coast personalities to bring to New York and develop into sensations, perhaps, according to Roger Marchetti, Hollywood lawyer. Though he is not an agent, Marchetti says that since his arrival here last week he has been besieged with appeals for suggestions on broadcast talent possibilities from the west. Among those who are expected to be brought east is Arthur Lake, screen juvenile, and Paul Gregory, who is wanted by Florent Ziegfeld. Marchetti is remaining in New York until the arrival of Howard Hughes, due next week.

The M-G-M sales executive declared featuring as the industry's worst menace and pointed out that bills of this kind prevent paying of box-office shorts.

"There's nothing the matter with business when M-G-M pictures are played," said Feist. "Never before has showmanship meant so much to the theater, he declared. Exhibitors who are using this faculty are still singing the tune-stay-at-home, he asserted. Personalities now have a greater significance at the box-office than at any other period in the industry's history, Feist said.

Boxing Film Booked

Sport World Films, Inc., which will handle pictures of the Singer-Tattalone boxing match to be staged at Madison Square Garden for the benefit of the New York American Christmas Fund, has closed with M-KO for showing of the pictures at Greenpoint, Hippodrome, Jefferson, Regent, Royal, 23rd St., 125th St., Park Lane, Orpheum and Tilyou, all in the metropolitan district.

Alperson, Sears Wind Up Tour of WB-FN Branches

E. L. Alperson, general sales manager of Warner-First National, and Gradwell L. Sears, western sales manager, returned to New York yesterday from a tour of exchanges, including a visit to the Burbank studios, where they looked over the 12 pictures to be released in January and February. Among cities visited were Milwaukee, Kansas City, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, Salt Lake City, Denver, Omaha, Des Moines, Minneapolis, St. Louis, Memphis, Oklahoma City, Dallas, New Orleans and Charlotte.

Kansas City — Nine hundred exhibitors, theater men, and their friends attended the film row frolic at the Plaza-Mer. The proceeds, which are large, will be devoted to charitable purposes. C. F. McIlvride was chairman of the committee. Other members included R. C. Borg, T. R. Thompson, Ed Dubinsky, Lawrence Lehman, H. H. Barrett and Oscar A. Morgan.
HOLLYWOOD

EDNA MAY OLIVER, before leaving recently for a three weeks' vacation in the east, signed a new contract with Radio Pictures whereby she will be featured in five pictures during the coming year, according to David O. Selznick, production head. Miss Oliver is due back here about the first of the year to start in "Frontier," to be followed by "Hold 'Em Jail," to be supervised by Lew Lipton.

Radio Pictures also has given new contracts to John Halliday, featured player, and Bernard Schubert, writer.

Big 4's "Human Targets," starring Buzz Barton, is finished as far as camera work is concerned and is now being edited. J. P. McGowan directed, and the cast is headed by Francis X. Bushman, Jr., Pauline Pown, Ted Adams, Franklyn Farnum, Edward Cobb and Nanci Price. The third Bob Custer western for Big 4 has just gone in work under the tentative title of "Wanted—A Ridding Boss," which sounds as though it will be very temporary.

Fannie Hurst and J. Walter Ruben of the Radio Pictures writing staff will work together on "Symphony of Six Million," the story of Manhattan streets to be brought to the screen early next year. Gregory LaCava will direct.

Tala Birell, who doubled for Marlene Dietrich in Berlin and was brought to this country by Universal to appear in foreign versions, has been placed under contract by Carl Laemmle, Jr., and assigned to the feminine lead in "Marriage Interlude," the Luigi Pirandello story to be directed by William Wyler. The picture goes before the cameras next week.

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., who returned to Hollywood last week from a brief visit to New York, will begin work on his next assignment, the starring role in a French-speaking version of "Local Boy Makes Good," on Dec. 17, according to present plans. As soon as he has completed this foreign version, Doug Junior will begin work on an original story, "The Goldfish Bowl," authored by Marsh McCall, Jr.

It's Colonel Evelyn Knapp now, by grace of an honorary commission just bestowed upon her by the Hollywood Post of the American Legion. The actress has recently played a prominent part in support of William Powell in "The Star Witness," this having been her first screen assignment since the serious accident she suffered last summer when she fell while out hiking with her brother. She is under a long-term contract to Warners.

Artless Pictures announces that the second Harry Carey picture is now in production under the title of "Without Honors" with the following cast: Harry Carey, Mae Busch, Mary Jane Irving, Gibson Gowland, Ed. Brady, Lafe McKee, Jack Richardson, Tom London, Lee Sage and Pardner Jones, directed by William Nigh. It will be released Jan. 8.

Nora Gregor, European actress, now on her way east for a visit, will be given a featured role in a new M-G-M English dialogue picture on her return. Miss Gregor was a star in Max Reinhardt's Vienna company for several seasons. She was brought to this country by M-G-M for foreign versions.

"Old Man Minick," the new picture in which Charles ("Chic") Sale will be starred by Warner Bros., is nearing completion under the direction of Archie Mayo. Little Dickie Moore, who appeared with Sale in "The Star Witness," is one of the headliners in the cast. Others are Lois Wilson, Ralph Harolde, Adrienne Doris, May Boley, Noel Francis and Mandie EHune.

Walter Huston's forthcoming M-G-M starring vehicle, now being directed by Charles Brabin from an original story by W. R. Burnett, has been definitely titled "The Beast of the City." This production is tentatively listed as a January release. Jean Harlow, Wallace Ford, Jean Hersholt and John Miljan have supporting roles in the film.

Jos. M. Schenck Advocates Fewer Films to Cut Costs

Says Curtailment Would Also Cure Double Feature Evil

The problem of production costs can be solved provided film companies slash their programs, declared President Joseph M. Schenck of United Artists in an interview with THE FILM DAILY yesterday. Taking the attitude that too many features are being produced each year, the executive declared that adoption of this idea would also kill off double feature bills, a great industry evil.

12 SHORTS, 4 FEATURES PLANNED BY GOLD SEAL

West Coast Bureau, THE FILM DAILY

Hollywood — Gold Seal Pictures starts work this month on “The King’s Jester,” first of a series of two-reelers with six-year-old Bobby Burke as star. O. A. Peters, organizer of Gold Seal Pictures, will direct the picture, which will be made in English, German, Spanish and French.

Gold Seal will make four features, with “Ave Maria,” starring Betty Tompkin, as the first subject.

The Best Is Yet To Come
—a word in favor of organized operation

it's a safe bet—that you will see—more amazing things—in entertainment progress—and more profits made—than ever before.

To ACHIEVE this end—there is going to be—closer co-operation—between the films—and the radio—and the theater. A sort of—three-way combination—working in accordance—with formulated plans—for mutual benefit. Talent and personalities—will be developed—and built up—through screen and radio—and then booked around—for personal appearances—that will mean—r. o. r.—for every engagement. The radio stations—in place of killing off—their sensational artists—by overbooking them—the air—will extend their life—at b. o. magnifies—by letting them make—occasional tours. The same applies—to a bigger number—of screen players—whose popularity—and capacity to earn—for their employers—would be enhanced—by periodic flyers—on the stage.

Look at the way—Bing Crosby is drawing—in the flesh—at the Paramount—and in his—Educational shorts—after being made—by the radio. Look at Kate Smith—and her Palace record— Look at the crowds—-that turned out to see—William Haines in person.  And then there are—Joe E. Brown—and Judy Rogers—and Rudy Vallee—and James Cagney—and Mitzi Green, et al.  Just a few examples—but they give you—a rough idea—of the possibilities—if properly employed.  The present reluctance—of film studios—and radio stations—to let their stars—run off on tours—must be overcome—by looking at it—in a broader sense—than film schedules. A valuable personality—if kept in the studio—the all—-the time—is likely to be—entirely played out—in a few years—but if the artist—is judiciously distributed—between radio—and theater—or screen—and theater—or all three—he has a chance—to be a drawing card—-several times as long—and become more profitable—all around.

It's a simple combination—build them up—by radio and screen—and then cash in on them—through personal tours. But do it—on a big scale—not in just a few cases—like preselling. Send one flock out—and build up others—then send them out—and continue it—until there are enough—to bring into the theater—every potential patron—throughout the land.

Speaking of organization—in all the attacks—on circuit system—no one has remembered—to bestow due honor—for the present elegance—of the movie theater. To organized circuits—belong the credit—for today's standards—of comfort and beauty—convenience and service. For all that's been said—about the advantages—of individuality—in theater operation—nobody would trade—the present-day palaces—for the circuits—for the lone opera houses—and drab nickelodeons of the old days. If organized effort—hadn't set the pace—in theater advancements—most of the indices—will still be showing—moving pictures—in halls and screens.

Admission Ticket Measure

Looms in California

An admission tax bill aimed at picture theaters is likely to be introduced in the new session of the California Legislature, said Attorney Milton Golden, member of the House of Representatives, in New York Tuesday for the Cha of Washington. Golden, who is the first representative Hollywood has ever had, came New York Tuesday for the Cha of Washington. He has handled legal matters for various producers and players and has politically aided numerous measures friendly to the industry.

George Washington Film

Being Shown Next Month

Washington Bureau of THE FILM DAILY

Washington—Warner's long-heralded talking picture to be used officially to boost the George Washington Bicentennial Celebration in 1932 will be shown here at the next meeting of the Chamber of Commerce early next month, says A. Julian Brylawski, Warner Bros. representative. The picture cost $60,000 and is the film company's contribution to the nationwide celebrations.

Cines-Pittsburgh Schedule

Running Ahead of Time

Contradicting reports circulated in some quarters that Cines-Pittsburgh, Italian film organization, is in financial straits due to loss of interest of the Banca Commerciale Italiana and refusal of assistance by the government, Dr. Paul R. De Ville, president of Transcontinental Pictures Corp., American agent for the company, declares that Pittaglio not only is in no financial trouble, but its producing schedule is running ahead of time and will be carried out as planned. The Italian government is merely giving a financial award to the best pictures made by Pittaglio, and there has been no change in the government's attitude nor in the banking connections of the company, Dr. De Ville states.

Diplomats to See "Terra Madre"

Washington Bureau of THE FILM DAILY

Washington—"Terra Madre," Cines-Pittaglio picture distributed by Transcontinental Pictures Corp., New York, will be shown as part of an entire Cines program provided by Transcontinental for the reception being given Sunday by the Bureau of Commercial Economics to Baron De Martino, dean of the diplomatic corps, in the ballroom of the Shoreham Hotel.

Little Miss Einfald Makes Bow

New York—Little Miss Einfald, the nine-year-old daughter of S. Charles Einfald, executive in charge of Warner-First National advertising and publicity, has a sister. She weighs seven pounds and was born Friday in the Park West Hospital. Mother and daughter are doing fine; father is beaming joyfully, but little Einfald has not yet had a look at the newcomer.

big company at $50 a week than for an indie at $75, but present conditions have eliminated this situation and the best class of men are available to the independents.

In addition to strengthening of sales forces, this new blood is bringing a factor in establishing a new line of independent exchanges throughout the country, said Johnston.

Many of the exchange managers who could not be retained in the present merger of distributing organizations are opening independent exchanges of their own, thereby making men of the best ability available for the handling of independent product.

Ping-Pong, Card Players Have Chance to Aid Fund

donors is running at record height. E. J. Rosenberg, manager of the Little Carnegie Playhouse, offers the following suggestions in a letter received yesterday: "We 'high brow's like the 77th St. would do our bit for the FILM DAILY RELIEF FUND. We have a small ping pong room with a grand stand and all. How about a tournament this evening? Entrance fees to go to the fund. Also there is a cozy and comfortable card room. Grand for mid-nights or election bridge, stud or straight. Why not the 'kitty' for the Fund? It's a chance for you ping pong players to have some extra fun and at the same time do a big bit toward relieving the want and necessity of many worthy film folk coming in.

Call up Rosenberg and get together for this great charity.

More checks yesterday, BUT NOT ENOUGH. Don't procrastinate. Let's have it today. The more money, the merrier Christmas for all.

ed by leading American industries, is proposed by Roy J. Pomero y, whose company, the American Pomeroy Company is now operating on High-land Ave. The company, formed by Pomero y to handle photographic, re- cording and projection problems for national and independent companies, has spent $75,000 in precision ma-chine equipment, special chemical laboratory and an optical printing department.

Pomero y controls 20 patents and is being granted a basic patent on re-recording. He also is the inventor of the transparency process and various companies are also operat- ing under his licenses. He has also applied for a patent on a device to operate objects in miniature shots, by remote control.

Pomero y's associates are Harry Reynolds, formerly with Paramount, and Herbert Houston, formerly with Hughes Development Co. Fred Hauer, who has been with Paramount, and W. V. Eckart, formerly with Hughes Development Co., are among the organization's engineers, while Don Allison is in charge of the laboratory.

By RALPH WILK

HOLLYWOOD

EUNICE CHAPIN, Columbia contract writer, is the author of a new novel, "City Girl," which will be issued next month. Miss Chapin, whose previous novel, "Pick Up," was sold to a major film studio after becoming a "best seller," was at one time associate editor of McCall's magazine. She was also literary editor of Forum for more than four years. She is now working on an original story for Columbia.

Abbe Meyer supervised the sound effects and muzie for "Love of the Sea," produced by L. B. Chaudieck, and also supervised the music for "The Love of Fannie," a Christie comedy.

Randolph Scott, tall Pacific Coast stage actor from Virginia, will make his debut as a Paramount contract player in "The Miracle Man," which Norman McLeod will direct. Scott has returned from San Francisco, where he was loaned by Paramount to appear with Leo Carrillo in "The Broken Wing," a stage production.

Joe Kane, who cut "Suicide Fleet" for RKO Pathé, is now editing "Prestige," starring Ann Harding.

Argus Prods. has completed "Ghost Ships," the second of "Ghost of Other Days" series. "Ghost Ships" deals with the days of the old square riggers. Gayne Whitman was the narrator.

Lupe Velez has been assigned to play the leading feminine role opposite Fredric March in "The Broken Wing," talking picture version of the stage's ambitious venture into aviation subjects, soon to go into production at the Paramount studios. It is also announced that "The Broken Wing" will be directed by Lloyd Corrigan, whose most recent directorial assignments have been "The Beloved Bachelor" and "No One Man."

One Out of Twenty

Out of about twenty foreign players summoned to Universal City by Carl Laemmle, Jr., for foreign versions, the only one to be retained and put under contract for English pictures is Tala Birell, hailed as Universal's own counterpart of Marlene Dietrich. Miss Birell has undergone intensive study with English teachers to perfect her diction for the microphone. She will have the feminine lead in "Marriage Interlude."

Universal is going to do iti self a heap of credit and win a lot of valuable good will if its production of the newspaper picture, "Ambition," takes place according to expectations. It is the plan, according to studio reports, to make this story favorable to the newspaper, with a reporter in it, the role of dicy for his publication. The story was adapted by Ralph Graves from the Emile Gauvreux novel, and it is likely that Lew Ayres will be starred in it under the direction of Russell Mack.

Lewis Stone has one of the best roles he has had in a long time in the new M-G-M production, "The Wet Parade."

Josephine Dunn has two roles in succession at Paramount, the latest being with Maurice Chevalier in "One Hour With You," and this leads to the report that she may be placed under a term contract. Barbara Leonard and Sheila Mannen are also recent additions to the Chevalier picture.

Warner Bros. are hunting for a suitable story in which to star Marietta Miller again, on her return from the East, where she is now vacationing over the holidays.

Edward A. Blatt, youthful New York producer, has arrived here to take up his duties as a supervisor at Paramount. He is only 28 years old and was responsible for the staging of "Subway Express," "The Up and Up" and other Broadway plays.

Victor Schertzinger, prominent director and composer, is engaged in executing one of the most delightful commissions ever entrusted to him. He is purchasing a $25,000 library to be installed in the home of a friend recently arrived here from Atlanta.

Ralph De Palma, Billy Arnold, Harry Hartz and other famous high speed drivers will probably be seen in action in some of the sequences of James Cagney's next talking picture for Warner Bros., according to present plans. The picture bears the tentative title "The Roar of the Crowd" and is now being cast. Howard Hawks, co-author of the script with Seton I. Miller, will direct.

Universal is giving full credit to the personal appearance of its players in the foreign versions of "Local Boy Makes Good," "Law of the Sea," and "The Golden Bow!""Chadwick, a successful importing agent, has been assigned the foreign version of "The Golden Bow!" for foreign markets, and he has been given every opportunity to work out the foreign language dialogue and with the foreign public. Miss Birell is also to be a featured member of the cast.

Mary Brian has been signed by First National and will have the leading feminine role opposite Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., in his next English-speaking feature. "The Golden Bow!" will be an adaptation of the original story by Mark, and, Jr., and it is expected to enter production around the first of the year. Meanwhile Doug Junior is to make a French-speaking version of "Local Boy Makes Good."

Nedra Gulliette, the strawberry blonde whom Carl Laemmle, Jr., has just signed on a long-term contract, has been assigned to her first part. She will make her film debut as leading lady for Slim Summerville in his seventh comedy of the Marine Corps. It is entitled "In the Bag" and is being directed by Harry Edwards.

James Flood and Elliott Nugent will act as directors of The Mouthpiece, which is soon to go into production at the Warner studios with Warren William in the stellar role. The Mouthpiece is a story by Frank J. Collins.

THALIA PRODUCTIONS is releasing a two-reel screen version of the grand opera "Traviata," which will be filmed at the RCA studios in New York. Artists appearing in the picture are from the La Scala Opera Co., with musical effects by the Metropolitan Opera orchestra of New York.

The field of radio is being invaded by Eastern short producers on the look-out for talent. Among those recently engaged by production companies are: Cab Calloway, the Boswell Sisters, Rudy Vallee and the Rossetti Trio. The most recent to add to their list of actors, is Cab Calloway, the Boswell Sisters, Rudy Vallee and the Rossetti Trio.

Two of Vitaphone's headliners have emerged with honors from a nation-wide poll of various newspapers as "most popular sports announcers" and "foremost women singers of popular songs." In the former, Ted Husing, star of Vitaphone's "Sportsland," was awarded first place, and in the other division, Miss Jane Penner, the Vitaphone headliner, came in second. Miss Etting also won second place in the poll on "stage performers who have made the greatest success on the air."

Dorothy Stickney, one of the really outstanding New York stage performers, has been appearing in small parts in various Paramount features both here and in Hollywood, with the idea of acquiring camera technique. She recently returned from Hollywood, where she appeared in "Working Girls," and is now busily engaged in "Wayward," which Ted Sloman is directing here.

Practically the entire new stage at the Warner Vitaphone studio was used for a realistic set showing the steel girders of a large building in the course of erection. Designed by Frank Namerzy for "On Edge," featuring the Munzel brothers.

Paramount's latest recruit from the Broadway stage is Franchot Tone, young Theater Guild player, who has been added to the cast of "The Wiser Sex."

Sam Sax announces that he has signed Benny Rubin for a Vitaphone short to be filmed here within the next ten days.

Willard DuBrul has just completed the editing of "The Symphonic Mystery," fourth of the S. V. Van Dine mystery series, which Joseph Henaberry directed for Warner Vitaphone.

One person who is assured of a happy Christmas is Bert Wilson, Vitaphone film editor, whose wife and daughter arrived here recently from England after a separation of five years.

The sudden fame thrust on Richard Spire, star of "His Woman," has left him entirely unspoiled, according to his parents. Richard, you see, is not yet one year old.

Vitaphone has signed Joe Penner for another two-reel comedy to be released as one of the "Big Star" series. Penner made several highly successful comedies for Vitaphone last season and in the meantime has been appearing in musical comedy and vaudeville.

With the starting of "The Wiser Sex," under the direction of Berthold Viertel, the Paramount studio, with two features under way, is humming with activity. New additions to the cast include Granville Bates, formerly seen in "The Smiling Lieutenant," and Paul Harvey, Broadway stage veteran.

Donald Meek will leave for Hollywood to appear in a Fox feature production immediately upon completing the last of the S. V. Van Dine series for Vitaphone in which he plays the principal role of the eccentric Dr. Crabtree. This, the fifth and climactic entry in the "The Studio Mystery," Meek will return later to finish the series.

Mary Orr, whose blonde loveliness has often been compared to that of Marion Marsh, is being considered for a motion picture role by one of the Eastern producers. Miss Orr was last seen on the stage as ingenue lead with Grace Georce in "The Golden Cinderella."

Sem Sax is banking heavily on Astol Rausch, actor-reared Jig in "Success," his first Vitaphone comedy and will next be seen in "The Imperfect Lover," just completed.

Leonard Hoffman and Jerry Slater may possess the "Paramount-Publix Pinch Pong Prowess Trophy," by virtue of their victory over the former champions, Don Laurie and Harold Williams, who were defeated in four out of five matches.

Bry Morrissey, who forsook a film career in Hollywood several years ago, to become the bride of the prominent Murray family's young scion, plays her first Vitaphone role in "On Edge," in which she drives her own snappy roadster into a broken-down Ford, as part of the action.

John W. Green, only staff composer at the Paramount New York studio for over five years, has returned from his desk after a much needed rest, it being his first vacation in three years. "What's the Difference," written by Green and Edward Heyman, one of the song hits from the ill-fated "Here Goes the Bride," is being sung by Nancy Carroll in "Wayward." This is but one of several tunes by Green and Heyman which have achieved popularity in spite of the early closing of the show in which they were featured.

"Hello, Good Times" is the new title given to Vitaphone's latest musical two-reeler, in place of "Cheer Up," under which it was filmed at the Brooklyn studio by Roy Mack. A cost of over one hundred was headed by Al Wohman and Johnny Boyle.

Ted Sloman, in the midst of directing "Wayward," is praying for the mild weather to continue so that he can shoot some important exteriors for the town Main Street setting which has been built on the lot opposite the New York studio.

Ray Foster, Vitaphone cameraman, tried to compete with "Shipwreck Kelly" and climbed to the studio roof for several interior shots for "On Edge." Ray got up on the sloping roof O. K. but after taking the scene discovered he couldn't move his two hundred odd pounds back off the ledge with the result that two prop men had to come to his rescue with ropes, in the Alpine fashion.

Seven new players have been added to the cast of "Wayward," for which all roles have now been filled. These include Leslie Stowe, who has been on the stage for 39 years; Joseph Kennedy, a stage actor, for 45 years; William T. Hayes, the stage since 1890, and Isabel West, character actress for the past 35 years.

Roy Mack directed Ben Meroff and his band backstage at the Palace theater on three successive nights, after the final performance, so they would be able to go before the cameras on Thursday, for the filming of "It's a Panic," a one-reeler to be released as one of the "Melody Masters" series.

Jesse Lasley, Jr., who was attached to the Paramount New York studio for some months as assistant to Ned Marin, is expected in New York for the Christmas holidays.

Vitaphone Vitamins: Monty Schaff ran out after attending so many nights and still getting to the studio by night watch. - Helen McLaughlin, wardrobe mistress, has added her sister Evelyn as assistant ... Everybody welcoming Joe Penner back after several months' absence.

Paramount studio officials deny the report that Harry Langdon will make a series of two-reel comedies for them.

TO-DAY'S BIG EVENT
A ($) AS SEEN BY THE PRESS AGENCY

"In order to complete the screen version and dialogue for "Lost Squadron" in the quickest time, Wallace Smith, RKO writer, even forsook his daily shave to fasten on the wardrobe behind which any Soviet would be proud."

ACCURATE BOOKKEEPING ESSENTIAL FOR THEATER

Cold Weather Device
Attractive brass speaking tube for ticket window, with door on inside mouthpiece to keep out cold air, and providing protection of the cashier in serving patrons, is being offered by the National Theater Supply Co.

Takes Over Kid Premium For National Distribution

Pittsburgh—A new theater premium deal known as "Color Culture," a game for the kiddies manufactured by the Gem Clay Forming Co., of Selby, O., has been taken over by national distribution by Abe and Sammy Steinberg of this city. "Color Culture" is to help teach the child color-blending and painting on paper and china. The premium deal has a stage and a set of china figures of the Hal Roach "Our Gang" kiddies which are to be painted. Water color strips, brush, plates and instructions are included, it is said.

Local distribution of this premium deal has been taken over by Theater Novelty Sales Co., here.

Smith Returns to National Kansas City—A. G. Smith, branch manager for National Theater Supply Co., before he went with Fox West Coast as equipment maintenance man, has returned to National Theater Supply as sales representative in Kansas and Western Missouri, with headquarters in this city.

French Stereoscopic Invention

Paris—"Depeche Cinematographique," a Paris film trade journal, announces that the French scientist, Professor Bergman, has perfected a process for showing motion pictures in relief, the stereoscopic motion picture which has long been sought by many inventors. His apparatus is nearly ready, it is stated, and the first picture by his process will soon get under way.

LATEST ADVANCEMENTS FOR RADIO CITY THEATERS

Every important development in theater construction learned in the past 25 years will be embodied in the theaters that will be a part of the big Radio City project, says Samuel "Princey" Rothafel. The music hall, with a seating capacity of over 6,000, will embody new ideas in acoustics. Increased vision will be secured through novel seating arrangements on the main floor. Overhanging balconies will be eliminated. The auditorium structure will show an entirely different contour from any other theater. Unusual orchestra arrangements will be featured, with an elevator so flexible that the orchestra can be moved out of sight, through the fire wall, or down several feet in the air, and still be heard by the audience. The stage will be built around on sides of audience, creating an intimate atmosphere never before attained in a theater of this size. The stage will represent a half-run, with new type lighting rays projected into the audience to reflect the mood and color of the performance.

Plans for extensive use of this new form of theater-lighting equipment, designed to interpret through the varied moods of actors, singers and other artists as the regular organ does through sound waves, were announced in connection with the award of contracts to the United Electric Light & Power Co. for furnishing all electric light and power for the midtown broadcasting and amusement center.

The color organ to be operated by a keyboard, somehow after the manner of the modern piano organ, is being developed by the RCA Victor Corp., at its plant in Trenton, N.J.

Opens Home Movie Library
Kansas City—A. E. Troitzig, formerly assistant manager for the National Theater Supply Co., and James C. Cushman, formerly of Stromberg-Carlson, have opened a home movie library here.

ALTERATIONS

Denver — The Rialto, recently taken over by Harry Huffman, will be closed while the house is being remodeled, reset and redecorated.

Atchinson, Kan.—Roy Dunuck, of Hiawatha, Kan., has taken over the Lyric here and is remodeling it. W. E. Sound equipment is being installed.

Warrensburg, Mo.—Sam Yoffie has taken over operation of the theater here. Sound equipment is to be installed and other improvements made.

York, S. C.—A lease on the Auditorium here has been signed by Willis and William Rhodes of Mt. Holly, N. C., who plan to operate the house as a motion picture theater. Improvements will be made.

Shawano, Wis.—The theater being remodeled here by the Independent Theaters, Inc., at a cost of $15,000 is expected to be ready for opening the latter part of December. The house has a seating capacity of 500.

Nanty Glo, Pa.—Joseph L. Delsi's theater, destroyed by fire some time ago, is to be reopened by Guy and Art Commons, owners of the property. The house is being remodeled and put into shape.

Laquer for After Patching
Stamford, Conn.—A sound proof lacquer for use after patching is being marketed by the Zapon Co., a division of the Atlas Powder Co., this city.

Patch lines allow a passage of light through the sound strip that results in rasping or scratching noises. Application of this lacquer after patching will eliminate such noises, the company declares.

Kliegl Bros.
Melbourne.—The first complete all-Australian talking picture program was recently shown here. The program was received with marked enthusiasm, but the trade press report that the cost of recording ($1.66 per foot) is too high for independent companies to embark on producing talkers and that it will be carried on only by the important companies. A company to be known as Australian and New Zealand National Films has been organized to produce talking pictures, it is reported, and will be capitalized at $1,250,000.

Ufa Juvenile Film Coming to New York

Berlin.—“Emil und die Detektive,” first juvenile feature-length picture, had its premiere at the Ufa Kurfurstendamm theater and received an excellent press. It is stated that 25,000 children participated in the making of the production. Rolf Wenkhaus, aged ten, makes his film debut in the picture which was adapted from Erich Kästner’s novel of the same title. It will have its American premiere at the Ufa Cosmopolitan, New York, on Dec. 18.

Henry Ainley Turns Film Actor

London.—The noted stage star, Henry Ainley, will make his talking pictures debut in “The Island of the Blue Dolphins,” directed by Robert Florey for Sterling Film Co. Hitherto Ainley has refused all offers for screen acting.

Margaret Bannerman with Menjou

London.—Erik Hakim has engaged Margaret Bannerman to play opposite Adolphe Menjou in “Two White Arms,” which Fred Niblo will direct.

“Yorck” for America

Berlin.—Ufa’s new historical production, “Yorck,” has been completed at the Neubabelsberg studios under the direction of Gustav Ucicky, with Werner Krauss and Rudolph Forster in the leads. It will have its American premiere early in the new year.

Czech Exposition

Prague.—An International Film Exhibition is being arranged for Prague in the occasion of the Spring Fair. The origin and progress of Czech motion pictures will be displayed, along with foreign film displays.

British Tax Hurting Smaller Type Houses

London.—It is estimated that out of the $25,000,000 which the British government expects to receive from the amusement tax, the poorer patrons who buy seats costing 6 pence or less will play all but $2,500,000 of this tax. The tax is already wiping out all profit of some of the smaller houses and a closing of such places is anticipated. The General Council of the C.E.A. has taken initial steps for an appeal to the Chancellor.

Five Czech Talkers Under Way

Prague.—Five talking pictures are under way here, M. J. Krnansky, head of the National Film Productions, announced. He has completed at the same studio the interiors of “The Third Troop,” from a war novel, for distribution by the Czech branch of M-G-M, and Mac Fric is nearly through filming Hasek’s popular novel, “Good Soldier Schweik,” for Gloriafilm.

Director Medoetti-Bohac is preparing the operetta, “Girl, Don’t Say No!” for early filming at the A-B studio. J. Reiter, managing director of Elektakfilm, has just purchased the screen rights to E. Bess’ popular novel, “Klapuzin’s Eleven.”

Selenophon Demonstration

Berlin.—A new Selenophon apparatus for the reproduction of narrow film for radio and dictation purposes was shown in operation at the recent Selenophon demonstration here, in connection with the showing of short, newsreels and educational pictures produced by Selenophon equipment. The new apparatus is simple and easy to handle. Reproduction of dialogue was not so satisfactory, due to recording.

6,000-Seater for Manchester

Manchester, Eng.—Negotiations are reported in progress for the erection of a 6,000-seat picture theater in Oxford St. A well-known Manchester exhibitor is said to be behind the scheme.

Film Payments in Bulgarian Money

Sofa, Bulgaria.—The Bulgarian Cabinet has authorized the Ministry of Finance to prohibit payment for the reproduction of foreign motion pictures in foreign currency. Only Bulgarian money will be acceptable. Most film imports come from Germany.

Scenario Contest Draws 10,135 Foreign Scripts

Berlin.—The scenario contest conducted by “Die Woche,” sponsored by Ufa and other Berlin film companies, attracted 10,135 manuscripts from foreign countries in addition to the thousands sent in by German citizens. It is hoped to announce the winners of the cash awards for the scenarios containing the most original ideas by Christmas, and to that end a large staff of readers is examining the entries.

All Stockholders Approve Gborough Reorganization

London.—Holders of common and deferred stock of Gainsborough have approved the reorganization scheme that the company and a speedy return to a dividend-paying basis is expected. REVIEWS OF SOUND SHORTS

"For You" 8 mins.
Vitaphone
Pleasing Musical
This may be described as the alkafer era version of singing to the accompaniment of screen slides, except that the present conception is a moving action and has been staged with considerable attractiveness and artistry. It shows a romantic couple gliding through space on a magic carpet, while a pleasing feminine voice sings the popular dittie, "For You." For bills requiring something in the nature of a musical bit as contrast, this ought to fill the requirement very nicely.

Jimmy Savo in
"The House Dick"
Radio Pictures
18 mins.
Very Good Comedy
A very enjoyable comedy sketch. Jimmy Savo, popular on the vaudeville and musical comedy stage, does a neat job in the role of a detective who is commissioned to track down a series of hotel robberies. Jimmy nails the culprits, but when it comes to receiving credit another dick comes along and grabs the honors for himself. There's action, good lines and able direction in the comedy, making it a suitable number for any program.

"Wedding Bills"
with Billy Wayne and Helen Lynd
Vitaphone 9 mins.
Fair Domestic Comedy
A more or less rough and tumble comedy concerning a newly-wedded pair. Action starts at the wedding banquet, which is burlapped, and then winds its way into some of the familiar kitchen comedy such as hanging pictures and accidentally driving a nail into a water pipe, resulting in a stream of water rushing in; scraping over the threatened visit of their respective relatives, and a lot more of the slapstick rigmarole that is always more or less amusing to the less fastidious moviegoer.

"Out West Where the North Begins"
Picture Classics 17 mins.
Good Scenario, Plus Music
In additional to its beautiful scenic shots of the Canadian Rockies, photographed in attractive semi-color, this "Musical Poem" embraces some pleasing vocal work by the Rondini Quarteet, plus a western poem melodization. There also are some close-ups of mountain animals. Very well done all around and should add enjoyment to any bill.

So-so Domestic Skit
Something better might have been made of this idea, which is not very new or original to begin with, but in the way it was handled doesn't produce much in the way of entertainment. It's all about a couple of young married couples, each wife and husband thinking the others to be ideal because they appear so lovable and attentive, whereas it's just a public demonstration on the part of all of them. So they arrange to swap husbands and wives among themselves, with the obviously foregone result that each is disappointed.

"Screen Souvenirs"
 Paramount No. 5
A Pip 10 mins.
Another highly interesting as well as amusing collection of old-time shots, including belles of 1904 on a sleigh party, "La Belle Fatima" at the Chicago World's Fair, Sousa and his band at the Paris Exposition in 1900, the First Vanderbilt Cup Auto Race in 1904, and a melodrama of the same year that is pretty much of a laugh riot in the light of things as they are today. Can't miss with any audience.

Tom Howard in
"The Unemployed Ghost"
 Paramount 20 mins.
Swell Comedy Skit
Written by Marc Connolly and Russell Crouse, this latest Tom Howard comedy is choice entertainment and will appeal particularly to audiences appreciating pointed humor and clever dialogue. Tom and a friend, while driving near a cemetery, have a breakdown and are obliged to spend the night in a nearby hotel operated by a landlord with a ghost complex. The hotel man tells the boys a creepy yarn about the supposed spooks, and then follows a lot of skeleton and mysterious clutching clown business, leading up to the main point of the skit. This concerns a ghost who says he belongs to the "unemployed." Tom and the ghost engage in some amusing dialogue, winding up with the apparition doing a fadeout.

PRESENTATIONS

Paramount
Another holdeover for Bing Crosby, plus a good collection of variety acts, makes this Paramount stage show thoroughly enjoyable. The presentation is called "Romantic Rhythm," and was devised and staged by Boris Petroff. Buck and Bubbles, the colored funsters; Veloz and Yolanda, classy dancers, and Eleanor Powell, songstress are the supporting principals, along with a contingent of David Bines Girls. Rubinoef directs the Paramount Orchestra in "St. Louis Blues," while Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Crawford perform at the twin organs on the stage in a group of "Organ Reveries."

Roxy
A collegiate atmosphere marks the current presentation at the Roxy. It bears the name of "Campus Capers" and, in addition to Tess Garett, better known as Aunt Jemima, formerly of Ziegfeld's "Showboat," it contains the New York University Glee Club, an aggregation of 60 male voices. Built along this motif, the show is a lively and enjoyable affair somewhat off the set track. The Roxettes and the Roxy Ballet Corps join in the general whoopie created by the co-eds and collegiate merry-makers.

Capitol
An elaborate pantomime in seven scenes, entitled "Punchinello" and featuring Ivan Tresault, famous Russian pantomimist, is a feature of the lavish Chester Hall stage presentation, "Lights and Shadows," at the Capitol. Edward Alban, baritone, sings a role which Tresault dramatizes. A. Robbins, musical clown; Hector's Dogs, and the Chester Hall Girls comprise the rest of the stage revue. Yasha Bunchuk conducts the Capitol Grand Orchestra in a popular collection of popular classics, compiled by himself and titled "Parade of Great Composers."

Rooms single or en suite, facing Central Park and but a moment from the gayest amusement and business sectos.
A production which is bound to arouse the interest of those folk who enjoy intelligent pictures. This Samuel Goldwyn offering has caught the spirit of Sinclair Lewis' hit novel and conveys its story vividly and interestingly until its unhappy conclusion. It bids fair to be a hit in the theater. The story deals with a young woman, the younger daughter of a wealthy, influential family. Called to the West Indies by an epidemic, the father dies and she returns to New York to care for the invalid mother. The story shows the realization of the futility of scientific achievements.

POOR ENTERTAINMENT. OLD-FASHIONED DOMESTIC DRAMA WITH LITTLE BOX-OFFICE APPEAL.

This production is far below the United Artists standard and is reminiscent of much earlier pictures as "Ten Nights in a Barroom." It is out-and-out business, enacted by actors. Not only poor script, but the work of the other players is uninteresting. The story is familiar, and at times situations which are intended to be serious are apt to garner laughs instead.

MUSICAL COMEDY ENTERTAINMENT WITH COMEDY ANGLE STRESSED. BERT LAHR AND CHARLOTTE GREENWOOD CORKING.

M-G-M has produced a fast-moving product. This is the only one that has the same title.-"Charlotte Greenwood" and gets able comic support from Charlotte Greenwood. The dance and musical numbers are few but distinctly outstanding. The girls are knockouts and the dance formations are strikingly original. Based on a Broadway success the story has Bert Lahr playing a mechanic who has invented a freak airplane. With Pat O'Brien he organizes a company which is plenty embarrassed owing to the lack of capital. Lahr helps financially by marrying the awkward Miss Greenwood. Finally, by winning an altitude contest, which is a wow, he brings the story to a successful ending. The kids will like this one.

VERY ENJOYABLE COMEDY DRAMA WITH SOPHISTICATED THEME NEATLY HANDLED BY FINE CAST.

Intimate inside dope on Hollywood. Broadway gold-diggers carry on as they believe they are the creations of an unsophisticated world. Only the best cast, seven leading players, are the highlights of this entertaining feature. It is a witty and amusing comedy, and not too much stuff. The story concerns a young wife, played by Linda Watkins, who, while her husband is in Europe with his friend, sub-leases his former lover and becomes friendly with the two flashy blondes whom he and his sweetheart formerly entertained. At a party Linda falls in love with John Boles, a wealthy bachelor, but on returning home she finds him married until after her husband returns. It all ends in a most novel way. Louise Beavers, as a maid, steals the bulk of the laughs. The cast is strong and the photography cleverly handled.

FAIR OUTDOOR DRAMA WITH GOOD WORK BY ABLE CAST.

PRINCIPAL VALUES OF THIS OUTDOOR picture lie in its cast, headed by Leo Carrillo, as the hero. It is, of course, possible that his personality is likely to prove disappointing to those who have seen the films in which he has appeared as a big rancher, and who have come to think of him as a sentimental figure. One is therefore prepared to meet a dwarf, shot by the bad badman, and the same time the outlaws thrown into a stampede, in which the heroineperishes, while the Ranger pulls through and is sent back to his sweetheart. The picture provides the best action in the picture.

Between its namesake, the top-notch cast and swell title, this is a good bet for any exhibitor. It has been given high-grade production and has, therefore, been a success. Wallace Ford, who should score big, Ford is a Broadway columnist who becomes enamored of a charming lady, played by Mary Nolan. When the woman is found murdered in her apartment, circumstances point to Ford, but he risks the hunt for the real killer. Later turns out to be a tough egg, Fred Kohler, who once gave Ford $5,000 for an operation to prevent his sister from being a cripple. So Ford has to square accounts by not only tracking Kohler but supplying him with money to make a getaway. However, the cops get the trail of Kohler and Ford double-crossed him, manages to get a gun in a courtroom scene and proceeds to shoot his way to a showdown with Kohler. Ford first, he loses out in a thrilling pistol battle.

GOOD TALKER VERSION OF THE FAMOUS STAGE PLAY "THE SPY WHO CAME FROM HOME AT HOME IN LEADING ROLE.

Richard Dix appears to good advantage as a Union soldier and secret service agent, and gets the worthy talkerization of the "Spy Who Came From Home" by William Gillette. Though it's up against the danger of being considered out of date, it is continuously absorbing and entertaining, helped along nicely by action background of the North and South conflict for emancipation of the slaves. Its historical angle, with the inclusion of General Grant and others, also can be made to count for something. Plot concerns a Union soldier, played by Dix, dispatched by Grant on a secret mission to find Confederate lines. While disguised as a Confederate soldier, he is captured by the South, and becomes a love for the daughter of an enemy general. Placed in the position of having to save the family, Dix does his duty, and gets to aid the girl, he escapes the firing squad.

WEAK PRODUCTION MIXES MELODRAMA AND DOMESTIC DRAMA AND LACKS CONVINCION IN STORY AND TREATMENT.

The plot of this one has been done to death in the cheap melodramas. By giving it a flashy title and a very competent cast only serves to emphasize just how meller the plot intrinsically is. The heavy, with a yen for the exotic and Oriental stuff, has a habit of dominating his women with a red hot iron bearing a Chinese inscription, meaning "I Possess." After getting the gambling wife of a young banker in his clutches, he tries to possess her, fails, but the brand iron on her iron. She shoots him, he walks in, takes the blame, and is trying to escape. Thus the play develops. The heavy on the witness stand tries to compromise the lady with a lying letter, and the dramatically unessential brand her in the crowded courtroom to prove what a beast he is. This plot is dusted up with marvelous results in the "The Cheat.""

VERY MELODRAMATIC OLD-TIME WESTERN WITH A SNARLING VILLAIN AND SNIPPER HERO.

Reminiscent of the 1010 style silent melodrama, this western revolves around the old-time tricks, mustache twirling villains, on-the-spot rescues and a leading man who masquerades as a Mexican bandit with a heavy accent. Situations have been built for the gallery crowds without regard to intelligent continuity or technical consistency. It's all about a cow-hand who is accused of a murder, of which he is innocent. He escapes to Mexico, where he meets Lopes, a Mexican bad man. Seeing that he and Lopez resemble each other in looks and physical make up, the fugitive returns to the US. Disguised as a Mexican, he escapes. After plenty of shooting and hard riding, the real murderer is revealed. Kids who believe that anything can happen out West will both enjoy and hiss this one.

WESTERN WITH PLENTY OF HOKUM, GUNPLAY, HARD RIDING, BAD MEN AND A FINE PORTRAYAL BY TIM MCCOY.

The fact that Tim McCoy knows how to act and can read lines in most convincing style, is the greatest asset that can be claimed for this western. The story is very familiar with situations that will cause plenty of heart thobs and considerable excitement. Tim rides into a town with the direct purpose of avenging the murder of his younger brother. He believes the father of his sweetheart to be the guilty man, but after several card-playing episodes and hard fighting sequences, Tim discovers that the culprit is none other than his own partner. The killer discovers that Tim has learned the truth, and then the chase starts. There is enough room to be covered. Scenery is fine and Tim's magnificent white horse dashes through some unusual card playing situations.

TOBIAS FORENSIM - GOOD GERMAN - DICTIONARY TOWN ON HISTORICAL THEME. WELL ACTED AND DIRECTED.

The unhappy career of the Bavarian princess who became the ill-fated Empress of Austria forms the basis of this German talker, and one of its chief points of interest is the part played by Dagover in a leading role. Miss Dagover has since been signed by Warner Bros., and this is a matter of some importance for showing any day now. In this German picture Miss Dagover goes through various episodes of Viennese court life, occasionally escaping from her confinement to visit a childhood friend back in the Bavarian mountains, but the Emperor and his strict mother see to it that she has very little freedom. Later, after her son is born and grows up, she tries to take her son from France to Germany and to bring it to a tragic end. In the end, the Emperor is deposed and the Princess rescues his son from a stately house and marries him.

PLEASING FRENCH FARCE COMEDY PEPPED UP WITH SOME CATCHY MELODIES BUT SHY ON PRODUCTION VALUES.

This one rates fair as an offering from the Paris studio of Jacques Halk. It is typically French in theme, having to do with a husband's infidelity, but in the end wise stands by him just the same. The direction is amateurish in many spots, and the production values are lacking. But for a French audience it has the atmosphere they like, and fairly good comedy situations and catchy melodies carry it over satisfactorily.

A country gentleman writes songs and harmonies, which he sends to his cousin, a producer in Paris, who publishes them under an assumed name as his own. He is carrying on an affair with his leading lady and his wife and cousin together uncover his double dealing at a cabaret, cheating with the other dame and in the last act the technique is about ten years behind Hollywood.

10 Per Cent Tax Bill Filed in Pennsylvania

Philadelphia—As a result of the walkout handed to Governor Pinchot's plan for relief at Harrisburg, a bill calling for a 10 per cent tax on admissions has been offered.

Plans of the Council here to raise taxes were blocked when about 10,000 taxpayers marched on City Hall in protest. In another effort to obtain revenue, the bill to place a two-cent tax on movie tickets was rushed through a second reading and comes up for final action next Thursday.

Dallas House Establishes Charity Day Each Week

Dallas—Charity day has been established as a regular Friday event at the Old Miller theater. There is no charge for admission on this day, but old clothes and canned goods serve as the door pass. The clothes and food are given to charity agencies.

Federal Trade Report cites "Ingagi" case

WASHINGTON — Among the important investigations of the year listed by the Federal Trade Commission in its annual report to Congress is the case of "Ingagi," a Congo Pictures production, which the Commission refused to change as to remove scenes that were regarded as "deceiving" and injurious to public morals.

William Pizor of Imperial Distributing Co. has contracted for the world rights to eight feature productions produced by Cardinal Productions, Hollywood, of which Richard Kahn is president. Included in the eight are "The Nevada," "The Secret Menace," and "The Secret Menace," which have been mysteries in the book.

Springer-Cocalis Circuit

NEW YORK (AP) — The United Press Association said today that the springer-cocalis circuit under Union Press agency had expanded its facilities to include nine Springer-Cocalis houses in Manhattan and the Bronx, and that the Bronx Superintendents Union Local 71, in barring from their apartment houses women commercial artists employed by the circuit, the brothers' Union of the Bronx, friendly to the projectionists, is running free picture shows in competition with Springer-Cocalis.

Schwerin's Pittsburgh Enterprises

PITTSBURGH—Charles T. Schwerin has leased quarters at 1703 Boulevard of Allies for his newly formed Pittsburgh Enterprises, to handle independent productions.

A Personal Pledge
To Showmen from
S. R. KENT.

Experience has taught me that it is foolish to rave about every picture that looks like a hit. But when a picture comes along that has definite outstanding showmanship qualities, down-to-earth audience appeal and timeliness, I MUST tell you about it. I am referring to "SOOKY".
I have just screened this wonderful picture, before an audience of grown-ups, and I want to tell you it is a long, long time since I have been so enthusiastic over any picture as I am over "SOOKY". Not only will it build tremendous grosses for you, but it comes to you at a time when you can profit to the utmost on its qualities.*

*You will get "SOOKY" during Christmas holidays.
"SOOKY" is by no means a kid picture. It is Entertainment for Everyone! Compared with "Skippy" even, "SOOKY" proves vastly superior in entertainment and box-office power. You did good business on "Skippy". It is my prediction you will do Sensational business with "SOOKY". You have the same money-making cast and director as in "Skippy."
Add to that the increased popularity of Jackie Cooper, who has taken the country by storm in every picture in which he has appeared—plus real laughs, strong heart-tugs, an absorbing story, pathos and excellent comedy. The people I was with actually cried while they laughed.

See your Paramount branch manager and screen this picture. Then get behind it with everything, because "SOOKY" means real money.
I THANK THE PUBLICITY AND ADVERTISING MEN OF THE THEATRES!

(No. 735 Straight from the Shoulder Talk by Carl Laemmle, President of the Universal Pictures Corporation)

IN THE QUARTER OF A CENTURY I HAVE BEEN IN THIS BUSINESS, I HAVE NEVER SEEN SUCH A swell job of advertising and publicity as the theatres have done in exploiting "Frankenstein."

THIS PICTURE SEEMED TO SET FIRE TO THEIR IMAGINATIONS. IT GAVE THEM OPPORTUNITIES such as they find in very few productions.

THEY CUT LOOSE AND GOT BACK OF IT WITH ALL THEIR HEART AND SOUL.

INSTEAD OF SOFT-PEDALING ON THE FACT THAT THE PICTURE IS GRUESOME, GRISLY AND shocking, they made capital out of the fact.

THEY DARED THE PEOPLE TO SEE IT. THEY WARNED THEM NOT TO SEE IT UNLESS THEY HAD good nerves. They taunted the faint-hearted.

AT A TIME WHEN EVERYBODY SAID "THE PEOPLE WANT TO LAUGH," THE THEATRE ADVERTISING and publicity men stressed the fact that there isn’t a single laugh in "Frankenstein."

SUCH BOLDNESS—THE VERY BEST TYPE OF ADVERTISING IN THE SHOW BUSINESS—BROUGHT results which will mean millions to the theatre owners before "Frankenstein" has run its course.

YOU MEN WHO OFTEN GET THE BLAME WHEN A THEATRE DOESN’T CLICK ARE CERTAINLY entitled to public recognition when any picture smashes records to smithereens as "Frankenstein" is doing.

IN THE NAME OF UNIVERSAL I THANK YOU PUBLICLY.

MOREOVER, THESE MEN WHO WELCOME A CHANCE TO DO ORIGINAL THINKING WILL BE delighted to hear that I’ve got another big opportunity for them to show their stuff.

ANOTHER SUPER-SHOCKER IS ON THE WAY. "THE MURDERS IN THE RUE MORGUE." TAKE IT from me it’s no Pollyanna. It’s red hot and grisly and packed with the kind of dynamite that can be detonated by smart brains.

EVERY UNIVERSAL PICTURE TRIES TO GIVE THE ADVERTISING AND PUBLICITY MEN OF THE theatres something to sink their teeth into, but "The Murders in the Rue Morgue" will give your exploitation a bite that will tickle you to pieces!

Universal—The hit of the industry!

would result in the passing of the tax to the public. The film industry should not be compelled to assume such burdensome assessment, asserted O'Tool; as the screen is constantly rendering a service to the government and to the nation. He also stressed the fact that any tax must originate in the House of Representatives and reach the floor via the ways and means committee. Changes of Mollin's proposed 10-cent tax bill being adopted are minimized as the Democrats control the House, O'Tool said.

Saperstein to Be Honored
Chicago—Aaron Saperstein, head of the Allied unit in Illinois, is to be tendered a testimonial dinner and smoker Jan. 5 by exhibitors, in appreciation of the work he did in settling the controversy between the exhibition and operators. Henry El-man is chairman of the affair. The dinner, to be held in the Gold room of the Congress Hotel, will cost $10 a plate.

Leonidoff to Produce Units in East
Leon Leonidoff, formerly of the Roxy and now stage director for Fanchon and Marco, will produce four F. & M. "Ideas" in New York, the first to be staged here with the exception of the Roxy shows. The first, "Deutschland," opens at the Academy of Music this week. Leonidoff is just back from the Coast, where he produced six similar F. &
M. units.

"Explorers of the World"

Before a distinguished audience at the Criterion last night this compilation of six individual expeditions was given its Broadway roadshow premiere and elicited hearty applause at the conclusion of each chapter. Presented in a manner a little out of the ordinary, with Harold Notti as master of ceremonies at a banquet table introducing the explorers, who in turn conducted their own flashbacks, the production held the audience enthralled with its splendid, exciting incidents and occasional climactic thrill. It covers some of the ground previously explored in films of this kind, plus a good deal untouched before, and by its novel manner of presentation, an appeal to the Emergency of the regions covered, it falls pretty much in a class by itself. A more detailed review of this Rappin Productions release appeared in THE FILM DAILY of Sept. 6. —GILLETTE.
Cleveland Arbitration
Is First in Two Years

Cleveland—For the first time in two years, a difference between an exhibitor in one city and a distributor in another has been settled here last week by a board of arbitration. The case, presented by P. E. Essick of the Scoville, Essick and Reif circuit, was against Universal and asked for damages to the extent of $200,464 to recover losses and advertising costs for failure to deliver "East of Borneo" to the Willoughby, 0. Universal gave as the reason for the order on the part of the Cleveland RKO first-run theater. "East of Borneo" was sold to the Willoughby last year's protection basis. RKO objected to the contract on this year's protection basis. The arbitration board, consisting of Frank Drew, M. E. Horwitz and W. C. Mersereau, directed Essick an award of $19,893.

WARNERS PLEDGE WEALTH TO BACK ORGANIZATION

(Continued from Page 1) here yesterday. Stockholders were assured that the pending receivership suit has no merit, and they unanimously gave the management a vote of confidence. The company's recent proposal to fix the stated value of its stock at $5 a share was approved. This gives the corporation a surplus of $62,000,000, compared with present earned surplus of about $22,747. Officers of the company said that approval of the proposal would place the firm in a better position to meet future emergencies. Six retiring directors were reelected for two years. They are H. M. Albert and Jack L. Warner; Abel Cary Thomas, Waddill Catchings and Henry A. Ruskin. Terms of other directors do not expire until next year.

Coincident with the annual meeting, reply was filed by the company to the receivership suit brought by Jules Enzler of Passaic, N. J. The answer denies various allegations about the company's financial position. It states that the corporation has cash in banks exceeding $4,000,000 and has well established bank credit for that amount, but had not to make use of this credit and therefore has no bank loans outstanding. Obligations are being paid at maturity and current bills are being discounted, the reply says. While some of the company's theaters are closed, this is merely a matter of sound business policy under present economic conditions, it is stated. Payment of exorbitant salaries is denied. It is admitted that the last two preferred dividends were paid from surplus. Regarding quick assets and liabilities, the company states the caption is 1.85 to 1. not 1.21 to 1 as alleged by the plaintiff.

COMING & GOING

CLYDE ELLIOTT returned to New York yesterday from the Orient with 31,000 feet of film exposed in the Malay jungles for Frank Buck's picture, "Bring 'Em Back Alive."

HENRY MCKEAN, Universal aerial director, just back from England, is on his way to Universal City.

INA CLAIRE, who recently completed "The Greeks Had a Word for It" for United Artists, arrived in New York yesterday from the coast.

GENE RAYMOND, Paramount juvenile, is on his way from Hollywood to New York to resume a stage contract with Lee Shubert.

JEAN HARLOW arrived in New York yesterday with her father and mother. While in the east she will make personal appearances.

JOE SMITH and CHARLES DALE leave later this week to start "Mendel, Inc.," for Warner Bros.

MRS. B. P. SCHULBERG has arrived in New York from the coast.

DOROTHY HEZOG is in New York from Hollywood.

ALONG THE RIALTO

NEW YORK  LOS ANGELES

with PHIL. M. DALY

• • • BACK IN November, 1927, something happened on the Universal lot that is destined to loom large in motion picture history. One day Carl Laemmle mentioned to Henry Hennigson, the general manager, that he was thinking of his son in

• • • MUCH HAS been said much has been written since that day four years ago about Carl Laemmle, Junior, most of it pretty skeptical concerning a youngster being elevated to a position of tremendous power and responsibility, and for once all the critics have been wrong. The record of the Universal studio in the past year has proved that conclusively they have been turning out hit after hit and a string of hits, messieurs, never yet emanated from any studio on the dumb wings of Dame Luck it takes Brains, Experience, and a gawd-given Showmen Sense to produce 'em

• • • THE VERY first Joorjior did was to spread the word that he wasn't there to make any drastic changes but to make only the fundamental changes that Morale plays in any organization the changes came gradually, in fact it took exactly four years for Laemmle the Younger to consummate them under the old system most everybody on the Universal lot was playing politics in those days you could figure on a new studio head about every 12 months, at least so a big proportion of the boys spent their time trying to figure out the next chief, and playing up to him picture-making, to a large percentage of 'em was merely incidental today there are no politics on the "U" lot, the boys are so darned busy now they have no time to think of politics

• • • UNDER THE new order of things, Junior sets the example he's at his desk at 9:30 a.m., and very often doesn't quit it till along near midnight just an old Laemmle Family custom for you must know that the "Old Man" has no interests but his film biz and Joorjior was weaned on films nurtured on grosses and percent-ages passed through adolescence on film topics discuss- ed around the family table and finally matriculated with an all-round knowledge of the motion picture before he ever took his first job in the studio which explains graphically why he could do what he has done in the short space of four years

• • • SO HERE is a youth who stands alone shouldering weighty responsibilities and on whose judgment millions hang in the balance he has no props to lean on his is the Final Judgment and if he had been guessing wrong "U" had been taking it on the nose with a Row of Flops the worse, would be crowing "Didn't I tell ya?" but Universal has come through the worst year in film history with a dazzling array of Office W. "All Quiet on the Western Front," "East of Borneo," "Frankenstein," "Strictly Dishonorable," so you've got to hand it to Carl Laemmle Junior for Making Good in a Glorious Way

ILLEGALITY DEFENSE STRIKEN OUT BY COURT

(Continued from Page 1) contained in a suit which had alleged that the action could not be brought because of the outlawed prohib- ition cause contained in the contract. The court also struck out a defense which alleged that the standard contract was void, illegal, unenforceable and in restraint of trade. These defenses were held insufficient in law. Court held to have made various rulings on defendants' motions, but never before on the motion of a plaintiff. The distributor was Joseph Ruteck of the Park theater here.

... as we see it

By Jack Alicia

They say nothing is more sure than death and taxes. When you pass for levyf outside the picket fence of the industry is murder in the first-degree and literally true within. The economic condition of the motion picture industry should be obvious to those legislators who will take the trouble to give it a passing thought. You cannot help a man who is punch drunk by socking him on the head with a baseball bat. The screens of these great United States can be of inestimable value in bringing back unity, optimism and the good old Uncle Sam do-or-die spirit. Certainly not, however, if the industry is strangled through taxes it manifestly cannot bear.

They Don't Come Back

Regardless of a somewhat aggressive sponsorship of those few who favor the return of the silents, we see no chance whatsoever for its universal comeback. In expressing this thought we are not unmindful of the economic arguments advanced in favor of their return. Much money has passed under the cinema bridge since the departure of the silent drama. It is our constant observation in this merry old life that when once they leave, especially in show business, they don't come back.

Federation of Musicians, in a statement to THE FILM DAILY.

"The problem of the radio programs, the bedroom fare and many other types of plays have their devotees, but no type of play has been universally popular, nor could be," says Weber. "In supplementing the silent pic- tures, the talkie essayed a very dif- ficult feat. Even if the public taste in the drama were uniformly excellent, the talkie problem still would be a power because the spoken drama clearly betrays its weaknesses, if any, and masterpieces are not born on a daily schedule to keep picture factories run- ning. The silent picture of little dramatic merit could get by on the pleasing personal- ities of its actors, the changing panoramas of its movements, but not so the 'photographed stage play.' With the passing of silent pic- tures, living music may fill modestly lay claim to being the only remaining entertain- ment form that literally appeals to everyday.

CASTING for "The Silent Witness," Fox mystery drama in which Lionel Atwill makes his first appearance in a talking picture, is practically complete. Roles have been assigned to Greta Nissen, Helen Mack, Bramwell Fletcher, Mary Forbes, Montague Shaw, Wyndham Standing, Allan Mowbray, Lowden Adams, Herbert Mundin, Billy Bevan, Eric Wilton and Lumden Hare. The picture goes into production shortly with Marcel Varnel and R. L. Hough as co-directors.

Mervyn LeRoy has the distinction of having two of his features run in being imported at the same time by the local first run theaters. He directed "Local Boy Makes Good," which is running at Warners’ Western, Hollywood and Downtown, while his "Tonight or Never" is at the United Artists theater. He will start the direction of "Mendel, Inc." next month.

George Sidney is one of the busiest comedians on the Coast. He recently finished work in "High Pressure" and will be co-starred with Charley Murray in "The Golden and Silver," etc., concluding with a disaster role in "Mendel, Inc." Henry Furry wants to co-star Sidney and Murray in a stage play.

M. H. Hoffman, Jr., has decided on "Looting Looter" as the final title for his fifth Hoot Gibson picture now in production, with Otto Brower directing, Sally Blane plays opposite the star.

Charles Stumar, veteran cameraman, will be in charge of the photography on "Cobblestones," which will be made by Universal, with Edward Luddy directing.

NEW BOOKS

On the Art and Business of Motion Pictures

With the cooperation of conversant technicians in America as well as Great Britain, this is veritably the best volume turned out thus far in the way of a practical and popular account of the principles of construction and operation of the devices used in producing and projecting sound pictures. Besides its very readable text, the book is replete with charts, diagrams and photographic illustrations which enable the reader to get a clear working conception of the apparatus and operations described. After a concise resume of the history of the talkers from their beginning to the boom and stabilization of the industry, the author presents chapters dealing with film and disc, synchronization, the apparatus chain, speed control, theater sound systems, amplification, power and stage equipment, theater acoustics, installation of sound equipment, routine in the operating box, preparing the program, recording on disc, recording on film, studio methods and technique, concluding with a discussion of the talkie, television and theater of the future. Anyone at all who is interested in the mechanics of sound films will find this a fascinating volume, and for the men involved in the producing, distributing and exhibition of pictures the book will in addition prove highly valuable in a practical way.

LET US MARCH ON TO GLORY TOGETHER

Progress is made only when men unite for the common good. In union there is power and prosperity; in separation there is weakness and misery. Man's advancement is the history of collective enterprise. So too with industry. Good men, loyal men, able men in the motion picture world find themselves jobless and foodless. They are bound to us by ties of iron forged in the glowing activity of better days. To them the industry owes much of its success. To them the industry must now extend a helping hand. Give and give generously so that it may be said the army of the motion picture — to a man — marches bravely on to greater triumph and glory.

New York Film Board Elects New Officers

Earl Sveigert of the Paramount, New Jersey Exchange was elected president of the New York Film Board of Trade at a meeting last night. Other new officers, all elected for one year, are: first vice-president, Henry Randel, Paramount, Brooklyn; second vice-president, Joseph Bernhard has been appointed general manager of Warner Bros. Theaters and its subsidiary, Stanley Co. of America, succeeding Dan Michalove, it was announced yesterday by H. M. Warner. The change is effective today.

Price Reductions Making It Harder for Stage Shows to Compete

Widespread cutting of admission prices by picture houses is a major factor in slowing up and in some instances blocking entirely the revival of 'flesh' attractions. Already the price reductions have resulted in the closing of dramatic stock tabloid, burlesque and musical houses in many locations, while legitimate秀 bookings on the road also have slumped considerably for pretty much the same reason. Although there appears to be a tendency on the part of some circuits to add stage talent to their picture programs as business stimulator, only the larger houses are finding it possible to continue this policy with success. These reductions are predicted to be permanent.

Florida Waging Battle Against Itinerant Shows

Jacksonville — Florida theaters, with cooperation from Chambers of Commerce and other civic organizations, newspapers, etc., are waging their biggest battle with various forms of tent-booking and itinerant shows, including the state in greater numbers than ever this year due to a bad season the past summer. In Orlando the Miami and St. Petersburg commission have denied tent shows a license on the ground that they do not comply with the classification of shows and this action is being followed up by other communities. E. J. Sparks of Consolidated Theatres is one of the leading factors in the fight against the itinerant attractions, and as a result of the unfavorable light being thrown on these shows many organizations and their agents which formerly did business with them under their auspices are now reluctant to have any connection with them.

Approve New RKO Stock Listing

New York Stock Exchange has approved the listing of 2,750,480 shares of new RKO common stock upon the presentation of the proposed Class A shares in accordance with the refinancing plan. Of the 2,750,480 shares; 720,073 would be issued for the present Class A and Class B stocks upon official notice of the filing or articles of amendment to the proposal of the corporation classifying those stocks into common stock: 290,407 shares of common would be reserved for issuance in place of Class A stock, which was reserved for conversion of outstanding bonds and preferred stock of the company or its subsidiaries, and 1,740,000 shares of common would be deposited with J. W. Seligman & Co. in connection with the offering to stockholders of the common stock for one year 6% per cent gold debentures.

PARAMOUNT CONVINCED
BIG NAMES COME FIRST

After experimenting at its New York studio for the past two years, Paramount is understood to be convinced that features with stars handled properly can compete, from a box-office standpoint, with productions using established players. Closing of the plant within a few weeks, with feature production being transferred to the coast, is expected to mark the end of this policy. The conclusion reached is that, despite the ability of stage players, unless they are known to picture its present status, cannot enhance a production beyond their acting.

Chicago Censor Board
May Be Cut in Half

Chicago — Recommendation has been made to the city council that the film censorship board be reduced to half its present size. This is in line with the council’s economy plans for 1932. At the present time the board is composed of eight members. It has been the subject of severe criticism during the past year because of drastic action frequently taken by two or three of the board members who appear to have dominated the board. Cuts have been made and permits refused on what has generally regarded as flimsy grounds and in several instances appeals from the decision of the board have resulted in victory for the exhibitors.

legislators to consider the revision of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law and the Clayton Act," said Hays. "This is well. No one would suggest that legislation yield its rights to intrude

EDITOR'S NOTE: There have been plenty of myths, especially in a clay-what's wrong with motion pictures. Since they go, the following is an attempt to the problem.

T HIS is one occasion which I am tempted to stick to the subject my audience has assigned. But, like other mistakes since the world began, I shall resist that temptation bravely.

What's Right with the Movies?
You can see the temptation right away. No man is worth his salt until he's proud of his profession, and his work service to the com-f ormunity and ready at a moment's notice to tell you why you could not get along without him. When he has associates are providing the most unimaginative of men could paint of vivid pictures with his mind is stirred by the service of motion pictures to the human race. Could paint you long lines of fancy works, as you go with your families in the evening into a magic palace of unnity, where they are taken off the air and their troubles by vicariously experiencing the struggles, the disappointments and the successes of others, as real and realistic, who live and move and have their being on the motion pictures screen. Millions who never before experienced the thrill of great music have had it brought to them by the motion picture. The great tales of all time—"Ben Hur," "Quo-Vadis," "Tess of the Storm Country," "David Harum," Longfellow's

"Hiawatha," "The Old Man of the Sea," and the rest of all stories, "The King of Kings," are but a few of dozens which will come to your mind.

When Mary Pickford and Du-nette, and banks several years ago made a delightful screen version of "The Taming of the Shrew," it is probable that more people saw and enjoyed the motion picture than had seen the play itself in the 337 years since it was produced by Chamberlain's company in London.

Motion Pictures and Peace
We live in an age when the race has at last attained the wisdom of knowing that war is all debt and has no virtues; but you, as mothers, are concerned in your hearts as to the fate of the children born son sufficiently to prevent the world from making again the most tragic of all mistakes. The screen, in the world, is the most potent of all influences in keeping vivid before our eyes and the eyes of our children the folly of war. Who has not seen "All Quiet on the Western Front" or "Journey's End" without having been moved to tears? The theater with a strengthened argument that the world must not again embark on such a futile and terrible orgy of of-of-of-of---

Yet war pictures are the smallest part of the world's contribution to peace. Will H. Hays, head of the American Film Makers Federation, tributes of America, has wisely said that when men understand each others through the world and when they do not hate do not make war. The screen brings to all peoples a knowledge of the customs and aspirations of other peoples; it establishes the basic fact that while human beings differ in their surface characteristics, in their dress and in their political moods, we are all essentially kin, moved by the same passions, motivated by the same self-consciousness and saved from animalism by the same classes of spiritual quality and the will to help each other, and to you, and you know it to be true, that the motion picture is the messenger of the brotherhood of man.

The President of the United States and the Premier of England sat on the banks of a fishing stream in Germany and discussed the means for lifting the burden of armament from the nations of the earth, the motion picture screen, with the heads of their nations, transmitted that hopeful event to two hundred and fifty million watchers and fathered the world to their sayings; the heads of the treasuries of the great met in Paris to extend ally needed help to a nation embracing on the brink of economic chaos, the motion picture portrayed vivaciously to all the world the sigificant events, unduplicated in previous history.

Fine Current Pictures
Entertainment, every-day necessities and a nation's interest in ation of general information; the bringing of the world closer together as of the events in the zone of "disasrole in the economy of the world.

I am very proud of the splendid quality of much of our current prod-ject and of the great stream of fine pictures which the screen has offered to its patrons, in Wisconsin and throughout the nation, during the past year. I am proud of "Daddy Long Legs," of "Trader Horns of "Disraeli," "Alexander Hamilton," Borneo," "The Star Witness," "Penn-rod and Sam," "The Spirit of Notre Dame," "Great Meadow," "Viennese
Nights," "Father's Son," "Skippy," "Tom Sawyer," "Cimarron," "Waterloo Bridge," "Mother's Millions," "Swanton's Other" and others. Surely, at no previous in history have men and women been able to live through the years with their children from such a thrilling and wholesome current of entertainment.

In an interesting occasional that is generally felt in film circles. Governmental actions in many instances, are

SHOWMAN STANDS ’EM IN RAIN AGAINST DOUBLE FEATURE OPPOSITION

Here's the answer to double feature competition! It's nothing mysterious...just a return to showmanship fundamentals...giving them a good balanced show of diversified entertainment and telling them all about it.

Frank Gordon, manager of the Wicker Park Theatre, Chicago, worried about it for awhile; then he tried the Educational Pictures' "revue program" plan. He picked one feature. Then he surrounded it with six carefully selected short subjects, five from Educational. Then he shouted the news. And now his patrons are thanking him!

"Big!" WRITES MR. GORDON TO MAX STAHL, EDUCATIONAL'S CHICAGO EXCHANGE MANAGER:

"Your first review program played Tuesday and Wednesday went over big—holding them out in the rain Tuesday night and just as big Wednesday.

"Not only BIG at the box-office, but BIG with the audience, who certainly enjoyed it. Many of them stopped and told me it was the best show they had seen since talking pictures started, and it sure was gratifying, as the only thing I hear when we run double features is, 'Oh, hum! What time is it?'

"From now on Tuesday and Wednesday will be established as special 'Wicker Park Review' nights.

"Thanks for the idea and for the cooperation in putting it over, though to be frank I didn't think much of it when you sold it to me, in the face of being surrounded with five other houses all using double and triple features. If these reviews continue to go over like the first one, goodbye double features and good riddance."

It's THE idea for this new era. And EDUCATIONAL PICTURES assure you the variety and class of short subjects you need for such a program.

Paramount

Another big list of name talent heads the current stage show at the Paramount. In addition to Bing Crosby, who is winding up his second month, the lineup includes Lilian Roth, lately of Earl Carroll's "Vanities"; Lina Basquette and the Three Sailors, comedy boys from the stage musical, "Sketch Book." Rubinoff also is on the job, as is Jesse Crawford, together with a troupe of David Bines Girls. Jack Partington staged the show, which is in ten scenes and strong on entertainment value.

Roxy

Ruth Etting, torch-singing star from musical comedy, vaudeville and screen shorts, tops the diversified stage bill at the Roxy. The production is "Stepping High," and also includes another star aggregation in Borrah Minevitch and his "harmonica rascals," the De Marcos, classy dancing team; Patricia Bowman, the delightful danseuse; Josephine Luches, soprano, and others. One part of the show is devoted to a fashion show, called "Furs and Fashions of 1932," with a big contingent of models displaying garments that intrigue the ladies.

Capital

"Stepping High," the present presentation at the Capital, is predominantly along novelty lines. The featured artists are William and Joe Mandel, gymnastic comedians of wide popularity; Flo Mayo, trapeze artiste; Lucky Seven Trio, Miles and Kover, adagio dancers and the Chester Hale aggregation of efficiently trained girls. A collection of Italian folk songs has been compiled by Yasha Bunchuk for his overture with the Capital Grand Orchestra.

Savo and Coles for Capitol

Jimmy Savo, stage comedian, and Joyce Coles, former premier danseuse at the Roxy and Capitol, are booked for the Capitol stage show which starting Dec. 31. Bill opens a day earlier owing to New Year's.

COMING & GOING

Claude Fleming and a camera crew sail today (Saturday) on the Lafayette for West Coast. They are making a one-week journey short for Educational.

Herman Maier of the Warner theater department, has arrived in New York from the West. Joe Brandt, accompanied by Mrs. Brandt and their sons Jerry, will go out on a bus tour (Sunday) on the Columbus for Central America. Brandt will combine business with a visit.

Joe Leo arrives in New York from the Coast on Sunday.

NEW BOOKS

On the Art and Business of Motion Pictures

Hal Hall, editor of "The American Cinematographer," and William Stull have done a mighty fine job in the compilation of Volume 2 of the Cinematographic Annual. In its 404 pages of text, photographs, charts and tables is contained a wealth of helpful material for the cameraman.

No cinematographer who would be abreast of the developments in his field can afford to be without it. Among the subjects discussed by prominent authorities in the industry are: chromatic correction in cinematographic lenses, cinematic teleology, making a fadeout by after treatment, lighting, transmission losses in lenses and their significance, aerial cinematography, a method for testing lens, making matte shots, negatives, relative masses of photo-silver, 16 mm. cinematography, the larger screen, process photography, pictures in color, use of carbon arc lighting, optical printing, machinery developments, useful facts and formulae, etc. The pictorial section invites hours of interesting and instructive study.

A LITTLE from "LO S" by RALPH WILK

HOLLYWOOD

DOROTHY ARZNER, Paramount director, is back from a three- week trip to New York.

George Davis, stage comedian who speaks seven languages, will appear with Maurice Chevalier at Paramount's "One Hour With You." Changing her plans suddenly, Marilyn Miller, First National, left New York for Hollywood on Friday afternoon. She had intended to remain in New York until after the holidays, but shifted her arrangements a day or so ago when she learned that there was to be a reunion of the Miller family in Los Angeles at Christmas time.

Nedra Gulliette's name has been changed by Universal to Norita Norris, which is also a family name. The new contract player will have the leading woman role with Slim Summerville in "In the Bag," with Eddie Gribbon, Tom Kennedy, Edward LeSaint, the Sanderson Twins and Cora Wine.

Warner Bros. have bought "The Ferguson Case," by Granville Moore and Courtney Terrett, for early production.

Joe E. Brown will be next week's headliner on Warner's Radio News- reel of Hollywood broadcast.

Aline MacMahon and Anna Appel have been signed by Warner Bros. for "Menda's Dec. Joe Smith and Charles Dale, who are to head the cast, will go from the show next week. Miss MacMahon is due by Dec. 26.

Richard Wallace expects to start actual filming of Tallulah Bankhead's starring production sometime in January. The present Wallace is dividing his time between conferences on the new assignment and supervising the cutting of his last production, "Chattanooga Choo-Choo," "Tomorrow and Tomorrow."

Do you know that Stan Laurel never combs his hair. That Oliver Hardy is called "Babe" by his friends? That Charley Chase began his career by singing illustrated songs from colored screen slides? That Hal Roach's middle name is Eugene? That Zebbo Pinis got her Christian name from two doting aunts, Lisa and Susan? That Thelma Todd writes poetry, some of which has been printed?

Harrison Carroll is the latest Washington visitor. His好友 Mack Wall has been inhabiting the University of Southern California rooting section. Hank wears a freshman cap at the football game and "aids" the

Oakie's Embarrassing Moment

Jackie Oakie, on his return here a few days ago, said that his oddest sensation while the picture was being run, was to discover a personal appearance in New Haven. The marquee of the theater read: "Jack Oakie—Once a Lady."

"Wrestling Swordfish," the newest subject in Mack Bennett's "Cannibals of the Deep" series, has been booked for an indefinite run with Gloria Swanson's "Tonight or Never," at the United Artists Theater, Los Angeles, while Bing Crosby's second comedy for Bennett, "One More Chance," is playing a long-running engagement at the Paramount in San Francisco.

Mande Howell, once stage manager for George Arliss, is actively cooperating in the production of two Warner pictures. She came in with Arliss and Julian Johnston, on the script of "The Man Who Played God," and with Johnston wrote the dialogue and continuity for "Old Man Minket."

Clarence Nordstrum, New York stage start, went for theatrical engagements in "Alias the Doncor," "Arno Strings," and who has been signed for the forthcoming production of "Lepidoptera" essaying the role Ernest Trues did in the New York production, will make his screen debut in Educational's new Hollywood comedy. He will play the leading man, opposite no less than four leading ladies, Virginia Brooks, Rita Flynn, Frances Dean and Addie McPhail.

Richard Wallace, who has made a practice of sending all hand-out ap- plicants that accept him on the street to a certain restaurant that advertises "all you can eat for 45 cents," received word the other day from the restaurant proprietor that he is losing plenty money on these customers.

"Torchy's Two Toots" is the title given the new Torchy Comedy, on which production was just recently started. Ray Cooke and Dorothy Dix again essay the principal roles.

Ed McWade and Charles Gilbey appear in important comedy roles in the new Educational-Torcho comedy, "Torcho's Night Cap," which features Ray Cooke and Dorothy Dix.

Howard Hughes has given a new contract to Ann Dvorak, who plays the feminine leads in "Scarface" and "Sky Devils." She has been loaned to First National for "Roar of the Crowd."

"So This Is Texas," the newest Monogram western to go into work, has been changed to "Texas Pioneers." Bill Cody and Andy Shuford are featured, with Harry Fraser credited for story and direction.

Warner Baxter was an excellent money draw at box offices in the greater Los Angeles district during the week ending Dec. 12. His name went into the marquees in more than one-third of the show houses and proved a good draw in three different situations. Playing first run, "Surrender" did good business at Lone's State, while neighborhood houses reported better than average business on Baxter's other two releases, "The Cisco Kid" and "The Squaw Man."

Roy J. Pomeroy, film director, talkie producer and sound expert, has just built a contrivance, which when attached to the ordinary motion picture lens, will do many unfamiliar tricks and make actors appear on the screen as freaks.

Edgar Wallace, the English writer, is a tea-totaller in every sense of the word. He drinks to 20 to 30 cups of tea a day—depending upon the kind of work he is doing. While he is working upon a story there is always a pot of tea beside him. And he drinks it as agpishman does, with cream instead of lemon.

Eddie Welch, former Broadway revue specialist, wrote gags and added comdey dialogue for "Peach O'Reno," "Ladies of the Jury" and "Girl Crazy." He has been signed to a new contract by RKO Patho.

HOLLYWOOD PLAZA

Where the "Famous Doorway of Hospitality" Greets You

MOST convenient location in Hollywood. Next to motion picture studios, theaters, cafes and shops ... only ten minutes from golf courses, bridle paths, and other amusement places.

The Plaza Hotel is quiet, luxuriously furnished, with deep, richly upholstered beds, glistening tile baths and showers, excellent service and cuisine, convenient parking—every modern con- venience.

European plan, $2.50 up, single. $5.50 up, double. $6.50, twin beds. Special weekly and monthly rates.

Look for the "Doorway of Hospitality."
Helen Hayes May Make Picture in East

Helen Hayes will probably make a picture at the Paramount New York studios, while appearing on Broadway in "The Good Fairy," according to reports. It is also said that Claudette Colbert may make another picture here following "The Wiser Sex."

It seldom happens that all three sound stages at the Warner Vitaphone studio are in operation at the same time but such was the case last week with "The Studio Mystery" on stage 1, a Ted Husing "Sportsplants" on stage 2 and "On Edge," a William and Joe Mandel comedy on stage 3.

Paramount Notes: Pat Donahue, script girl on "Wayward" set, setting new fashion with complete riding outfits to wear while on location . . . Chick Kirk, art director, beams over swell notices given his sets for "The Cheat" . . . John Dough turning down an offer to act as Santa Claus claiming he's too slim for the role.

Sarah Edwards, who scored in numerous comedy roles in both features and shorts made here, returns to the Paramount studio to play the serious role of a nurse in "Wayward." Miss Edwards is well known on the stage by reason of having played prominent roles in operettas, notably the Gilbert & Sullivan revivals.

Supporting Donald Meek and John Hamilton in "The Studio Murder Mystery," fifth of the two-reel S. S. Van Dine Vitaphone shorts is Thelma Titson of musical comedy; Jane Bramley, late of Hollywood where she played in feature pictures, and Robert Middlemass and Walter Frenomer of the New York stage. Barnet Hershey wrote the adaptation and dialogue.

Harry Baldwin, Paramount assistant director, has a brand new discovery. Her name is Ethel Gilbert and she claims to be 17, although she looks younger. After some experience as a model she was given her first screen role in "No More College," featuring Ruby Valle. She stood out so well that she was given a line in "Meet the Wimmin," another Paramount short. Now she has a bona fide role in "Too Perfect," featuring Tom Howard, with a chance to appear in features. It looks, she's a miniature edition of Helen Morgan.

Film-Struck Society
The Vitaphone studio appears to act as a magnet for the Social Snet interest on a motion picture career. Latest is Amelia Baroch, niece of Bernard M. Baroch, international financier, who uses the screen name of Renee Baruch. Others are Jane Winton, now Mrs. Horace Cumber of Park Avenue and Betty Morrissey, wife of the socially prominent James A. Murray.
THEATER EQUIPMENT

ALL ELECTRIC AMPLIFIER OFFERED BY RADIART CORP.

Chicago—The Publix-Balaban & Katz theater being erected in the loop district is being rushed to completion for opening Christmas day.

Detroit—Erection of a 1,800-seat theater in this city is being planned by Ben and Lou Cohen.

Oklahoma City—Starratt Bros., owners of Ramsey Towers, 33-story office building here, plan the erection of $1,000,000 theater in this city sometime in 1932. The option will be offered to Publix.

Canton, N. C.—Work has begun on the theater to be constructed here at a cost of approximately $50,000 for A. G. Odum. The contract calls for the completion of the building within 100 days.

Cooksville, Tenn.—A theater on the site of the old Eureka Hotel will be built and equipped for opening here before next spring.

S R A Carbons Prove Highly Successful

Cleveland — In many theaters using low intensity reflecting arc projectors, National SRA Carbons are satisfying the demands for a higher level of screen illumination brought about by the introduction of sound color and larger screen image, according to an announcement made by National Carbon Company, manufacturers of National Projector Carbons.

SRA Carbons, it is said, permit substantial increase in arc current and provide an intense crater brilliance. This powerful crater light is focused on the aperture plate in a field of even intensity. Liberal latitude in positive crater position assures uniform illumination of screen.

The greatest illumination available from low intensity mirrors are projector can be obtained by the use of SRA Carbons, the company declares.

HEAT REGULATING DEVICES INSTALLED BY GEN. ELEC.

Indianapolis—All theaters operated by Bair's theater circuit have been equipped with heat regulating devices installed by the General Electric Co. of Schenectady, N. Y.

By means of this heat regulating system, which is scientifically controlled electrically, the public's comfort is assured through the maintenance of constant temperature, the company declares.

SYNCOFILM MODEL J FOR SMALL THEATERS

Rochester, N. Y.—Syncofilm Model J sound head, a product of the Weber Machine Corp., has been developed and built especially for small theaters and designed for easy attachment on Simplex and Powers projectors.

Compact and of sturdy construction, these sound heads are simple in design, and the threading of film is very easy, it is said. The sound head is driven direct from motor to an accurately balanced combined pulley and flywheel by use of two round woven endless belts. Projector is driven from sound head drive shaft, using high grade silent chain.

This drive is smooth, quiet and assures correct reproduction of music or voice without tremor, waver or other form of distortion, the company declares.

These sound heads come complete with all attachments for Simplex or Powers projectors, including optical systems, photo cells, exciter lamp, extra envelope lamp mounts, adjustable motor brackets, endless tubular bells, “V” groove motor pulleys and necessary equipment to raise lamp house.

Appointed District Manager

San Francisco—M. F. Lowery, former sales representative for RCA equipment, has been promoted to the post of district manager here. He succeeds M. O. Smith, resigned.

B. & D. Completes $1,500,000 Studio
London — The third production stage at British & Dominions studios has been completed and shooting is in progress there. The studio’s output is increased more than 50 per cent by the new stage. The new stage cost of the extension added to $200,000, bringing the total amount spent by B. & D. on its studios up to $1,500,000. The new stage is the cost of the extension and will be used in recording sound tracks for both film and disc recording. Offices, dressing rooms, workshops, cutting and printing rooms are also provided. Work on the third stage started on Oct. 7.

French Photophone May Cut Capital
London—On Dec. 23 a meeting of stockholders of French Photophone will be held in London to consider reducing the capital stock from $1,000,000 to $1,000. If agreed upon the measure will necessitate the cancellation of 4½ shillings of every one of the $80,000, five-shilling shares outstanding, after which the company would operate as a holding company. The French Photophone has suffered heavy losses due to the liquidation of British Photophone, the compulsory disposal of an interest in Lignomin, Filmfilm, Berlin, and the loss of the right to continue pressing records by a judgment of the German courts.

A Free Soul Scores in Australia
Sydney — "A Free Soul," Norma Shearer’s M-G-M feature, had a most successful run at the Plaza here. Miss Shearer is a favorite in Australia and the newspapers gave the picture much space. A Shearer type contest, with $500 for the winner, and a midnight ball at the Sydney Town Hall garnered many columns of newspaper space.

Paris — The Palais in the Faubourg Montmartre, center of Paris’s night life, and one of the principal revue theaters in the city, has adopted a motion picture policy.

JAPANESE EXHIBITORS SEEK GEN. EXPENSE REDUCTION
Tokyo—At a recent meeting of Japanese exhibitors, at which a hundred exhibitors from 50 of the principal cities in Japan were present, it was decided to seek a general downward revision of all exhibition expenses to meet the depression which has hit the Japanese picture industry. Owners of theaters will be asked to reduce the rent; government authorities will be asked for a reduction of 30 per cent in taxes; electric light companies will be asked for a cut of 50 per cent in charges; and producers, importers and distributors of motion pictures will be asked for a cut in the rent of films. It was also decided to aid in the formation of exhibitors’ associations throughout Japan and that the Feb. 11 (the birthday of Thomas A. Edison) be observed yearly as a "Motion Picture Day," with a festival to be held all over the nation on that day.

Talking Film Co. for Bogota
Bogota—A company to produce talking pictures is being formed here. Senor Cuellar Chavez, a promoter, just back from Hollywood, states that he has the necessary staff and equipment and will bring them to Colombia as soon as the financing has been arranged. It is believed here that he will experience difficulty in raising funds.

Cork—The Savoy, Associated Irish Cinemas’ new 3,000-seater, expected to be ready for opening next April, will be followed by five other Associated Irish Cinemas houses in Ireland, it is stated. Negotiations for sites are now in progress.

London Film Company Wins Up Its Affairs
London—The board of directors of the London Film Company, one of the most famous of film companies, which gave up production after the war, has decided to liquidate its assets after paying holders of preference stock to six thousand years’ back dividends. The company was formed in 1908 with George晚期 Tacker as its principal director. The company’s film printing business will be continued.

Sign Tauber for Film Operaetta
London — Richard Tauber, celebrated German tenor, has been signed by Wald Disney to appear in an English talking picture early next year. It will be produced on a large scale (in both German and English) with an eye on the American market. The score of the operetta will be written by a well-known composer.

Colombia Increases Import Duty
Bogota — By Presidential decree the import duties on talking and silent pictures will be raised from 80 centavos to 1.60 pesos per kilo. The tax on phonograph records (including discs for talking pictures) will be raised from 20 centavos to 2.50 pesos per kilo. American producers may avoid the record tax by shipping only sound-on-film talking pictures to Colombia.

British First National Has 16 Scripts Ready
London—At the sales convention of British First National it was announced that 16 scripts were ready to go into work. "Murder on the Second Floor" has been made ready. The following titles of forthcoming picture were announced: "At Good as New," the German play; "The Green Cap," the Hollywood studios of First National had been angling for. Irving Ascher, production head at the Teddington studios, stated that the productions will be made not for quota purposes but of a quality to compete with any product from Hollywood.

High Cinema Council Criticized
Paris — The newly organized French High Cinema Council is coming in for criticism from the industry. It will be composed of 91 members, 60 of whom have already been appointed, while 24 of the 25 yet to be appointed will be delegates from the different Ministries. The complaint of the industry is that few of the members have any knowledge of the needs and problems of the film industry. Individuals well-known in the trade who have not been nominated to the council include M. Natan, representing the producers; M. Gallo, representing the distributors; M. Courjon, representing film printers; M. Oso, representing film exporters; M. Brezillon, representing exhibitors; M. Chaillou, representing the trade press, and M. Bourget and René Clair, representing film directors.

Mihaly Increasing Exports
London — The Mihaly all-British sound equipment is now being exported in more than 100 British theaters. French and Belgian companies have been formed to sell the apparatus in those countries. The British company is being organized to both manufacture and market the Mihaly equipment. This apparatus is priced under $1,000 with service guaranteed without charge.

Paris—Paramount is to embark soon on short subject production at its Joinville studio.
No Money Ever Did More Human Good Than This

A Few of the Film Daily Relief Fund Cases Aided in 1931

"UP against it pretty strong" is the expression used by one of our film executives in appealing to the public to help the Film Daily Relief Fund for assistance to those who are in need.

Case 27

Eighteen months ago, this chap held a good position and drew a salary upon which he and his family could live, comfortably. Then the unexpected happened. Through no fault of his own, he found himself out of work with nothing—"prospects," which didn't materialize. Things went from bad to worse. The man's young son was taken to the hospital for an operation. The doctors found cancerous appendix and congestion. Where was the money to pay hospital and doctors' bills? How was this man and his wife to carry on? Where was sustenance coming from? Then the Relief Fund got busy. Hospital charges and necessary expenses were paid and enough money provided to buy food and pay two months' back rent. Today the man is working and able to provide the bare necessities for his family. His son is regaining his health and in his last letter to the Fund, he says, "I only hope I can merit your wonderful help. May God bless you."

A MOTION picture director, who within the past few years has delighted you with his production of many features that have played Broadway houses came to the Fund asking aid. Finally he sold a contract that had been offered, and the hardships and opportunities for work brought this fellow to a state of destitution. Absolutely broke with no cents between him and starvation, he turned out of his furnished room and without shelter, he asked for help. The Fund responded and "sent him through."

This is what happened when a well known film executive died leaving his wife and two small children. Drowned with barely sufficient cash to carry them through for one year. Debts had to be paid and soon the widow and her children had used up what little money there was left in the bank. They moved to smaller and smaller squallid quarters. The children, too young to work (they are 5 and 8) must be provided for.

The Test of the Thoroughbred

"There comes a time in the lives of all of us when we feel like giving up, when we are tempted to acknowledge to ourselves that we are defeated, when we sink into the 'what's-the-use?' state of despondency. It is at such a crisis, such a test, that the furnishings of the wealth and the thoroughbred is the scrub goes until he can no longer go, whereas the thoroughbred goes until he can't go any farther and then goes to the other yard."—B. C. Forbes.

They must have food and shelter. The unfortunate widow's plight was heart rending. A good wife and a good mother, but without a friend in this country to whom she could turn for aid. It didn't take long for the Fund to get busy. Food, shelter and a brighter outlook on the future were provided.

"WHEN I called you up Thanksgiving Day, I had exactly 17 cents in my pocket," writes a gentle man who not many months ago held a good position in the film industry and who, because of his dignity, culture and good fellowship toward all his acquaintances, was one of the film men along Broadway. Fate had been unkind. Now he was broke. Money was given him for food and to permit him to reach down North Jersey town where work had been promised, but that failed to materialize. Again the Fund helped this chap to find work. Not in the industry, but nevertheless a job which would keep him from want.

A THEATER man who has been identified with the industry since 1905 is incapacitated for active work by a serious injury to his leg. For six months he has lain on a hospital cot, and now is just getting around to the point where he can walk. This man is absolutely destitute, and yet he is game. He is eager and anxious to get some kind of a job that will not keep him on his injured leg too much. He does not want a position in a charity patient. But he must have financial help to tide him over till such time as he can get a position and recover sufficiently to look after himself.

A CHAP holding a very high reputation for ability and integrity has been out of work for months after being employed in a selling capacity for nine years with one producer and with another 16 years, as the agent manager. He must undergo a very serious operation, and his rent is unpaid for several months. His plight, to put it in the mildest terms is desperate. This man needs enough financing to enable him to undergo the operation, pay his immediate bills, and give him a fresh start and build up his faith and confidence. These have been pretty well kicked out of him, even as would happen to you and I if we had taken half his tough breaks. So each day he plods along in hopes that his past services to the industry will be recognized and assistance offered to put him over his precarious situation.

ACCORDING to Maimonides—the famous savant—the duty of charity—has eight degrees—"The first and lowest is to give, but with reluctance or regret—a gift of the hand—not of the heart. The second is to give cheerfully—but not proportionately—to the distress—of the sufferer. The third— is to give cheerfully and proportionately—but not until solicited. The fourth is to give cheerfully—proportionately—and unsolicited—but to put it in the poor man's hand—causing him shame. The fifth—is to give in such a way that the distressed—may receive the bounty—and know the benefactor—without their being—known to him. The sixth—rising still higher—is to know the objects—of your bounty—without their knowing you. The seventh—still higher—"is to be known by the benefactor—without them knowing you. What's Right With the Movies

By FRED S. MEYER
President, Motion Picture Theater Owners of Wisconsin

EDITOR'S NOTE: There have been plenty of worst movies over the recent weeks, about that's with motion pictures. Since last weekend has been largely devoted to the motion picture business, it is just fitting that The Film Daily should afford it a good deal more attention than it has been receiving. The place to register complaints is at Hollywood; the place to vote for pictures is the box-office.

A motion picture exhibitor recently made the following statement to the Ministerial Alliance of Topeka, Kansas:

"In the course of the year, there are approximately 500 feature-length motion pictures produced by the leading American producers. Any proportion of them add nothing to the sum total of human knowledge, happiness, or our weaknesses and ignorance.

That is a frank statement. There is no use for us to talk together or work together unless we are going to put the facts on the table and be afraid of them.

A common problem interests us as citizens and mothers; the producers as citizens and business men; and the exhibitors as citizens and integral parts of the local communities' business and social life.

We should be aware of the level of this rapidly produced product which is made and distributed in fierce competition, as it should be, and which exerts an appreciable influence to help or hinder the standards of life advocated for centuries by the mother, the church and the school.

Let me say right here that I am not one who believes that motion pictures should take the place of the schools, though I believe that educators will more and more use them as an implement to knowledge. Nor do I believe that motion pictures should be used as a weapon to teach the preacher; they should stick to their purpose of entertainment, giving to the preacher the same respect for him and his profession which we accord to him for ours.

And thirdly, neither the motion picture nor any other influence can take the place of the watchful care of a mother and of those closest to her child. Our mothers must get their education in schools, they must teach by example. The representatives of our respective faiths, they must acquire their basic bedrock of character at their mothers' knees.

The motion picture could not, if it would, assume that great triple responsibility.

Recognition of Responsibility

Nevertheless, the motion picture industry, by recognition of the fact that it has a responsibility to strive constantly that pictures, in fulfilling their essential and necessary purpose of entertainment, should not be negative in any way the work of the schools, the church and the home. With the consultation of many groups such as the teachers, the women's clubs, the movie women of themselves, about a year ago, a Production Code, the general principles of which are:

No picture shall be produced which will lower the moral standards of those who see it. Hence the standards of the audience should never be thrown to the side of crime, wrong-doing, evil or sin.

Correct standards of life shall be presented on the screen subject only to necessary dramatic contrasts.

Law, natural or human, should not be ridiculed, nor shall sympathy be created for its violation. In its particular application, the Code creates safeguards against exhibiting the methods of crime, punishment of the drug traffic, the use of liquor in American life when not required for health, and its harmful characteristics. Pictures shall not imply that low forms of sex relationship are the accepted or common thing. They shall not present adultery as attractive or justifiable. They shall avoid treatment of white slavery, misconception of marriage, childbearing.

They shall avoid vulgarity, obscenity, indecent dance movements and profanity. No film episode may throw ridicule on any religious faith, or misuse the flag of any country, or misrepresent the history, institutions, prominent people and citizenship of other nations.

This is not an achieved ideal. As long as men are human there will be reason to doubt that it is the earnest of our intent in the picture business to furnish you wholesome entertainment. You perform a great dual public service; you are the policy of calling attention to the attention violations of this Code and of supporting your attitude those pictures which represent you and your interest and find to be entertainment of high social value.

DELIBERATE AND SOPHIST-ICATED farce comedy which ought to appeal mainly to discriminating audiences.

Noel Coward's Broadway play has been converted into a grand piece of entertainment for the customers who like clever, sparkling dialogue and the subtleties of production values. It is one that principally depends upon conversation rather than visual action. There's not much story, but the affair moves along brightly with the competent support of such established players as Miss Shearer and Robert Montgomery. Story has Montgomery honing his wit with a second wife, played by Una Merkel, in the same European hotel in which his first wife, Miss Shearer, is honing her skills with Reginald Denny. After a surprise meeting they decide they're both in love and elope. A number of quarrels later the abandoned husband and wife arrive on the scene and the relationship situation is cleared up.
Miss Shearer and Montgomery again change their mind and elope.

Adapted from the Hungarian stage play of Lili Hayytny, it is slow in its beginning, has a long run up to a reel and a half, but after that on color, feeling and originality. The fresh approach of the acting and the subtle, slight mocking touches of Mervyn LeRoy prove all the bright forecasts that have been made for him. Direction is splendid.
But Gloria Swanson seems to be getting in some spots to get the "feel" of her part, and often goes through some scenes and dialogue in a halting, stilted manner. Her cast gives her brilliant support, and serves to cover up her shortcomings.

the heroine goes through a disappointing finish that will get a razz from most supposed to have killed a man who tried to attack her, so the sailor smuggles her off to a Carribean

HUMAN LITTLE STORY OF FATHER AND SON IN COLLEGE SETTING WITH PLENTY OF FOOTBALL ATMOSPHERE.

With clever direction by Edward Crowell, this is a human little story up into a very human father and son story, featuring Jack Holt and Richard Cromwell. Holt is the football coach of a big western university who has been slipping after losing for two seasons. He has forced his son on the team, in spite of the fact that the boy has no real interest in the game, and shrinks from the phy-cial hardships. In the crucial game, the poor playing of the players brings defeat. His girl turns against him as a quitter. He has a showdown with his dad, bitterly accusing him of making him a football automaton instead of playing the part of a real father. He quits, goes to a rival college, where he makes good and wins the game from his dad's team. Plenty of football technique, fine sentiment, and an excellent staging show of the lighter variety.

THE EVIL AND THE DETECTIVE

First UFA Juvenile Feature Has Fine Kids Stunt in That Should Be Easily Done

It is a pity that this one is not done in English, for the story is such that it would be a great hit with the kids. It is the sort of material that Hollywood should do if they can get good young to back it in the theater. It concerns a young girl of 11 in a small German town who is sent by his mother to visit his father, who has disappeared. This is stolen from him on the train. He trails the thief, and in the end the young girl collects a reward of five marks, and then sells the deed to the town a hero. Filled with good kid touches that ring true.

FIRST UFA DETECTIVE SERIES

Universal

Thrift

"House of Mystery"

Universal

Thrill

One of the Shadow Detective series. Two hunters stumble on a murdered woman in a lonely cabin, and proceed to ferret out the criminal. The plot has plenty of tense-ness and mystery, and moves swiftly to its exciting climax. But we still think that this series would be greatly improved by eliminating the "Shadow" with his demonic laugh, who comes into the picture every so often to point the finger of fate at the criminal. His laugh is ghastly, and poor stuff for the kids to listen to, as well as for high strong women.

A Doll's Fantasy

Fines Musical Skit

Ethel Merman scores her strongest hit in this latest short. For story background she is shown as a daughter of a medicine show wag. While driving along the highway in her father's wagon, and singing "Hello, My Lovely Goosey, she runs into a country lad, resulting in love interest. Later she sings "Shake Well That Medicine Jar" at an actual medicine show. Then there is some romancing with the boy, whom she gives the air when he gets a little bold. As we fadeout she is seen driving off, singing her original song, with the lad following her. Miss Merman is a top-notch "torch" singer and has personality besides.

"Mickey's Orphans"

Dophie Pollard in "Sold At Auction"

Universal

Poor

A very mechanically handled short, with a lot of gags that repeat and are not too funny in the first place. Dophie Pollard is the comedienne, and she goes through a line that is dumb but earns gat trying to make an honest living. In fact she is so earnest that she forgets to be comical. She then sets up for sale a private house with a lot of gaga that creak from age, and lack any semblance of spontaneity or real comedy.
“He-Man”  Educational  10 mins  Sport Thrills  A fast and thrilling Bill Cunningham Sports Review, with the noted sports writer spotting the highlights of the week's action and the Bruin & Bingyattacks on the Rangers. Brightly colored and dynamic, it is an up-to-date account of the week's sports news and features.

“Christmas Party”  with Jackie Cooper  M-G-M  9 mins  Timely  A timely Christmas Special, with Jackie Cooper narrating the adventures of kids at a Christmas party in the studio. As the youngsters partake of their turkey feast, the various stars of the Metro studio act as waiters. A slight idea that is well handled, and built to get over the Holiday spirit in a manner pleasing to both youngsters and grown-ups. Just the thing needed to lend atmosphere to the Holiday week programs.

“Fundamentals of Offense”  Universal  8 mins  Snappy Basketball  A good, fast basketball sports reel, with Dr. Harry Meek, the football coach, putting in the University of Wisconsin five through some snappy drill work, then finishing with a spirited game. The action stuff is too good to be spoiled by the cheap wisecrack of the narrator, who only serves to annoy you and distract your attention from the work of the clever players.

“Road to Romance”  Educational  10 mins  Classy  One of the most interesting of the Romantic Journeys series, Claude Fleming conducts a trip through the wonders of the Great Canyon region, showing particularly some marvellous views of the famous Bryce Canyon. Done in Multicolor, the color work is unusually effective. Features a novelty opening, with Montagu Love showing his craftsmanship as a painter of an Indian in the wilds of his native land.  “Africa Squeaks”  M-G-M  8 mins  Neat Cartoon  A Flip the Frog cartoon, covering the adventures of the cartoon character in the wilds of Africa, where he gets in the clutches of the cannibals and is put in the pot to boil for the evening meal. Flip performs a magic stunt with the flames transforming them into little demons who pursue the cannibals, and all the deserted wives make Flip their new king. Cleverly executed, and with good comedy slants.

“Smart Work”  Educational  10 mins  Okay  A good one reel Cameo comedy, featuring the return of Billy Dooley, the one-time goofy gob. Billy appears as the curious hubby who as a detective takes a case from a suspicious wife to trail her hubby with another dame. The latter turns out to be Billy’s wife who was innocently buying a car from the salesman to give to her hubby as a birthday present. Billy smashes the car in wrath. The kick comes when the wife appears and explains it was his car she has just bought.

“Season’s Greetings”  Vitaphone  1907  5 mins  Okay  A neat little novelty, entertaining in itself and at the same time giving Vitaphone a chance to put in a little plug for some of its players. Scene is Christmas morning, with a boy and girl opening their Christmas packages as their parents look on. Among the presents are miniatures of the various stars, who in turn come to life and perform for a moment. Janet Read starts it off by singing an appropriate holiday parody on “Many Happy Returns of the Day.” Others include Joe Pen- nell, Pat O'Mahoney, Billy Wayne, Ted Husing, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Norworth.

“Trader Hound”  M-G-M  21 mins  Dog Comics  A Dogville Comedy, being a clever burlesque of the latter company’s “Trader Horn.” The dogs duplicate some of the adventures of the famous African trader in their own doggy manner, and the gags are very unique, and the laughs frequent, with the funny voices of the human actors speaking for the canine actors. Swell number where they go for the animal stuff.

“Doroz”  (“Uzbek National Circus”)  Amkino  17 mins  Soviet Novelties  One of the first Soviet-made sound shorts to be brought to this country. It presents glimpses of recent industrial developments in Russia, leading up to a sort of country fair climax, with circus attractions featuring tight rope walking. The usual constant is discernible at the climax. Not worth much as entertainment from the viewpoint of American audiences, though it is a novelty that might interest certain class groups.

“The Fisherman”  Universal  7 mins  Fair Cartoon  An Oswald cartoon, with the rabbit and his sweetie in an adventure in a pirate isle. It goes through the usual routine of a hero in distress, with Oswald finally saving her by a clever ruse, and winning a diamond necklace from the pirate loot.

“Trader Hound”  M-G-M  15 mins  Good  A British production featuring Harry Lauder in his famous song followed by several other fine Scotch selections. Harry looks as good as in his last personal appearance in this country, and puts his songs over with his inimitable personality. Wherever they like the Scotch comedian, this one will prove a welcome addition to any bill.

“Ireland, the Melody Island”  M-G-M  9 mins  Fine Travel  A FritzStake TravelTalk, with the producer romancing a very char- acteristic journey through the picturesque and historic spots of the Emerald Isle. Killarney Castle, the Ring of Kerry, and many quaint spots are covered, with John McCormack records dubbed in singing the famous Irish melodies. Altogether a fine travel subject from every angle.

ARTHUR SUCCEEDS MICHEL
AS FOXTHEATERS V.P.

W. C. Michel, recently resigned as vice-president and treasurer of Fox Theaters to devote his time to financial affairs for Fox Film, has been succeeded by Harry Arthur as vice-president, while A. D. Shortleff, controller of Fox Theaters, has also become treasurer. Denial was made at Fox on Saturday that S. R. Burns, vice-president and secretary, has resigned.

Vitaphone's 1932-33 Plans
Same as current season

There will be no reduction in the Vitaphone short subject program for 1932-33, according to present plans. The company is currently releasing 104 single reels and 36 two-reel subjects. The new season program will be mapped out at a conference to be held shortly after the first of the year.

German Films Figure On
40 P. C. Foreign Market

Berlin—German film production and its financing is now estimated on an average of 60 per cent for the domestic market and 40 per cent for foreign markets. The American field has become increasingly important. Output this season will be about 200 features. Maximum cost of a feature, in order to show a profit, must be under $50,000.

Investigation in Wisconsin

Threaten legal action
Over 2-cent philly tax

Philadelphia—Threat of legal action to kill the proposed city tax of two cents on each theater ticket will immediately be made by David Barlist, chairman of the M.P.T.O. board of managers, to Mayor Mackey. Barrist will ask that the city's chief executive refuse to sign the ordinance.

Milwaukee—Charges that distributors are obstructing a state wide investigation into the motion picture industry have been made by F. A. Staten of the state department of agriculture and markets. In several Wisconsin cities it is claimed that independents have been unable to obtain pictures because of concerted action of distributors and chains. It is also alleged

Joe Leo Paving the Way
For William Fox's return

Significantly related to William Fox's reported plans for returning to active participation in the industry is the trip of Joe Leo, who left New York yesterday for another trip to the Coast. Leo, who has been closely identified with Fox for years, will survey the situation and return to New York the middle of January for a conference with Fox.

In addition to matters in connection with Fox's return to production, distribution and exhibition, Leo will arrange for the reopening of the Los Angeles theater, which Fox personally owns. He will also represent Fox in regard to his Tri-Ergon sound patent action plans.

Second 5-year schedule
Calls for 269,000 sound units

Hollywood will be relegated to second place as a film producing center upon completion of the second Soviet five-year-plan, which calls for 2,700 films in the year 1937, at which time it is planned to have 269,000 sound installations throughout the Soviet Union, according to a statement by V. P.

Movie-lunch tickets
In $1 combination

St. Paul—Manager E. A. Forni of the Paramount has worked out a new angle in Heup. A combination ticket for $1 entering the theater to luncheon at a leading hotel, followed by matinee at the Paramount. Regular price, if separate, would be $1 for the lunch and 25 cents for the movie. The hotel is advertising the Heup in the papers, while the theater has lobby cards on it.

WORLD'S BIGGEST FILM BIZ PLANNED BY SOVIET UNION

Smirnow, president of Amkino, for The Film Daily, says BIG BIZ will be Preliminary figures on the second five-year plan, according to Smirnow, call for the following installements by 1937: permanent theaters in towns and villages, 46,000; theaters in cities, 2,100; portable units, 58,000,000 feet in 15,000; school installations, 150,000.

Sound apparatus, made by Egorov Bros., enables silent installations in the smaller places at the low price of $50. Adaptation of these equipments to sound also has been solved.

Without aid from foreign concerns, the Soviet film combine lately has put into operation two raw film plants, one annually producing 245,000,000 feet, and another factory with a yearly capacity of 500,000,000 feet. The first will start production in 1932, and the second is expected to be expanded further, and two new giant plants will be started in 1933. Additional studios also will be erected to supply the large number of films needed.

New capital investments planned include: $15,953,500 for studios; $34,870,000 for raw film plants; $42,564,000 for construction of equipment plants; $22,000,000 for construction of existing equipment plants; $267,183,000 for new theaters; $105,500,000 for wiring the projection installations.

Intensive work also is being conducted in television, and a system for making color films has been developed.

"Sooky"

A worthy successor to "Skippy," its companion piece, this Paramount picture which opened at the Rivoli on Saturday, looks likely to answer the cry for more juveniles. Jackie Cooper as "Sooky" and Robert Coogan as "Sooky" are a great pair. They have put a lot of heart-throb stuff into this new, which will get the odders as well as the younger girls. This don't-bed stuff seems too heavily stressed for a closing, and they could have put the sympathy without it, for the picture has the real heart interest. HARROWER.

THINGS WE Never Thought Worth Mentioning Till Now

That the Motion Picture Club is becoming one of the most popular clubs in the metropolis. The place to go for luncheons if ya want to meet all the film fads who mean something in a great hangout in the evening for after dining sumptuously under the guiding hand of the genial Maitre Max... you can repair to the library and spend the evening in all the luxurious comfort and exclusiveness of a Fifth Avenue club ... according to whether you are Youthful, Doddering or Senile it's a safe bet that there isn't a representative club in the metropolis that offers so much for so little.

THAT under the able leadership of H. D. Buckley, the membership committee in the past year has enrolled an impressive list of gents who will lend eclat and weight to the Club... that Lee A. Ochs deserves a big hand for the manner in which he has peppe up everything all along the line since taking over the presidency. Yes, that here is a Club typifying the activities of the entire Industry in the East, and deserves the wholehearted support of everybody.

THAT a woman who had been employed by various picture companies as a reader was recently killed in an automobile accident.... when it was learned that she had left no money except to cover burial costs. Two of the "hard-hearted" concerns for whom she had worked raised enough to help her 10-year-old daughter in boarding school. So we're just passing this along to the writers who are busy panning the industry that pays 'em... "Few more blessed to give a Boost than a Slam... that Regina Cannon, formerly m. p. ed. of "The New York American," has joined up with "Screenland Weekly" in This Great Big Town (Continued from Page 1)".

That Nina Ruskia, who understudied Fay Wray in "Nikki," has been tested by M-G-M.

THAT four voting machines similar to those used in political elections will be installed in the rotunda, foyer and lounges of the Roxy this week for the purpose of recording opinions of the public on questions pertaining to the current picture and stage program... Charles Griswold originated the idea... Some of the questions are: "Do you prefer Roxy stage shows to the pictures shown?" "Do you like this week's feature?" "Do you prefer personalities on the stage rather than elaborate spectacles?" Small levers will be used to enable patrons to register "yes" or "no," sex Russell Moon-explaining the stunt.

THAT Dorothy A. Herzog, who was formerly picture ed. of "The Mirror," has written a second novel which will soon be published in New York... That Jimmy Dunn, new Fox sensation, will appear at the Academy of Music, Crotona, Park Plaza, Fox Hackensack, Bungalow, State, Jersey City, and other Skouras houses... he's twenty-five... and unmarried... That the pop cigs cost an average of four cents a pack to produce, which explains why they can spend millions in advertising 'em and still make more millions.

THAT Paramount employees are getting peppe up for the Paramount Pop. Club, which is exicted to excite at the Astor on Feb. 5... Plenty of Paramount screen talent will help matters. That Edwin Schallert did a Grand Piece of Work in getting out the "Los Angeles Times" Fifth Anniversary Edtion tracing the Fundamental Facts and Achievements of the film biz

NEW SEASON
MONEY MAKER
Short Shots from New York Studios

By HARRY N. BLAIR

ROBERT L. RIPLEY, who has just completed his 17th "Believe It or Not!" short for Warner Vitaphone, is preparing to sail to the Orient about Feb. 1. This time he plans to visit China, Japan and the South Seas. Before sailing, Ripley will make at least three more Vitaphone shorts in addition to making up sufficient newspaper cartoons to insure daily publication while he is away.

Paramount's New York studio is housing an embryo opera diva in the person of Henrietta Slomka, telephone operator, whose soprano voice has rated her an audition before the executives of the Columbia Broadcasting chain with promise of an engagement to follow shortly thereafter.

Seven new Vitaphone shorts were released nationally this week by Warner Bros. They are, "Her Wedding Night-Mare," two-reel White and Watson; "Northern India," E. M. Newman, Travel-Talk; "Red Headed Baby," a Merrie Melody cartoon; "Bosko at the Zoo," a Looney Tune, "The High School Hoofers," "Believe It or Not" No. 4 and "Sports Slants," No. 4.

Joe Holton tells us that Al Parker has taken an option on his year-old baby girl for Fox pictures. Al thinks he has another Janet Gaynor in the embryo.

A majority of the Vitaphone stars and featured players will be guests of the New York Strand on Christmas Eve at the premiere of "Manhattan Parade," featuring Smith and Dale. Among those present will be Robert Ripley, Donald Meek, Thelma White, John Hamilton and Clarence Whitehill. The latter plays the title role in Vitaphone's Washington Bicentennial two-reeler.

Politics figures in the story of "His Honor," fifth of the Booth Tarkington juvenile stories, just completed at the Warner Vitaphone studio under the direction of Alf. Gould and Billy Hayes again plays the leading role of Penrod.

- - - - IN THE current issue of "Asia" there is a mighty interesting article on the cinema in Japan written by Salfried Lindstrom, who has spent his life in that country, and represents an American film company there . . . . . for the past two years the land of Nippon has produced over 700 features a year . . . . beating Hollywood by about 100 . . . . but the product averages a negative cost of five grand only . . . .

- - - - THE JAPS probably hold the record for being "picture conscious" . . . . every school has a motion picture study club . . . . the regular theater program averages about 22 reels . . . . and our exhibs complain about the double-feature evil . . . . every Japanese city has its "theater street" . . . . over a thousand houses show only Jap pix . . . . where foreign and American pix are shown, an interpreter known as a benshi stands alongside the screen . . . . he keeps up a running fire of explanatory conversation as he interprets the action . . . . many of these benshis have a personal following rivaling that of a great stage name . . . .

- - - - RIGHT NOW the Havana theaters are getting ready for the invasion of the American tourist trade . . . . Ernesto P. Smith, heading the Columbia branch in Cuba, operates the Campion theater in Havana, one of the best . . . . Antonio Sastre has been assigned the management of the ultra-modern Enecato by Mister Fratchett, the Paramount chief . . . . and the native film trade paper, "Filmpolis," is an unblushing duplication in makeup of the "Film Daily"

- - - - OVER AT the Warner studio they were making a Vitaphone short with the Mandel brothers and the scene called for a steel construction . . . . so they hired a half dozen real steel "roughnecks" to make it realistic . . . . and the makeup man tried to doll 'em up with his powder and rouge . . . . and they didn't measure him.

- - - - FRIENDS OF Charles "Pop" Berlino, vet exchange-man and life member of the M. P. Salesmen's association, will be interested to learn that he has been appointed to the Bronx Grand Jury for life . . . . A. L. McCormack has taken over control of Colorfilm Corporation . . . . he is well known in the automobile field . . . . Herman Obrock, Jr., the first cameraman for Pathe newsreel when it was organized here, recalls that Mister Francoen was then the editor, and Frank Hoagland was writing titles . . . .

- - - - THE RUNNER-UP prize in the Empsey Class B tournament was won by Billy Ferguson . . . . when Bill discovered that it was a silver medal, he immediately started propaganda to get Uncle Sam off the gold standard . . . . in order to make his medal worth more than the gold one that Don Mersereau won for first prize . . . . just a Scotch fenagler.

- - - - LOOKS AS if Radio City will be officially referred to as Rockefeller City . . . . in honor of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., whose financing made it possible . . . . Alice Reinhart, German film star, will have the leading role in the stage comedy, "Wilhelm Papavert," soon to open at the Vanderbilt . . . . Out in Hollywood the phone of Wallace Smith is always ringing . . . . for there are four Wallace Smiths in the phone book . . . . but he isn't any one of the four . . . . he is thinking of taking an unusual name like Jones . . . . or Brown . . . .

GENTLEMEN of the 72nd CONGRESS now in session—

this country in its darkest hours had a Washington and a Lincoln—

WHAT THIS COUNTRY NEEDS RIGHT NOW IS—
We predict she will win it next year too!

The highest prize of the industry went to Marie Dressler this year for her work in "Min and Bill." We think she will win it again next year.

Marie Dressler

FROM THOUSANDS OF SCREENS SHE'LL CHEER UP AMERICA!

Let her change the map of the U.S.A. from THIS to THIS

Hats off to Marie Dresser! Hats off to M-G-M's studio-showmen who have immortalized her God-given talent in "Emma" a motion picture that will inscribe its humanity on the heart of the world. Exhibitors need not be told of the power and appeal of this glorious actress. But we are here to tell them that with Marie Dresser in "Emma" there has come to the screens of America a picture so tenderly understanding, so packed with laughs, so funny and tragic and beautiful, all wrapped in one, that once seeing it no one will rest until they have enjoyed it all over again. Box-offices of America, get ready for action!

HOLLYWOOD

AL GREEN has been selected to direct Ruth Chatterton’s first starring vehicle for Warners-First National, “The Rich Are Always With Us.”

“Westward Passage,” current best-seller by Margaret Ayer Barnes, last year’s Pulitizer award winner, will be released next as the next Ann Harding starring picture, first to be produced by the combined RKO Radio Pictures and RKO-Pathé organization. Miss Harding returned to Florida on Monday by plane after a brief vacation visit in Canada. She leaves Saturday for the West Coast, rejoining by plane to reach Hollywood the same day other members of the “Prestige” company arrive by train.

Al Christie has started preparatory work on a new educational, Vanity comedy, “That Rascal.” Har- open as it will be featured in the leading role.

The writer-star combination which gave “Cimarron” to the screen a year ago will perform again for RKO in the production of “Manhattan Frontier,” described as a drama of “the men who pull the money strings of the Voice of the War.” The book has turned in the completed script and a hurried executive conference was held recently. Producer Richard Blum and Al Christie have been released from RKO’s studio to work on important pictures. The film will be released on the last day of March.

Al Christie has announced an addition to his company. Miss Manners has been signed for the leading lady role, opposite Ken Maynard, in Tiffany’s “Texas Gun-Fighter.” Based on a story by Ben Cohn, the picture will be produced by the Phil Roberts company through Roy Ingraham, Harry Woods, Bob Fleming, Edgar Lewis and Jim Mabin in the supervising capacity.

Kay Francis is now definitely set to make her first Warners-Film National appearance in “Working Wives.” Scenario and dialogue are by Robert Lord, and production begins at once under the direction of William Dieterle.

Clark Gable, Bob Montgomery and Ralph Forbes are among the role playing enthusiasts. Darryl Zanuck, director; Raymond Griffith, C. C. Burr, James Gleason, George Amy and Al Smiley are among other dopes of the script.

EDITOR’S NOTE: There have been plenty of outrages, especially in recent weeks, about what’s wrong with movies. The following is a list of the movies that were voted as the worst of the year by the Federated Women’s Clubs of Milwaukee, presented some arguments in favor of the other side.

(Third Instalment)

We do not have to waste much time in Wisconsin talking about censorship. We practice freedom in Wisconsin, we do not just talk about it. We believe that we are competent to select our own entertainment and we do not want politically appointed boards of censors trying to make us good citizens by snipping kisses out of celluloid.

Yet, I do want to talk about censorship and magazines. I believe there is a real need for an effective censor and a salacious character or which misrepresented the past. Last summer the advertising men of the various companies formulated an advertising code, the purpose of which was to establish definite standards of truth in advertising both for national and local advertising of goods and services. The idea was popular and has been widely adopted. The code was submitted to the advertising men who represent a large portion of the advertising community and the code was adopted by them. The idea is that the advertising men who represent these large companies have their own ideas about publicizing their picture.

“Some progress has been made. We suppose that sufficient examples of bad advertising could be assembled to make the statement believable. Nevertheless, we believe that the code is a step forward and that it is having an effect on the outlaw of theater minds which are accustomed to extravagant statements, and who think the public must be brought into the theater by ‘kick.’ We can be of help if they will vigorously approve evidences of good taste in advertising and just as vigorously dismiss lapses of good taste. We suggested that if you find bad advertising in your local papers or in books or posters of your local theater, you do three things:

1. Cling out the advertisement and either write or visit the local theater manager to protest.
2. That you send me a copy of the offending advertisement.
3. That you send to the producer or exhibitor the reasons for your objections.”

Before I conclude, I will say just one word on the second part of my subject—the truth about Hollywood. I have read quite a bit about Hollywood but I do know it from the viewpoint of a motion picture exhibitor. When it sends me a bad picture it says, ‘Hollywood.’ When it sends me a good picture it says, ‘Hollywood.’ In the end, it is my problem, and I am delighted. But, being human, I also have my days when I get angry when it delivers a picture that I have to show my patrons before I look at the next one.

Hollywood People
This much I can tell you, though about Hollywood. It is not populated by some strange tribe from Mars. It is populated mainly by people like you and me, with no greater per-

"Hell Divers"

Credit another direct hit to the M-G-M heavy artillery, for "Hell Divers," which opened last night at the Astor, is a swell, hang on old-fashioned movie intensified with the latest of folk technique. This is no anemic, sexy, parlor sort of vehicle, this "Hell Divers." It is a homey yarn of spectacular proportions, of virile and dynamic substance and of top-shelf presentation. It is strictly a Wally Beery triumph, for he steals the show. Clark Gable will bring 'em in, but the sweet young things will hardly go for him in this one. Personally we are against sad endings, and this one is that. Credit another fine piece of direction to the understanding George Hill. Photography is unusually effective. It is likely to prove another depression chaser and it is particularly recommended, even to those who can't or won't pet the theme that 'em is big and powerful. "Hell Divers" looks like sure fire, for while the story has been oftentimes told, it hasn't missed yet. —ALICANTE.

basis. He pointed out that so-called 'big names' do not always represent box-office draws.

Goldwyn said he believes that the trend in pictures is toward realism in stories, as in "Arrowsmith," and that there is a widespread market for productions of this kind. The story is unconvincing from the audience's viewpoint he declared. Goldwyn deplored criticism of the industry he would definitely fix production costs in advance of a picture, and emphasized the fact that such a procedure is impractical.

Goldwyn will start his 1932-33 program early in April, when an East Coast production is expected, and planned Colman go into work. He will remain in New York sev-relying. Answers to the various questions brought out that:

"Hells' Angels" was voted the box-office picture of 1931 by picture goers and Wallace Barry and Maria Driller the greatest individual box-office personality of 1931.

Asked what newcomer made the greatest strides, the exhibitors were unable to answer from all exhibitors.

Curtiss declared were the most important short subject by an overwheling vote. Melodramas gained a slight lead over comedy as the theme most interesting to patrons. Talking serials were voted down by a narrow margin.

Gang pictures were turned back with an undisputable "anti" majority. A number of exhibitors declared they wouldn't show any more gang pictures even if available because of bitter and repeated complaints received.

Juvenile patronage, the survey showed, fell off rapidly during the year, and exhibitors declared there was not yet enough material available aimed at the younger generation.

Buddy Rogers, who won the 1930 News survey, did not receive a vote in the 1931 balloting. "Babe" Beer, feminine winner in 1930, tied with Joan Crawford for third place, with Janet Gaynor, taking the 1931 runner-up position.

The average decrease in business over 1930 was 47 per cent.

THE FILM DAILY

ON THE RIALTO

with PHIL. DALY

- - - RAMBLIN' THOUGHTS about Events and Gents in the film biz and other fancies: that litter through a feller's mind... when trying to fill a kolomy... here, f'rinstance, are the Xmas cards piling in... many from gents at present outa jobs... 'fore ya see, when they planned those original cards... they had jobs... which gives you a slight idea of how fast upsetts happen in this dizzy biz... so it seems kinda foolish to send 'em cards in return wishing 'em a Merry Xmas... unless they have a fine sense of humor.

- - - JUST TALKED to a chap who was let out after six years' faithful service... and he was so philosophical about it all... said he hadn't much kick... he had a lif' set aside... had his health... and the pix biz had to go.Forward... which means that they all had to hire the boys back again... for ya can't run an organization on a skeleton staff... forever... and the thing that worried him most... was the fact that he couldn't kick in to the Relief Fund... he had planned... for now he needs every dollar... what a spirit!... thinking of the chaps who are worse off than himself... and it's meeting a lotta men like this... every day... that makes us proud to be One of the Film Gang.

- - - BUT THERE'S one thing that emerges grand and beautiful out of all these trying conditions we face... and that is the Spirit of Understanding that has been created of the other fellow's problems. The at last we are beginning to sense... that what affects one, affects all... no man is so big in this biz that he can ignore any of those around him after all, it's the rank and file of an army that counts and every film exec is doing his darndest to keep his personal army corps intact.

- - - IT'S BEEN a great privilege, boys and girls, to sit in this spot and watch the Tide of Film Events roll by... for here you get a panoramic view of the entire Parade... and to have high and mighty ones have t' pass through it into what it's all about... and take it from us... they are a splendid gang... and the greatest kick we have extracted from it is this... This Getting Underneath a Fellow's Skin... taking him apart... and finding out what makes him Tick... and you'd be surprised... because many fellows who are generally rated as Hardboiled, Selfish, Unappreciative... are exactly the opposite... when you get real close to 'em... which has taught us One Thing and that is... Never judge a man on Hearsay Evidence you've got to have him on a Stand and understand what he's up against... what he's trying to do... in order to judge him.

- - - SO AT this Holiday Season... we find ourselves with a load of good things to be happy about... especially the army of fellers who have had us the material to pass along to you... and, would ya believe it? the great majority of 'em have plugged their organizations... their affairs... and not themselves... that in a word... Loyalty to their work... and not the personal angle... has ever been foremost in their thoughts... and for that very reason... we have gone out of our way to give 'em Personal Breaks... when they least expected 'em... and when we overlooked any such... we ask forgiveness... for it's been merely a lack of space... so here is a kolyma Without Names... one that contains more Personal Men- tions than any we've yet run... it stretch from A to Z so, if you Qualify as per formula... just fill in your Own Name... and accept it as our Season's Greetings.

NATIONALIZATION PLAN FOR INDIEx INTERCHANGES

Brothers in the Film Relief Corp. THE FILM DAILY learns. Under the setup, which Weiss has discussed with several important territorial distributors, every distributor will be directly interested in production and each exchange will share in the profits of every other exchange. The territorial men already approached on the idea are understood to think well of it.

One feature of the Weiss plan, heretofore thought impossible, is that it will provide for the simultaneous release of all productions throughout the country. With this pre-arranged schedule of simultaneous releases, every exchange will benefit by the extensive national advertising that will be started shortly after Max Weiss' return from Europe this week, when details announcement of the plan is expected to be made.

Lou Weiss leaves soon for a tour of the country to negotiate for his 10-year plan. He will also visit Hollywood to supervise production of his picture the week of Christmas.

The 23 features planned for 1932-

33 will include eight outdoor dramas, eight action melodramas, eight social dramas and four stage successes.

What's Right With the Movies
By FRED S. MEYER
President, Motion Picture Theater Owners of Wisconsin

EDITORS NOTE: There have been plenty of outbursts, especially of the "Where's the movie with pictures?" class, from what's wrong with motion pictures. Since the word is going around that there is a new release with a talking feature, delivered by Fred S. Meyer of W censor,自贸 patches, and a-minded organization, Wisconsin County, presents some arguments in favor of the other side.

Some months ago, before "Seed" was shown in Milwaukee I invited the presidents and representatives of your organization and other civic clubs to a private preview. At that time I addressed them as a new manager of the Alhambra Theater, but as president of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of Wisconsin, I said in part: "Pictures like this deserve your support. Many-times great pictures have failed to draw because of the title. This may be the case in this instance. I want you to see the picture. If it appeals to you and to your heads with exactitude, let me have your commendation, if you are really interested in good pictures and in the welfare of the product, to give us their best, then go out and urge your members, your friends and neighbors to see "Seed.""

In my duty were I not to hear and now gratefully acknowledge the very fine work that was done as a result of my plea. "Seed" broke attendance records when it was shown in Milwaukee neighborhood theaters, and this despite the unprecedented hot spell. In no instance has any theater manager told me that he did not go out and urge people to see "Seed," and in the majority of theaters the attendance was a record. My personal opinion is that the favorable propaganda done by you, your friends and neighbors, the preview was responsible for 65 per cent of these gratifying results.

I want to make a similar appeal to you today. There is a picture coming to your neighborhood called "Mother's Millions." The Milwaukee critics unanimously praised this production as they seldom have any other. Many of you undoubtedly saw "Mother's Millions" during its downtown run. If you didn't see it you are not to miss this picture when it comes to your neighborhood. I am ready to stake my reputation that you will enjoy it immensely, and if you do, give it a "Seed" worked with both campaign and urge your friends to see "Mother's Millions." It is a credit to the screen and to the industry I have the honor to represent.

If you will bear with me for just a few more minutes, I would like to say a word about "Spirit of Notre Dame," which is due to start filming in a few days. It is another of the great Knute Rockne, a record of his voice, his spirit, is embodied in "Spirit of Notre Dame," which stars the immortal leader. After you have seen "Spirit of Notre Dame" I am sure you will agree that it is a great picture. But again we are confronted with a certain group of" outsiders, not the leaders, will see the title and say, "Ugh, another college story." The fact that this picture is minus all college hokum, that it is a wonderful example in character building and sportsmanship, will not be brought to the attention of everyone, man, woman and child as it should unless you do the necessary work. I particularly recommend "Spirit of Notre Dame" through you to the Boy Scouts, Y. M. C. A.'s, Parent-Teacher associations, and to thinking female high school and college students, the so-called "flappers" who are able to get a "kick" out of college atmosphere minus all customs, the "Jackie" and John. I urge you and ask you to work with your theater manager. Whether he operates a downtown edifice or the humblest neighborhood house with work with him and tell him of your likes and dislikes.

If you want week-end programs particularly planned with family groups in mind, you will find that "Spirit of Notre Dame" is just your picture. You will learn that no one is so ready to suit a customer's wishes as the theatre manager, and then you are a good customer. I do not mean by that to plead with you to go more often to the theater. That is for you to decide. That is for you to stimulate by giving you a better product. When the good product does come, endorse its in the most effective way, by your presence at the box-office and at the fine pictures, in your club, in your home, to your neighbors. Write a letter to your local paper one in which you praise "Spirit of Notre Dame," and send your exhibitor a copy of the letter. He is trying to give you what he believes you want. He must do that, and he will do it if you make your wishes plain.

Remember what I said about "The Spirit of Notre Dame," Bear in mind that "Dilractil" missed being a financial success because of lack of audience support. "The Silent Enemy" succeeded for the same reason. "With Byrd at the South Pole" proved to be an expensive venture for the company which made it. "Old Ironsides," a splendid historical picture, had to be sold in a block with four pictures of frivolous type and the whole block drew very little revenue from the few frivolous pictures would have drawn alone.

I feel that with this splendid group we are going over ground that you know already. Continue your cooperation with us along the lines you have done in the past few years and your results will be excellent. We are grateful and grateful. With your help, what's right with motion pictures will get RIGHTER and RIGHTER.

- EDITORIAL NOTE: There have been plenty of outbursts, especially of the "Where's the movie with pictures?" class, from what's wrong with motion pictures. Since the word is going around that there is a new release with a talking feature, delivered by Fred S. Meyer of Wisconsin County, presents some arguments in favor of the other side.

(Concluding Installment)

Time to Let Up
Unquestionably the efforts to be little Hollywood enterprises keep a certain amount of interesting pictures which we are trying our best to print here, but that has come on some to rise in vehemence defense of the industry against carping, ridicule and nagging.

‘U’ Goes Matrimonial

Close on the announcement that Leo Abravanel, president of the universal exchange, would marry his secretary, Hanni Peretti, on Christmas Day, came word yesterday that Fred Mayer, accessory manager of the same branch, had beat him to it by taking the fatal step with Jane Hearst. Paul Cukich, at the home office, was quite flustered about it all, unable to decide how such things could happen during an alleged depression. When it was intimated that U's prosperity might have something to do with it, he waxed pleased.

CHRISTMAS
...peace and good will

By Jack Alicate

—just had a happy little cry. So did another member of the Relief Fund Committee. And so did the head of a family we had just helped, to enjoy, as God would have it, a cheerful Xmas, where one of near starvation loomed before.

—YOU, too, who have contributed to the RELIEF FUND, should be happy, for ONLY through your giving was this made possible.

—To those of the industry who have overlooked or forgotten, this is a final appeal. This annual drive closes tomorrow.

—And no day is more appropriate of charity.

—Christmas.

—“Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.”

—As you read this, if you have not sent in your check, please do so today. NOW. Ten dollars goes as far now in this relief work as 25 did a few years back. There is not one cent of expense. Every dollar goes to relief.

—If you and your family have the comforts of life on this Xmas Eve, thank God. Never mind which one, for he is the same to all. Then think for just one minute of the many who are in sickness, distress and actual want through no fault of their own. It might happen to you, me, anyone.

—This is your last chance this year to help a grand cause. Your Xmas will be more cheerful for having done so.

—The committee having the work in charge consists of Don Mersereau, “Red” Kann, Billy Brandt, Al Lichtman, Ed Finney, Bert Adler, Lee Ochs, and the writer as chairman.

FILM VOGUES MET DRASTIC CHANGES IN 1931

Higher, Not Lower, Production Budgets Urged by Capra

Production of Good Films Requires Ample Money, Says Director

Production budgets should be increased, not cut, in an effort to make better grade pictures, declared Frank Capra in an interview with THE FILM DAILY yesterday, following his arrival in New York from the coast. Expenditures, however, should be watched closely, said the director.

SEVEN M-G-M FEATURES READY TO BE RELEASED

M-G-M has completed seven features for release during the next two months, said Howard Deitz yesterday, following his return to New York from the Coast. They are: “Emma,” with Marie Dressler; “The Fourteenth Year’s Finest” (Continued on Page 9)

RKO Holders Granted More Time to Subscribe

In view of the large number of requests from stockholders for the extension of time to subscribe to the new RKO debenture and common stock, President Hiram S. Brown asked RCA, as underwriter of the subscription, to consent to an extension of time. This was granted, Jan. 9 being the new dead line.

Numerous New Policies Established During the Past Year

Highlights of motion picture developments in 1931, viewed in retrospec, reveal many radical changes in film vogues and policies, as well as a marked degree of adaptability to meet the sudden changes in general conditions, it is shown in a resume compiled by Paramount.

“More new film favorites entered in 1931 than in any previous year,” says the resume. “For proof, look” (Continued on Page 9)

FINAL CALL IS SOUNDED IN RELIEF FUND CAMPAIGN

Today marks the final call in the 1931 drive for THE FILM DAILY RELIEF FUND. Television Light Beam Transmits Clearer Image

Schenectady — Transmission of television on a beam of light, utilizing a wave length of but a billionth of a meter, has been demonstrated here by Dr. E. P. W. Alexanderson of General Electric. This use of the ultra short waves, Dr. Alexanderson believes, opens the way to a new and valuable area in the art and promises to result in more distinct television pictures.

THE WASHINGTON CHRONICLE
The most sweeping statement any critic ever wrote

TRANSLUX
Greatest air casualty scoop in the history of all newsreels is recorded for Universal by Staff Cameraman Floyd Troyhan in the current program. It’s the spectacular Bayles crash in Detroit.

The audience is tense from the time Bayles seats himself in the cockpit. When the machine, traveling five miles per minute, goes into a series of spins, crashes, and sends up from the ground a sheet of flame, the fan reaction is one of horror. The picture is so real audiences forget they are in a theatre.

Prints still available — play it up as the biggest screen sensation in years.

THE above from Variety beats anything ever said about any newsreel! Mark you, it doesn’t just call this a great scoop but “the greatest air casualty scoop IN THE HISTORY OF ALL NEWSREELS”. And that’s exactly what it is. If you have not seen this astonishing “shot” you have missed another history-making event in the picture industry.

YOU will not—you can not—get the fullest possible showmanship into your program unless you feature the Universal Newsreel (with Graham McNamee as Talking Reporter) as part of your regular, weekly bill! It is the smartest newsreel ever made — every number being sure-fire for entertainment, thrills and laughs! Arrange this very day to get the

UNIVERSAL NEWSREEL
Van Ice Sisters Deliver Ice in “Night Angel” Stunt

M: M. SHENKMAN, manager of the Fox, Watertown, N. Y., on the strength of the name of his featured stage attraction, the Van Ice Sisters, put across a novel exploitation campaign for the Van Ice Sisters’ act and for the feature picture, “Night Angel.” He arranged with eleven Watertown merchants to have their ice delivered by the two girls for two days. The Watertown Ice Co. furnished the ice and the truck, which Mr. Shenkman plastered with banners and large cards advertising the picture and the featured stage attraction. Large crowds followed the girls as they cut and delivered the ice. A window display of a block of ice with a Christmas tree design inside lasted the two days. Several blocks of ice with lettered placards inside announcing the picture were made, the ice was placed on flat trays in front of the theater.

Cards and Phone Start

“A Free Soul Argument”

GETTING fans into argument about a picture is always good publicity. Clarence F. Etherington of the Fox, Idaho Falls, sent out cards to a mailing list of 2,000, principally in the farming district, from lists made up by friends and employees. The cards carried this new type of promotional copy: “They're arguing for their souls! Fierce, hot argument, as the patrons poured out of the Fox theater. Many agreed that Lionel Barrymore ‘stole’ the show and that the court room scene was the finest piece of dramatic acting ever shown on screen or stage. Others heatedly argued that Norma Shearer more than held her own and that only an actress of her ability would have dared to surround herself with such a cast. Even on one thing they all agreed—that ‘A Free Soul’ is number one in the best pictures of the year.”

—Fox, Idaho Falls, Id.

Evenly Matched

Miami—An agreement by which unions picking the State will be allowed to patrol the street with two men, and the larger management an equal number with opposition banners, was reached after police had temporarily cleared the sidewalk of eight pickets. The latter were reported to have cut out four pickets in opposition to the union’s two. The unions then doubled their forces, resulting in complaints from pedestrians that the sidewalk was being blocked.

TIMELY TOPICS

A Digest of Current Opinions

How About Conserving Adjectives?

WHAT will the movie industry do when its public relations experts exhaust their supply of adjectives? When breath-taking, stupendous, mammoth, gigantic, colossal, amazing, soul-stirring, civilization-rocking, etc., have become even more trite than is now the case in announcing the forthcoming showing of, say, Pan's Deer in “Half-Married,” what will be the recourse of ad writers and preview paragraph authors? One shudders to think of their plight. And radio announcers are also following a dangerous trail and endangering the available supply of adjectives in describing certain products being raised to their friends “of radio land.” This is a day of conservation, retrenchment and censored music. It seems that future bright stars of the near-silver screen might have to resort to more histrionic ability in order to attract trade than is now necessary while the shock of power of adjectives is still potent. It might be suggested, in view of such calamitous necessity, that the utmost frugality be evidenced by those adjectives dispensers whose prodigality threatens future exhaustion of what has been the main appeal for box-office receipts—adjectives and more adjectives.

—Motion Picture Record

IT MAY be interesting to some of the boys to remind them what they were worrying about at the Yuletide Season 10 years ago. Back in 1921, when the era of “Hard Times” was starting to be raised, after a very prosperous year . . . and compare with their present worries . . . it may make ‘em feel a little better . . . or worse . . . who knows?

THERE WAS Will Hays, getting ready to resign as Postmaster, and accept his new post as Film Mogul . . . . and wondering whether he was making a wise move. Arthur Loew was abroad, trying to get a grant on the foreign field. Ernest Shipman was up in Canada with nary a care . . . just enjoyin’ his life. Pearl White was at the end of her Fox contract and looking around for another. Senator Jimmy Walker, now our mayor, was fighting for censorship relief.

THOSE TWO naughty boys, William A. Brady and Sydney Cohen, were squabbling over who was to take credit for abolition of the 5 per cent rental tax. A bunch of the boys were all het up with the bright idea of establishing a luncheon club atop the State theater building. The fore-runner of the Empey Club idea . . . . Pola Negri was burnin’ them up in “Vendetta.” “Little Minister” . . . . Clara Kimball Young in “What No Man Knows.” David W. Griffith had just completed his sixth 15x7 pix, “Orphans of the Storm.” George Fitzmaurice was sitting pretty with his direction of “Peter Ibbetson.”

OUT IN Hollerwood, United Artists was in embryo at the United Studios, with M. C. Levee as manager handling his troubles keeping all the stars and associated companies happy . . . with his new plan of cooperative production control . . . . With Mary Pickford and Doug Fairbanks heading the list . . . . Harry Carey was looking for a new distribution contract . . . . Priscilla Dean for a scenario with two or three scraps in it . . . . S. L. (Roxy) Rothafel wanted to be a producer in the worst way but we don’t mean it that way . . . . Pete Smith was searching for an effective hair oil even in those early days . . . . Erich von Stroheim was trying to entangle a million from some big-hearted producer to do another “Foolish Wives” . . . . in another 18 months.

PROVING that he had the right idea, Sol Lesser was searching for another Jackie Coogan . . . . but kid brother Robert hadn’t been born yet. William Hart stated that he wanted only one more year at pix, and he’d be satisfied . . . . but is he? . . . . Mack Sennett was out for a new bunch of bathing beauties . . . . as usual. . . . Will Rogers was angling for a release for his two-reelers. . . . Mae Marsh was making overtures to get back in the D. W. Griffith fold.

AND OUR ol’ pal Tommy Meighan was so busy that all he yearned for was a chance to rest between pix . . . . Christy Cabanne was trying to land a good vehicle for Billy Dove . . . . Nathan Burkan was lookin’ forward to that summer vacation that he hadn’t had for years. . . . Felix Feist was still trying to beat boogy at the Oak Ridge golf club . . . . and he STILL is . . . . Harry Warner stated that if he had another year as good as 1921, he’d RETIRE . . . . and all these things were IMPORTANT to them then . . . . as their present problems are now . . . . but will they seem IMPORTANT ten years from now? . . . . we wonder.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer’s Pride and Joy!
The Royal Road To Happiness

To rich or poor, there is one glorious thrill which never fails to invigorate, to enhearten. It is the thrill of giving, and giving where the need is greatest and the relief most deeply appreciated.

Why should human beings enjoy giving?

There is only one answer, only one plausible explanation which clarifies the whole question. Humans think.

Men live, not through their bodily experience, but through their minds.

We feel the sufferings of others, not because they hurt us or our bodies, but because the thought of their sufferings and their miseries hurts the heart of love. We can put ourselves in their shoes and agonize to their sufferings. Mentally, we can sympathize with their needs, their struggles, their despair.

Giving is a form of religion. It is good for the soul, because it cements the brotherhood of man.

...We beg of you to do nothing for the reward of praise, but do it cheerfully, for the love of your neighbor. We shall not ask you to do what you cannot.

FILM VOGUES AND POLICIES Underwent Changes in 1931

40 superstar poll established as best box-office personalities, and to Paul Lukas, Lily Damita, Ramon Novarro and others. The foreign vogue caused the return to films of Pola Negri, Greta Nissen and Anna May Wong and brought such new faces as Conchita Montenegro, Lina Dapogar and Rola Lee.

"Interesting come-backs during the year were those of numerous former favorites such as Dolores Del Rio, from bereavement, Deanna Durbin, Edward Arnold, and Jeanette MacDonald. The return to films of Pola Negri, Greta Nissen and Anna May Wong and brought such new faces as Conchita Montenegro, Lina Dapogar and Rola Lee."

The outstanding technical advance of 1931 was the introduction of 'Noisless' recording, first introduced with Ruth Chatterton's "The Whole Town's Talking.

"The connecting link between screen and fiction was strengthened during 1931. Reading tastes coincided with the public's taste for motion picture narratives; as shown by fact that some 150 books, ranging from the classics to best-sellers of today, were filmed. More books will be transposed to the screen in 1932."

NEW JERSEY CHARTERS

BEN FISH, United Artists division manager with headquarters in Chicago, is in New York for a business trip.

HENRY GINSBERG has arrived in New York from the coast to transact business for Hal Roach.

LUDWIG "LADDY" LAWRENCE sailed for Europe aboard the Aquitania on Saturday.

JEAN HARLOW is on her way to Pittsburg to open a personal appearance tour at Warner's Stanley, with BUDDY ROGERS coming into the same house Jan. 1.

MRS. HERMAN MANKIEWICZ, Paramount director and writer, respectively, arrived in New York this morning from the coast for a holiday vacation.

JOHN R. FREULER, president of Big 4, has left for Montreal to spend Christmas. He returns to New York shortly after New Year's Day.

HARRY ROSENQUEST, assistant sales manager for Vitaphone, is back from a three-week trip through Canada, and reports business better than on his last tour.

ARTHUR BRILLANT, Paramount writer, is on his way to the coast following his marriage to Edna Rivers.

The Chicago, I. J. ROHER of Toronto and S. K. DECKER of Detroit were among the exchange men visiting the Big 4 house offices in the past week.

(Continued from Page 1) of the future silent sequences will be used when incidents can be told more effectively in a visual manner. Whether an ending of a picture should be unhappy or happy depends upon whether each treatment is natural and logical, he said. Frequently when one character by a tremendous sacrifice makes other characters in the story happy, a so-called "sad ending" is justified, but not in cases where the tragedy is futile.

Fewer pictures ought to be made by producers owing to the difficulties connected with turning out heavy production programs, Capra asserted. The director sails from New York on Dec. 29 for a four weeks' visit to London, Paris and Berlin. Upon his return to the Coast he will direct "Tampico." Before coming East he completed work on "Forbidden," with Barbara Stanwyck.

HOLLYWOOD FLASHES

By RALPH WILK

WILLIAM A. WELLMAN, director, and Marjorie Bonita Crawford, aviatixx and actress, were married this week in Yuma, Ariz. Another marriage reported to be impending is that of Joan Bennett to Gene Markey.

Samuel Goldwyn has loaned Lily Damita to Paramount for the Maurice Clokey film, "One Hour With You." Another Goldwyn player, Melvyn Douglas, has been loaned to Paramount's New York studio for "The River Sex," co-starring with Claudette Colbert.

Norman Foster instead of Tom Brown will appear with Loraine Young and Winnie Lightner in "Eight to Five," soon to start production at the Warner Bros. studios in California. Tom Brown, one of the rising juveniles of Hollywood, has been assigned to the cast of "The Ferguson Case," based upon a story by Courtney Terrett and Granville Moore.

Ruth Hall will play the ingenuous lead in Warner's "Mendel, Inc."

Katherine Grant, beautiful blood film actress who disappeared mysteriously about four years ago, has been located in the State Hospital at Patton, victim of a nervous and physical breakdown. Miss Grant, who was the "Miss Los Angeles" of 1922, had been injured in an automobile accident. She was taken from Hollywood by her mother, Mrs. Anita Kerr, and after treatment in various institutions was placed in the State Hospital.

Norman Taurog is back at the Paramount Hollywood studios since an appendicitis operation and expects to be ready to work shortly after the first of the year.

Carl Laemmle, Jr., has added a few more to the cast of "The Impatient Maiden," being directed by James Whale at Universal City. The more important ones are Oscar Apfel, Ethel Griffies, Bert Roach, Cecil Cunningham, Arthur Hoyt, Blanche Rayson and Loren Raker. This adaptation of Donald Henderson Clarke's best selling novel stars Lew Ayres and features Mae Clarke, Una Merkel and John Halliday.

BIGGER AND BETTER THAN EVER

"TEN BEST FILMS' POLL STIRS KEENER INTEREST"

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) will go down as far as the most successful to date. Not only has interest in the vote become more extensive among newspapers, magazines and the public, evidenced by more than 200 polls already returned by the leading motion picture critics of the nation, but the interest this year is much higher and more enthusiastic.

There also is a marked increase in serious appreciation of the constructive service of the poll to producers in giving them a line on public tastes taken into consideration.

A greater number of critics are making local application of the ten best selections, idea, inviting the balloting in their city. The best example of this is the symposium held recently in Chester B. Bahn, cinema critic of the Syracuse Herald and pioneer in conducting a local poll each December in conjunction with The Film Daily's national vote.

Quoting Bahn:

"The importance of this poll and others inspired by it—"The Herald" pioneered in carrying the election to fandom—cannot be over-emphasized. Not only do they permit the singling out of meritorious pictures for public recognition, but they serve as a barometer of what is desired in the way of cinematic entertainment."

It represents an honest attempt to mirror the opinion of fandom within the boundaries of "The Herald."" wide parish, while necessarily voting is restricted to pictures seen in Syracuse during the year, residence in Syracuse is not necessary to qualify an elector. Readers of "The Herald" anywhere are eligible and invited to cast a ballot.

To stimulate interest in the 1932 poll, "The Herald," through the courtesy of local theater managers, and with the cooperation of the Cinema Critics Club, offers no less than 10 awards.

The first 10 winners, as determined by the Board of Judges, will be guests at a series of theater parties to be given by the cooperating managers, including those by R.K.O., Keith's, Loew's State, Warner's Strand, Paramount, Fox-Eckel, Rivoli, Swan, Regent, Riviera and Brighton.

The rules governing the Symposium follow:

1. Only pictures given a first showing in Syracuse picture theaters between Jan. 1 and Dec. 21 are to be considered. This eliminates revivals and reissues such as "Hot Hut," but does not affect wholly new versions, such as "East Lynne."

2. Pictures seen in other cities, and yet to be viewed in Syracuse, are not to be taken into consideration.

3. Only one ballot may be submitted by the participant, but all members of the family may compete individually.

4. Participants must be at least 16 years of age.

5. The Symposium will close on Monday, Dec. 21, and winners will be announced on Sunday, Jan. 4.

6. The decision of the Board of Judges will be final.

7. Participants, if they so wish may enclose a letter explaining the reasons for their selections. This is optional.

The plan to be followed by the judges in determining the winners is substantially that used in preceding years. There will be two master lists against which all your ballots will be checked. One will be the "Ten Best" as selected by the writer. The second will be 10 pictures receiving the highest number of votes in the fan poll.

For convenience of fans, a ballot appears elsewhere. If so, however, is not mandatory. You may write your selections on a postal or submit them in letter form.

FILM RENTALS SLATED FOR MPTOA DISCUSSION

The subject of film rentals is expected to be one of the major topics brought into the coming annual convention of the M. P. T. O. A. scheduled for Washington, March 14-16. Further steps will be taken toward inducing producers to eliminate score charges. Protection is slated as another topic for informal discussion.

Dr. Rudolf Becker Leaves
Assoc. Sound Industries

London—Dr. Rudolf Becker, general manager of Associated Sound Film Industries since its inception, has resigned from that post and also from the management of British Sound Film Productions. E. van Duyn of the Spreekfilm Co., Amsterdam, succeeds Dr. Becker.

Emmott Moore Producing
Ireland's First Talker

London—Emmott Moore, who for years has visited Ireland to take silent travel films, is now in the Free State with two sound tracks making the first feature-length talker to be produced in that country. It is titled "Sweet Innocence" and if successful will be followed by other ventures in that country.

Mamoulian Advocates Deaf Test for Films

"If a deaf person can understand a talking picture, it is basically perfect," says Reuben Mamoulian, Paramount director, who has just completed "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

"The cinema which must be heard to be understood is not true film entertainment. Everything should be visual, dialogue and sound only adding to the enjoyment."

Two New Sound Stages Planned
By Associated Radio Pictures

London—Addition of two sound stages, considerably larger than the present stages, is part of an expansion program to be undertaken by Associated Radio Pictures in the new year, according to Basil Deen. The new building, to be erected at Ealing.

Ben Kalmenson has been promoted to branch manager in Pittsburgh.

United effort by all branches of the amusement industry in a concerted campaign to defeat the proposed 10 per cent Federal admission tax will be sought by the League of New York Theaters, it was decided following a meeting this week. Dr. Henry Moskowitz, adviser for the League, presided at the meet, which was attended by Broadway producers and managers.

GOOD PICTURES
—trying to pick the year's ten best

By Don Carle Gillette

After so much hollering—in the past year—about poor pictures— it's a merry surprise—to note that many—of the nation's critics—find it so hard—to limit their selections—of the year's best—to the quota of ten—in accordance with—the tenth annual poll—now being conducted—by THE FILM DAILYAt least two dozen—of these critics—in returning ballots—have tasted on—some extra titles—which

BRITISH LION STUDIO
DOUBLING ITS OUTPUT

London—Expansion of the British Lion Studio facilities at Beaconsfield to enable twice as much output will get under way shortly with the erection of two new sound stages, which are to be finished by April, according to S. W. Smith. This is the second big expansion move in the British production field, the other involving two additional sound stages planned by Associated Radio Pictures. All will be equipped with RCA Photophone sound recording.

they judged worthy—but couldn't squeeze into—the list of tenMany other m. p. editors—in making the 'bests'—in their local columns—were not content—with one list of ten—but added a second—and even a thirdAll of which—seems to indicate—there must have been—more good pictures during—than most folks—had imagined.

A little test—make a preliminary list—of about thirty—from the better releases—of the past yearCimarron—"Front Page"—"Sin of Madelon Claudet"—"Skippy"—"Street Scene"—"Five Star Final"—"City Lights"—"Min and Bill"—"Spirit of Notre Dame"—"Smiling Lieutenant"—"Bad Girl"—"Trader Horn"—"Tabu"—"Daddy Long Legs"—"Outward Bound"*—A Free Soul—"Tragedy"—"Monkey Business"—"The Millionaire"—"Smart Money"—"Susan Lenox"—"Wallingford"—"Zwei Herzen"—"Le Million"—"Dreyfus Case"—"Little Caesar"—"Public Enemy"—"Crimes of the Family"—"Broadway—Transatlantic"—DevotionYou see the list—is overlapping already—and many good ones—aren't in it—Now try to eliminate—all but ten—and see what happens.

THERE isn't a doubt—that the past year—produced a plenty—of good films—but in such a period—even good films—have a tough time—making good showings—and as a consequence—it is the pictures—instead of conditions—that get the blameAny industry—with the qualifications—for turning out—such a string—of exceptional films—under stress conditions—needn't worry much—about coming through.

I IN HAPPY endings—are getting more numerousIt appears the producers—have gone in—for tragic climaxes—with a real vengeance"Arrowsmith"—"Sour Grapes"—"Drewry Drovers"—"Safe in Hell"—are only a few—seen in a fortnight—that end sadly. The trend is explained—in some quarters—as attempts to inject—more realism—into storiesBut the matter needs serious thought—before the trend—goes too farIt is important to hold fast—to this thought—that the theater—is a temple—of make-believe—and the majority—of movie fans—pay out their dough—to get away from realism.

IN PROVIDING—clean amusement—the movie theaters—help to promote—good citizenship—and hold in check—revolutionary tendencies—said Larry Collister—county treasurer—in addressing—Cleveland exhibitorsIn chaotic times—there's no place—like the theater—for keeping the masses in a happy stateEven if we impose—a burdensome tax—on admissions.

BUDDY ROGERS WITH NBC Buddy Rogers has concluded arrangements with National Broadcasting Co. whereby he will appear under the exclusive management of the NBC artists service. He will conduct his own orchestra and sing over the NBC networks, in addition to his stage work, which includes appearances in a Ziegfeld show.

WHITELEY MARRIED Stanley Whiteley of British International Pictures was married to Miriam Cheek of London on his recent visit to England. Their marriage was known yesterday. Mrs. Whiteley arrived Wednesday on the Aquitania.

JOE HUMMEL PROMOTED Joe Hummel has been given a new post at Warner-First National and hereafter will be assistant to Andy Smith, eastern sales manager, and Graddwell Sears, western sales managers.

ARTHUR SACHSON A DAD Arthur Sachson, head of the contract department of the Warner home office, is the father of a son and heir, born Dec. 24.

Back to the Independent Theatrical

UNLESS within the next few months there are definite signs that quality of product is on the upgrade and that the hysteria of the present has subsided, exhibitors should make definite demands that the producers give up operation of theaters except in key cities or test spots. The exhibitor has stood for the health of the bankers—by putting men who are not shonwmen, but who are financiers, at the head of major companies—long enough. Now that it has been more or less definitely proven that the hand that rules the industry can't produce quality pictures, it remains for the producers to recognize the situation. Financial difficulties of the big companies is the exhibitors' immediate concern. Fortunately, the industry seems to be all right. But the vision of some of the Hollywood chief�eas seems to be blurred. One of the classic examples of this is the persisrency with which the independent producers are put to the drawing-room, English-dialogue pictures, most of which have died miserable deaths at the box offices of theaters in smaller cities. Bringing the bankers into the business has not helped the industry from the picture standpoint. Taking the reins away from men who, either through luck or through vision in the picture industry, money-making product will not help theaters. All plans submitted by the bankers seem to have failed. Ten years ago, when the theaters of the country were generally controlled—by independent, controlled, the business was in a healthy shape, able to combat any depression. Why, then, can it not be assumed that the future success of the business rests in independent theater operation? Knowing that they would have to make quality product to get the runs, the producers would have to turn out quality pictures. Upon that would rest their remaining in business. —Jay Emanuel

Gettling Acquainted With Patrons

WHEN Al Plough was appointed manager of Warner Bros., Commodore in Philadelphia, he sought a means of getting acquainted with the patrons of his house. This is the reason the present period at the theater is known as "Let's Get Acquainted Month." Plough moved his office and that of his staff into the lobby and there he holds forth where people may reach him without any red tape. The new manager has made it known that he welcomes suggestions from the patrons of the house both as to the type of pictures they like best and as to the things that will add to their comfort while viewing them. Plough feels that his stunt is making for good will and feels that it has been so productive of good results that other manangers might copy it.

By RALPH WILK

HOLLYWOOD

ROY DEL RUTH, Warner-First National director under long term contract, was recently singled out as representative of the new order of screen directors by a prominent scientist who visited Hollywood while on a mission for the Rockefeller Foundation. While it is not generally known, Del Ruth has written two books on scientific subjects which have been published under a pseudonym. In speaking of this the scientist remarked, “I have found no more thoughtful, widely informed and cultured group of men anywhere in any profession than the present generation of screen directors. There are individual exceptions such as will be found anywhere, but the average is exceedingly high.”

Following ten days spent in the dentist’s chair, Mark Sandrich declares he has been entirely opposed to the highly touted “approach forcing system” of Ely Culbertson’s, if it’s anything at all like the bridge work he thinks it is.

Roy J. Pomeroy, film director and technical expert, believes that the solution for better pictures is from the source of original stories written especially for the screen by writers of experience and training. He thinks individual stars should have all stories especially prepared for them by staff writers.

Believe it or not, Frank Fay now producing his own feature, “A Fool’s Advice,” made his stage debut at a steady pace in “Babes of Toynard.”

Babe Stafford will start directing the new Mack Sennett Short Shor-Sort, entitled “Heavens! My Husband!” Andy Clyde is starred, Dorothy Granger plays opposite him and Allan Lane plays the leading juvenile role. George Bryon, Bud Jamison, and Opal Gangle complete the cast.

Educationalists, fourth in the group of Hollywood Girl Comedies, has been titled “Hollywood Luck.” The comedy, directed by William Goodrich, has a cast including Virginia Brooks, Rita Flynn, Frances Dean, Addie McPhail and Clarence Nordstrom.

Following completion of “The Goldfish Bowl” at the First National studios, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., will be starred in “Love Is a Racket,” adapted from a novel by Richard James, Broadway columnist of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle.

“Girl In The Tonneau” replaces “Nighthorse Parade” as the title of the new Mack Sennett Comedy just completed. Arthur Stone and Helen Mann head the cast, which includes Dick Stewart, Luis Alberni, Nora Mozelle, Tom Dempsey, Tom Malligan and others. Babe Stafford directed.

Rudolph Myzetz is gathering material in Hollywood for the International Film Exhibition to be held in Prague, Czechoslovakia, March 12 to 20, 1932. The exhibition will consist of commercial, technical and cultural exhibits.

Buzz Barton has completed camera work on “Human Targets.” The story on his next Western has been approved, says Burton King, Big 4 production supervisor.

“Broadcasting” has been selected as the title of the sixth in the new Tiffany Chimp Comedy series, just completed. This comedy was tentatively called “Ex-King.”

Big 4 is going ahead on the current program at high speed so that early production arrangements for the coming season may be made. During December “Human Targets,” a Buzz Barton Western, and “Mark of the Spur,” starring Bob Custer, have been produced and a melodrama will go into production before the week is out.

Big 4 Horsemen

Bob Custer, Francis X. Bushman, Jr., Buzz Barton and Wally Wales are known on the Coast as the Big 4 horsemen!

Frank Marsales, musical director of the Harman-Iising Studios, producers of “Looney Tunes” and “Merrie Melodies,” has enlarged his “manellection” by the addition of a flying squirrel. The squirrel is now a neighbor of Frank’s four chipmunks.

The greatest ambition of most boys is to play on the Notre Dame football team, but one halfback named Allan Lane deserted the “Fighting Irish” when a stock company came to South Bend. In a few years he was playing on Broadway, but a contract with Film brought him to the Coast. At present, he is playing the juvenile lead in the new Sennett comedy, “Heavens! My Husband,” starring Andy Clyde and Dorothy Granger.

Having completed the screen version and dialogue for “Lost Squadron,” which George Archainbach is directing for Radio Pictures, Wallace Smith has been assigned to another story by chief executive David O. Selznick.

Victor Schertzinger, composer and a film director of prominence, is being sought by an English producing company. The Selznick-Joyce organization is handling the negotiations.

The first of the Charles Paddock short shorts has been completed at Universal under the direction of John Breslan.

Pat O’Brien has been signed by Carl Laemmle, Jr., for the central character in “Ambition,” by Emil Gavreau. It goes into production next week under the direction of Russell Mack.

George Brent, stage actor, will play the leading masculine role opposite Barbara Stanwyck in Warner’s production of Edna Ferber’s “So Big.” Brent has been signed by Warners to a long-term contract.

Rowland Brown, Universal director who was borrowed recently by R-K-O to direct John Barrymore in “State’s Attorney,” has added a fully equipped gymnasium to his home. Brown, at one time, was one of America’s leading wrestlers.

Florine McKinney, Fort Worth high school girl who recently signed a Paramount contract, was assigned her first major screen role when she joined the cast of “The Miracle Man.”

Owing to similarity with a Gibson Western made some years ago, M. H. Hoffman, Jr., of Allied has dropped the title, “Lost Squadron,” and “The Local Bad Man” will be the release label. Production now in cutting room, with Mildred Johnson editing.

Mickey’s Helping Hand,” a Mickey McGuire comedy produced by Larry Darmour, has been booked into practically every RKO theater during Christmas week. This action was prompted, because the story is built on the Yuletide spirit and has a great appeal to youngsters vacatiining during the week.

- Paramount is undecided as to whether Nancy Carroll's next feature will be made here or on the West Coast. She is now in the midst of "Wayward," with TedSLoman directing, at the New York studio.

Billy Hayes, Vitaphone's "Penrod," is rehearsing for a vaudeville sketch in which he expects to open right after the holidays and which will mark his stage debut.

- What promises to be a novel idea in musical shorts has just been completed at the Warner Vitaphone studio under the title of "The Subway Symphony." A large cast of singers and dancers, including Joan Abbott and the 12 David Gould dancing girls has been recruited from the Broadway stage.

Gertrude Turchin is acting as secretary to Stuart Walker who has just arrived from Hollywood for an important directorial assignment at Paramount's New York studio.

- A exact reproduction of the dressing room set at the Warner Burbank plant was erected at the Vitaphone studio for "The Studio Mystery," latest of the S. S. Van Dine series.

Frank Kingsley, former casting director at the Warner Vitaphone studio, is now attached to the Herbert Heyo booking offices.

A MATTER OF 'SPICS'

Jack Haley, who appeared as a stage comedian for a number of years without any particular make-up, has affected "cheaters" in his first two Vitaphone comedies and finds they help his work, and as a permanent part of his get-up on both stage and screen. All of which would not be especially interesting except for the fact that Alf Goulding, Vitaphone director, who suggested the specs, was the same man who made an identical suggestion to Harold Lloyd, many years ago, thereby changing him from an indifferent comic to a world figure.

Adeline Hillbrown is doing the adaptation and Carolyn Franklin the dialogue on "Sensation," next feature to be made here and which is based on "The Misleading Lady," a successful silent film of several years back.

- Eddie Ryan has been given the role of "Freckles" in the Booth Tarkington Penrod series which Vitaphone is making. He will make his first appearance in the part in "His Honor," just completed by Alf Goulding.

- Claire Trevor, who has just completed her third role for Warner Vitaphone, is hoping for the same luck which marked Madge Evans, who appeared in the first role with her, and Peggy Shannon, who was in the second one.

- Chick Kirk, Paramount's supervising art director and Joe Holton, Fox talent scout, went to the University of Montpelier, France, after the war. They spent four happy months in sunny Southern France, right on the blue Mediterranean. It was great while it lasted.

- Taro Miyaki, Japanese wrestler, gave an exhibition of Jiu Jitsu before the Vitaphone cameras with Andy Zarako, heavyweight wrestler for a Ted Husing "Sport Slants."

Thelma Tipson of Vitaphone comedies made her stage debut in "The Garrick Gaieties" with a clever imitation of Hope Williams and was made a principal when it was found she could neither sing nor dance.

Record business at a special children's matinee is reported by the Florida theater of Jacksonville, the reason being the personal appearance of Little Jack Frost, ten-year-old Jacksonville youngster, back home for the holidays after appearing in Vitaphone's "Penrod and Sam" series.

- Lilyan Tashman spends every moment she can get away from the Paramount New York studio shopping for new clothes at Fifth Avenue.

- Harry T. Morey, who played heavies at the old Vitagraph studio fifteen years ago, still appears there occasionally in Vitaphone comedies. The old crew such as Norma and Constance Talmadge, Lou Costello and his daughters Dolores and Helene have gone on to Hollywood and fame but Morey still remains faithful to the old studio which has so many pleasant memories for him.

- A rich looking set featuring a large satin draped bed on a dais was arranged for Vitaphone's "Studio Mystery" and everyone agreed it would do credit to a DeMille opus.

With two features in production, the Paramount New York studio worked right through until the last afternoon of Christmas Eve when all hands knocked off until Monday for the holiday celebration. Likewise at Warner Vitaphone where a fall shorts schedule is under way.

In proof of the fact that the old-timers are not forgotten at Christmas time, Billy Bitzer, veteran cameraman, now attached to the Richard A. Varney production staff, every year receives a Christmas card from Lillian and Dorothy Gish, whom he photographed in many of the Griffith pictures. Likewise from Una Merkel who received her first test from Bitzer while acting as stand-in for Lillian Gish.

- The entire staff at the Audio Cinema studios were made happy by the fact Joe W. Coffman, studio head, who has been seriously ill following an operation for mastoiditis, greatly improved to the extent of having his family with him on Christmas Day, at the Fifth Avenue hospital where he is now recuperating.

WOULD BAN BILLBOARDS

Two bills for the regulation of outdoor advertising, one of them prohibiting all billboards or advertising signs of any sort in the neighborhood of a State park or parkway, are being prepared for the 1932 Legislature by the State Council of Parks.

Astronomer's Invention Enables Better Vision

London—The motion picture invention of the noted South African astronomer, Dr. Innes, has been demonstrated here for the local trade press, which finds much to comment on in the invention. A saving of seating space is made possible and at the same time the angles of vision are greatly improved. Audiences see a mirrored reflection of the picture thrown upon the screen, with the apparent distance between the spectator and the mirror the same as the distance of the mirror from the screen, which can be placed at any desired point in the auditorium. Thus those close up to the mirror (and at the sides) get the appearance of distance from the picture, doing away with the eye-strain of looking at a screen but a few rows of seats away. Seats may be placed as close to the stage as possible without strain on the up-front spectators.

The London trade press commented this feature of the invention, and found Dr. Innes' claim that the slight second reflection from the front surface of the mirror smoothed out "rain" and the grain of the film apparently justified. They found no reason to doubt his third claim that the invention is pseudo-stereoscopic.

Well Represented

Aubrey Scotto, Paramount shorts director, enjoyed the unusual distinction of having five of his pictures playing at various Broadway houses simultaneously. These were "Socially Correct," at the New York Paramount; "Puff the Blues Away," and "East Meets Vest" at the Rialto; "Musical Justice," at the Rivoli, and "Bullmama" at the Brooklyn Paramount.
Cleaning Dirty Screens

Dirty screens may be cleaned as follows:
Thoroughly clean the rear of the screen with the nozzle of a vacuum cleaner, removing thereby all of the particles of dust and dirt now clinging to the pores of the screen.
Ivy soap MUST be used. In the event the water in your town is hard, either rain or distilled water may be used to secure a good lather. Use a good quality of sponge and lukewarm water. Commence at the top of the screen working downwards in sections between the seams. Avoid using too much water, getting it into the seams or allowing it to run down behind the screen and under no circumstances attempt to wash the back of the screen. Change the water frequently as soon as it becomes dirty. A minimum of rubbing is desirable.
After the initial washing, rinse the screen with clear water so that no particle of soap or soap film is left on the screen as this discolors the screen when light is thrown upon it.
While this is not a difficult job, it is too important to be entrusted to the average porter and should at least be supervised by some of your more intelligent help. If done carefully your screen should be greatly improved.

Roth Inverted Converters Adaptable to Many Uses

Chicago—Inverted rotary converters, which are said to deliver alternating current from any direct current source, for operating gaseous tube signs, public address systems, etc., is being marketed by Roth Bros. & Co., manufacturers of motors and generators, this city.
Multiple arc type actodectors, declared to be accurately built and liberally proportioned to insure continuous operation, making them especially suited to sound equipment installations in that they supply steady direct current power to the arcs, resulting in brilliant screen illumination of uniform intensity, even during change-over, also are being marketed by the company.

DRESSERWARE GIVEAWAY

Athol, Mass.—A dresserware giveaway plan for building theater patronage, consisting of genuine quarts pyroloid, decorated in gold and black, 12 free window cards, free mat, free coupons and a trailer loaned for four weeks without charge, is being offered by the Win-cox Co. of this city.

New Telephoto Cell Giving Good Results

The new telephoto electric cell, a product of the Telephoto & Television Corp., of New York, is reported giving excellent results. The new tube, of the caesium argon type, is manufactured in three sizes and fitted with the standard four-prong base. The polarizing voltage range is said to be from 22½ to 90. With 90 volts on the plate, the output of the cell is rated at approximately 50 micro-amperes per lumen.

INCREASES PRODUCTION

THEATER MGR. WORKS OUT EASY BOOKKEEPING PLAN

Seymour, Ind.—Perfection of a system of bookkeeping particularly for theaters, but which may be used in almost any business, is announced by Mrs. E. M. Eagleston, manager of the Majestic theater here.
The first series consists of a theater to keep a complete record of film products and a dating book for films. The invoice record of film products gives complete record of all films and the dates they are shown, and columns are also provided for receipts, expenses and other financial details in connection with these films.
The dating book for films can be used to advantage by managers in booking films and other information that is necessary for them to have, it is said.
The theater ledger, it is declared, is a complete bookkeeping system in itself, columns being provided for detailed entries as to receipts and expenditures for each day of the year and a form is also given for computing the year's business from which income tax records may be quickly taken. The ledger is made up for a period of two years with two income tax records.
The slogan used on all books is "Know and protect your business." All of the books are copyrighted under the name of "Easy Method."

PORTABLE MIDGET UNIT BEING TURNED OUT BY W.E.

Chicago—Development of a midget portable "talkie" outfit, small enough to pack in two ordinary size suitcases, yet possessing quality that rivals theater equipment type, is reported to be in the process of manufacture at the Western Electric Hawthorne Works.
The new projector, it is said, is a Bell Telephone Laboratories development, especially designed for use in "halls, churches, clubs and by commercial sales organizations."

PRICES BEING REDUCED BY NATIONAL CARBON

Cleveland—A reduction in price of carbons, effective Jan. 1, has been made by the National Carbon Co. of this city.
Carbons on which the prices are to be reduced include the following: 12 mm. x 8 SRA, from $75 to $70 per thousand; 8 mm. x 8 SRA, from $95 to $80, and the 9 mm. x 20 high intensity from $325 to $245.
An increase of two inches, it is also learned, has been added to the 12.6 mm. x 20 high intensity carbon, making a total length for this carbon of 22 inches, with price to remain the same, $400 per thousand.
The new SRA carbons and pre-cratered high intensity carbons are recent improvements developed by the company making possible better projection and steadier screen illumination, it is declared.

MASTERPACK MARKETS

PRODUCTION OF FILMS ABANDONED BY SPAIN

Spanish Gov't Using Films for Propaganda

Madrid—The Spanish Government will make use of the screen for national propaganda purposes. The first film will be "Firmín Gallan," dealing with the origin and growth of the Spanish republic, to be produced under the supervision of the government at the Tobis studios in Epayne, France.

Australia Rebellng
At Radio-Movie Clubs

Sydney—Australian exhibitors are turning against the radio-movie clubs as a means of creating box-office interest in motion picture production. They have found that these clubs instead of boosting business are taking people away from film theaters through dances, Saturday afternoon hikes and other of their social activities. M.G.M., first to adopt the idea of the radio-movie club, has withdrawn entirely from the club it organized. "We found that, in order to maintain public interest," said N. B. Freeman, M.G.M. chief, "it was necessary to extend the activities beyond mere broadcasting, with the result that other societies were developed which took the public away from the pictures. Despite the fact that we had upwards of 100,000 members of the club and its affiliated organizations, such membership made no difference to receipts."

Third Australian Reel

Sydney—Australasian Films, Ltd., subsidiary of Union Theatres, has embarked on the production of a new series of radio-features for Australian distribution. Two screenings of the new well, South America, and it is believed that the recent Hispanic-American conference in Madrid hit any scheme to relieve the situation. American exchanges expect to do a fair business during the season of 1932-33 but are skeptical about future seasons.

French "Non-Flam" Film

Paris—The non-inflammable film law, passed several years ago but frequently suspended, is to go into effect in France on Jan. 1, 1932. Inquiries have been made to the Minister of Fine Arts for further delay in applying the law, but no answer has yet been received.

Australia Will Force Native Film Support

Sydney—Although the Minister for Customs has declared that he wanted no quota law in Australia, he also stated that if Australian exhibitors declined to support Australian-made talking pictures by screening them, the Government would have to take specific steps to deal with the situation. He made a strong appeal to exhibitors to lend their support.

Representations have been made to the Government," said Mr. Forde, "for some similar action (like the British quota law) being taken in Australia, and in this case presented in support of the request is indeed a very strong one. I am, however, of the opinion that if it is possible to achieve the same results through the voluntary cooperation of exhibitors, much more good will be served and the desired results obtained more quickly."

Four Films in Work
At B. I. P. Studios

London—Activity at the B. I. P. Elstree studios is in full swing with four directors at work. Norman Walker is directing "Bill the Conqueror," Henry Edwards "Brother Alfred," Monty Banks is on "Bill Takes a Holiday," and Alfred Hitchcock is well along with "No. 17."

New Plan Enables Preview Before Actual Production

Wisby System Said to Cut Costs of Picture Making

(EDITOR’S NOTE—The following is Harold Wisby’s own summary of his recently developed plan, already mentioned in THE FILM DAILY, a two-page article in the department section on the general reaction of intended screen stories before any actual production expenditure.)

Motion picture drama can now be produced without actors and settings and staff—yes, entirely without the use of studio and studio equipment. The cost is trilling. The quality is not only technical but artistically comparable, if not superior, to the Hollywood product.

There are men in this industry—practical production executives of national repute, who are beginning to realize that by means of this new process it would be feasible to output two pictures, and occasionally three, for the present cost of one. And when we say pictures we mean the directorproof kind, the box-office grade.

Impossible? Well, they all said that, at first. All of the twenty odd experts appointed by leading corporations to investigate, but they didn’t say that now. By this time they have quietly joined that slowly but steadily growing group of men in the business on whom this industry depends for brains in emergencies. Men who believe the new process may not impossibly prove to be the coming thing of real importance in modern picture entertainment profitable to the producer and profitable to the exhibitors.

More than one executive of record has voiced the opinion that this process, properly backed for large scale operation, as two elements of fundamental importance that need only to be applied intelligently to re-establish the picture industry on a sound and permanently secure, profitable operating basis.

Page Frank Wiskich!

Robert Lord, Warner-First National writer-director who contributed to “Pity, Star, Fainal,” has an interesting collection of similes and is, himself, a master of metaphor. Among his oft-cited similes are: “Calm as a well-digger’s back,” “facilitating as an ice cube in a cocktail shaker,” “wrinkled as a washwoman’s hand,” “the air of a dead mackerel,” “as welcome as a Garland contemptuous of a kindly offer,” “like being offered a barrel of clothes,” and the sarcastic “hospitalize pitifully in need of ground support’s eye as a rabbit,” and “as alike as a row of Salvation Army Santa Clauses.”

How It All Started

Origin of the Pennsylvania Blue Laws is explained as follows in the American Mercury:

“As a matter of historical fact, the Pennsylvania (Sunday) law is the product of an even deeper religious superstition than the mere imagined need of observing the Lord’s Day. It was passed in its present form in 1794, following the fashionable epidemic. It is said that the law was intended as a punishment for their sins, including the desecration of the Sabbath; in other words, it was adopted as insurance against a recurrence of the sin, rather than to prevent it in the first place. That’s the reason Pennsylvania in 1931 still keeps on its statute books, though it does not strictly obey or enforce it, one of the narrowest Sunday laws ever passed.”

The new process is founded on creative line of showmanship, embracing all the arts and the sciences pertaining to the arts. It is a creative thing operating on constructive, free and intelligent theorists. It is motion picture, completely dramatized, in the pre-production stage.

The process is designed to help all members of the staff, or rather to help them perform their work in a manner far more satisfactory to their professional capacity than current routine, which offers little if any profit for the individual talents. Everyone on the staff—yes, even the actors—can draw his share of benefit from the screen production made feasible by this process in advance of actual studio production.

Not by discarding what we have of technical value and personal talent, but rather by utilizing these assets in a more convincingly modern, more efficient way does this process operate.

A way that gives full scope and latitude to the showmanship inherent in the picture, and creates the picture that does not hamstring them with impractical “efficiency” formulas and suchlike standardized rubbish carried over from the factory era.

A way that all hands on the staff, all hands in the manufacturing units, can understand and benefit from as easily as they can look at a motion picture.

For that is what The Wisby plan is—making motion picture drama direct from a motion picture preview revealing pictorially upon the screen all the scenes in continuity called for by the scenario. For the very reason that this preview shows up the scenario—its good, bad and indifferent points, as may be—this preview and shows it in the medium of motion picture, the director and staff can take intelligent action as to such changes and emendations as they may desire so that the really ok’d preview will be a production that meets the rigid demands of studio production under overhead.

Hitherto production has meant just one thing—production. Under The Wisby plan there will be two phases of production, the pre-production phase resulting in a screen preview, and (2) the studio production under overhead using this preview as a pictorial staff guide in addition to the regular script.

The activity of the pre-production department does not interfere in any way with the work of the producing executive in the studio production division. The previewer does not even work in the studio but in his own private studio.

The completed preview is available to the staff in the shape of a screened print with sound and dialogue following the scenario text, and besides, in as many sets of stills as may be needed for the working requirements of the staff.

Thus equipped we know where we are going before we start to shoot. No more trial and error. No more trial and error. No more unprofitable re-shoots. No more writing the script for the screen. Production is 100% without the screen preview to be done after a single shot is fired under overhead. Instead of producing d-rect from a typed script, one now produce direct from a live picture preview giving dramatized expression, in screen terms, to the things the script calls for but cannot show.

This was never done before in picture history. Production has always remained a kind of blind man’s buff, like a ship steering in the fog without the benefit of the lighthouse of the old man. Not until the latest dollar of the customary $500,000 budget has been spent on the director really know what he has got on his screen. And sometimes even then he does not know until he has spent an extra fortune in retakes.

Previewing production on the Wisby plan enables an intelligent director to know far better accurately in terms of picture what he has got on his screen, or got to get, before he starts to shoot.

Quite a difference. And the cost? Well, about four to five hours of running studio cost will cover it. In other words—cigar money!

XMAS FUND FOR ENGEL

St. Louis—Friends of Morris Engel, veteran motion picture exploiter, raised their annual fund to make his Christmas a little more enjoyable. Engel has been an invalid for many years and is still helpless.

When he was in harness he was always willing to extend the hand of good fellow-ship to those in need. So annually his many friends, led by Barney Rosenthal of Premier Pictures Corp., get together to show him that the world hasn’t forgotten him.

Medical Story Wave

West Coast Box, THE FILM DAILY staff correspondent, notes that the medical story is seen to be one of the popular newer vorges. RKO-FOX has been understood to be considering yarning of the Dr. Kildare pictures. Paramount is said to be already decided upon the aforesaid. MG-M is expected to be the first to break through, though, according to this informant, while Will Rogers is said to be slated for the Fox production, about which nothing exact can be said, the newspaper is.

No. 52 of 1931

"Good Deeds" Series
Wallace Beery and Clarke Gable in "HELL DIVERS"

MEATY DRAMATIC ENTERTAINMENT WITH FAMOUS NAMES. CREDIBLE PRODUCTION WELL ENACTED.

Audiences which like he-man stories told with gusto and plenty of real humor will go for this picture. But whether the subject is not a newcomer to the screen. Capably directed and with Wally Beery turning in a great performance, the film comes through.

Beery, in a noble attempt to bring the injured men back to safety, is killed as he tries to land his plane. The film has a neat little bit nothing to the picture.

Cast: Wallace Beery, Clark Gable, Conrad Nagel, Dorothy Jordan, Marjie Rambert, John Miljan, Landers Stevens, Reed Howes and Alan Kane.

Director, George Hill; Author, Lt. Commander Wend; Adapter, Harvey Gates and Malcolm Stuart Boylan; Dialogue, Harvey Gates and Malcolm Stuart Boylan; Editor, Herbert羡; Sewell; Cameraman, Harlan Warstrom.

Direction, fine. Photography, splendid.

THREATLING AIR SEQUENCE AT FINISH IS HIGHEST IN FAIR DRAMA-ROMANCE. CAST IS FINE.

Larry Darmour, producer of this feature, provided it with several humorous touches and crack-ups that are as thrilling and realistic as in most of the more costly productions. The story is okay, but more along the lines of action is needed. It concerns two stunt pilots with a fly-by-night carnival who, after the show closes, discover that they both are in love with Eve, a side show dancer. Eve is engaged to one of the pilots, but he turns out to be a sharp-shooter. The other lad learns of his partner’s plan to stage an air hold-up. Then starts the chase in the air with plenty of machine gun firing, two dandy crashes and some thrilling stunts above a mountain range. The on-the-level kid is killed, the villain cracks and Eve marries the young brother of the fellow who is killed, securing all of his own life. A great battle in a warehouse, and plenty of suspense and action all the way, with a nice finish.

Direction, zippy. Photography, good.

"PEACH O'RENO" with Dorothy Lee

Radio Pictures

"PEACH O'RENO" -- SATIRE ON DIVORCE CAPITAL, FULL OF COMEDY HOKUM THAT SHOULD GO OVER NICELY.

Reno is taken for another laugh riot in this picture wherein Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey extract just about the biggest load of fun that a nameless, unknown community has produced in any picture. The comedians play the roles of a pair of Greek gods offering counsell service for clients. A very vegetables their silver wedding suddenly get into an argument, winding up with divorce intentions. Arriving in Reno, followed by their two daughters, they are taken in hand by the Wheeler and Woolsey legal firm’s bus, which meets all trains, and then follows the amusing routine of proceeding to see the judge, when the lawyer the lawyers not to separate the parents. Along the route of the action is included the ingenious, and wonderful, and little known, and little, and of whole, and of everything, and of anything, and of the service of a co-respondent. Entire surrounding cast contributes effect in support of the star. Cast: Bert Wheeler, Robert Woolsey, Lura Laing, Sonia Gregg, Delores Long, Lela Ayers, Nora Witherspoon, Sam Hardy, Arthur Hoyt, Mitchell Harris, Mrs. M. K. Marsh, William L. Seltzer, Author, Tim Whelan; Adaptor, Ralph Spence; Dialogue, John Miljan; Cameraman, Jack MacKenzie.

Direction, zippy. Photography, good.

"SOOKY" with Jackie Cooper, Robert Coogan

Paramount Pictures

"SOOKY" -- JUVENILE FIGURES RATES WELL UP WITH "SKIP-PY," AND HAS THE STUFF TO GROW UP ALIKE.

It was a tough assignment for Director Norman Taurog to try and top "Skip-Py" in this companion picture, and he has succeeded for the former rates so high. But he has put over a juvenile offering that will easily score with the public, and the story is based on a plenty of appeal. Jackie Cooper as "Skip-Py" carries the picture easily, with Robert Coogan as "Sooky" trailing close behind. Many of the characters of the first film are again on display, including the snooty kid, Sidney, played by Jackie Searle. They strive to dismantle the scene of the dog’s death and work up the sentimental sobs by having “Sooky’s” harmonica playing on. Here is an idea of the big brother stuff. But the film is crammed with so much fine juvenile characterization and incident, that it overcomes these lapses.

Direction, fine. Photography, splendid.

"AIR EAGLES"

HITS NEW NOTE BY PANNING GANGSTERS AND SHOWING UP THE SYSTEM. HAS THE STUFF.

This film is the sort they should have made originally, for it puns the gangster element and shows graphically how the small tradesman have suffered at their hands. Here we have no heroes among the gang element. They are just a lot of dirty grafters preying on their helpless victims. The story is well constructed; all of the original angles, and rings true, as if taken right from the files of the district attorney’s records. An unusual angle of the story is that an outsider gangster is induced by his old friend, now district attorney, to help him clean up the town by putting the local gang out of business. This he does by employing gangster methods against the other. In a word, the film is as much as the author’s story. A great battle in a warehouse, and plenty of suspense and action all the way, with a nice finish.

Direction, strong. Photography, okay.

"BILL CODY IN OKLAHOMA JIM"

Monogram

GOOD OLD FASHIONED WESTERN WITH INDIAN RESERVATION ATMOSPHERE AND ANDY SHUFORD TO PLEASE THE KIDS.

This is a frank appeal for the kid vote, with Bill Cody and his juvenile pal, Andy Shuford, mixed up in all sorts of excitement involving the Indians on a reservation. It is very close, very enough action and fighting to please all the fans. These two make a strong team for the western, and there is good sentimental interest to contrast with the action stuff. The tale goes back to the days when the Indians were still restless as they moved onto a reservation. Bill Cody as a gambler, with his boss, gets mixed up in a situation where an Indian girl has been impressed on by some of the bad elements of the reservation, and the Indian chiefs decide the blame rests between these two. Then follows a series of complications that work out into pretty good action material that keeps the suspense up. Andy Shuford plays the part of a white boy adopted by the Indians and saves the life of his pal, Bill.

Cast: Bill Cody, Andy Shuford, William Farnum, Eddie Palinski, Jean Elliott, Marion Burns, Ed Brady, Si Sears.

Direction, fine. Photography, splendid.

"ZWEI MENSCHEN"

"Two Souls"

Capital Film, Inc.

PRETENTIOUS GERMAN FILM FINELY PRODUCED, BUT HAS TICKISH RELIGIOUS ANGLE THAT MUST BE FIGURED OUT.

Adapted from the famous novel of the same name by Richard Voss which aroused a lot of controversy on religious angles. As the film is an imported one the religious angle must be taken into consideration by any exhibitor booking it. The story is a study of the Austrian Tyrol, with gorgeous mountain settings that are exquisite. The youngest son of an impoverished count is sent into the priesthood through a vow his dead mother made. The youth fights against it to the last, as he is in love with the beautiful belle of the mountain village. He returns to his home from the Holy Land on a mission and performs a marriage ceremony between two servants of his sweetheart. They have a scene after the ceremony in which he must renounce the priesthood, but the girl holds him to his vow. Ends on a tragic note, which is a bit too much for a precipice to kill herself. Fine acting and directing throughout.

Director, Erich Wachsmuth; Author, Richard Voss; Dialogue, John Shaw; Editor, Mr. Voss; Art Director, Max Christo; Cameraman, John Shaw.

Direction, very good. Photography, excellent.

Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell in "DELICIOUS"

Fox

ACKED UP TOP NOTCH ENTERTAINMENT FOR CHILDREN. DANDY HEART-INTEREST ROMANCE AND SWELL MUSICAL NUMBERS.

A romantic Cinderella story, very cleverly handled. Its several numbers have not only novelty but exceptional success in this production, which has proved a hit with the Scotch immigrant arriving here penniless and having difficulty gaining entrance. Charles Farrell, a rich lad, comes to her aid and succeeds in getting her through, with romance and marriage as the final outcome. Gaynor Farrell story, greatly enhanced by the musical background and better than in any comedy before El Brendel, who officiates as Gaynor’s manservant. One of the musical numbers, George Gershwin’s “New York Rhapsody” is limited to be something of a sensation. Remainder of the music also is very good, and a good number of the performers, as immigrants and later imitators, add a novel note. David Butler’s direction is a fine job.

Cast: Janet Gaynor, Charles Farrell, El Brendel, Virginia Cherrill, Olive Tell, Lawrence O’Sullivan, Paul Robeson, Marya Raffael, Mischa Auer, M. Manel, Jeanette Nolan.

Director, David Butler; Author, Guy Bolton; Adaptors, Guy Bolton, Sonny Le; Dialogue, John Murray, George Gershwin; Lyrics, Ira Gershwin; Editor, Mr. Gershwin; Cameraman, John Shaw; Editor, Mr. Shaw; Art Director, Max Christo; Cameraman, Archie Stanton.

Direction, first-rate. Photography, fine.
SOUND SHORTS

Burns and Allen in “Oh, My Operation” Paramount 8 mins. Good Comedy

A thoroughly enjoyable laugh number in a hospital setting. Burns and Allen are in their element, playing off each other with perfect chemistry. The gag about the patient who envisions himself as a doctor is particularly amusing.

Vitaphone with Thelma White and Fanny Watson in “Her Wedding Night-Mare” Paramount 18 mins. Good Comedy

Another in the series of “Girl Friends” comedies, and again packs plenty of action entertainment calculated to prove satisfying pretty much all around. The motivation in this instance involves a lot of wax figures being concealed in closets, under beds, etc., in various parts of the house, with the girls getting a big scare every time they accidentally stumble into them. It’s good for a lot of roars and shrieks in the old reliable hokum alley.

Thelma White and Fanny Watson in “Nomadie in Sweden” Alexander Singelov 25 mins. Good Comedy

For its undue length, this is a very interesting travelogue dealing with Sweden. After various views of the country, the journey leads to the countryside for shots of harvest and native festivities. Then comes the longest single sequence, dealing with the Laplanders and their reindeer herds. There are some impressive shots of these backwoods dwellers, but the footage could be reduced without loss. Accompanying talk is unobtrusive as it should be.

Jack Benny in “Tangle Taxis” Paramount 10 mins. Enjoyable Stunt

In a wirecracking line of chatter of the type for which he has become familiar on the stage as well as in pictures, Jack Benny puts over a thoroughly long sketch with the aid of Francetta Malloy. Caught in a Fifth Ave. traffic jam as they are driving to the station, Benny and the girl engage in conversation, leading up to romance and marriage. But the domestic bliss doesn’t last long, and presently Benny is calling in the judge again to sever the matrimonial tie.

Mickey McGuire in “Mickey’s Helping Hand” Radio Pictures 18 mins. Good for the Kids

Another of the amusing Toonerville Trolley series of comedies produced by Larry Darmour, this one will satisfy the kids very nicely, although it is not as good as some of its predecessors from the adult entertainment angle. However, it has a surrealistic flavor which should make it register pretty well all around as a holiday offering. Mickey and his gang set out to get up a big Christmas for the neighborhood poor children. The gang goes on a search for a turkey, but bring in a false alarm when they mistake a flock of birds for the fowl kingdom. At last one of the youngsters lassoes a real rogger, following which the crowd assembles at the Scorpion Club for the big feed.

Monogram Finishing Schedule 2 Months Ahead of Time

Universal
... is in full stride

By Jack Alicate

In these stirring every-man-for-himself days, it is hardly news that a company has been in business for a long time ... Neither is it of much interest that an occasional good picture is turned out ... However ... When a producing outfit has been plugging along for twenty-six years, under the same executive management and same golden-rule policies, and can make unusual profits during the past two years of strife and uncertainty, turning out hit after hit, and generally smiling, while some other outfits were floundering in doubt and uncertainty, that's news and plenty plus ... Universal has a right to be happy ... Faithful to the Laemmle-Cochrane doctrines, they are not going to keep this cheerfulness to themselves ... You'll soon hear of the Laemmle 26th Anniversary Jubilee ... The machinery is in work ... The plans are elaborate ... It will be more than just a sentimental tribute to Carl Laemmle, Sr., hard-working pioneer who built both solidly and well ... It offers opportunity for a congratulatory gesture to an outfit of executives who have never been without their perspective ... On the Coast, Carl Laemmle, Jr., dynamic and fired with the ambition of youth; Eph Asher, the showman ... In New York, R. H. Cochrane, the solid and substantial; Phil Reisman in charge of sales; P. D. Cochrane, exploitation head, and N. L. Manheim of foreign sales ... Coming in a period when downheartedness, weak-souled spirits and generally uncertain quality of workmanship are more the rule than the exception, the achievement of Universal and its 26th Anniversary Jubilee are well worthy of a salute from the entire motion picture industry.

W. Ray Johnston Speeds Up Production on 28 Features
Monogram will finish its current production line-up two months ahead of schedule, W. Ray Johnston told Film Daily yesterday. Speeding up at the studios has been ordered because of a threatened product shortage, Johnston said. Of the 28 features scheduled, 20 will be completed or in production by Jan. 2, leaving ten for release later.

Independent Producers
Get a Break at Last

THE present merging and realigning of major company structure leaves the independents greatly strengthened and holding the determining role in the industry's position for the current year. During the past two years the entire independent set-up has been completely revised. Today there are no fly-by-night concerns engaged in picture activities. Independents are on a firm foundation: they have attained sound equality and are now well organized and well stabilized. Now, when mergers and reorganizations bring further curtailment in output, the independent assumes a position of paramount importance in supplying product when the shortage occurs. Never, in the past ten years, has this been so true as it is at the present moment, and the independents, firmly and substantially established, are taking advantage of this peculiarly favorable situation and will make the most of it—with effects which will be highly satisfactory to the industry, and to themselves. Many exhibitors are realizing for the first time the importance of the independent producer who supplies product when it is most needed. These same exhibitors will not forget the companies which "came through" when the situation was acute—and therefore the independents will continue to hold their position of eminence.

THINGS WE Never Thought Worth Mentioning Till Now

THINGS WE Never Thought Worth Mentioning Till Now that in view of the general squeezying-out process going on in the ranks of the film biz and with a lot of the boys finding themselves with nothing but leisure on their hands we suggest that now is the time for them to satisfy that Spirit of Wanderlust and to go tramping vare-free across the country and that this can easily be done by joining the Hobo Fellowship of America an organization that Actually Exists which takes care of its members better than any organized industry, including the film biz and sees that the boys have a choice of winter resorts in cold weather helping members to winter in Miami, Galveston, or Southern California and until the film biz starts to perk up again...and jobs are again plentiful a feller might do worse than join up with this really fine body of men...

THAT Hobo Fellowship of America is a swell showman organization... furnishing advance courses in all those arts a mugg must know if he wants to rate high as a Publicist in the film biz... It has its own official magazine, published monthly... and sold throughout the country by members for 10 cents... ad rates are 40 smackers a page... they haven't sold an ad yet... but they have hopes...

THAT you needn't be Smokey and turn up your nose at the suggestion of joining up with the Hobos... for the hobo is not to be confused with the bum or tramp... hobo are Itinerant workers... the work they have To... and just do enough work to Get By... then... they quit working and enjoy Art, Literature, Nature, and all the Esthetic things of Life... and ain't that a Perfect Existence for us film fellers...

THAT the Hobo does not patronize the motion picture... considering it too Childish... for in their get-togethers they discuss the Higher Things... for you must know that a big proportion of 'em are men of culture in their "jungle"... or in the "stem" (city hobo centers)... they discuss Whitaker, Beethoven, Christianity, Behaviorism, Plato's Republic, Nietzsche's Superman... at their meetings, a big proportion of 'em have manuscripts of original poems, literary productions, sketches, which they pull from soiled pockets, and read... but never yet has any Hobo pulled a SCENARIO to the boys... if he did... they'd give him the bum's rush... these Hobos have their Standards... and stick to 'em...

THAT the Hobo's Psalm is a Pip... to wit... "Hoover is my shepherd, I shall not want... he maketh me to lie down on park benches... he leadeth me beside still factories... he leadeth me in the path of Destruction... for his party's sake... yea, as I walk through the Valley of the Shadow of Destruction... I fear evil... for thou art with me... the politicians and the profiteers... they frighten me... thou preparst a reduction in my salary before me... in the presence of mine enemies... thou annointest my income with taxes... my Expenses run... surely unemployment and poverty will follow me all the days of thy Administration... and I shall dwell in a mortgaged house forever..." and the same might go for us Film Bros... and as well the Hobos...

THE 1932 FILM DAILY YEAR BOOK

“The Standard Reference Book of The Motion Picture Industry”
HOLLYWOOD

RALPH MURPHY—RKO Pathe film director, has received word that his play, "Murdered Alive," has been accepted for production, and is opening in the East. The play is a comedy, which Murphy wrote two years ago. Chester Erskine is directing.

Now that "Alias the Doctor" has been completed, Richard Barthelmess plans a vacation of some weeks. According to late word from the First National studio, a part of this holiday will be spent at his new beach house near Malibu and a part at one of the ranches near his home in the Sierras. On the latter jaunt he will be accompanied by Mrs. Barthelmess and two children. No specific date has been named as yet for the start of his next picture, which will be "The Cabin in the Cotton," but it is expected that Barthelmess will be free until at least late February or early March.

Among recent additions to the cast being assembled by Fox for "Watch on the Rhine," "Devil's Lottery," which goes into production soon after the first of the new year, are Beryl MacLean, Barbara Weeks, Hallwell Hobbes and Herbert Mundin. Paul Cavanagh is to play opposite Miss Landi and Sam Taylor will direct.

Joe Smith and Charles Dale will start their second vehicle, "Mendel, Inc.," next week at the Warner Bros. studios. It will be directed by Merlyn LeRoy. In the supporting cast are Ruth Hall, George Sidney, Aline MacMahon, Glen Cavendish and others.

Ian MacLaren, remembered for his work as the Lieutenant Osborne of "Journey's End," is returning to the screen after theatrical engagements which have lasted since the filming of that picture. He will be seen as Ann Harding's father in her forthcoming RKO Pathe picture, "Prestige."

Warner Baxter and John Boles will exchange roles in two forthcoming Fox productions. Final arrangements in casting had apparently been made for "Widow's Mist," when a last minute switch in plans brought John Boles to replace Baxter opposite Joan Bennett. Baxter, instead, will have the lead in "Scotch Valley," film version of the novel of the same name, part formerly assigned to Boles. Helen Mack is to play the feminine lead in "Scotch Valley," under the direction of Harold Schuster and Samuel Goodfre.

Another big star name went into the cast of "Hold Em Jail" at the Radio Pictures studio when Bert Wheeler was assigned to the part of David O. Selznick, executive vice-president in charge of production. Robert Woolsey, Edna May Oliver and Rosco Ates also are in it. Tim Whelan and Eddie Welch, ace comedy contructionists, are busy on the story.

Dickie Moore, aged five, who recently finished work in "Manhattan Parade," is about to become a motion picture star. The latest news from the Warner Bros. studio is that Dickie will be featured with Barbara Stanwyck in the forthcoming production of Edna Ferber's "So Big," which will be directed by William Wellman. Following "So Big," Dickie will be starred in a picture which is now being written for him by Maude Fulton. Dickie will also soon be seen with "Ole" Sale in "Old Man Mimick."

Eddie Welch,revue specialist lately from Broadway, has been signed by Radio Pictures. Welch, during the past two months, has written gags and added comedy dialogue for "Peach O'Reno," "Ladies of the Jury" and presently contributing to "Girl Crazy."

Greta Granstedt has joined the cast of the Charles Farrell picture, "After Tomorrow," scenes of which are now being filmed under the direction of Frank Borzage.

Marie Quillan, 19-year-old sister of Eddie Quillan, plays one of the two feminine leads opposite Tom Keene in RKO Pathe's new western, "Montana Rides." Helen Foster has the other role.

Sections of Los Angeles Chinatown seen by few whites, and never before violated by a camera, have been photographed in "Charlie Chan's Chance," new Fox film production in which Warner Oland again is featured as the Oriental detective.

Westley Ruggles will direct "Manhattan Frontier," to be released as "The March of a Nation." Mabel Streetland, rodeo champ, and Fred Burns, trick roper, will perform in Tom Keene's "Montana Rides." A new term contract is RKO-Radio Pictures' Christmas gift to Irene Dunne... Edna May Oliver, Manhattan visitor for a week, stops at Cincinnati for the holidays en route to Hollywood.

Sees Big Indie Year

On the threshold of 1932, John J. Freuler, president of Big 4, and pioneering independent, cautions courage to the motion picture industry. Freuler, who has been affiliated with pictures for almost 30 years, has stated that for the first time the independents have ever known.

An interest. The new company is the Publix-Kincey Theater Corp. Irvin goes to Columbia, S. C., in an executive position with the company and Roy Smith of High Point comes to Charlotte as district manager. Eugene W. Street, for more than three years manager of the Carolina in Greensboro, comes to manage the Carolina here. C. G. Finley, until recently manager of the Carolina, has gone to Tampa, Fla.

The changes are effective the first Monday in January. The new theater corporation has not completed its organization and Irvin, but hopes to do so in the near future. H. F. Kincey of Greensboro is general manager of the Publix-Kincey Theater Corp. and in all probability will head the new corporation.

At Greensboro, Street will be succeeded by Emil Bernstecker who has been with the company at Durham. J. Noble Arnold, manager of the National in Greensboro, will go to Durham to succeed Bernstecker, and Frank H. Burns, manager of the company’s theaters in Rocky Mount, will take charge of the National.

Denver—David Hochreil, general sales manager of General Talking Pictures, is expected in Denver soon to confer with E. J. Lustig, manager of the local branch of Sheffield Film Exchanges.

Denver—R. J. Garland, formerly manager of Columbia exchange and at present Denver representative for RCA portables, and Jack O’Brien, orchestra leader and m. c., have installed a night club in the Gothic cafe.

Milwaukee—Mrs. Mary Schmitt, 72, mother of A. N. Schmitt, branch manager of the local RKO exchange, died last week. Her son and three sisters and two brothers are the only immediate survivors.

Madison, Wis.—RKO’s Strand reopened Christmas Day at reduced prices. The house had been dark for several weeks. RKO also operates the Orpheum and Capitol here.

Burlington, Wis.—A “sink-bomb” planted by an unidentified man in the Crystal caused considerable disturbance. According to John Anness, manager of the house, the theater has experienced no labor trouble.

Denver—The Orpheum theater has signed with the operators and musicians. The unions made substantial concessions. A minimum of ten musicians will be used.

Denver—E. F. Clarke of New York, RKO auditor, left for Boston after making the merger of the RKO and RKO Pathé exchanges.

Cartoon Comedies Gaining New Importance, Says Terry

Commenting on the result of the annual exhibitor questionnaire conducted by Harold Heffernan, motion picture editor of Detroit News, which brought out the consensus that “cartoon comedies are the most important short subject,” Paul Terry, who with Frank Moser, produces the popular “Terrytoons” for Educational release, declares that animated cartoons are fast coming into a new position of importance. Far from being merely a diverting spectacle designed for juvenile minds, animated cartoons combine all the various arts such as music, drawing, acting and writing, besides the rhythmical flow which is the basis of all dance movements.

Few people, Terry claims, realize the amount of research which enters into the preparation of Terrytoons. In the matter of costumes, backgrounds and dances, everything must be authentic, down to the last detail. In addition to this, all music is especially composed by Philip Schieb, Terrytoon’s staff composer and musical director. “Terrytoons” have had much influence in educating people to enjoy musical films by giving them the highest type of music against the element of the cartoon, thus affording the two extremes which are bound to please everyone, Terry believes.

“Peg Leg Pete,” just completed, has specially composed music which is definitely in the Gilbert and Sullivan manner, even a trifle heavier, perhaps. Another, “The Black Spider,” incorporates modern music of the most advanced type to express its eerie theme.

In preparing “Terrytoons,” an effort is always made to confine the Industry's Executives on Their Toes to Meet Problems of '32

Showmanship will play the major role in the movie industry during 1932. It is the consensus of opinion among the industry's leaders as indi-cated in their annual year-end statement, THE FILM DAILY YEAR BOOK. Instead of merely presenting movies and expecting the public to attend from force of habit, business must be grown after along broad lines, according to film exec-utives.

The 1932 outlook statements, for the most part, differ radically from last year's, with the emphasis being placed on the importance of showmanship and public relations.

ALONG THE RIALTO

In a New York, he quotes his friend Michael Arlen on What the Films Need in the Way of Stories to wit: "Writing for the films needs a special bent of mind which has very little to do with story-creation as we know it in fiction, where writers are apt to go wrong in writing for the film is that they fancy the camera requires a plot... what the camera does require is an anecdote leading up and away from one Major Situation a major situation in a film it will be called episodic... read the film reviewers and see which films are a success and which aren't, and you will find I am not exaggerating..." which is all pretty Good Dope from a famous writer who tried his hand at the screen-writing game.

.. THERE IS one Hollerwordite who has quit bragging about the marvellous Caleo-nigh-aye climate in winter... Horace Jackson, scenarist, had a friend visiting him from Vermont... and when he asked him what he wanted to see, the friend sez... "Let's take a drive up into the hills where that snow is I read about."

.. AND NOW the New Year Resolutions start in... in those from Mickey Mouse are interesting... "Resolved, that I will try to be funnier than ever in 1932... and to consider myself fortunate that I do not have to release a lot of Big Titles... and spend the rest of the year worrying about getting pictures to FILL them."

.. OUT AT the Universal studio, Albert DeMond was pestered by a nut writer who claimed to get his material through "spiritual radiograms"... after a reading of a lot of the drivel, the nut explained... "I wrote all that while in a trance..." and Mister De Mond yawned... "Yeah, I believe you. The effects is contagious..." and then he fell sound asleep.

.. TO THOSE seeking a delightful spot to spend New Year's eve with congenial friends... we recommend Groverson House, in Lunn... who have sent us the following invitation... "Victor's Bar at Groverson House here indeed is an ideal setting in which to greet a friend a setting that is cheery and convivial... a oak beams diamond paneled windows and old Inglenook hearth... the mellow light of old lanterns reflected in a Wondrous Array of Bottles... and a Master Hand dispenses them..." and they say that conditions are tough in Lunn."

.. AT THIS time every year we revive this paragraph... it goes better this year than ever... Just three more days before 1931 checks out... some gents will be filled with Big Resolutions, planning to knock 'em dead in 1932... and so they will continue with Big Resolutions every year... till ole man Time puts 'em down for the Final Count... so it is that Hope springs eternal in the human breast... while other gents mix Hope with Headwork and Pep... and what is vulgarly known as Guts and, oh yes, a l'il Work... funny thing about the Work his... they've found substitutes for everything else but Work... but some Foolish Virginians think they can delegate their work to others... only to find some gloomy morning that the Others have given 'em the Work..."

Brown expressed his regret that a satisfactory renewal of contract could not be effected at this time, as all the officials of RKO have a high regard for Rogers, and it is hoped that before he returns to the coast some new understanding may be mutually arrived at whereby Rogers will again make sound pictures as an independent producer for release through the RKO organization and available to RKO theaters.

what to do about them. Among the particularly constructive recommendations are those made by Harold B. Franklin, Jesse L. Lasky, Carl Laemmle, John E. C. Pettigrew, Felix E. Feist, William Saal, Joseph M. Schenck, and several others.

It is evident from the expressions that enough time has put film executives on their toes and cleared their vision as never before, so that, regardless of what 1932 has in store, the industry is far better equipped to meet it than it was to meet the tribulations of 1931.

Highlights from various statements, which will appear in full in the 1932 FILM YEAR BOOK, follow:

The film industry already taken the first steps of rehabilitation designed for recovery. The screen is an essential service of entertainment, recreation and information, as necessary to the well-being of the people as food, light or heat. The saturation point in the public demand for the better forms of entertainment is far from remote indeed. There is no limit to the creative possibilities of an art that encompasses life, literature and drama. Courage will show the road and confidence will mark the progress in meeting the challenge that 1932 holds forth for the film industry.

Realizing, as one of the chief lessons learned in 1931, that a constant flow of good pictures is the first requirement for prosperity in the motion picture business, our studios have geared their production organizations in the greatest attempt ever yet made to meet this demand. That they have succeeded will be evident when the new pictures for 1932 are presented to the public. I have seen many of these productions and know that they will strike a new note in screen entertainment.

However, bitter the experience of the past year, it has given us an insight into the infinite and fictitious values in the moving picture business which have been a tremendous revelation. The film industry has an essential identity which has more than once proved its salvation, and 1932 will be a year in which men who believe in the industry will have an unusual opportunity to display their talent. Most of the pseudo-prophets of the previous years have been discredited. Only showmen can ring the bell consistently.

There is nothing in this business which good pictures cannot cure.

During the next twelve months, the difficulties of stage shows will gradually be so separated that in 1933 few theaters will have combination programs as their policy. There is a tremendous future for the motion picture and a still greater outlook for the "Radio" presentation as the theater is a becoming a thing of the past. Radio City is to have separate theaters for both forms of entertainment. The gross business possible in our international music hall will far exceed what we thought possible for the Roxy when it was in the course of construction. Gross business in every theater in the United States will increase depending upon not only the quality of entertainment provided, but the kind of programs and methods of presentation shown to the public. Construction of Radio City is carrying on. At this writing it is ahead of schedule and we mean to keep it that way. Radio City is one of our greatest thoughts and its outlook for the coming year, and many years to come, is most promising.

The greatest single contribution toward the industry prosperity change 1932 can come chiefly from the studios. In times like these it is impossible for any studio to make just good pictures. Product must be infinitely better than ever before. The greatest activity will be during the fall. Business for the year will approximate 1931. Mergers and eliminations will come during the year. The industry is far too dependent upon only the quality of entertainment provided, but the kind of programs and methods of presentation shown to the public. Construction of Radio City is carrying on. At this writing it is ahead of schedule and we mean to keep it that way. Radio City is one of our greatest thoughts and its outlook for the coming year, and many years to come, is most promising.

Ten strikingly different pictures of high quality were released in the first quarter of 1932 could change the entire outlook of this business to one of ringing optimism. There will start a new era of universal picture - going among the public. Average good pictures in familiar moulds, once relied upon for good business, no longer attract. That is the box-office lesson of 1931. In every period when patronage fell off, the film industry has been revivified by injection of new ideas. That’s what we need now. The successful producer of 1932 must be daring. He must discard old formulas and look for fresh, startling ideas, unconventional production brains, new types of players.

Overproduction of pictures is responsible for most of the film industry’s evils, which must be corrected this year. With so many major companies turning out pictures from 50 to 70 films a year, how is it possible to keep costs of production, distribution and exhibition down? Each of these companies feels that it must have a first-run house in each large city, with the result that in many spots theaters have been built on the market. There is only one way out, and that is fewer pictures and fewer theaters. Each company will be free to devote more time and thought to its output, and the need of this process with respect to theaters will overcome ruinous competition.

My suggestions for 1932 include: (1) fewer pictures, with more time and care on each production instead of turning them out to fill release dates; (2) reduction of production costs in every way possible; (3) more time devoted to exhibition to showmanship instead of “industry problems”; (4) a united front of the industry against unfair attacks from within.

For 1932, more than ever in my 20 years of film experience, we need showmanship plus common sense. To sell a new picture every week we’ve got to put ideas, enthusiasm and a well-organized work, but to keep from going to foolish extremes, we must use common sense. Good, old-fashioned judgment is needed in theaters, studios, exchanges and home offices. If we’re really smart we’ll keep one jump ahead of public tastes, and percentage bookings will do the rest. People are always glad to pay for a good show.
Face Problems of New Year With Feet on the Ground

- It seems to me that the film industry worked an extra hardship on itself when it allowed double features to spread. First of all, showing two features on one program is contrary to the primary laws of showmanship. Secondly, the practice has created an abnormal demand for product, and the hectic efforts to meet this demand have resulted in a turnover of inferior pictures. It is gratifying to note that many leaders of the industry have recognized the evil of dual bills, and steps are being formulated to correct the situation. That will be our important work of the New Year.

- That there will be better pictures, no one can doubt. The industry's steady progress in the development of increasingly finer and bigger shows guarantees it. But only the real showman can fully profit from this. The crying need for quality does not alone involve product. It must extend to the marketing of product. Changing conditions have driven us out of the motion picture business into the show business—have swept the exhibitor into a new frame where only showmanship can sustain him. The sun is setting on the day when the average man can safely abandon his old-time line to shine as an exhibitor of motion pictures. More and more does success become subservient to showmanship.

- Our mission is to furnish entertainment, not to educate the public or foster propaganda. Stick to the proven essential of show business—make pictures for the last in-multiplicative public. Stop trying to please the arty and articulate critics. The mob who made the film industry possible and prosperous always will be your best customers. Dare to be original if you can, and think at the same time. Good stories and good parts make stars, and stars make money. Gone are the days when gowns and freak furniture never helped a box-office or filled a movie lover's hunger for good entertainment. Give the public a fine story and splendid acting, and they will forgive lack of freak settings. Keep your feet on the ground and leave art for the museums.

- This industry showed its resourcefulness when Vitaphone pictures revolutionized the business. Even with such a radical change, the producers were equal to the emergency and continued to make pictures and keep the public supplied during the complete change. When the entire world was plunged into an economic upheaval, the industry again proved its resourcefulness and met the changes in a common-sense and head-on manner. Now that economic standards have changed, the industry has changed to meet them.

- Though I hesitate to make any prediction as to what the new year may have in store for the motion picture industry, I do believe that the industry started out, grew and prospered through good pictures, good showmanship and good projection, and these three factors still mean prosperity for now or any time in our industry.

- What impressed me most during the past year was the support which the public gave to good pictures in spite of the general economic depression. This support is a clear and unmistakable evidence of the unbreakable hold which the screen has upon the people. Motion pictures have become an integral part of modern life. They have ceased to be a luxury and have become a necessity. Our obligation is to make better pictures than we have ever had before.

- Through a more modernized system in distribution we would serve producers and exhibitors to an infinitely greater degree. In my 22 years devoted to distribution we have made little progress along this line. We must make a careful analysis of production, distribution and exhibition methods with a view to replacing those which have outgrown their usefulness. The big change to be accomplished is to bring about standardized admission price, so that pictures would not be sold one day for 50 cents and next day for a dime. Mental attitudes of everyone in the industry must be changed, because our principal preoccupation is with entertainment and if we permit gloom to permeate our business it is bound to reflect in our shows.

- Last year was a post-graduate course in economic production of motion pictures, and now, with a diploma, the industry faces 1932 knowing better than ever before what must be done to provide the public with entertainment. The past year jolted many businesses from the ruts in which they had landed. The public must have entertainment, which it will get from down-to-earth, realistic and optimistic pictures. Stories of this type have an elemental appeal which is universal.

- Rehabilitation and progress in 1932 demand the following efforts: (1) elimination of double feature evil by giving exhibitors better product; (2) closer working relations between producers, distributors, exhibitors and financial interests; (4) the economics in budgeting without impairing entertainment value of pictures, to be effected by more definite planning and elimination of waste; (4) specialization in production, with fewer units to burden the minds of individual executives; (5) revitalization of morale by greater recognition of ability and promotion within the ranks; (6) fresh, new ideas of film entertainment.

- This is the year in which the industry must face the gigantic task of getting its house in order, of definitely reducing production costs, and at the same time improving the quality of entertainment value of pictures. It will be far easier to sell improvements in all countries, and it can be reasonably expected that the motion picture business at large will accomplish its task in a direct and thorough manner, emerging from this crisis a bigger, finer, better and stronger industry.

- The film industry must go on a program of liquidating its errors. When it does that, it will again rank among the world's greatest industries. This business is founded on showmanship and proselytism. There is no substitute. Systems have been employed to take the place of creative thought, but none ever worked. Trademarks have been coined to try to replace individualism, but they were failures. The picture business as a whole thrives on creative thought, showmanship and personality. The profits of money being spent for production is wrong. Distribution generally is healthy, but it is thrown far too strongly to show profit by the high cost of production. Theater business generally is good, but the premiums paid for the millstone around the 'corporate neck.'

- Gyration of the box-office barometer have given those concerned with the making of motion pictures a keener sense of value. Action upon this more accurate knowledge will result inevitably in the production of pictures with a broader appeal. The exhibitor, too, has his wits sharpened by the unnatural period. Today he is scheduling and is merchandising his attractions to the ultimate consumer with a more analytical mind than before. And so I believe the combined efforts of producer and exhibitor, acting upon knowledge acquired through experience in the past year, will bring about betterment of net results.

- Sound motion pictures for the home have reached such a stage of technical development that one more general interest in this phase of entertainment is of definite interest. In 1932, intensive efforts have been applied to motion experimental work. Electrical entertainment proved its stability in the past year by meeting courageously the challenge of a depression that has tested industries.

much older and more firmly established. One cannot look ahead from 1931 without reference to another contribution of the year. Industry has learned that it must give renewed consideration to its questions of human relationships. The changing length of the payroll is as vital a factor as the changing color of the balance sheet.

We are realizing the great necessity for producing pictures with themes nearer to the hearts of the public. There are times for extravaganter pictures and no doubt such pictures will still be made in picture. However, it is believed the producers will be inspired to make films of greater variety. The incessant 'follow-the-leader' is being more and more eliminated from production practice. To make any type of picture because it is in vogue does not guarantee success. The same applies to all imitations. The sooner this is realized the sooner will box-office returns increase.

Among early major improvements in screen entertainment I see the following: Representation of a greater number of minds in the selection of story material. Studio heads must stop trying to do everything themselves, and break up their organizations into units headed by producers who will not have to worry about more than four to six pictures a year. Selection of more adult type of story material—even the 16 and 17-year-olds today are too smart for the transparent and hackneyed plots that have been used so often. A vast improvement in quality of shorts should help bring many people back to the theaters.

I see in 1932 a number of marked changes and improvements in the production, distribution and exhibition of pictures—changes that will bring about greater stabilization. In studios the development of the unit system will minimize the evils of mass production and allow greater individual expression. Fewer and better pictures will be the keynote of 1932 release schedules. More time will be spent in trying to anticipate public reaction months in advance, and pictures will be selected to meet the demands of those supporting the theater, thus eliminating unfavorable types of films. In exhibition there will be an increase in independently operated houses.

In suggesting what might help bring about improvement in production for 1932, I believe there should be fewer pictures made so as to give producers the opportunity to spend more time in preparation, thus ensuring the industry the reach for a box-office hit in each picture. I would further suggest that in the operation of all studios, an executive cabinet be formed consisting of all producers at each particular studio which would unanimously approve or reject a story; that after the cabinet approves the story, the individual producer takes all responsibility for that production until it is in its first long cut, then the cabinet shall have the picture for suggestions in editing, added scenes or retakes. I believe the day of a one-man producing organization is past.

Checking the Prognosticators

... rather com- pellingly demonstrated during the past few months that the good old art-industry of pictures is heroically suffering from something-else, it is but natural for one of our inquiring disposition to seek out what the learned Professors of Prognostication think of 1932, and the chance of the patient for a safe, speedy, and complete recovery. Standing out, with almost unanimity of opinion, are several conclusions, to wit: (1) That the industry, though storm ridden, is still on an even keel. (2) That 1931 was the most painful year in its long and tempestuous history. (3) That its present dry cleaning process, while irritating, will prove best for the long pull. (4) There will always be a big demand for good screen entertainment, and (5) That once conditions change the industry will come back with a bang, better basically, than ever before.

Nut-Shell Predictions

Having recently conversed with many of the officers of the general staff (there being but few privates left), we pass along, with true holiday spirit, a few scrambled and tabloid observations on 1932. And these from industry executives who have been within the fold long enough to know what they are guessing about. Here 'tis: That future competition will be even more severe. That at least 20 per cent of the seats of the country must go the way of all flesh. That there will be better product in spite of the . . .

Eastman Introducing New Home Projector
Rochester, N. Y.—A home motion picture projector, selling for about $100, as well as its present machine, will be produced shortly by Eastman Kodak.

In discussing the outlook for 1932, William G. Stuber, president of the company, says that he is hopeful of improvement. He adds that as a result of increased activity in research and engineering development, maintenance of advertising and sales forces at normal levels, and the development of new products to meet changing conditions, Eastman has provided a broader basis for future operations.

C. C. PETTJOHN SEES TAX DEVASTATING TO MORALE

taxation," said Pettjohn. "People are not heartened and encouraged when they are compelled to pay penny taxes here, there and everywhere. One of the most devastating forms of taxation that I can think of is the Simms method. Psychology is concerned is the proposal to "penny tax," 62 times a year, Mr. Average Man, Woman and child, average going to picture theater once a week.

Asked for his views on the statement made by Rep. Rainey in Washington with regard to cutting the Federal budget, Pettjohn said:

"Yes, I think Rainey's statement, and as usual he is absolutely right.

"That more money must be received by the Government from taxes is an admitted fact. "Less money will be required if the cost of government is cut down. A reduction of the cost of the federal government and all the state governments is an absolute necessity. The Federal government and the forty-eight states spend millions to spend tens of billions of dollars annually to run the Federal and state governments. That is more money than we have in circulation in this country and more than the annual value of all of our crops.

"If the cost of government is intelligently reduced there should be no necessity to further increase the tax load and the industries to hear the burden would spell financial calamity for those industries.

"In addition to the theater admissions, cigars and cigarettes are not luxuries. Things that bring a little pleasure or a little recreation to the mass of the American people are not luxuries. They are necessities particularly during these times. Some people's minds seem to run toward taxing anything that gives people any pleasure or recreation. If pleasure and recreation are not necessary for the American people, why do we spend the millions of dollars in the raising of the words necessity and essential.

"There are quite a few things which have been escaping taxation that will go along way toward balancing the picture and removing the present deficit, such as gift taxes and municipal bonds. Inheritance taxes can be increased in other states. All we have to do is recognize that incomes in a higher bracket, particularly unearned income, can be taxed. The people can do a little more toward supporting the government in these times.

"In the last analysis I think we can rely on the gentlemen in Washington to exercise wisdom in writing any new tax program. There is a difference between taxing business and taxing income from a business, that seems to be pretty clear to everybody."

B. & K. RESUME BIG ADS

Chicago — Balaban & Katz have resumed the use of same advertising space in the "Daily News" as they are using in the "American." Some time ago a drastic cut was made in space used in the former paper. Retune to full format and same span presages a new agreement between the paper and B. & K.

SUNDAY SHOWS CONTINUE

Larned, Kan.—Sunday shows have been in progress for the past month at the State without much opposition. Although the Ministerial Al ciance has gone on record for enfor cement of the state blue law, most of the pastors are not opposed to the shows, says A. C. Wooten, manager of the State.

Another victory for Sunday shows was scored recently when Judge Pollock of the Federal Court, Kansas City, Kan., ruled against state of cials in his decision to continue the temporary injunction obtained by Fox West Coast Theaters.

SHOTS SHOTS FROM EASTERN STUDIOS

By HARRY N. BLAIR

JEN F. KENNEDY, who has been editing and directing for Fox Movietone for the past two years, has left for Detroit to direct for Wilding Picture Productions, makers of industrial films.

"Movie Dumb" is the title of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Norworth's latest as part of the "Naggers" series they are making for Warner Vitaphone. Irene Alberg, of Earl Carroll's Vani ties and Frank McNelis are also in the cast. This is the fourth of a series of six scheduled for this season.

There seems to be more than a strong possibility that Paramount will film "I Jerry take thee Joan," at its New York studio, with Sylvia Sidney and Fredric March in the principal roles. Stewart Erwin is also said to be slated to work here.

Both the Paramount and Warner studios did their bit in helping to spread Christmas cheer by filming scenes which required a maximum number of extra players. The former used 50 men and women in a scene with Lillian Tashman, while Vi taphone gave work to over 150 for "The Subway Symphony."

The Warner Vitaphone studio is fostering a romance which will terminate in the wedding of Joseph Archer, prop. master, and Harriet Wharmby of the laboratory, on Jan. 18.

Vitaphone claims an honest effort to help dissipate all thoughts of hard times in producing "Hello Good Times," a two-reel musical featur ing a cast of Broadway entertain ers.

Low Admissions Prove Public Can't Stand Tax

ter their protests with Senators and Representatives against the proposed 10 per cent Federal tax. Wood says in part:

"The average legislator labors under the misapprehension that motion picture entertainment is a luxury, being deluded into this belief by seeing some of the large de luxe theaters constructed during the past few years, and reading the 'apple sauce' in the papers regarding theater grosses and salaries of certain stars. He is wholly unaware of the terrible condition existing in this business today, especially among the independent exhibitors.

"As an industry we must, of course, do what we can to assist the Government balance its budget, but we feel that it is absolutely unfair to single out our patrons and customers and force them to pay a tax for the privilege of buying our merchandise, especially when we take into consideration the class of people who make up the bulk of our customers.

"Use your own language in these letters. Write just what you would say if you were talking personally with them. Bring out the fact that any tax placed upon your receipts must be passed on to your patrons as no theater can absorb a tax of 10 per cent. Stress the fact that this places another tax burden upon the class of people least able to afford any additional outlay of any kind whatsoever.

"If you are one of the many theaters charging ten and fifteen cents, explain in your letter that you were compelled to reduce your prices to these figures because it is impossible to secure patronage at higher admission prices."
